

NEW, COMPREHENSIVE—THE INDISPENSABLE
REFERENCE AID FOR SCHOOL AND BUSINESS

THE BASIC BOOK OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS

BY
LAURENCE URDANG

NEW REVISED EDITION

THOUSANDS OF THE MOST COMMONLY USED WORDS IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED FOR QUICK AND EASY USE

OFFERS SYNONYMS FOR ALL PRIMARY AND SECONDARY MEANINGS OF EACH ENTRY

ANTONYMS FOLLOW SYNONYM LISTINGS

INCLUDES SAMPLE SENTENCES FOR EACH WORD

FROM:

abandon vb. 1. leave, quit; desert, forsake: The captain was the last to abandon the sinking ship. 2. give up, surrender: The castaways never abandoned hope that they would be found. adv. phr. with abandon freely, unrestrainedly, without restraint, control, inhibition, or constraint: Whenever his parents were not at home, he behaved with wild abandon, ant. join, engage, unite, embrace, retain.

TO:

zoo n. menagerie: Let's go to the zoo and feed the sea lions.

Here is your A to Z guide to the synonyms and antonyms of the most commonly used words in the English language. This handy, pocket-sized reference book will enable you to increase your vocabulary and enrich your powers of expression while helping you to become a master of the written word.

LAURENCE URDANG has edited scores of dictionaries and other reference books, and this unique resource, The Basic Book of Synonyms and Antonyms, is a distillate of his lexicographic and editorial experience. In addition to his work as a scholar and lexicographer, he is also the founder and editor of VERBATIM, The Language Quarterly, a popular periodical on language, and is the publisher of VERBATIM Books.

SIGNET Reference Books

- ☐ A DICTIONARY OF DIFFICULT WORDS by Robert H. Hill. The essential companion to every abridged dictionary complete with 15,000 entries on business, technology, culture, medicine, science, acronyms, and foreign words. (0451)
(118030—$3.95)
- ☐ THE NEW HORIZON LADDER DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE by John Robert Shaw with Janet Shaw. Prepared for the vocabulary needs of young readers, it is based on 5000 of the most frequently used words in written English. Unusual features include full sentence examples, a simple pronunciation system, large type, and across the page printing for easier reading. (135911—$3.50)*
- ☐ THE NEW AMERICAN WEBSTER HANDY COLLEGE DICTIONARY. Over 100,000 definitions in this comprehensive dictionary which includes illustrations, abbreviations, geographical names and colloquialisms. (125371—$2.50)*
- ☐ THE NEW AMERICAN ROGET'S COLLEGE THESAURUS in Dictionary Form. Revised edition. Synonyms and antonyms in an alphabetical listing. Easy to use. A must for every library. (134745—$3.50)*

*Prices slightly higher in Canada

Buy them at your local bookstore or use this convenient coupon for ordering.

NEW AMERICAN LIBRARY,
P.O. Box 999, Bergenfield, New Jersey 07621

Please send me the books I have checked above. I am enclosing $_____ (please add $1.00 to this order to cover postage and handling). Send check or money order—no cash or C.O.D.'s. Prices and numbers are subject to change without notice.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

Allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.
This offer is subject to withdrawal without notice.

THE BASIC BOOK OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS

New Revised Edition

by

Laurence Urdang

A SIGNET BOOK

NEW AMERICAN LIBRARY

Foreword to the New Revised Edition

The successful reception of the First Edition of The Basic Book of Synonyms and Antonyms has allowed us the opportunity of undertaking this new Revised Edition. All of the features that users of the book have found so beneficial have been retained. In addition, we have been able to expand the number of entries by more than 20 percent, without sacrificing convenience, and we have updated and revised original entries as required. We trust that users of the Revised Edition will find it even more informative and valuable than its well-regarded predecessor.

LAURENCE URDANG

Essex, Connecticut
June 1985

NAL BOOKS ARE AVAILABLE AT QUANTITY DISCOUNTS WHEN USED TO PROMOTE PRODUCTS OR SERVICES. FOR INFORMATION PLEASE WRITE TO PREMIUM MARKETING DIVISION, NEW AMERICAN LIBRARY, 1633 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, NEW YORK 10019.

Copyright © 1978, 1985 by Laurence Urdang Inc.

All rights reserved

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 85-62386

SIGNET TRADEMARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES
REGISTERED TRADEMARK—MARCA REGISTRADA HECHO EN CHICAGO, U.S.A.

SIGNET, SIGNET CLASSIC, MENTOR, PLUME, MERIDIAN AND NAL BOOKS are published by New American Library, 1633 Broadway, New York, New York 10019

First Signet Printing, September, 1978

Tenth Signet Printing (First Printing, Revised Edition), January, 1986

10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18

PRINTED IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2017 with funding from Kahle/Austin Foundation

<https://archive.org/details/basicbookofsynon00laur>

How to Use This Book— A Word of Caution

Anyone who knows language well will acknowledge that there is no such thing as a true synonym. That is, there are words that can be substituted for other words, but they almost never have exactly the same meaning in the same context.

To understand this, it is important to recognize the difference between denotation, which is the meaning of a word in a given context for most speakers of the language, and connotation, which is the meaning of a word in a given context together with its associations. Thus, a denotation of home is "where a person resides"; the connotation of home may include such emotional overtones as "warmth, comfort, affection, good food," and so forth.

Another reason why words that are often called synonyms are not always interchangeable is that language functions at different levels, some more formal, others less formal. For example, residence may be a perfectly suitable synonym for home in certain formal contexts, but in less formal writing it would be out of place. Maternal, paternal, and fraternal, though technically synonyms for motherly, fatherly, and brotherly, cannot be said to carry the same connotations. Therefore, one must be very careful in selecting a "synonym" for a word, because in addition to providing variety of expression, the synonym must also be appropriate to the kind of writing one is engaged in.

A third caution in selecting the proper synonym should also be observed. Many words in English—most of the common ones—have a great many senses, some of them quite different from others. For example, curious can mean either "inquisitive, prying" or "odd, peculiar," depending on how it is used. In some uses, its meaning can be ambiguous. In the sentence "A squirrel is a curious animal," the meaning could be either "inquisitive" or "odd." It is important to note that in this book we have tried to separate common meanings and to provide example sentences that show the sense distinctions clearly. Also, we have tried to group together the synonyms for each sense in such a way that any of the words listed can be substituted for the entry word in the examples given. However, this doesn't always work, partly because the connotations of synonyms are not always the same and partly because not all of the words in a given list behave exactly the same way in a sentence.

Here, for instance, is the way the entry for curious appears in the book:

curious adj. 1. inquiring, inquisitive, interested; nosy, prying: If you weren't so curious about things that didn't concern you, you wouldn't get into so much trouble. 2. peculiar, odd, strange, unusual, queer: There was a curious animal with a red plume and a white tail and blue fur sitting on the fence.

In actual usage, one could substitute "inquisitive" or "nosy" for curious in the example sentence without making any change at all, and the denotations would remain close to that of the original. However, the sentence "If you weren't so inquiring about things . . ." would be awkward, and the substitution would not be proper: it would be better to use "inquiring" in a phrase like "If you didn't have such an inquiring manner about things . . ." Similarly, if "interested" is chosen, the sentence would have to be changed to "If you weren't so interested in things . . .," because one does not use "interested about" in English. Thus, the example sentence should be looked upon as a guide that is subject to interpretation and variation, depending on the synonym selected. In most cases, it will probably serve as a sample context, but caution should be exercised.

Antonyms

The user of this book will see that many of the entries include a short list of antonyms at the end, and a word or two might be helpful concerning them. First, it will be seen that the antonyms are keyed to a particular set of synonyms (where more than one set occurs), either by number or by part of speech.

Second, the antonym lists are rather brief, and there are two reasons for this. One is that there may be only one common antonym for the entry word; for example, the antonym for entrance is "exit." There may be other antonyms for entrance, but "exit" is the most useful one. Another reason is that the antonyms, in many cases, have their own synonyms, and repeating all of them would be wasteful of space: that is, the antonyms given under an entry should be used as cross-references, and the user should look up the main entry for the antonym given in order to find synonyms for it, many of which would be associated antonyms for the original word.

For example, the antonyms listed under enemy are "friend, colleague, cohort, ally." Of these, only "cohort" has no entry in this book, because it is not among the basic words of English. But if the user looks up the other words, their synonyms will provide these antonyms for enemy:

ally . . . associate, friend, partner.

colleague . . . associate, co-worker; collaborator.

friend . . . companion, acquaintance, crony, chum, mate.

From among these the user can make a choice that best suits his or her need.

A Word About Style

It is not always simple to make fine distinctions among meanings of words, for the meaning of a word is the sum total of all of the instances of the word's use in the language. It can easily be seen that it would be impossible to record every use of every word in any language. Even the largest dictionaries available can barely scratch the surface of the meanings of words. Consequently, the compiler of a dictionary must rely on conventional use and must interpret, as best he can, the most useful way in which to present the information gathered. To provide the information in this dictionary in a concise, usable form, we have taken certain shortcuts. In some cases, where a group of synonyms properly belong together but have characteristics that are slightly different, either as to level of usage, appropriateness, or the grammatical or syntactic contexts in which they are found, they have been separated, within the same numbered set, by a semicolon.

An example of this can be seen in the entry for curious:

curious adj. 1. inquiring, inquisitive, interested; nosy, prying.

Here, "nosy, prying" have been separated from the rest because they are less formal words and because their meaning is slightly different, even though they belong in the same group as the other words in the set.

Another example occurs at colleague:

colleague . . . associate, co-worker; collaborator.

"Collaborator" has been separated from the others because it frequently has the connotation of one who works with another to do evil, though it can also have the simple meaning of "co-worker."

A Final Word of Caution

The best use of this dictionary is to remind the user of words he cannot think of when they are needed. It is intended as a guide to commonly used words in English, and those are almost always the most expressive. Much larger (and much more expensive) synonym books are available, but they often confuse the user by providing long lists of complicated, often rare words without giving any indication of how appropriate the words may be in simple, straightforward writing. Besides, they do not provide example sentences that illustrate the words in familiar contexts.

Synonyms and antonyms are sought by those who wish either to add variety to their writing or to find help in selecting alternative ways of expressing themselves. Used with good judgment, this book should yield both results.

LAURENCE URDANG

Essex, Connecticut
June 1977

abandon vb. 1. leave, quit; desert, forsake: The captain was the last to abandon the sinking ship. 2. give up, surrender: The castaways never abandoned hope that they would be found. adv. phr. with abandon freely, unrestrainedly, without restraint, control, inhibition, or constraint: Whenever his parents were not at home, he behaved with wild abandon. ant. join, engage, unite, embrace, retain.

abandoned adj. wicked, depraved, evil; immoral: Her abandoned behavior caused a lot of trouble. ant. righteous, virtuous.

abbreviate vb. shorten, abridge, cut, reduce, condense: They abbreviated the long novel for publication as a paperback. The name "United States" is often abbreviated to "U.S." ant. lengthen, extend, augment.

abbreviation n. cut, shortening, condensation: The abbreviation for "United States" is "U.S."

able adj. 1. capable, qualified, fit, competent: People are able to speak a language. 2. talented, skilled, clever, skillful: She is an able mathematician. ant. unable, incompetent.

abnormal adj. unusual, uncommon, odd, peculiar, queer; strange, weird: They thought he was abnormal because he put salt on his grapefruit. ant. normal, average, usual.

abode n. residence, dwelling, home, domicile: In the evening, each of us would return to his own abode.

abolish vb. end, obliterate, erase, put out, eliminate: Slavery has been abolished in almost every nation. ant. establish.

abominable adj. hateful, loathsome, bad, terrible, awful, nasty, unpleasant: They lived in abominable conditions of poverty. ant. admirable, fine, noble.

abound vb. teem, overflow, swarm: The river abounds with trout, and we caught several in our first hour of fishing. ant. lack.

about prep. 1. concerning, relating to, involving: The book was about pirates. 2. near, close to, around, almost, approximately: The blouse is about my size. adv. 1. nearby, around, close, close by: There's a ghost about at midnight! 2. nearly, almost: It is about four o'clock.

above prep. over, higher than, superior to: His house was above hers on the hill. The admiral is above the lieutenant in every navy. ant. below, under, beneath.

abreast adv., adj. alongside, beside, side by side: The boys walked down the street three abreast.

abridge vb. shorten, cut, abbreviate, abstract: Many of the dictionaries we use today have been abridged from larger books. ant. expand, extend, increase.

abroad adv. 1. overseas: She studied abroad last year. 2. broadly, publicly, widely, in all directions, in all places: The news was made known abroad that they were to be married. ant. 2. privately, secretly.

abrupt adj. 1. sudden, short: He came to an abrupt stop at the door. 2. short, curt, blunt, brusque, hasty, rude: When I asked where she had been, she became very abrupt and asked me to leave. 3. steep, sudden: The road made an abrupt descent to the valley. ant. gradual.

absence n. want, need, lack: The absence of any affection made him yearn for his family. ant. presence, existence.

absent adj. 1. away, not present, out, off: I was absent from school on Monday. 2. missing, lacking, nonexistent: Common sense was clearly absent from their decision. ant. present.

absentminded adj. forgetful; inattentive, wool-gathering, day-dreaming: He is getting so absentminded that he almost went out without his shoes. ant. alert, attentive.

absolute adj. 1. perfect, whole, complete, unqualified, total: The court had absolute proof that he had committed the crime. 2. total, complete, unlimited, limitless, unrestricted, arbitrary, tyrannical, dictatorial: The dictator assumed absolute power. ant. partial, limited, fragmentary, incomplete.

absolutely adv. definitely, positively, really, doubtlessly: Is she going to the party? Absolutely! ant. uncertainly, doubtfully.

absolve vb. acquit, exonerate, free from blame or responsibility (for), excuse, forgive, pardon, clear: The boys were absolved of the charge of stealing books. ant. accuse, charge.

absorb vb. 1. consume, occupy: The film absorbed their attention completely. 2. suck up, sop up, take in or up: A sponge absorbs water. ant. 2. leak, drain.

absurd adj. foolish, ridiculous, preposterous, laughable, silly: The belief that the earth is flat is today regarded as absurd. ant. sensible, sound, reasonable.

abundance n. plenty, copiousness, ampleness, profusion: There is an abundance of water in the oceans. ant. scarcity, want, dearth, absence.

abundant adj. plentiful, abounding, copious, profuse: An abundant harvest means that there will be enough food for everyone. ant. scarce, rare, uncommon, absent.

abuse vb. 1. misuse, misemploy, misapply: The king abused his power by making the people pay high taxes. 2. mistreat, maltreat, hurt, harm, injure: It was cruel of the children to abuse their kitten by keeping it in a cage. 3. scold, upbraid; berate, reproach: The teacher was wrong to abuse Billy in front of his classmates. n. misuse, misapplication, misemployment, mistreatment, maltreatment: The puppy suffered the boys' abuse without whimpering.

accept vb. 1. receive, take: She accepted the gift with thanks. 2. admit, allow, consent to: He accepts criticism from anyone but his father. ant. refuse, reject, ignore.

accident n. mishap, misadventure, misfortune, mischance, disaster, calamity, catastrophe: Three men were knocked unconscious in the accident at the factory. n. phr. by accident unintentionally, accidentally: I spilled the sugar by accident.

accidental adj. unplanned, unintentional, unintended, unexpected, unforeseen: Our meeting was entirely accidental—I had no idea she would be in the library. ant. planned, intentional, on purpose, deliberate.

accommodate vb. 1. aid, assist, help: The natives accommodated us with food and water for three days' journey. 2. provide for, house, serve, hold: The restaurant cannot accommodate more than 35 people. ant. 1. inconvenience.

accompany vb. escort, go with, join, attend: Two of my best friends accompanied me on the trip. ant. abandon, leave, forsake.

accomplice n. confederate, accessory, assistant, associate, partner (in crime): The police accused the bank teller of being the robber's accomplice.

accomplish vb. do, complete, achieve, fulfill, perform, finish, realize: It was amazing how much the mayor had been able to accomplish in his two-year term. ant. fail.

accord vb. 1. agree, concur: The description that the witness gave of the attack accorded with that of the victim. 2. award, grant, reward with, give: When the sergeant was killed in action, he was accorded an officer's burial. n. agreement, concord: The governments reached an accord regarding offshore fishing rights. ant. n. disagreement, difference, quarrel.

account n. 1. explanation, report, history, description, recital: John gave an account of what had happened to him over the weekend. 2. story, tale, anecdote, narration, narrative: We were frightened by the old man's strange account of the cave. 3. record, balance sheet, ledger, book: According to the store's account, we owe them $52. vb. explain, give an explanation or reason for, make or give excuses for: The teacher asked Maria to account for her absence from school.

accurate adj. precise, correct, exact, right, true: Newspapers don't always print an accurate report of an incident. ant. inaccurate, inexact, mistaken, wrong.

accuse vb. blame, charge, incriminate: An innocent man was accused of the crime. ant. absolve, clear.

accustomed adj. (usually fol. by to) used to, familiar with, comfortable with; in the habit of: I am accustomed to your singing in the shower. He is accustomed to having bacon and eggs for breakfast. ant. unfamiliar, strange.

achieve vb. 1. do, perform, complete, accomplish, reach, realize: Only after much hard work are most of us able to achieve our goals. 2. attain, gain, acquire, secure, procure: The candidate achieved victory in the election after a hard campaign. ant. fail.

acid adj. 1. sour, tart, vinegar-like: Lemons have an acid taste. 2. sardonic, sarcastic, bitter, biting: Because of his acid wit, few people would associate with him. ant. 1. sweet, bland, mild.

acknowledge vb. 1. agree to, admit, allow, concede, accept, grant: After a fierce battle, the general finally acknowledged defeat. 2. accept, receive, express thanks or gratitude for, thank for: The prizewinner gratefully acknowledged the award. ant. deny, refuse, reject.

acquaintance n. associate, colleague, companion: I wouldn't say that he's a friend of mine—just an acquaintance.

acquire vb. obtain, procure, secure, get, gain, appropriate: On his grandmother's death, he acquired her collection of rare books. ant. lose, forfeit.

acquit vb. excuse, forgive, exonerate, find not guilty: After a long trial, he was acquitted of the crime. ant. condemn, sentence.

act n. 1. deed, achievement, action, accomplishment, feat, exploit: He received a medal for an act of bravery. 2. law, decree, statute, judgment: The senate voted on the crime-prevention act. 3. performance, routine, skit, turn: a balancing act. 4. show, pretense: She wasn't really crying, it was just an act. v. 1. do, perform, operate, function: The crowbar acts as a lever. 2. perform, play, impersonate: He acts Hamlet very well. She acts the part of the vampire in the film.

action n. 1. movement: His actions are not graceful. 2. battle, fight, fighting, combat: He saw action on the western front.

active adj. 1. energetic, vigorous, industrious: He's 80 but still active. 2. busy, occupied, engaged: Mrs. Robinson is active in many charitable organizations. ant. 1. lazy, lethargic, inactive.

actual adj. real, true, genuine, certain: Although she had a cold, the actual reason she didn't come was that she didn't want to. ant. unreal, pretended, fake, bogus, false.

acute adj. 1. severe, piercing, sudden: I have an acute pain in my toe. 2. sharp, keen, quick, perceptive, discerning, intelligent: A human's eyesight is not as acute as that of an eagle. She is an acute critic of the modern theater. ant. 1. mild, bland. 2. insensitive, obtuse.

adapt vb. conform, suit, modify, adjust, fit: Primitive peoples find it difficult to adapt to modern life.

add vb. 1. increase, supplement, augment: Add this painting to your collection. 2. total: Adding the numbers in this column gives exactly 312. ant. subtract, remove, withdraw.

address n. 1. location; residence, home, abode, dwelling; place of business, office: Please let me have your address so that I can write to you. I'll visit your office if you give me the address. 2. speech, lecture, oration, presentation: The president's address lasted three hours. vb. 1. speak to, talk to, accost: Don't ever address me that way in public. 2. concentrate on, pay attention to: You should address yourself to the problem at hand and avoid rambling.

adequate adj. sufficient, enough; satisfactory, fit, suitable: There isn't adequate food to feed so many people. The quality of the radio reception was adequate for hearing the code signals. ant. inadequate, insufficient.

adhere vb. 1. cling, stick, hold; cleave: The new tape will adhere to anything. 2. be attached, be faithful, be devoted: She adheres to the ideas she had as a child. ant. 1. separate, loosen.

adherent n. supporter, follower: He's an adherent of a new Christian sect. ant. defector, renegade, dropout.

adjacent adj. near, next (to), close (to), neighboring, nearby: The two houses are adjacent. The shop is adjacent to the library. ant. apart, separate, distant.

adjoining adj. close to, near, near to, next, next to, touching, bordering: The house adjoining ours is vacant. My father waited in an adjoining room. ant. separate, distant, remote.

adjourn vb. suspend, postpone, put off; defer, delay: We adjourned the meeting until next Friday. ant. assemble, convene, begin.

adjust vb. 1. set, regulate; change, alter; repair, fix: I adjusted the clock so it would run on time. 2. arrange, settle: We adjusted our spending to our income. 3. adapt, suit, fit, accommodate: Betty quickly adjusted to the new school schedule.

administer vb. 1. manage, direct, supervise, oversee; rule, govern; conduct, control, superintend; administrate: The high school was administered by Dr. Jonas. 2. dispense, mete out, deal out, give out, distribute: The magistrate administers justice in a police court. 3. give, provide, contribute, or distribute aid, help, assistance, medicine, or treatment: The doctor administered the vaccine to the villagers.

administration n. 1. management, direction, conduct, supervision: The new foreman's administration of the plant emphasized safety. 2. executive, government: This administration was voted into power by seventy percent of the people.

admirable adj. excellent, fine, worthy, praiseworthy: Bill did an admirable job in organizing the team. ant. contemptible, despicable, sorry.

admiration n. wonder, awe, pleasure, approval, esteem: The critics looked upon the new sculpture with admiration. ant. contempt, disdain, disrespect.

admire vb. revere, esteem, venerate; like; find praiseworthy or desirable: We all admired Alice's improvement in swimming. ant. dislike, loathe, detest, hate.

admission n. 1. entrance, access, admittance; ticket, pass: The boys charged ten cents for admission to the hockey game. 2. confession, acknowledgment: Her admission of guilt resulted in a suspension of two days from school.

admit vb. 1. confess, acknowledge, own: Bob admits that he ate all the candy. 2. let in, allow to enter: When we showed them our pass, we were admitted to the theater. ant. 1. deny. 2. obstruct, reject.

admittance n. entrance, access, entry: The sign outside the gate read, NO ADMITTANCE.

admonish vb. 1. warn, caution, advise against: The teacher admonished Jimmy to stop talking in class. 2. reprimand, rebuke, censure, reprove: Afterward, the teacher had to admonish him for making faces. ant. praise, glorify.

ado n. fuss, trouble, bother, to-do, bustle, flurry, activity, commotion, stir, excitement, upset, hubbub, confusion, tumult, turmoil: There was much ado in the government when they found out about the wiretapping. ant. quietude, tranquillity.

adolescent adj. teen-aged, teen-age, young, youthful, immature: Why do so many adults act in such an adolescent way? n. teen-ager, youth, young person: And why do so many adolescents act like little children? ant. adj. adult, grown, mature.

adoration n. worship, veneration, reverence, homage, glorification, exaltation: The natives treated their chief with great adoration.

adore vb. love, idolize, worship, revere, venerate; respect, honor, esteem: Cornelia adored her children and did everything to make them happy. ant. despise, hate, loathe.

adorn vb. decorate, ornament, beautify, enhance, embellish: The elephants in the parade were adorned with the most elaborately embroidered cloths. ant. strip, bare.

adrift adj. 1. drifting, floating, afloat: The drifting barge soon washed up on the beach. 2. aimless, purposeless, directionless, unsettled: After losing his job, Bill was just adrift in the city for several months. ant. 2. well-organized, purposeful, stable, secure.

adroit adj. skillful, clever, adept, dexterous, ingenious, expert: Old Bill is still adroit enough to do these beautiful and intricate carvings. ant. clumsy, awkward, oafish, graceless.

adult adj. mature, of age, full-grown: An adult grizzly bear can reach a height of more than nine feet. n. man, woman, grown-up: This ticket admits one adult and one child. ant. adj. immature, infantile.

advance vb. 1. proceed, progress, move, bring, or go forward: The armies advanced toward one another. 2. further, promote: These treaties will advance the cause of peace. n. 1. progress, forward movement, advancement, improvement, promotion: Advances in many industries have been brought about by advances in technology. 2. promotion, improvement, upgrade, upgrading, rise: His advance to the presidency of the company depended on his skill as an administrator. ant. vb. 1. retreat, withdraw, flee. 2. retard, obstruct. n. 1. retreat, retardation, withdrawal.

advantage n. 1. favor, vantage, edge: Because of his height,

Roger has the advantage when trying out for the basketball team. 2. profit, gain, benefit: Marrying the boss's daughter was to his advantage, for he's been made president. ant. disadvantage, hindrance, loss.

adversary n. opponent, antagonist, foe, enemy, contestant: George's adversary in the boxing match was the biggest man he'd ever seen. ant. friend, ally.

adverse adj. 1. unlucky, unfortunate, unfavorable: Adverse business conditions made him decide to close the shop. 2. contrary, opposite, opposing, opposed: Adverse winds delayed the plane two hours. ant. 1. beneficial, favorable.

adversity n. trouble, misfortune; distress, calamity, disaster, catastrophe: The adversities of war left many millions of people homeless and penniless. ant. happiness, benefit.

advertise vb. publicize, promote, (informal) plug; make known, promulgate: We will advertise our new product on radio and in magazines.

advertisement n. commercial, poster, blurb, publicity, billboard, want ad, flyer, brochure, bill, handbill, throwaway: The advertisement in buses and in newspapers and magazines created a huge demand for pretzels.

advice n. 1. counsel, recommendation, guidance, suggestion, opinion: If you take my advice, you'll finish school before looking for a job. 2. admonition, warning, caution: The policeman's advice was to walk home only on well-lit streets.

advisable adj. prudent, sensible, wise; proper, suitable, fit, fitting: The principal didn't think it advisable for the younger students to dissect animals. ant. inadvisable, ill-considered, imprudent.

advise vb. 1. counsel, recommend, suggest: Her father advised her to go out with friends of her own age. 2. warn, caution, admonish: I was advised not to swim in the lagoon because of the sharks. 3. inform, notify, acquaint: The premier was advised of the treachery of the generals.

adviser n. guide, counselor, mentor, coach: Our business adviser has saved the company a great deal of money.

advocate vb. support, recommend, argue or plead in favor of: The biologists advocate preservation of national forests. n. supporter, promoter, upholder: Advocates of spelling reform in English have a long fight ahead of them. ant. vb. oppose. n. opponent, foe, adversary.

aesthetic adj. 1. sensitive, artistic, literary: Her aesthetic judgment is sought by museums. 2. tasteful, well-composed, artistic; The setting of the antique furniture was very aesthetic. ant. 2. tasteless.

affect vb. 1. modify, alter, change, transform: A change in the speed limit affected everyone's driving habits. 2. impress, stir, move, touch: The death of Jennie's kitten affected her deeply.

affected adj. false, sham, pretended, fake, (informal) phony: He is so affected that I cannot spend any time with him. ant. natural, genuine.

affection n. liking, fondness, attachment, friendliness, warmth, tenderness: The teacher's affection for her students showed in her many acts of kindness. ant. dislike, aversion, antipathy.

affectionate adj. fond, tender, attached, warm, loving: Suzy's new puppy is so affectionate! ant. cold, distant, unfeeling.

affirm vb. 1. declare, state, assert, say: She affirmed that she was at the movies last night. 2. confirm, establish: The Senate affirmed the nomination of the new Secretary of State. ant. 1. deny, disclaim.

affliction n. 1. trouble, distress, grief, misfortune: Poverty is the affliction of millions of people. 2. pain, suffering, misery; sickness, ailment: In his old age, headaches became a serious affliction. ant. 1. benefit. 2. relief, easement.

affluent adj. rich, wealthy, prosperous, well-to-do, well-off: Affluent people are less affected by tax increases.

affront n. insult, slur, slight, (slang) put-down: Mrs. Grumble regarded smoking cigars as a personal affront.

afraid adj. frightened, fearful, scared, terrified: Liza was afraid to go into the cave alone. ant. confident, courageous, bold.

against prep. opposed to, in opposition to, in disagreement with, versus, at odds with, adverse to, hostile to, con: In World War II, it was the Allies against the Axis. The Conservatives often vote against the Liberals. ant. for, in favor of, pro, in support of, with.

age n. era, time, period, epoch: The last ice age ended about 20,000 years ago. n. phr. of age mature: When you become of age, you will have the right to vote. vb. mature, ripen, grow old: I think this wine has aged long enough.

aged adj. old, elderly, ancient: That aged gentleman is almost 100 years old. ant. young, youthful.

aggravate vb. intensify, worsen, make worse or more severe, heighten: His illness was aggravated by the lack of heat in the room. ant. ease, relieve, soothe.

aggressive adj. 1. attacking, pugnacious, ready to fight, offensive: Her aggressive manner irritated so many people that no one wanted to spend time with her. 2. active, vigorous, energetic, enterprising, determined: We need an aggressive governor, not one who is too shy to act for us. ant. passive, shy, timid, withdrawn.

agile adj. active, nimble, graceful, lively, light on one's feet, spry: An agile dancer, Marie had studied ballet for many years. ant. clumsy, awkward, inept.

agitate vb. 1. shake, jar, shake up, toss, disturb: If you agitate the bottle, you'll stir up the sediment at the bottom. 2. stir up, excite, disturb: Her speech on equal rights for women agitated many in the crowd. ant. calm, soothe.

agitated adj. 1. nervous, jumpy, jittery, ill-at-ease, restless, restive: George was so agitated after the accident that he had to take a vacation. 2. upset, disturbed, perturbed, ruffled, in a dither, (informal) in a tizzy, (slang) all shook up: The news of the policeman's injuries left all of us very agitated.

agony n. pain, suffering, torment, torture: After the accident, Peter was in agony for a week.

agree vb. 1. settle, concur, harmonize, unite: The members of the committee could not agree on where the party should be held. 2. assent, consent, yield, concede: He agreed to leave the room so that his parents could talk in private. ant. 1. disagree, argue. 2. refuse.

agreeable adj. friendly, cooperative, pleasing, pleasant: I like being with George because he's so agreeable. ant. disagreeable, quarrelsome, contentious, touchy.

agreement n. 1. treaty, pact; deal, bargain, contract, understanding, arrangement: An agreement was reached between the union and the company. 2. settlement, accord, concord: There was basic agreement on the terms of the pension contribution. ant. disagreement, discord, misunderstanding.

aid vb. help, assist, support, back: Unless you all aid me, I cannot win the election. n. help, assistance, support, backing: Without his aid I couldn't have climbed to the top of the mountain. ant. vb. impede, obstruct, hinder. n. obstacle, hindrance.

ailing adj. sick, ill, sickly: The ailing president knew that he wouldn't live much longer. ant. well, hearty, hale.

ailment n. sickness, illness, affliction, disease: The doctor diagnosed Donald's ailment as indigestion from eating too much ice cream.

aim vb. 1. point, direct: Aim a little below the bull's-eye when firing a rifle at a target. 2. try or strive for: Some of us aim at perfection, but only a few ever achieve it. n. 1. purpose, goal, target, object, objective: My aim in life is to be a really good doctor. 2. direction, sight, sighting: His aim was so poor that he missed the target completely.

aimless adj. purposeless, adrift, directionless: Aimless wandering will only leave us hopelessly lost.

air n. 1. atmosphere: The envelope of air is kept close to earth by gravity. 2. manner, appearance, character, look, attitude: He has an air about him that gives everyone the impression that he thinks he's just wonderful. vb. 1. ventilate: We really ought to air out the room to get rid of the smell. 2. display, publicize, expose, reveal: The principal gave the students the chance to air their complaints against the teacher. ant. vb. 2. hide, conceal.

alarm n. 1. fright, fear, dismay: They greeted the news of the accident with alarm. 2. siren, bell, gong: The fire alarm could be heard two miles away. vb. frighten, scare, terrify, startle: The nurse was alarmed by Jane's temperature. ant. vb. calm, soothe, comfort.

alarming adj. shocking, appalling, daunting: The warden had an alarming lack of consideration for the prisoners. ant. soothing, comforting, calming.

alert adj. 1. watchful, attentive, vigilant, keen, wide-awake, observant: The alert watchman gave the alarm when he found the broken window. 2. quick, lively, active, spirited, bright: Dick's alert mind understood at once where the error was in the calculation. n. alarm, warning: When they smelled smoke, they sounded the alert. ant. adj. listless, dulled, sluggish, logy.

alias n. pseudonym, assumed name, pen name, nom de plume, nom de guerre, anonym, allonym: Samuel Clemens used Mark Twain as an alias.

alien n. foreigner, immigrant; stranger: In some countries, aliens become eligible for citizenship after one year. adj. foreign, strange; nonnative: The spaceship landed the explorers on an alien planet. ant. adj. familiar, commonplace, accustomed.

alight vb. disembark, debark, detrain, deplane, debus: The porter took my aunt's luggage and helped her to alight from the train. ant. board, embark.

alive adj. 1. live, living, existing, breathing: There is hardly anyone still alive who can remember that battle. 2. lively, animated, vivacious, sprightly: Margo is alive with the sheer joy of youth. ant. 1. dead. 2. moribund, inactive.

allay vb. quiet, soothe, calm, lessen, lighten, soften, moderate:

Mother's anxiety was allayed when we phoned her and told her we were safe. ant. arouse, worsen, intensify.

allege vb. declare, affirm, state, assert: The boy that the police officer alleged to be the thief was completely innocent. ant. deny.

allegiance n. loyalty, faithfulness, duty, obligation: I pledge allegiance to the United States. ant. disloyalty, treachery.

alleviate vb. let up, ease, slacken, relax, weaken, lighten: I hope that we can alleviate the situation soon and relieve the tension.

alley n. lane, byway, footway: The back door of the shop opens onto an alley.

alliance n. 1. relation, interrelation, relationship, interrelationship marriage, intermarriage: The alliance between the two families was established when Pamela and Henry were married. 2. association, connection, combination: The alliance between biology and psychology is well established. 3. agreement, treaty, pact; union, league: The Triple Alliance was among Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy.

allot vb. distribute, divide, deal out: Each of the children was allotted his fair share of dessert.

all-out adj. complete, total, exhaustive, thorough-going, wholeheartedly: If we make an all-out effort, the team is bound to win.

allow vb. 1. permit, let: My mother won't allow me to go out until my cold is better. 2. grant, cede, concede: Allow me one more chance to prove I can run faster than Glenn. 3. set aside or apart, provide for: We didn't allow enough time to drive to the station and missed the train. ant. 1. forbid, prohibit.

allowance n. 1. allotment, grant: When Larry was seven, his father gave him an allowance of ten cents a week. 2. discount, deduction: The shopkeeper gave us an allowance of 25 percent because the box wasn't full.

all right satisfactory, okay, O.K., fine: The astronauts signaled A-O.K., meaning that everything was all right.

ally n. associate, friend, partner: England and America were allies against Germany in the Second World War. vb. 1. associate, join, unite: The countries were allied by the treaty. 2. unite, unify, combine, connect, join: If we ally ourselves with them, we could be much stronger than if we remain alone. ant. n. enemy, foe, adversary.

almost adv. nearly, somewhat: Almost every house on the block is new. ant. absolutely, completely.

alone adj. lone, apart, separate, isolated: Robinson Crusoe was alone until he found Friday. adv. solely, solo, solitarily; exclusively: She sang alone at the graduation ceremony. ant. adv. accompanied, together.

aloof adj. distant, uninvolved, uninterested, withdrawn, separate; disdainful: Her aloof attitude won few friends for her. ant. friendly, outgoing, cordial, warm.

also adv. too, as well, besides, furthermore, moreover, further: They stole not only the chairs but the table and carpet also.

alter vb. change, modify; vary; adjust: The landscape was altered by the buildings of the housing project. ant. keep, preserve.

alteration n. change, modification, difference, adjustment: After the tailor made the alterations, the dress fit me perfectly. ant. preservation, maintenance.

altercation n. argument, controversy, dispute, quarrel: The police were called when an altercation broke out between the truck drivers.

alternate vb. interchange, rotate: In order to be fair, the teacher alternated the children at the head of the line. ant. fix.

alternative n. choice, selection, option; possibility: In "The Lady or the Tiger," the hero is given a difficult set of alternatives.

although conj. even though, though, even if, in spite of (the fact that), despite, notwithstanding: Although Marie wished very much to go, she had to study for a test.

altitude n. height, elevation: Our plane was flying at an altitude of 37,000 feet. ant. depth.

altogether adv. entirely, completely, wholly, quite: He was altogether too rude to his father. n. phr. in the altogether nude, naked, stripped: After the night football game, the whole team went swimming in the altogether.

always adv. forever, everlastingly, eternally, ever, forever more: Jennie will always be the teacher's pet. ant. never, rarely.

amass vb. gather, accumulate, collect, pile up, store up, lay up, lay away: By the time he was thirty, David had amassed a fortune. ant. spend, disperse, dissipate.

amateur n. novice, nonprofessional, tyro, beginner: When it came to repairing watches, Jimmy was obviously an amateur. adj. unprofessional, nonprofessional: The amateur theater group put on an excellent performance. ant. professional.

amaze vb. astonish, astound, surprise, stun, dumbfound: The magician's tricks amazed the audience. ant. bore, tire, disinterest.

ambiguous adj. unclear, uncertain, vague, deceptive: When asked if he had broken the vase, Paul gave an ambiguous reply. ant. clear, unmistakable, certain.

- ambition n. eagerness; yearning, longing, desire: Her ambition to become a doctor made her study hard.
- amend vb. improve, better: After the teacher spoke with him, Fred amended his ways and behaved very differently. ant. worsen.
- amends n. payment, reparation, compensation, restitution, remedy, redress: After the war, the government made amends to all those who had lost property.
- amiable adj. friendly, amicable, good-natured, outgoing, agreeable, kindhearted, kind, pleasant: Don's amiable manner has won him many friends. ant. disagreeable, ill-tempered, cross, captious, touchy.
- amid prep. amidst, surrounded by, among, amongst, in the middle of: It was difficult to find the flowers amid all the weeds.
- amiss adv. improperly, wrongly, astray, awry: We knew that something had gone amiss when Barbara didn't come to school for three days. adj. improper, wrong, faulty: Something is amiss in the wiring of our house—the lights always flicker. ant. adv. properly, correctly, rightly. adj. right, correct.
- among prep. amid, in the middle or midst of, surrounded by: Among the crowd I could pick out my parents, my uncle, and my cousin.
- amorous adj. loving, affectionate, amatory: Grimsby kept giving Sofronisba amorous glances that embarrassed her.
- amount n. quantity, measure: There was only a small amount of sugar in the box. vb. add up, total, aggregate: At last count, those opposed to the plan amounted to less than a majority.
- ample adj. 1. spacious, large, great, roomy: The ample truck could hold all of our belongings. 2. liberal, abundant, plentiful: There was ample food for everyone. ant. 1. cramped, confined. 2. insufficient, inadequate.
- amplify vb. enlarge, extend, broaden, develop, expand: Asked to amplify his remarks, the teacher gave many examples of the kinds of problems he faced. ant. restrict, confine, narrow, abridge.
- amuse vb. entertain, please, charm, divert: Oscar's parents hired a magician to amuse the children at the party. ant. bore, tire.
- amusement n. entertainment, pastime; diversion; enjoyment, recreation, pleasure: For amusement, we used to watch TV. ant. boredom, tedium.

- amusing adj. entertaining, pleasing, pleasant; funny, comical: Harvey helped us pass the time by telling amusing stories.
- ant. boring, tiring, tedious.
- analysis n. examination, investigation, separation: The analysis of the blood sample confirms that George is healthy.
- analyze vb. examine, investigate, separate, take apart; explain: The scientist was able to analyze the question and answer each part.
- ancestral adj. inherited, hereditary: Lord Cummings lives on his ancestral estate near London.
- ancestry n. lineage, descent, line, family, house: Chauncey's ancestry is royal. ant. posterity.
- anchor vb. fasten, fix, pin: We anchored the bookcase to the wall. The boat was anchored in the harbor. ant. loosen, free, detach.
- ancient adj. antique, old, aged, old-fashioned, primitive: There may be ancient cities buried beneath the sands of the Sahara. ant. new, fresh, recent, current.
- anecdote n. story, tale, narrative, account: The old miner used to entertain us with anecdotes of the wild West, from when he was a young man.
- anesthetic n. painkiller, analgesic, opiate, narcotic, sedative: The anesthetic was injected into the patient's arm. adj. analgesic, narcotic, numbing, deadening: The anesthetic effect of aspirin soon wears off.
- angel n. seraph, cherub, archangel: Hark! the herald angels sing! ant. devil, demon.
- anger n. wrath, fury, rage, indignation; displeasure, exasperation: We felt anger at the unfair way that Herb had been treated. vb. enrage, infuriate, arouse, nettle, exasperate, inflame, madden: Jean's mother was angered at her refusal to help with the housework.
- angry adj. furious, mad, inflamed, irate, wrathful: All the townspeople were angry when they learned that the mayor had stolen public funds. ant. happy, content, tranquil.
- anguish n. pain, suffering, misery, distress, torment, agony: The anguish of losing her kitten was almost more than Connie could bear. ant. joy, ecstasy, pleasure.
- animate vb. enliven, vitalize, invigorate, stimulate: Her animated conversation made Amy a welcome guest at parties. adj. alive, lively, vital, vigorous: Rocks are not animate beings, but mice are. ant. adj. inanimate, dead.
- animosity n. ill will, antagonism, opposition, hostility, antipa-thy: The animosity she felt toward the person who had killed her cat was quite understandable. ant. kindness.

annex vb. add, attach, join, append: Poland was sometimes annexed to Russia and sometimes to Germany. n. addition; supplement, extension: All of the x-ray equipment was moved to the hospital annex.

announce vb. proclaim, declare, report, publish, publicize: The president announced his resignation. ant. suppress.

announcement n. notice, declaration, message, commercial: The first announcement was made on the radio, the second was sent through the mail, and the third appeared in the newspaper.

annoy vb. bother, irritate, irk, pester, harry, harass, disturb: He was annoyed by the children whenever he tried to read. ant. comfort, soothe, please.

annually adv. once a year, yearly: The almanac appears annually.

answer n. reply, response, retort, rejoinder: His answer to her question was a nod. vb. reply, respond: She answered him with a shake of the head. ant. n. question, query, inquiry. vb. ask, question, inquire.

antagonism n. hostility, enmity, opposition, conflict, animosity: The antagonism between the candidates often caused them to insult one another. ant. friendliness, geniality, cordiality.

antagonist n. adversary, opponent, rival; enemy, foe: Sir Launcelot's antagonist was dressed entirely in black armor. ant. friend, ally.

anthology n. collection, treasury, garland: I must have read this anthology of short stories a dozen times.

anticipate vb. expect, foresee, forecast: Because we had anticipated our parents' permission, we were all ready to go.

antics n. pl. pranks, tricks, tomfoolery, horseplay, fun, merry-making, clowning, monkeyshines: The boys at the nearby summer camp were well known for their antics.

antiquated adj. old-fashioned, out-of-date, old, passé, outmoded, outdated: Mrs. Busby was modern in her outlook, but she wore such antiquated clothes that everyone thought her eccentric. ant. up-to-date, in style, fashionable.

antique n. objet d'art, rarity, curio: The auctioneer sold the antiques to the collector for a huge sum. adj. old, ancient, early; antiquated, old-fashioned, out-of-date, passé: Legally, antique furniture must be not less than 100 years old. An antique car cannot be that old, though. ant. adj. new, fresh, recent.

anxiety n. uneasiness, distress, worry, foreboding, apprehension: Anne's mother was filled with anxiety when she didn't come home for dinner. ant. peacefulness, placidity, calmness, tranquility.

anxious adj. worried, troubled, concerned, uneasy, apprehensive, fearful: We were all anxious about Suzanne when we heard she was in the hospital. ant. peaceful, tranquil, calm.

anyway adv. anyhow, nevertheless, in any case: Anyway, after the way you talked to me, I wouldn't go if you paid me!

apologetic adj. regretful, sorry: Ethel was very apologetic for what she had said, so she was forgiven. ant. unrepentant.

apology n. explanation, plea, excuse: Roger offered no apology for painting his name on the wall.

appall vb. horrify, shock, dismay; frighten: The authorities were appalled at the treatment prisoners received in the county jail. ant. please, edify.

apparel n. clothing, clothes, attire, garb, garments, robes, dress: The beggar's apparel was neat and clean, though tattered and torn in some places.

apparent adj. 1. plain, evident, clear, obvious, transparent, understandable: When we found the book in Cora's desk, it was apparent who had taken it. 2. seeming: Although the gray mare had been the apparent winner of the race, the photo showed the real winner to be the brown one. ant. 2. real, actual, evident.

appeal n. 1. request, plea, petition, entreaty: The annual appeal for contributions resulted in huge donations this year. 2. attraction, draw: The cartoon has much more appeal than the main feature film. vb. 1. request, plead, petition, entreat, beseech: The university appealed to the millionaire for financial support. 2. attract: Frankly, that color doesn't appeal to me at all. ant. vb. 2. repel, repulse.

appear vb. 1. seem, look: Although that animal may appear wise, it is really very stupid. 2. emerge, arise; turn up, arrive: Just when we were sure he wouldn't come, he appeared. ant. 2. disappear, vanish, evaporate.

appearance n. 1. look, mien, aspect: From his appearance, I'd say he hasn't slept for days. 2. arrival, presence: Her appearance at the party wearing a long dress was a surprise to us all. ant. 2. disappearance, vanishing.

append vb. add, attach, supplement: The publisher appended his comments to the manuscript of the novel.

appetite n. hunger, craving, thirst, desire: He has an appetite for learning that cannot be satisfied.

appetizer n. hors d'oeuvre, canapé, starter: We had smoked salmon as an appetizer.

applaud vb. praise, approve (of), acclaim: Bill's mother applauded his decision to go to college. ant. disapprove, criticize, condemn, denounce.

applicable adj. usable, fitting, suitable, proper, fit, appropriate, suited: The statement you made about boys just isn't applicable to girls. ant. inapplicable, inappropriate.

apply vb. use, utilize, employ, make use of, put to use: The teaching methods used in grade school probably wouldn't apply to high school. ant. neglect, ignore.

appoint vb. 1. assign, nominate, name, designate, elect, establish, place: He was appointed to the committee by the chairman. 2. determine, settle, fix: If you appoint a time, I'll meet you at the office. ant. 1. dismiss, discharge, fire.

appointment n. 1. engagement, meeting, rendezvous: I made two appointments for ten o'clock, so please change one of them. 2. assignment, designation, position: Her appointment as head of the school board was widely applauded. ant. 2. dismissal, discharge.

appraise vb. evaluate, value; put, place, or set a value on; assay: The assessor appraised our house at twice what we had paid for it.

appreciate vb. 1. prize, value; be grateful for: What child really appreciates what his parents do for him? 2. recognize, understand: I don't think that Marshall fully appreciates the dangers of swimming alone. ant. 1. scorn, depreciate, undervalue.

apprehend vb. 1. arrest, catch, seize, capture: The police apprehended the burglar while he was trying to pick the lock of the shop. 2. understand, perceive, grasp: When she graded his examination paper, the teacher knew that Ben had not apprehended Chapter 15 at all. ant. 1. lose.

apprehension n. 1. uneasiness, worry, fear, fearfulness, misgiving, dread, anxiety, anticipation: When the police officer asked to speak to his father, Philip was filled with apprehension. 2. arrest, capture, seizure: The apprehension of the fugitive at the top of the bridge tower was dramatic. ant. 1. composure, self-assuredness, confidence.

apprentice n. learner, beginner; amateur; recruit: An apprentice to a carpenter once had to spend ten years learning his trade. ant. master, professional.

appropriate adj. fitting, proper, suitable: Her blue jeans were not appropriate clothing for school. vb. assign, apportion, authorize: The town council appropriated $20,000 for road maintenance and repair. ant. adj. inappropriate, unfit, inapt.

approve vb. 1. praise, commend, appreciate: I approve neither of borrowing nor of lending money. 2. authorize, sanction, endorse, confirm: The budget committee approved plans for an increase in teachers' salaries. ant. 2. disapprove, deny.

apt adj. 1. proper, suitable, fitting, appropriate, fit, suited: Before dinner, the speaker offered some apt comments on the undernourished peoples of the world. 2. likely, disposed, liable, prone, inclined: If you criticize him, he's apt to tell you to jump in the lake! 3. bright, clever, alert, intelligent, receptive: When Rosemarie applies herself, she makes an apt student. ant. 1. unfit, ill-becoming, unsuitable. 2. unlikely. 3. slow, retarded, dense.

aptitude n. gift, talent, knack, faculty; ability: Nicole has always shown a remarkable aptitude for becoming a great cook.

arduous adj. difficult, hard, laborious, strained, burdensome: Working in a mine was the most arduous job I ever had. ant. easy.

argue vb. 1. debate, discuss: We argued for an increase in time for lunch, and we won. 2. dispute, disagree: My parents never argued about what they wanted for dinner. ant. 2. agree, concur.

argument n. 1. discussion, debate, dispute, controversy; disagreement: There was a big argument at the restaurant about whether chocolate ice cream is more fattening than vanilla. 2. reason, ground, grounds, proof: José's argument was that Cuba was still better off under Castro than it had been under Batista. ant. 1. agreement, harmony, accord.

arise vb. emerge, originate, appear, spring up: The problem arose when the students refused to do their homework.

aristocrat n. nobleman, noble, peer, lord: The aristocrats were once very cruel to the peasants. ant. commoner, peasant.

aroma n. scent, smell, odor, fragrance, perfume: The aroma of roasting turkey made us all ravenously hungry.

arouse vb. awaken, stir, activate, animate, excite, stimulate, fire: His strange behavior at the bank teller's window aroused my curiosity. ant. calm, settle, soothe.

arrange vb. 1. place, order, put in order, group, distribute; array: Before we arranged the furniture in the bedroom, we laid down the rug. 2. organize, plan, prepare: The travel agent arranged all of my hotel reservations. ant. 1. disarrange, disturb, disorder.

arrangement n. 1. order, grouping, array, display: The arrangement of the paintings in the gallery was haphazard. 2. Also, arrangements n. pl. preparation(s), plan(s), scheme(s): Oscar made arrangements for us to take the Concorde to Paris.

array vb. 1. clothe, dress, attire; adorn: Penny came into the room arrayed in her best clothes. 2. arrange, order, lineup, distribute: The soldiers were arrayed along the front line in full battle dress. n. 1. order, arrangement, lineup: The troops are in battle array. 2. display, arrangement, exhibit: The array of diamonds in the jeweler's window took her breath away. ant. n. 1. disarray, disorder, disorganization.

arrest vb. 1. take into custody, seize, apprehend, catch, capture, take prisoner: The police arrested the burglar as he was trying to escape through the window. 2. stop, check, stay; delay, hinder, slow: We arrested the growth of the plant by withholding water. 3. attract, engage, capture: A small scratch near the lock arrested the detective's attention. n. 1. seizure, capture, detention, custody, apprehension, imprisonment: The arrest of the judge was reported on the front page. 2. halt, check, stoppage; delay, hindrance: Any arrest in the development of a child can have serious results. n. phr. under arrest imprisoned, in custody, incarcerated: The Queen placed Sir Walter Raleigh under arrest. ant. vb. 1. release, free. 2. activate, encourage, stimulate.

arrival n. coming, advent: Her arrival was met by cheers from the crowd. ant. departure, leaving.

arrive vb. 1. come, reach: We arrived in Rome at six-thirty in the morning. He arrived at the right decision. 2. succeed, attain success: Donald finally felt he had arrived when they presented him with the medal. ant. 1. leave, depart.

arrogance n. insolence, pride, haughtiness: David's arrogance made him unpopular in the class. ant. humility, humbleness, modesty.

arrogant adj. proud, haughty, insolent, prideful; scornful: Young man, your arrogant attitude won't endear you to people around here! ant. humble, modest.

art n. skill, aptitude, craft, dexterity, ingenuity: The art that Patrick's father brings to his carvings is recognized by great collectors.

artful adj. tricky, cunning, clever, deceitful: The fugitive tried an artful ruse by doubling back through the woods. ant. artless.

artificial adj. 1. unnatural, synthetic, man-made, manufactured, not genuine, unreal: Can't you tell artificial flowers from real ones? 2. false, pretended, unnatural, feigned, fake, faked, fraudulent: Betty's sympathy for my problem was entirely artificial—she really didn't care. ant. real, genuine, authentic.

artist n. painter, sculptor, watercolorist; actor, actress, singer; designer: Many artists in Europe are supported by the governments.

artless adj. simple, naive, innocent, natural, open, frank, honest, sincere; candid, truthful: Alexa's artless attempt to help a friend got her more deeply involved in the crime. ant. artful.

ascend vb. rise, mount, climb or go upward: The smoke ascended from the chimney. Bernard ascended the stairs so he could look down on the crowd below. ant. descend.

ashamed adj. embarrassed, shamefaced, abashed, humiliated: Tom was ashamed at the way he was dressed—in red velvet with lace trim. ant. proud.

ask vb. 1. question, inquire of, seek information (from), put a question (to): Della asked people on the street if they knew where the bus stopped. 2. demand, request, charge, expect: Alan complained that the shop was asking too much for the pair of sandals. 3. invite, call in: Marie asked all of her friends to her party. ant. 1. answer, reply.

asleep adj. sleeping; inactive, dormant: Everyone was asleep when Philip came home last night. ant. awake, alert.

aspect n. 1. look, appearance: The gloomy aspect of the mountains through the fog depressed the hikers. 2. point of view, viewpoint, attitude, view, outlook: If you look at the problem from another aspect, you might understand what I mean. 3. phase, side, part, feature: But I haven't considered that aspect of the situation.

asphyxiate vb. smother, suffocate, stifle, choke, throttle, strangle: The firemen were asphyxiated by the dense smoke.

aspire vb. yearn (for), wish (for), hope (for), desire: George aspires to become a doctor when he grows up.

assail vb. attack, assault, set upon: The farmers assailed the cowboys with sticks and stones. The critics assailed the playwright with sarcasm.

assault n. attack, onslaught: The cavalry could not withstand the assault of the trained mountain troops. vb. attack, assail; charge: The woman told the police that the tall man had assaulted her.

assemble vb. 1. meet, convene, collect, gather: The class as- sembled in the auditorium to listen to the principal. 2. put together, connect, manufacture: The manager told us that they could assemble an entire car in 30 minutes. ant. 1. scatter, disperse. 2. disassemble.

assembly n. congress, parliament, legislature, council: The State Assembly met to consider the budget.

assent vb. agree, consent (to); allow, concede, accede (to): When Janet asked her father if she could go to summer camp, he assented. n. consent, agreement, approval, permission: I'll have to ask my parents' assent if I want to go to the movies. ant. vb. refuse, deny, dissent. n. refusal, denial.

assert v. 1. declare, state, affirm: The judge asserted that the suspect had been in jail at the time of the murder. 2. insist (on), emphasize, claim, support, uphold, maintain: These days, women are very firm about asserting their rights. ant. 1. deny, contradict. 2. decline.

assertion n. declaration, statement, affirmation: I cannot agree with your assertion that I was responsible for the accident. ant. denial, contradiction.

assign vb. 1. appoint, designate: Veronica was assigned to be class monitor two weeks in a row. 2. give, distribute, allot, apportion: The English teachers always assign too much homework. 3. designate, fix, pinpoint, arrange: Please don't assign Friday as the day for the meeting because I want to leave early.

assignment n. responsibility, job, task, charge, duty: The reporter was given the assignment to write about the airline merger.

assist vb. aid, help, support, back: Please assist Kevin with his classwork, Joan. ant. hinder, obstruct, impede, thwart.

assistance n. help, aid, support: Any considerate person would give an old lady assistance in crossing the street. ant. obstruction, interference.

assistant n. aide, helper, supporter: The director's assistant may be able to answer your question while the director is away.

associate vb. 1. connect, relate, link: I notice that ice cream always seems to be associated with soda in your mind. 2. join, ally, team up with; keep company (with), fraternize (with): Jim's father didn't think he associated with the right sort of people. n. 1. companion, comrade, mate: Your associate on the project doesn't seem to be doing any of the work. 2. colleague, fellow-worker, partner, ally; confederate, accomplice: Greg's associate in the deal provided all of the money. ant. vb. dissociate, disassociate, disconnect.

association n. 1. society, organization, club, union, fraternity, sorority: Some joined the association in order to meet people with common interests. 2. fellowship, companionship, partnership: My mother disapproves of my continued association with you because she thinks you're a bad influence.

assorted adj. various, varied, miscellaneous: People of assorted backgrounds attend these lectures. ant. same, alike.

assortment n. mixture, variety, collection; ragbag, conglomeration: A strange assortment of people came aboard the ship at New York.

assume vb. 1. suppose, infer, postulate: I assume that you will arrive an hour before the party. 2. take on, undertake: At the age of 16, he had to assume responsibility for his sister's care. 3. pretend, affect, feign; acquire: Although Ezra was really very upset, his face assumed a calm expression.

assumption n. supposition, presumption; guess, theory, conjecture, postulate: Your assumption that I had died in the accident was obviously incorrect.

assurance n. 1. pledge, guarantee, warranty, promise, oath: Despite all the assurance Pedro had given the teacher, he continued to talk in class. 2. confidence, self-confidence, self-reliance; courage, boldness: Dr. Gorman examined his patients with an assurance that comes with years of experience.

assure vb. pledge, promise, warrant, guarantee: My lawyer assured me that we would win the case. ant. deny, equivocate.

astonish vb. surprise, amaze, astound; startle, shock, stupefy, stun: When Ezra passed his final exams, no one was more astonished than I. ant. bore, tire.

astound vb. surprise, astonish, shock, amaze, stun, stagger, floor, (informal) flabbergast: We were astounded to learn that Shirley had given birth to quadruplets.

atrocious adj. awful, abominable, horrible, horrid, horrifying, ghastly, unspeakable: The criminal was sentenced to life imprisonment for the atrocious murder.

attach vb. 1. fasten, affix, fix, connect: The panel was attached to the wall with nails. 2. bind, tie, connect: Carolyn is attached to her father. ant. 1. detach, unfasten, loosen, loose.

attachment n. 1. devotion, regard, affection, fondness, liking: Dennis showed a close attachment to his teacher. 2. fastening, tie, connection: Tom's father bought a new set of attachments for his skis. ant. detachment.

- attack vb. 1. assault, set upon, assail, charge, storm: The army attacked the fort, and it was soon captured. 2. criticize, blame, abuse: The newspapers attacked the mayor for refusing to hire more police. n. assault, charge, onslaught, encounter: The robber was accused of an armed attack against the bank teller. ant. vb. 1. withdraw, retreat. 2. praise, endorse. n. withdrawal, retreat.
- attain vb. accomplish, reach, achieve, gain, obtain, secure, procure, acquire, get: Nicole attained the highest honors in school. ant. fail.
- attainment n. achievement, accomplishment: The attainment of many worthwhile goals cannot be gained without hard work. ant. failure.
- attempt vb. try, seek: The football team attempted to win every game. n. try, effort, undertaking, endeavor, trial: After three attempts, Jonathan finally jumped over the fence. ant. vb. achieve, accomplish. n. achievement, accomplishment.
- attend vb. 1. go to, frequent, be present at: The entire family attends church. 2. care for, serve, tend, wait on: The waitress attended to our order first.
- attendant n. servant, waiter, valet, footman: The millionaire had three attendants with him at all times.
- attention n. observation, heed, alertness, care, consideration: The class turned their attention to the teacher at the door. ant. inattention, absentmindedness, preoccupation.
- attentive adj. 1. observant, alert, heedful: Unless you agree to be more attentive when I speak, I shall ask you to leave. 2. thoughtful, kind, polite, considerate, courteous: Larry was always a very attentive father and husband. ant. inattentive, absentminded, preoccupied.
- attire vb. dress, clothe, apparel: The beggar was attired in rags. n. dress, clothing, clothes, apparel: Blue jeans are not appropriate attire for a dinner dance.
- attitude n. view, regard, position, manner, disposition, deportment: I don't like your unfriendly attitude toward old people.
- attorney n. lawyer, attorney-at-law; (in England) barrister, solicitor: Only a qualified attorney is permitted in the court at this time.
- attract vb. draw, invite, win: The crowd's attention was attracted to the man juggling the eight oranges. ant. repel, repulse.
- attractive adj. appealing, alluring, pleasing, charming: Henry behaved differently whenever an attractive girl came into the store. ant. unattractive, plain, homely, ugly.

- attribute vb. assign, credit, ascribe: She attributed her nervousness to the importance of the interview. n. characteristic, quality, property: One of Beth's chief attributes is her patience.
- audacious adj. bold, daring, courageous, brave, valiant, intrepid: Sneaking in behind enemy lines was an audacious move. ant. timid, cowardly.
- austere adj. 1. stern, severe, hard, harsh, firm, strict, stiff, inflexible: The austere look on the teacher's face told the children that he would tolerate no nonsense. 2. plain, simple, unadorned, severe: For the first few years, the lives of the pilgrims were very austere. ant. 1. lenient, permissive, soft. 2. luxurious, fancy, opulent.
- austerity n. severity, harshness, strictness: Few pioneers survived the austerity of life on the frontier. ant. comfort, luxury.
- authentic adj. 1. genuine, real: Unless it is at least 100 years old, it isn't an authentic antique. 2. true, reliable, trustworthy, accurate, authoritative: The witness testified that the signature on the will was authentic. ant. fake, bogus, imitation, counterfeit.
- authenticate vb. verify, certify, validate, warrant, guarantee: The curator at the museum authenticated the painting as a Vermeer.
- author n. (of a play) playwright, dramatist; (of a poem) poet; (of a novel) novelist; (of a musical composition) composer; (of words to a song) lyricist, songwriter; (of a biography) biographer; writer, creator, originator: She received the award for being the author of the best biography of the year.
- authority n. 1. jurisdiction, authorization; permission, sanction, approval: You have no right to go into that room without the proper authority. 2. command, rule, order, control, power: The library is under the authority of the librarian.
- authorize vb. 1. empower: She wasn't authorized to use that typewriter. 2. allow, permit, sanction, approve: The committee authorized the purchase of new playground equipment. ant. 2. prohibit, forbid.
- automatic adj. 1. self-moving, mechanical: The spinning cycle on this washing machine is automatic. 2. uncontrolled, uncontrollable, involuntary, unconscious: The circulation of the blood is automatic. ant. 1. manual, hand-operated. 2. deliberate, intentional.
- automobile n. car, motor car, auto; jalopy; (Slang) heap, wheels:

You can't drive an automobile to the city because there's no place to park.

avail vb. benefit, help, serve; profit: Dishonesty avails us nothing. n. help, benefit, use, advantage, profit: Attempts to persuade her to stay after she felt insulted were to no avail.

available adj. obtainable, accessible, at hand, ready, handy: A mechanic wasn't available at midnight, so we had to leave the car until morning. ant. unavailable, unobtainable.

average adj. normal, common, typical, ordinary: I never understood why "C" was considered an average mark for schoolwork. n. mean; median: The average of all meat prices rose 10 percent last year. ant. adj. atypical, abnormal.

aversion n. dislike, distaste; abhorrence, disgust, loathing, hatred: I have an aversion to boiled eggs, to horror movies, and to people who talk all the time. ant. liking, finity, attraction.

avert vb. ward off, avoid, prevent: Jim put out the fire, narrowly averting a major disaster.

avoid vb. elude, evade; shun: For two years the murderer managed to avoid capture. ant. meet, confront, encounter, face.

award vb. bestow, give: She was awarded first prize in the essay contest. The father was awarded custody of the children. n. prize, reward, payment, medal: An award will be given to the employee who offers the best idea.

aware adj. conscious, informed, mindful: When Margaret lied about breaking the mirror, she was aware of the consequences. ant. unaware, unconscious.

awe n. respect, wonder, fear, admiration: At the hospital, all the nurses were in awe of the doctors. ant. scorn, contempt.

awful adj. dreadful, terrible, abominable, bad, poor, unpleasant: The concert was so awful that everyone left in the middle. ant. wonderful, delightful.

awkward adj. 1. clumsy, graceless, unskillful, sloppy, ungraceful, ungainly, crude: In an awkward attempt to reach the sugar, Everett spilled the milk pitcher. 2. inconvenient, unwieldy, unmanageable: From that awkward position, I was unable to turn the bolt. ant. 1. graceful, deft, elegant, skilled, skillful.

❧ B ❧

babble n. gibberish, nonsense, prattle, twaddle, piffle, balderdash, twattle, rubbish, poppycock: Janet talks such babble that no one ever invites her anymore. vb. prattle, chatter, jabber, maunder, (slang) run off at the mouth: The minister was delivering the sermon, but Nellie just kept babbling away.

back vb. support, help, assist, second, aid; endorse, ratify, stand by, approve; finance: The investor agreed to back the new company with $1 million.

backer n. supporter, sponsor, patron, angel: We are going to need some wealthy backers to produce this musical.

background n. experience: At only 18, Phoebe doesn't have the background needed for this job. prep. phr. in the background unobtrusive, inconspicuous: Millie always kept her personal feelings in the background.

backward adv. rearward: He walked into the room backward. adj. 1. rearward: Looking over her shoulder, Suzanne gave him a final, backward glance. 2. slow, underdeveloped, retarded: Some of the students were backward in their mathematics skills. ant. adv. forward. adj. 1. forward. 2. precocious.

bad adj. 1. evil, immoral, wicked, corrupt, sinful, depraved: The people considered the dictator to be a totally bad man. 2. rotten, contaminated, spoiled, tainted: Eight people were poisoned by the bad meat at that restaurant. 3. harmful, injurious; unfavorable: Eating too much candy is bad for your teeth. 4. poor, defective, inferior, imperfect, substandard, faulty: The picture tube is bad in this TV set. 5. improper, inappropriate, unsuited, unsuitable: The paintings by amateurs are usually bad examples of art. 6. upset, sorry: We all feel bad when a pet dies. 7. sick, ill, out of sorts; suffering: I felt bad after eating all that popcorn. 8. disagreeable, unpleasant, uncomfortable: Because of the storm, we had a bad flight from Chicago to New York. 9. cross, nasty, unpleasant, unfriendly, irritable, disagreeable, irascible, short-tempered: When Sam heard about who was coming for dinner, it put him into a bad mood for the rest of the day. ant. good.

badger vb. torment, provoke, taunt, hector, harass, bait: Please stop badgering me about doing my homework.

- baffle vb. mystify, puzzle, confuse, frustrate, bewilder: Although I asked a simple enough question, I was completely baffled by his reply. ant. enlighten, inform.
- bag n. sack, poke: A full bag of groceries can be heavy. vb. catch, snare, trap: The hunter bagged three rabbits.
- bait n. lure, enticement: Many fishermen use worms for bait. vb. 1. lure, entice, entrap, captivate, ensnare: Enid baited her boyfriend with her good cooking. 2. tease, torment, worry, pester, badger, heckle: The audience baited the politician by asking him about his record.
- balance n. equilibrium: The acrobat was able to balance easily on the wire. vb. 1. weigh, compare, evaluate, contrast: When you balance the advantages against the disadvantages, I'd say we ought to go. 2. offset, counterbalance, make up for: My reasons for staying balance my reasons for going, so I don't know what to do.
- baleful adj. harmful, destructive, ruinous, detrimental, noxious, injurious: The boy came under the baleful influence of the cruel headmaster. ant. beneficial, helpful, positive.
- balk vb. hesitate, stop; check: The dog balked at jumping the stream.
- ball¹ n. sphere, globe, spheroid: The pitcher threw the ball to second base.
- ball² n. dance, cotillion: We were all invited to the masked ball given to raise money for charity.
- balloon vb. swell, enlarge, puff up or out: The sail ballooned in the wind and the boat began to move. ant. shrink, shrivel.
- balmy adj. mild, gentle, soothing: In Mexico we enjoyed balmy weather nearly every day. ant. stormy, tempestuous.
- ban vb. forbid, prohibit, disallow, outlaw: Smoking is banned in the buses. n. prohibition, taboo: There is a ban on staying out in the streets after nine o'clock. ant. vb. permit, allow.
- banal adj. trite, overused, (informal) corny, humdrum, (informal) old hat, hackneyed, stale: However often it's been done, the story of Boy Meets Girl is never banal. ant. fresh, novel.
- band¹ n. group, company, society, association, body, crew, gang: The band of converts established their own town out west. vb. unite: We had to band together for our own protection.
- band² n. strip, belt: There was a narrow band of carvings around the base of the column.
- bandit n. outlaw, thief, robber, highwayman, hijacker, marauder, brigand: Three bandits attacked the coach in the forest.

- banish vb. exile, deport, expel; dismiss: Instead of executing him, the court banished Napoleon to Elba. ant. embrace, receive, admit, welcome.
- bank n. embankment, shore: I swam to the edge of the lake and climbed out onto the bank.
- banner n. flag, pennant, standard, colors: The general marched in front of the troops, just behind the banner.
- banquet n. feast, entertainment: The sumptuous banquet provided by our hosts offered a great variety of foods.
- bar n. 1. barrier, obstacle, barricade, obstruction, hindrance, impediment: Peace should not be a bar to progress in science or business. 2. counter; saloon, cocktail lounge, café: The business executives met at the bar before going in for dinner. vb. prevent, obstruct, hinder, impede, stop, deter, prohibit, block: All those who were not members of the club were barred from entering. ant. n. 1. encouragement, aid. vb. permit, allow.
- barbarian n. savage, brute, boor, ruffian: The manager of the theater called the police because the boys were acting like barbarians. adj. savage, rude, primitive, uncivilized, uncultured, crude, barbaric, barbarous: A barbarian tribe never before seen was discovered in the Philippines. ant. adj. cultivated, civilized, tasteful.
- barber n. hairdresser, coiffeur: The barber restyled Vincent's hair to make him look less bald.
- bare adj. 1. nude, naked, unclothed, uncovered, undressed: In many European countries, small children run about bare on the beaches. 2. plain, unfurnished, empty, barren: The room was entirely bare. 3. mere, scarce: Robinson Crusoe was marooned with just the bare necessities of life. vb. reveal, disclose, expose, publicize: The district attorney bared the details of the political scandal. ant. adj. 1. clothed, dressed, garbed. vb. hide, conceal, disguise.
- barefaced adj. brazen, impudent, bold, impertinent, insolent, rude, audacious, shameless, unabashed: When he denied having seen me, he uttered a barefaced lie.
- bargain n. deal, agreement, arrangement, contract: I'll make a bargain with you. I'll let you use my bicycle if you let me use your wagon. vb. agree, contract, arrange: The two farmers bargained until a fair agreement was reached.
- baroque adj. ornate, ornamented, elaborate, embellished, decorated, rococo: The baroque exterior of the building belied the forward-thinking computer company it housed.
- barren adj. sterile, unproductive, unfruitful, bare, childless:

Michael soon realized that his wife was barren and that he would never have a child. ant. fertile, fruitful.

barricade n. barrier, obstruction, fence, enclosure: The barricade prevented the horses from leaving the corral. vb. shut in, obstruct, block, bar: We barricaded ourselves in the cabin for protection against the wolves. ant. vb. release, free, open.

barrier n. 1. bar, barricade, fence, wall, railing, obstacle: The barrier was opened to allow passengers through. 2. obstruction, hindrance, impediment, restraint, obstacle; limit: Neither the mountains nor love of home was a barrier to the tribe's traveling great distances. ant. 2. encouragement, aid, assistance.

barter vb. trade, exchange: He bartered three bushels of corn for a baby pig.

base¹ n. bottom, support, stand, rest, foundation: The base of this column is carved from marble. vb. found, establish: A careful scholar bases his theory on sound examination of the evidence. ant. n. top, peak, pinnacle.

base² adj. 1. low, immoral, bad, evil, depraved, wicked, mean, selfish: Anyone who would allow a kitten to starve is really base. 2. cheap, tawdry, worthless, poor, debased, (of coin) counterfeit: The clasp on your necklace didn't last long because it was made of base material. ant. 1. noble, exalted, virtuous. 2. refined, valuable.

bashful adj. shy, timid, sheepish, modest, coy, shamefaced, ashamed: Carl was too bashful to tell Gloria that he loved her. ant. self-assured, immodest, arrogant.

basic adj. main, chief, essential, fundamental: The detective's basic reason for being at the scene of the crime was to question the witnesses. ant. subordinate, subsidiary.

basis n. foundation, base, ground, essential: The only basis for her behavior is jealousy.

batch n. cluster, group, collection, set, combination, bunch: Please take this batch of files and sort them by client names.

batter vb. beat, pound, hit, strike: The boxers were battering each other with repeated blows.

battle n. 1. flight, combat; war, warfare: Her only son was killed in battle. 2. conflict, action, campaign, fight: After the battle, each side looked after its wounded and buried its dead. vb. fight, struggle, strive against: Battling great odds, the team finally won.

bawdy adj. obscene, dirty, vulgar, filthy, smutty, pornographic, (slang) raunchy: The shop behind the station sells bawdy books.

bawl vb. weep, wail, cry loudly: I couldn't sleep with the baby bawling all night long.

bay n. gulf, inlet, cove, harbor, sound: We watched as the tall ships dropped anchor in the bay.

bazaar n. market, marketplace, fair, fete: Terrific bargains were available at the bazaar near the village square.

beach n. strand, sands, shore, seashore, coast: Every summer, we rent a cottage at the beach for a week or two.

beam n. 1. girder, cross-member: The main beams of the roof are being eaten by termites. 2. ray, pencil, gleam: The beam shone through the slit to light up the golden statue in the crypt. vb. shine, gleam, glisten, glitter: When the moon beams on the water, it looks like a silvery path.

bear vb. 1. carry, support, hold up: The columns bear the weight of the roof. 2. carry, transport, convey: Beware the Greeks bearing gifts! 3. endure, stand, suffer, abide, tolerate: I cannot bear to hear a baby crying. vb. phr. 1. bear on relate to, affect, be relevant (to), be connected (with): What you do in school bears very much on how well you do when you graduate. 2. bear out substantiate, confirm, prove: My prediction was borne out by your losing the key on the first day. 3. bear up endure, carry on, keep up: I just don't see how Martha can bear up under the strain of caring for 15 children. 4. bear with forbear, be patient with; tolerate: Please bear with me until I can straighten the problem out.

bearing n. 1. posture, carriage; manner, behavior, deportment, conduct: The girl's regal bearing made everyone notice her when she walked into the room. 2. reference, relation, application, connection: What you think has no bearing on what we ought to do. 3. direction, course, position: It took a few minutes with the chart to get our bearings.

beast n. animal; brute, monster: She persuaded her lawyer that her husband had acted like a beast.

beastly adj. 1. hateful, loathsome, detestable, mean, low, base, vile, despicable, offensive, nasty, obnoxious: He treated her in the most beastly way, so she divorced him. 2. unpleasant, nasty: I have caught a beastly cold.

beat vb. 1. hit, strike, pound, batter, thrash: When we came into the yard, Jan's mother was beating the carpet. 2. throb, pulse, pulsate: I can feel my heart beating if I put my hand here. 3. defeat, conquer, overcome: The home team beat the visitors 3-2. n. 1. stroke, blow: Three beats on the divan will be the signal. 2. throb, pulse, pulsation, tattoo, rhythm: The beat of the jungle drums could be heard for miles.

beautiful adj. pretty, lovely, handsome, attractive: You don't have to be beautiful to become a movie star, but it helps.
ant. homely, unattractive, plain, ugly.

beauty n. loveliness, comeliness, attractiveness: There is a beauty in the wilderness that cannot be matched in the city.
ant. homeliness, plainness, ugliness.

because conj. since, as, for, for the reason that: He refused to come into the room because he wasn't properly dressed.

beckon vb. summon, call, wave, signal: The old man beckoned to me to follow him. In the warm weather, the seaside beckons.

become vb. 1. grow, change, or come to be: When I told him what his friend had said, he became angry. 2. suit, befit, be appropriate or attractive to: The green dress becomes you, but I don't care for the red one.

bedlam n. commotion, pandemonium, furor, uproar, madhouse: The floor of the Exchange was a bedlam, with everyone running about and shouting. ant. calm.

befuddled adj. confused, muddled, dazed, befogged, stunned: She was completely befuddled at finding sixty people having a party when she came home.

beg vb. 1. ask, request, entreat, beseech, petition, solicit, implore: Kathy begged her mother to be allowed to go to the party. 2. panhandle: Many cities do not allow people to beg in the streets.

begin vb. 1. start, commence; initiate; inaugurate: Don't begin until everyone is ready. 2. originate, create, arise: The practice of working five days a week didn't begin until the later 1940s. ant. 1. stop, end, finish, terminate.

beginner n. amateur, nonprofessional, apprentice: Beginners in the printing industry must train for many years. ant. professional.

beginning n. 1. start, outset, commencement, emergence, initiation, inauguration: At the beginning of a new enterprise everyone works very hard. 2. origin, source, rise, birth, creation: The beginning of modern scientific thought can be traced to the sixteenth century. ant. ending, finish, termination.

behalf n. part, support, interest, aid: He spoke to the judge on behalf of his client.

behave vb. act, conduct oneself, deport oneself: The prisoner was allowed to work in the library because he had behaved so well. ant. misbehave, rebel.

behavior n. conduct, deportment, manners: The children's behavior was so bad that the teacher kept them after school.
ant. misbehavior, rebelliousness.

behead vb. decapitate, decollate, guillotine: The executioner beheaded the prisoner with a great axe.

behind prep. in back of, at the back or rear of: The playground is behind the school. ant. before.

belief n. 1. view, opinion, conviction, creed, credo: His belief is that all aspirin is alike. 2. faith, trust, confidence, assurance: Nothing could shake his belief that his parents were the most wonderful people.

belittle vb. diminish, demean, deprecate, depreciate, minimize, slight, discredit, humiliate: She belittled him by returning his gift. ant. build up, commend, flatter.

bellow vb. roar, thunder, howl, scream: The sergeant bellowed his orders to the platoon.

bemoan vb. lament, grieve, mourn, sorrow, deplore, regret: When Bill was graduated, we bemoaned the loss of our best tennis player.

bend vb. 1. curve, bow, deflect: You could never bend that steel bar with your bare hands. 2. stoop, kneel, crouch, bow: Martin bent to look through the grating in the sidewalk. 3. submit, yield, bow, stoop, agree: The foreman had to bend under the pressure from the president. 4. subdue, suppress, oppress, influence, cause to yield, submit, or bow: The president was accustomed to bending all the staff to his will. ant. 1. straighten.

beneficial adj. good, advantageous, helpful, useful, profitable, wholesome: Fresh air and sunshine are beneficial. ant. unwholesome, disadvantageous.

benefit n. service, favor, help, support, good, profit, advantage: Dick won't do anything unless it's for his own benefit.
vb. help, aid, support, profit, serve: Every time you help someone else you benefit yourself. ant. n. disadvantage.

benevolent adj. humane, good, kind, well-wishing, kindly, kindhearted, well-disposed; generous, openhearted, liberal, charitable: Benevolent graduates donated money to the college for the new library. ant. malevolent, mean, cruel, evil.

bent adj. 1. crooked, curved: The lock was so crude we could open it with a bent nail. 2. determined, resolved, set, decided, firm: Although I tried to discourage him, Jim was bent on sailing across the ocean alone. ant. 1. straight.

- beseech vb. beg, implore, ask, entreat: I beseech you to consider your parents before getting into trouble.
- besides adv. furthermore, moreover, in addition, further: You may not go out to play because it's raining and, besides, you haven't finished your homework. prep. in addition to, except for, other than: Besides me, there's no one else who cares about winning the game.
- bestow vb. give, confer, present, award: The critics bestowed their highest honor on the playwright. ant. withhold, withdraw.
- bet vb. wager, lay or put (money), gamble: I never bet on a horse race in my life. n. wager, stake, ante, pledge: Mrs. DeTour placed a three-dollar bet at roulette and won.
- betray vb. 1. deliver, be treacherous or disloyal: The traitor betrayed the location of the arsenal to the enemy. 2. reveal, expose; display, show, exhibit: Although she seemed very angry, her smile betrayed her real feelings. ant. safeguard, protect, shelter.
- better vb. improve: I could better my tennis game if I practiced more. ant. worsen.
- bewilder vb. confuse, puzzle, perplex, mystify, overwhelm: When we came out of the dark cave, we were completely bewildered as to our whereabouts. ant. enlighten, clarify.
- bewitch vb. enchant, charm, captivate: The giant bewitched the children into believing that he was a midget.
- bias n. prejudice, tendency, inclination: The executive has a bias in favor of hiring only friends. vb. influence, prejudice, bend, warp: The politician's opinion was biased because he had received gifts from the manufacturers. ant. n. impartiality, fairness.
- bicker vb. argue, quarrel, dispute, wrangle: You must stop bickering about who is a better swimmer.
- bid vb. 1. command, order, direct: When the principal bids you to stand, you are expected to get to your feet immediately. 2. greet, say, wish: I bid you good day, sir. 3. offer, tender, propose: Mother bid only three dollars for the chair at the auction, but she got it. n. offer, proposal: I made an unsuccessful bid of two dollars for the lamp.
- bide vb. phr. bide one's time wait, remain, delay: I'm going to bide my time until another sale is announced.
- big adj. 1. large, great, huge, immense, enormous, gigantic, tremendous: If it has 37 rooms, I'd certainly agree that it's a big house. 2. important: The big event of the year was the Christmas party. 3. generous, kind, outgoing, bighearted: It was very big of you to let us use your pool.

- bigoted adj. prejudiced, intolerant, biased, partial, unfair; chauvinist: That bigoted employer refuses to hire blacks, foreigners, or Jews.
- bill n. invoice, statement, charge, account: Please send me a bill for the broken window.
- bind vb. 1. tie, fasten, band: Don't bind that bundle of clothes too tight because they'll tear. 2. obligate, oblige: He was bound by the contract. ant. 1. loosen, free, untie.
- bit n. scrap, particle, fragment, speck, drop: May I have just a bit more sugar in my coffee? n. phr. bit by bit gradually, slowly: Bit by bit, Jim saved enough money to buy a bicycle.
- bite vb. nip; gnaw, chew: They say that barking dogs don't bite, but let someone else prove it. n. 1. nip, sting: A dog bite is more serious than a mosquito bite. 2. morsel, mouthful; snack: May I have a bite of that hot dog?
- bitter adj. 1. acrid, harsh, biting: If you chew aspirin instead of swallowing it whole, it leaves a bitter taste in your mouth. 2. distressing, distressful, painful, grievous: I had the bitter experience of studying hard but failing the examination. 3. painful, stinging, piercing, biting: The day was bitter cold. 4. hostile, hated, severe, vicious: The citizens of the two countries were bitter enemies. ant. 1. sweet, bland.
- bizarre adj. strange, odd, peculiar, unusual, uncommon, queer, curious: That office boy looks too bizarre with his green and orange Mohawk haircut.
- black adj. 1. dark, sooty, inky, ebony, swarthy: The black man stood in the doorway. 2. soiled, dirty, filthy, stained: When he finished repairing the car, he was black from head to toe. 3. gloomy, dismal, sad, depressing, dark, somber: The day of the financial panic is known as Black Friday. ant. 1. white, light-skinned. 2. clean, pure, pristine. 3. bright, cheerful.
- blame vb. reproach, condemn, criticize: The taxi driver was blamed for causing the accident. n. responsibility, guilt, fault: Before you place the blame on me, you'd better find out the facts. ant. honor, credit.
- blameless adj. innocent; moral; worthy: Though wild in her youth, Hazel has led a blameless life since she married.
- blank adj. 1. empty, unmarked: The application was blank except for where Michael had filled in his name. 2. uninterested, expressionless: A sea of blank faces greeted the teacher on the first day of school. n. void, area, form, vacancy: Just fill in the blanks with the correct information, please. ant. adj. 1. filled. 2. animated, alert.

blasphemous adj. sacrilegious, profane, irreligious, irreverent, impious, godless, ungodly: Uttering a blasphemous oath, the barbarian smashed the sacred altar.

blatant adj. brazen, shameless, flagrant, notorious, obvious: If he swears that she was at the scene of the crime, the witness is a blatant liar.

blaze n. flame, fire; holocaust, inferno: The firemen fought a three-alarm blaze on Brady Street. vb. burn, flare, flare up, flame, shine: The fire was blazing in the hearth when we arrived for the Christmas party. ant. vb. dwindle, die.

bleach vb. whiten, blanch; pale: The blue jeans were bleached pale blue by the sun. n. whitener: Don't use so much bleach in the laundry. ant. vb. darken, blacken.

bleak adj. 1. bare, desolate, barren, windswept: The bleak landscape offered no shelter. 2. depressing, cheerless, gloomy, dreary: The financial future of the company was bleak after the fire. ant. 2. hopeful, cheerful, promising.

blend vb. mix, intermix, intermingle, mingle, commingle, combine: Before pouring the batter into the baking dish, you should blend all the ingredients thoroughly. n. mixture, combination, compound: That pipe tobacco smells like a mild blend. ant. vb. separate, divide.

blight n. epidemic, disease, sickness, affliction: The blight killed off the entire crop. vb. damage, ruin, harm, destroy: His career was blighted by his poor school record.

blind adj. 1. sightless, unsighted, purblind: A blind person's hearing is often very acute. 2. unaware, unknowing, unconscious, ignorant, thoughtless, unthinking: Irena was blind to the fact that no one really liked her. n. screen, shade, curtain, cover: The sun is in my eyes; please pull down the blind. ant. adj. 1. sighted, seeing. 2. clear-sighted, knowing, discerning, aware.

blink vb. 1. wink: The light blinked on and off. She blinked when you shone the light in her eyes. 2. flicker, twinkle: The stars are blinking in the black sky.

bliss n. happiness, joy, gladness, ecstasy, rapture: They have lived in married bliss for 25 years. ant. misery, unhappiness, torment.

block n. obstacle, obstruction, impediment, hindrance, blockade: The police stopped every car at the roadblock, looking for the escaped men. vb. stop, obstruct, impede, retard, hinder, blockade, check: The fallen trees blocked our passage to freedom from the narrow canyon. ant. n. aid, advantage. vb. aid, assist, forward, promote.

blood n. 1. gore, bloodshed, murder, slaughter: Cain had his brother's blood on his hands. 2. lineage, heritage, ancestry: The Prince of Wales is of royal blood.

bloody adj. bloodthirsty, cruel, inhuman, pitiless, ruthless, murderous, ferocious: The revolution of the peasants stopped forever the king's bloody reign. ant. gentle, kind.

bloom n. flower, blossom: My new roses are growing with huge blooms. vb. flourish, blossom, flower: Rose of Sharon blooms in September in this part of the country. ant. vb. wither, shrivel.

blossom n. flower, bloom: The cherry blossoms in Washington are beautiful in the spring. vb. bloom, flower, flourish: The century plant is so called because it is said to blossom only once every 100 years. ant. vb. wither, shrink, dwindle, fade.

blot n. 1. spot, stain, inkstain, inkblot: I got that awful blot on my skirt when Ronnie spilled ink on me. 2. stain, blemish, taint, disgrace, dishonor: The blot on his record harmed his career. vb. 1. spot, stain, spatter, soil: You've blotted my book with your leaky pen! 2. dry, soak up, sponge up: If you blot the ink, it won't smear when you turn the page. phr. blot out eliminate, destroy, obliterate, erase, rub out, cancel: I've blotted that terrible experience from my mind.

blow¹ n. 1. thump, hit, slap, rap, cuff, box, knock, stroke: The boxer knocked his challenger out with a blow to the stomach. 2. shock: The news of the death of her turtle was a terrible blow to Joanne.

blow² vb. 1. move, spread, drive: The leaves started to blow down the street in the breeze. 2. whistle: The siren blew at noon each day. phr. blow up 1. explode, detonate: The spies blew up the bridge. 2. enlarge, inflate: Blow up that balloon.

blue n. azure, sapphire: On a clear day, blue is the color of the sky. adj. sad, gloomy, depressed, unhappy, dejected, melancholy: I felt blue at the thought of leaving home. ant. adj. happy, cheerful, optimistic.

bluff¹ adj. 1. vertical, perpendicular, steep, precipitous, abrupt: The cliff was bluff right down to the beach. 2. hearty, rough, open, frank, blunt: The manager's bluff approach to people was basically good-natured and kind. n. cliff, precipice: We couldn't climb up the face of the bluff. ant. 1. shallow, gentle, sloping. 2. subtle, indirect.

bluff² vb. mislead, deceive, fool, pretend: The gambler bluffed the others into thinking he had a good hand. n. pretense, lie, fraud, fake, deceit: Bill's tough manner is just a bluff—he's really a marshmallow inside.

blunder n. mistake, error: Telling Kitty about the party when she hadn't been invited was a stupid blunder. vb. stumble: I blundered into the lamp and knocked it over in the dark.

blunt adj. 1. dull, unsharpened, rounded, worn: That blunt knife could hardly cut butter. 2. rude, crude, direct, impolite, abrupt, short, curt, brusque, gruff: I don't invite Walter anymore because his manner is too blunt. vb. dull: He blunted the ax on the rock. ant. adj. 1. sharp, keen, pointed. 2. diplomatic, tactful.

blur vb. stain, sully, obscure, dim, dull, confuse: My eyeglasses were blurred by the fine mist. After she took the medicine, her senses were blurred and she couldn't drive her car home. n. smudge, smear, stain, spot: There was a blur of smoke on the horizon as the ship approached. ant. vb. clarify, clear.

blush vb. redden, color: Whenever anyone told Irena how pretty she was, she blushed.

boast vb. brag, crow, exaggerate: Nobody could stand being with Bill because he was always boasting about how great he was. n. bragging, braggadocio: Despite his boast, Bill was unable to jump across the stream.

body n. 1. corpse, cadaver, carcass: The body of the dead man was taken to the morgue. The body of the wolf was buried in the snow. 2. trunk, torso: He had spots all over his body but none on his arms, legs, or head. 3. group, party, company, band: We walked out of the meeting in a body.

bogus adj. fake, false, counterfeit, sham, pretend, pseudo, (informal) phony: He tried to pass the bogus money at the bank and was promptly arrested. ant. genuine.

boil vb. seethe, foam, bubble, simmer, stew: The soup was boiling on the stove.

bold adj. 1. brave, unafraid, fearless, intrepid, courageous, daring, valiant, heroic, gallant: The four bold men stormed the machine gun and captured it. 2. rude, disrespectful, insolent, impudent, shameless: Richard was bold enough to answer back to the teacher. ant. 1. cowardly, fearful, timid, timorous. 2. courteous, polite, deferential.

bond n. 1. fastening, fastener, rope, tie, cord, band: The prisoner was unable to escape the bonds on his wrists. 2. connection, tie, attachment, link: The bonds of friendship prevented me from telling the supervisor about Alice's tak- ing three hours for lunch. 3. promise, promissory note, obligation, I.O.U.: My word is my bond and everyone knows that I pay all my debts.

bondage n. slavery, enslavement, enthrallment, thralldom, captivity: His captors constantly mistreated him, making his bondage unendurable. ant. freedom.

bonus n. reward, premium, gift, bounty: The company will pay a bonus to all employees willing to work at night.

book n. volume, tome, publication, work; hardcover, paperback; novel, biography, text, workbook: The library at the university contains hundreds of thousands of books.

boom¹ vb. 1. reverberate, thunder, roar: The huge guns boomed in the distance. 2. prosper, flourish: The late 1960s were a time of booming prosperity: business was booming. n. 1. blast, roar, thunder: I couldn't hear the music over the boom of the airplanes. 2. prosperity, rush: Just before Christmas, there is always a big boom in toy sales. ant. n. 2. recession.

boom² n. spar, pole: The wind changed suddenly, causing the boom to swing around and hit me.

boorish adj. rude, coarse, uncivil, churlish, uncivil, ill-mannered, uncouth; ill-bred, uncivilized, crude: After his boorish behavior at the reception, he'll not be invited again. ant. well-mannered, cultivated.

booth n. compartment, enclosure, stand, cubicle, box: The telephone in the booth on the corner isn't working.

border n. 1. frontier, boundary, limit: We crossed the border between France and Italy. 2. edge, margin: There was a border of blue flowers around the tablecloth. vb. join, adjoin, edge, abut: Maine is bordered by New Hampshire on the west and south and by Canada on the north. ant. n. 2. center, middle.

bore vb. 1. weary, tire: We were all so bored by the movie that we almost fell asleep. 2. drill, hole, perforate: This machine bores into the steel plate in 36 places at the same time. ant. 1. interest, excite, arouse, captivate.

bosom n. 1. breast, chest: The nurse clutched the infant to her bosom. 2. heart, feelings, mind, thoughts: His bosom swelled with pride when he received his degree.

boss n. manager, director, supervisor, employer, foreman: My boss scolded me for being late again this morning. ant. employee, worker, underling.

bother vb. irritate, trouble, worry, disturb, annoy, vex, pester, upset, inconvenience: It bothered me that I couldn't recall the name of the seventeenth President. n. trouble, inconvenience, upset, distress, anxiety: I never wanted to be a bother—I only tried to help. ant. n. comfort, solace.

bottom n. 1. base, foot, depths: I heard the bucket strike the ground at the bottom of the dried-out well. 2. underside: The mark on the bottom of the cup shows the maker's name. 3. seat, buttocks, behind, rear: Billy's mother gave him a sharp slap on his bottom for breaking the window. ant. 1., 2. top, topside.

bough n. limb, arm, branch: The boughs of the tree are laden with fruit.

bounce vb. rebound, ricochet, recoil: The golf ball bounced on the ground, then against a tree, and ended up in the sand trap.

bound¹ vb., n. leap, jump, spring, bounce, skip: The dog bounded along next to the car. With one bound Barbara had crossed the stream.

bound² adj. 1. tied, trussed; shackled, fettered: The prisoner was bound hand and foot. 2. sure, certain, destined; required, compelled: Suzie knew that her father was bound to say no when she asked him if she could go. ant. 1. unfettered, free.

bound³ adj. on the way to, destined for: This train is bound for Albuquerque.

bound⁴ n. (usually bounds) boundary, limit: Within the bounds of reason, there is no limit to how far you can push your imagination.

boundary n. limit, bound, border, outline, margin, circumference, perimeter, edge, frontier: The boundary between our properties is marked by a fence. There is a heavy black line marking the boundary on the map.

bounty n. 1. gift, generosity: The settlers were grateful for the bounty from the earth. 2. reward, award, bonus, prize, premium: The farmers' association offered a bounty of $50 for every dead wolf.

bourgeois adj. middle-class, commonplace, ordinary, common, conventional: Harvey's bourgeois upbringing made him wear a white shirt and a tie at all times. ant. aristocratic, upper-class.

bout n. match, round, fight, contest, conflict: The first bout was won by the challenger.

bow vb. 1. stoop, bend; yield, submit: The porter was bowed down under the weight of the trunk. You ought to bow to the force of a stronger argument. 2. curtsey, salaam, kowtow, kneel: Everyone bowed when the king came into the room.

boy n. lad, youth, youngster; (Informal) kid: The new family that just moved into the neighborhood has three boys. ant. man, girl.

brace n. support, prop, stay, strut, bracket, crutch: This wall ought to have a steel brace to hold it in place. vb. support, prop, steady: Brace yourself for some bad news.

bracelet n. bangle, circlet, armband; (Slang) handcuff: Anne wore a gold charm bracelet on her left wrist.

bracing adj. fortifying, invigorating, stimulating, restorative, refreshing: How about a bracing swim in the lake before breakfast?

brag vb. boast, swagger: It's not good manners to brag about yourself. ant. deprecate, depreciate.

braid vb. plait, wreath, weave, twine: At the picnic, the girls braided daisies into their hair.

brain n. (usually brains) intelligence, sense, common sense, intellect, reason, understanding: Philip doesn't have the brains to come in out of the rain. ant. stupidity.

branch n. 1. limb, bough, shoot: The branches on this tree grow very close to the ground. 2. offshoot, tributary: The two branches of the stream join here. 3. division, part, subdivision, department: The restaurant opened a new branch on the main road.

brand n. 1. kind, make, manufacture, trademark, label, trade name: What brand of shampoo do you use? 2. stamp, mark, blaze: The stolen cattle bore the brand of our ranch.

brave adj. courageous, gallant, fearless, daring, valiant, valorous, intrepid, unafraid, heroic, bold: The brave boys plunged into the icy stream to save the puppy. ant. timid, cowardly, fearful, craven.

bravery n. courage, daring, valor, fearlessness, heroism, boldness: This medal is given for bravery in the face of the enemy. ant. cowardice, timidity, fearfulness.

brawl n. fight, melee, fray, fracas, riot, disturbance, dispute, disagreement: The brawl in the dance hall brought the police in full force.

brazen adj. bold, brassy, shameless, impudent, insolent, rude, immodest: Because of his brazen manner to the teacher, Zeke's parents had to come to school. ant. modest, retiring, shy, self-effacing.

breach n. 1. break, rift, rupture, fracture, crack, opening, gap: The explosion tore a breach in the wall big enough for the tank to pass through. 2. violation, breaking: Her failure to deliver the merchandise by Monday was a breach of our agreement. ant. 2. observation.

break vb. 1. fracture, rupture, shatter, smash, wreck, crash, atomize, demolish: When Jack sat on the antique chair, he broke it into a hundred pieces. 2. violate, disobey: I have no respect for those who break the law. 3. disintegrate, fall apart, collapse, splinter, smash, shatter: The old vase might break if you looked at it! n. 1. crack, gap, opening, breach, rupture: The water poured through the break in the dike. 2. suspension, stop, hesitation, interruption: We all took a ten-minute break and then went back to work. vb. phr. 1. break down fail, falter, stop: Our car broke down on the steep hill. 2. break in a. educate, train, initiate, prepare, instruct: The foreman had to break in the new machinist. b. invade, trespass: The burglars broke into the bank at midnight. 3. break off interrupt, discontinue, stop, cease: Roger broke off when Marie entered the room and didn't continue until after she had left. 4. break out a. start, initiate, begin, commence: A riot broke out among the strikers. b. erupt: Her face broke out from eating popcorn. c. escape, flee, depart, leave: Three prisoners broke out of the state prison last night. break through penetrate, invade: The platoon finally broke through the enemy lines. break up a. divide, separate, split: I see where Ellie has broken up with her boyfriend again. b. disassemble, separate, divide, dismantle, take apart: The principal insisted that the clique be broken up at once. ant. vb. 1. mend, repair. 2. obey.

breed vb. 1. bear, conceive, beget, father, mother; create, produce, originate, generate: The rancher bred prize cattle from stock he imported from Scotland. 2. rear, raise, nurture, bring up; educate, train, teach: The Forsters' children are very well bred. n. kind, sort, variety, species, strain: The dogs on the farm were of mixed breed.

breeze n. breath, air, zephyr, wind: The sailboat moved out of the harbor in a light breeze. ant. calm.

bridle n. curb, check, restraint, control, halter, hackamore: The leather bridle for his favorite horse was studded with brass. vb. curb, control, check, restrain, govern: Walter would get along better with people if he could learn to bridle his temper. ant. vb. loose, free, release.

brief adj. 1. short, temporary, fleeting: The life of some insects is so brief that it lasts only a day. 2. short, terse, concise, condensed, compact: The brief reports did not leave time for any details. vb. advise, teach, instruct: The men were briefed before going into the meeting. ant. adj. 1. long, extended, protracted. 2. extensive, comprehensive, exhaustive.

bright adj. 1. shining, shiny, gleaming, brilliant, sparkling, shimmering, radiant: The marine had bright brass buttons on his uniform. 2. lively, cheerful, happy, gay, lighthearted: Her bright personality makes her a pleasure to be with. 3. vivid, brilliant: That bright-green dress becomes you very well. 4. intelligent, quick-witted, clever, keen: The bright children were mixed together in class with the average ones to stimulate them. 5. promising, encouraging, favorable: Bob seems to have a bright future in that new job. ant. 1. dull, dim, lusterless. 2. boring, dull, colorless. 4. stupid, slow, backward.

brilliant adj. 1. bright, splendid, radiant, shining, sparkling, glittering: Mrs. Van Patten was wearing a brilliant diamond necklace. 2. talented, intelligent, gifted, ingenious: That fellow George is a brilliant engineer. ant. 1. dull, lusterless. 2. mediocre, second-rate.

brim n. edge, lip, rim, margin, border: We stood at the very brim of the canyon and saw the stream far below. ant. center, middle.

bring vb. carry, take, fetch: Please bring that chair over here. vb. phr. 1. bring about cause, accomplish, effect: The judge brought about a compromise between the two parties. 2. bring around or round convince, persuade: If you argue enough, you can bring him around to your way of thinking. 3. bring to or around revive, restore: It took 20 minutes to bring Vickie around after she had been knocked unconscious. 4. bring up a. rear, raise, nurture, educate, train, teach: Netta's parents were away a great deal, so she was brought up by her aunt. b. introduce, raise, propose: Why did he bring up the question of her honesty? ant. vb. withdraw, remove.

brink n. edge, rim, verge, margin, limit: The car came to a stop just at the brink of the cliff.

brisk adj. 1. lively, active, animated, energetic, nimble, quick, agile, spry: Every morning Harry would take a brisk walk in the park. 2. sharp, cool, stimulating, keen, invigorating: On these November mornings the air can be very brisk. ant. 1. slow, sluggish, lethargic. 2. heavy, still, oppressive.

brittle adj. frail, fragile, breakable, weak: These dry leaves are so brittle that they crumble right in your hand. ant. flexible, elastic, supple.

broad adj. 1. wide; large, expansive, extended, roomy: The broad plain stretched out before them. 2. general: In a broad sense, intolerance should be against the law. 3. extensive, wide, full: He was appointed a judge because of his broad knowledge of the law. ant. 1. narrow, constricted. 3. limited, negligible.

broadcast vb. spread, distribute, send, transmit, announce, relay: I told you that in secret and you shouldn't have broadcast it around town.

broad-minded adj. tolerant, open-minded, unprejudiced, unbigoted, liberal: Are your parents broad-minded about whom you select for your friends? ant. narrow-minded, prejudiced, bigoted, petty.

brokenhearted adj. sad, grieving, grief-stricken, disconsolate, inconsolable, forlorn, heartbroken: Cassie was brokenhearted over the death of her pet turtle.

brood n. litter, young, offspring: The mother hen defended her brood of chicks from the kitten. vb. ponder, think about, meditate on or about, consider, muse, reflect, deliberate: The old man was brooding over the unfriendly things he had done in his youth.

brook n. stream, rivulet, branch, run, rill, creek: The trout swam in the brook just waiting to be caught.

brother n. 1. sibling: Any son of my parents is my brother. 2. fellow man, kinsman; comrade: All men are brothers. ant. sister.

brow n. eyebrow, forehead: The sweat stood out on his brow as he strained to lift the log.

bruise vb. injure, hurt, wound, damage: Hal was bruised on his arm when the mast fell against him. n. black-and-blue mark, abrasion, contusion, injury, wound, damage, harm: Beth suffered multiple bruises when she fell off her bicycle.

brush n. 1. broom, whisk, hairbrush, paintbrush: I keep my brush alongside my comb. 2. bush, bushes, scrub, thicket: We lost sight of the skunk when he ran into the brush. 3. encounter, meeting, affair, contact: After he was released from prison, he never again had a brush with the law.

brusque adj. curt, abrupt, short, blunt, rough, bluff: Her brusque manner makes people think her rude. ant. courteous, personable.

brutal adj. cruel, mean, savage, pitiless, inhuman, barbaric, ferocious: The brutal attack on the bank teller by the rob- bers put him into the hospital. ant. kind, kindhearted, gentle, mild.

brute n. beast, monster; savage, barbarian: We caught the brute and put him into a cage. adj. animal, savage, wild: He picked up the two men using just brute strength and flung them away.

bubble vb. froth, foam, seethe, boil: The oil bubbled on the stove when we dropped in the potatoes for frying.

bucket n. pail; can, canister, pot: Fetch a bucket of water from the well.

buckle n. fastening, fastener, clasp: He wears a gold buckle on his belt. vb. 1. fasten, clasp: Buckle your seat belt for safe driving. 2. bend, collapse, warp, yield, fail, give way: The bridge buckled under the weight of the huge truck.

buffet¹ vb. strike, beat, hit, slap: The winds buffeted the house for three days. n. blow, hit: A quick buffet to the side of the head brought him to his senses.

buffet² n. sideboard, server, cabinet, counter: The food was set out on the buffet so that each person could help himself.

build vb. construct, erect, put together, assemble: In their spare time the children built doghouses and sold them to neighbors. n. physique: Kathy has the build of an athlete. ant. vb. demolish, raze.

building n. structure, edifice; residence, house, office building: The building near the corner of Main Street belongs to my father.

bulge n. swelling, lump, protrusion, protuberance, bump: The bulge at the side of the building looked dangerous. vb. swell, protrude, extend: As he blew air into the balloon, it began to bulge. ant. n. depression, hollow.

bulk n. 1. size, volume, magnitude: The package wasn't heavy but its huge bulk made it difficult to carry. 2. majority, most, main part: The bulk of my income comes from my salary.

bulky adj. large, big, huge, clumsy, unwieldy, cumbersome, massive: The crate was too bulky for one man to carry. ant. delicate, small, handy.

bully vb. domineer, harass, intimidate: You could tell that he was a coward because he was always bullying the smaller children.

bump vb. knock, bang, collide with, hit, strike: The first day he took out his new bicycle Alan bumped into a car. n. knock, bang; collision, blow: For trying to help the storekeeper, Jim was given a bump on the head by the thief.

- bunch n. cluster, group, batch, bundle, collection: He picked a bunch of flowers for Mother's Day.
- bundle n. bunch; package, parcel, packet: I tied the clothes into a bundle and brought it to the laundry.
- buoyant adj. 1. afloat, floating. 2. cheerful, cheery, light-hearted, gay, blithe, jolly, light, bright, free and easy: Carole's buoyant personality makes her popular with everyone. ant. 1. sinking. 2. downcast, glum.
- burden n. load, weight; worry, trial; trouble: The donkey is a beast of burden. Concern about his father's health was too much of a burden for a child to manage. vb. load, lade, weigh down, overload, oppress: I don't want to burden you with my troubles. ant. vb. disburden.
- bureau n. 1. department, office, division, unit, board, commission: We all went down to the Unemployment Bureau to get our subsistence payment. 2. chest, chest of drawers, dresser: You'll find the keys in the top drawer of my bureau.
- burglar n. thief, robber, housebreaker: The burglars escaped after stealing all of our paintings.
- burial n. funeral, interment: I cried at the burial of my pet cat.
- burly adj. brawny, beefy, husky, heavyset, thick-set, strapping: Percy was a burly man who had worked for years as a lumberjack. ant. scrawny, skinny.
- burn vb. 1. fire, combust, blaze, flame: The fire burned for three days in the forest. 2. scorch, sear, char, set afire or on fire, consume: The wooden carving was burned beyond recognition.
- burrow n. lair, den, hole, tunnel: The rabbit ran back to his burrow before we could catch it.
- burst vb. explode, blow up, erupt: The electric light bulb burst into a million pieces when I dropped it. ant. implode.
- bury vb. 1. inter, entomb: The men were buried for two hours by the avalanche. 2. hide, conceal, cover, secrete: The book I was looking for was buried under the pile of magazines. ant. disinter, raise.
- business n. 1. trade, occupation, commerce: What business is your father in? 2. company, firm, concern; partnership, corporation: After graduating from college, Victor went into his father's business. 3. affair, concern: My personal life is none of your business.
- busy adj. active, occupied, engaged, employed, industrious, hardworking: If you had six children, you'd be busy all the time, too. ant. inactive, unemployed, indolent, lazy.

- busybody n. snoop, pry, Nosey Parker, gossip, meddler: That old busybody is always hanging around and asking questions.
- but conj. however, nevertheless, yet; on the other hand, though, still, although: I wanted to go to the movies but it was too late. My sister went but I couldn't.
- buy vb. purchase; procure, obtain, get: Did you know that we just bought a new house? ant. sell.
- by prep. near, at, close to, next to: I like to walk by the river in the morning.
- byword n. slogan, motto. "Truth in Advertising" is the byword of the new organization of consumer advocates.

- cab n. taxi, taxicab, hack: We took a cab home from the party.
- cabin n. cottage, hut; shack, shanty: Would you like to spend a weekend at our cabin in the woods?
- cabinet n. 1. council, committee, ministry: The Prime Minister depends on the members of his cabinet for advice. 2. cupboard, case: The cabinet in the kitchen was filled with canned goods.
- cad n. scoundrel, knave, rogue, rascal: Chauncy, the cad, had jilted Sue and left her heartbroken.
- café n. coffeehouse: The sidewalk cafés in Europe are very popular.
- cagey adj. tricky, cunning, clever, cautious, wary, shrewd, evasive: Bert always gives me a cagey reply when I ask him what he's doing. ant. guileless, innocent, naive, straightforward.
- calamity n. bad luck, misfortune, distress, trouble, hardship, reverse, catastrophe: The farmers thought that the drought was a great calamity. ant. boon, blessing.
- calculate vb. 1. figure, reckon, compute, tally, measure, determine; add, subtract, multiply, divide: The clerk checked the total by calculating it on the adding machine. 2. estimate, judge, deliberate: The company accountant calculated the cost of the new equipment. ant. 1. guess, assume.
- calculating adj. scheming, crafty, cunning, shrewd: Because of his calculating manner, hardly anybody trusts Dick anymore. ant. ingenuous, simple, direct, guileless.
- calculation n. computation, figuring, estimation, reckoning: Your calculation of the interest rate on the loan is incorrect. ant. assumption, guess.
- calendar n. schedule, timetable, diary: I don't see how I can fit that appointment into my calendar.
- call vb. 1. call out, cry out, exclaim, shout: I hear my name being called. 2. name, designate, term, label: Her name is Catherine but they call her Sophie. 3. telephone, phone, ring, ring up: Please call me when you arrive in town. 4. assemble, convene, collect: We were called together for a meeting. 4. awaken, waken, wake, rouse, arouse: They called us at five o'clock to start on the hike. n. 1. cry, outcry, shout, yell: I heard the call of the hunters trying to

- find me in the forest.* 2. demand, need, occasion, claim: The extra job puts a call on my spare time. vb. phr. 1. call on visit, go (to) see: I called on our new neighbors yesterday. 2. call up telephone, phone, ring, ring up: Please call me up tomorrow evening.
- calm adj. 1. quiet, peaceful, still, tranquil, mild, serene, smooth: The sea became calm toward sundown. 2. serene, cool, composed, collected, unruffled, level-headed, unexcited, detached, aloof: Nella remained quite calm after I told her the bad news. n. calmness, stillness, serenity, quiet; composure: The wind and rain stopped suddenly in the calm before the storm struck. vb. pacify, tranquilize, soothe: When he learned that it had not been his son who had been in the accident, Bill calmed down. ant. adj. 1. tempestuous, roiled, disturbed. 2. emotional, disturbed, excited. n. turmoil, upheaval, disturbance. vb. upset, excite, disturb.
- cancel vb. 1. delete, cross out or off, erase: My name was canceled from the list of Republicans when they discovered I was a Democrat. 2. call off, void, rescind, set aside, recall: I'm sorry, but I have to cancel our appointment for dinner tonight. ant. 2. ratify.
- candidate n. nominee, aspirant, applicant: There were three candidates for the presidency of the senior class.
- cant n. argot, patois; shoptalk, jargon, (informal) lingo: The cant used by Washington bureaucrats can be difficult to understand.
- cantankerous adj. surly, crabby, ill-natured, grouchy, grumpy, irritable, curmudgeonly, irascible: That cantankerous editor sent me the rudest rejection of my article.
- canyon n. ravine, gully, gulch, gorge, arroyo: The cowboys drove the cattle through the narrow canyon.
- capable adj. able, skilled, fit, skillful, accomplished, competent: Laura is a capable pianist but she's not good enough to play in concerts. ant. inept, incompetent, unskilled.
- capacity n. 1. volume, content: This silo has a capacity of only 10,000 bushels of wheat. 2. ability, capability, aptitude, talent, faculty: If he would only study harder, John has the capacity to be an A student. ant. 2. incapacity, inability.
- cape¹ n. mantle, cloak, pelisse: The heavy, woolen cape kept her shoulders warm.
- cape² n. neck, peninsula, headland, point: The cape juts into the sea, affording a fine harbor for ships on its northern side.
- caper n. frolic, frisk, gambol, romp, cavort: The school princi- pal imposed stern discipline to restrain the children in their capers.

capital n. cash, money, assets, property, wealth, principal, resources: My father started his business with capital of $2000. adj. major, chief, first, primary, leading, important, principal: St. Peter's Church is of capital interest to visitors to Rome. ant. adj. trivial, unimportant, secondary.

capricious adj. erratic, undependable, fickle, inconstant, inconsistent, changeable, flighty, irregular, unstable: Mabel is so capricious—one day she loves you, the next she hates you. ant. steady, reliable.

captain n. 1. supervisor, commander, director, authority, leader: The teacher appointed Eugene to be the captain of the group. 2. (of a ship) skipper, commander, commanding officer, master: The captain ordered the lifeboats to be lowered over the side.

captive n. prisoner, convict, hostage: The hijackers kept the pilot as a captive while they demanded the money.

captivity n. imprisonment, confinement, detention, custody; slavery, bondage: Two men broke into the jail and released their friend from captivity. ant. freedom, liberty.

capture vb. seize, take prisoner, trap, grab, nab, catch, arrest: We set the trap to capture rabbits, but not one fell into it. n. seizure, catching; recovery: The escaped tiger avoided capture for three hours. ant. vb. release, free, liberate.

car n. automobile, auto, vehicle, motorcar: I have to drive the car to the service station for repairs.

carcass n. body, corpse, cadaver, remains: The desert was marked, here and there, with the carcasses of dead animals.

cardinal adj. important, chief, principal, primary, prime, major, leading, essential: My cardinal reason for coming was to see you. ant. secondary, subordinate, auxiliary.

care n. 1. worry, concern, anxiety, trouble: Although his business was very bad, my father acted as though he didn't have a care in the world. 2. carefulness, attention, regard, concern, consideration: Like many parents, Bob and Diane treated their first child with much more care than the later children. 3. charge, custody, protection, keeping, supervision, guardianship: We left our dog in the care of the vet when we went away for a vacation. vb. 1. attend; consider, regard: I don't care what you do with that eggshell. 2. watch, guard, keep, supervise: Who's going to care for me when I'm old? ant. n. 2. indifference, unconcern.

career n. profession, occupation, job, vocation: What career

do you want to follow after you graduate? I want to be a doctor.

carefree adj. unworried, unconcerned, happy-go-lucky, easy, free-and-easy, nonchalant, insouciant: Maggie's carefree manner conceals her deep concern over Grandfather's health.

careful adj. 1. cautious, watchful, wary, guarded, vigilant: You have to be careful of what you say when you're in church. 2. thorough, concerned, painstaking, meticulous: I thought that Tim did a very careful job when he painted the railings. ant. 1. incautious, heedless. 2. careless, messy, sloppy.

careless adj. messy, sloppy, unthoughtful, unconcerned, negligent, reckless, thoughtless, uncaring: Even though his writing was very good, Stuart was careless about his spelling. ant. careful, cautious, prudent, painstaking.

caress n. embrace, pat, kiss: Under his mother's gentle caress, Billy was soothed enough to stop crying. vb. pat, pet, stroke, fondle, coddle: Dad took the photograph of Jennie while she caressed her kitten.

cargo n. load, freightload: The ship arrived with a cargo of coal.

caricature n. parody, exaggeration, spoof, lampoon, takeoff, burlesque, satire: The drawing was a caricature that emphasized his jutting brow. vb. parody, lampoon, burlesque, satirize: The senator rebuffed this criticism of his program as a simplistic caricature.

carnage n. slaughter, butchery, massacre, genocide; annihilation, liquidation, extermination, mass-murder: After the carnage of the last war, it is a wonder that man could tolerate anything but peace.

carry vb. bear, transport, move, transfer; take, bring: The porter will help carry your luggage to the train. vb. phr. carry off abduct, seize, kidnap, capture: When the bandits attacked a village, they would often carry off all the girls. carry on 1. continue, go on, proceed: Please excuse the interruption: you may carry on with your conversations now. 2. misbehave: Victor carried on so about being left behind that he was finally allowed to go. carry out fulfill, complete, succeed, accomplish, win, effect: The plan sounds good, but will they be able to carry it out?

carve vb. cut, chisel, sculpt, hew, whittle, shape: The huge statue was carved entirely by hand.

case n. 1. instance, occurrence, example, happening, sample, illustration: The detectives were investigating a case of mur- der. 2. action, suit, lawsuit, claim: The prosecuting attorney opened the case for the state.

case² n. container, crate, box, carton, chest; receptacle: When he opened the case of wine, it contained only eight bottles, not twelve.

cast vb. 1. throw, hurl, fling, toss, pitch, sling: To avoid being caught with the stolen bonds, Ezra cast them into the deep well. 2. direct, shed, impart: The lamp cast a strange yellow glow about the room. 3. direct, turn: Whenever her name was mentioned, Eliza cast her eyes downward in embarrassment. 4. mold, shape, form: I cast this bronze statue in my own shop. n. dramatis personae, players, actors: There was a party for the entire cast after the first performance of the play.

caste n. class, rank, station, status, social standing, lineage: As one of the highest social caste, she was used to a comfortable and privileged life.

castle n. palace, mansion, chateau: There are few noblemen who can still afford to keep castles.

casual adj. 1. chance, accidental, unintentional, unexpected, offhand, unplanned, spontaneous: The whole trouble can be traced to their casual meeting in the garden. 2. informal, sport, sporty: On weekends we wear casual clothes unless we expect company or go out. ant. 1. planned, calculated, deliberate, premeditated. 2. formal, dressy.

casualty n. victim, sufferer; loss, injured, wounded, dead, fatality: The casualties numbered thirty in the train wreck.

catalog, catalogue n. list, roll, inventory, record, directory; file; index: The book shop gave me a copy of the publisher's catalog.

catastrophe n. disaster, calamity, accident, misfortune, mishap: As far as his family was concerned, the loss of Arthur's job was a catastrophe. ant. boon, blessing, triumph.

catch vb. 1. seize, capture, take, grasp, grab, nab: Did they catch the thief who stole your car? 2. hook, trap, snare, entrap, ensnare: We caught two chipmunks in the trap but let them go after a while. 3. come down with, contract, succumb to: You'll catch a cold if you don't wear your hat. n. 1. capture, arrest, seizure, apprehension: The police made a few good catches when they raided the pool hall last night. 2. pin, clasp; bolt, latch: The catch on the door is broken again. ant. vb. 1., 2. release, free.

category n. classification, class, sort, kind, type, variety: Zebra and rocks just don't belong to the same category.

cater vb. (usually with to) indulge, coddle, humor, mollify, pamper, baby, minister to, pander to: Amanda caters to her husband's every whim and desire.

caustic adj. spiteful, disagreeable, peevish, insulting, malicious, mean, venomous, hateful: His caustic comments hurt everyone's feelings.

caution n. 1. wariness, watchfulness, vigilance, heed, care: Exercise caution when you approach that dog—he may be unfriendly. 2. warning, advice: She gave me a caution about the broken stair. vb. warn, admonish, forewarn: The life-guard cautioned us about the strong undertow. ant. n. 1. heedlessness, carelessness, incaution.

cautious adj. careful, watchful, wary; vigilant: Morris was cautious in the way he approached Irene when she was in a bad mood. ant. heedless, headstrong, indiscreet, foolish.

cave n. grotto, cavern, hole: Bears hibernate in a cave during the winter. vb. phr. cave in collapse, fall in: Just as we were about to leave, the roof caved in and trapped us.

cease vb. stop, end, put a stop or an end to, terminate: I do wish that Ellie would cease her complaining. ant. begin, start.

cede vb. yield, surrender, relinquish: The government has ceded the islands to Mexico.

celebrate vb. honor, observe, keep, commemorate: Labor Day is always celebrated on a Monday. ant. ignore, disregard.

celebrated adj. famous, renowned, famed, well-known, noted, illustrious, eminent; popular: May I introduce the celebrated scientist, Albert Einstein. ant. anonymous, unknown.

celebrity n. notable, dignitary, personage; hero, heroine: If young people make a singer popular, he becomes a celebrity overnight.

celestial adj. 1. heavenly, paradisaic(al), divine: A celestial being descended and warned him of the danger. 2. Elysian, Arcadian, utopian.

censure n. disapproval, criticism, reproach: The Senate's vote for censure of the judge was unanimous. vb. disapprove, criticize, condemn, reproach: After the dishonest things the mayor did, the town council had to censure him. ant. n. approval, praise, vb. praise, approve, applaud.

center n. 1. middle, midst, inside, midpoint: The center of the earth is said to be a sphere of molten iron. 2. focus, hub, heart, core: The Grendel monument is at the center of the city. vb. focus, direct, concentrate: The attention of the crowd centered on the clown in the red costume. ant. n. 1. edge, brim.

central adj. 1. middle, mid, focal, inner, halfway: The chief's hut was central in the arrangement of the village. 2. principal, chief, dominant, basic, fundamental, necessary: The central issue for the workers was more pay; increased pensions were secondary. ant. 2. secondary, auxiliary, side, incidental.

ceremony n. ritual, rite, service, formality: When my uncle was to be sworn in as the new governor, we all attended the ceremony.

certain adj. 1. confident, sure, positive, assured: After all he'd done for the town, his election as mayor was certain. 2. definite, particular, special: It would not be wise for me to name certain people who were seen together at the party. ant. 1. doubtful, uncertain, questionable.

certainly adv. surely, absolutely, definitely: Your mother certainly is very nice to all of your friends. Are you going to the party? Certainly! ant. doubtfully, dubiously, questionably.

certainly n. fact, truth, actuality: The vicar views the existence of God as a certainty.

certificate n. document, credential(s), affidavit: In our town, you cannot move into a new house unless it has been given a certificate of occupancy.

certify vb. verify, authenticate, validate, confirm, affirm, attest (to), substantiate: The lawyers certified the will to be genuine.

cessation n. stoppage, ending, termination, finish, conclusion, end: With the cessation of hostilities came a long outbreak of peace.

chagrin n. 1. annoyance, irritation, vexation, bother, worry: Father's constant harping on my schoolwork caused me much chagrin. 2. shame, embarrassment, mortification, humiliation: I cannot tell you the chagrin I felt at being eliminated from the semifinals. vb. 1. irritate, irk, annoy, vex, exasperate, bother: Robert was chagrined to discover that they had left his picture out of the school yearbook. 2. disappoint, frustrate: Anne was chagrined to learn that she hadn't won the lottery. 3. humiliate, embarrass, shame, mortify, disgrace: David was chagrined to have been caught red-handed with the chocolates.

challenge n. dare, threat: The supermarket met the challenge of competition by reducing prices. vb. dare, threaten: Aaron Burr challenged Alexander Hamilton to a duel.

chamber n. room, salon; cell: The small chambers in the monastery were furnished very sparsely.

champion n. hero, winner, victor: The champion of the heavyweight boxers was Joe Louis. vb. defend, support: Jane Addams championed the cause of the poor.

chance n. 1. opportunity, possibility, prospect: I'll tell you what you want to know if you'll stop talking and give me a chance. 2. luck, accident, fate: You ought to make absolutely certain that he's coming and leave nothing to chance. adj. accidental, casual: A chance meeting at the club resulted in my getting the job. ant. n. 2. certainty, inevitability.

change vb. 1. exchange, substitute, replace: We changed our clothes before going out. 2. vary; modify, alter: I wish you would change your mind and let us go swimming. 3. exchange, trade: I have to change this dollar bill into coins to use in the telephone. n. variation, modification, alteration: Ellie had a change of heart and came with us. ant. vb. endure, remain. n. endurance, steadfastness, immutability.

channel n. canal, duct, trough, way, runway, groove: Mars was once thought to have many man-made channels on its surface.

chant n. song, singing, hymn, incantation: Certain kinds of chants have been used in church music for centuries. vb. sing, intone, carol: The children started to chant, "Kitty is a baby! Kitty is a baby!"

chaos n. disorder, confusion, turmoil: My sister's bedroom is always neat, but mine is in a state of chaos. ant. tranquility, order, organization, tidiness.

chaotic adj. disordered, confused, messy, disorganized: We found the library files in a chaotic condition. ant. ordered, organized, neat, systematic.

chap n. fellow, person, man, individual: Harry was generally regarded as a friendly and agreeable chap.

character n. 1. personality, traits, features, characteristics: The judge is a person of outstanding character. 2. quality, nature, disposition: The cashier was of doubtful character so he was transferred to another job. 3. individual, eccentric: That fellow is quite a character.

characteristic adj. typical, unique, exclusive, distinctive, distinguishing, special: All American flags, banners, and signals have the characteristic red, white, and blue. n. character, feature, distinction: A characteristic of the Pygmy people is their short stature.

charge vb. 1. price at, sell for: They charge too much for service at the car mechanic's. 2. attack, assault, assail: The cavalry charged up the hill at San Juan. 3. accuse, indict, blame: Even though he had a perfect alibi, they charged

Evans with robbery. n. 1. accusation, blame, indictment, allegation: The charge against us was trespassing on private property. 2. care, management, custody: The teacher left a monitor in charge of the class. 3. price, cost: The charge for electricity increased this year. ant. vb. 2. retreat, flee. 3. absolve, excuse, pardon.

charitable adj. kind, generous, liberal; considerate. A really charitable person gives more than just money to help others. ant. mean, petty, stingy, narrow-minded.

charm n. 1. attractiveness, allure, enchantment; spell, magic, witchery: When she used her charm on Rudolf, she could make him do anything she wanted. 2. amulet, good-luck piece, talisman: The bearded pirate wore a strange charm on a chain around his neck. vb. attract, enchant, lure, fascinate, captivate, bewitch: When you were in India, did you see any men charming snakes?

charmer n. enchantress, seductress, siren, vamp, temptress; enchanter, seducer, Romeo, Valentino, Don Juan, Lothario, lady-killer: With her good looks, winning smile, and easy manner, the new director is a real charmer.

charming adj. attractive, appealing, winning, winsome, engaging, agreeable, likable: She met the most charming gentleman while waiting for the train.

chart n. plan, map; diagram: Using a sharp stick, he drew a chart in the sand showing where the gold was buried.

chase vb. pursue, run after, follow, hunt: The farmer chased us out of the cornfield. n. pursuit, hunt: At first, I ran after the thief alone, but two other people later joined in the chase.

chasm n. abyss, gorge, ravine, canyon: At the bottom of the chasm we could see the river threading its way toward the sea.

chaste adj. virtuous, pure, innocent, decent; virginal: All nuns are supposed to be chaste. ant. impure, worldly, sinful, immodest.

chat vb. talk, converse: I chatted for a while with Mrs. Philbey about where she was going for her vacation. n. conversation, talk: During our chat, she told me she loved to go to the mountains.

cheap adj. 1. inexpensive, low-priced, low-cost: Fresh fruit is cheaper when it's in season. 2. shoddy, inferior, poor: If you buy cheap clothes, you rarely get good value. ant. 1. costly, expensive, dear. 2. elegant, well-made.

cheat n. cheater, swindler, trickster, fraud, phony, charlatan, chiseler; crook, thief, confidence man, con artist, con man:

The man who offered to sell the Brooklyn Bridge was nothing but a cheat. vb. swindle, trick, defraud, deceive, victimize, dupe, hoax: The crook cheated me out of my life savings.

check vb. 1. stop, halt, arrest, block: The tanks checked the advance of the enemy's soldiers. 2. control, curb; hinder: This valve checks the flow of gas into the tank. 3. review, investigate, test, examine, compare: Please check the inventory against this list. n. 1. control, curb; hindrance, barrier, bar, obstacle, restriction: Bill doesn't seem able to keep a check on his temper. 2. stub, counterfoil, ticket, coupon, receipt: Don't forget to keep that check for your coat. ant. vb. 1., 2. advance, continue, foster, promote.

checkup n. (medical, physical) examination, medical or physical (examination): I have my doctor give me a checkup every year.

cheek n. impudence, impertinence, nerve, gall, effrontery: She had the cheek to ask her mother her age.

cheer n. 1. approval, applause, encouragement: After the coach's words of cheer, Bob went on to win the race. 2. glee, joy, mirth, gaiety, cheerfulness: Be of good cheer: happiness is just around the corner. vb. 1. gladden, encourage, comfort: The coach's words cheered us, and we won. 2. shout, yell, applaud: The crowd cheered for the new champion. ant. n. 1. discouragement, derision. vb. 1. discourage, sadden. 2. boo, hiss.

cheerful adj. cheery, happy, joyous, joyful, gay, merry: Alexa has a cheerful disposition that puts her friends at ease. ant. sad, gloomy, morose, downhearted.

cherish vb. 1. nurse, comfort, nurture: I cherish the relationship I have with my brothers and sisters. 2. treasure, hold dear, value, prize: She cherished the memories of her days at summer camp. ant. 2. scorn, undervalue, deprecate, disparage.

chest n. 1. breast, bosom: The little girl clasped the puppy to her chest. 2. box, trunk, coffer, case, casket: The treasure chest contained rubies, pearls, diamonds, and gold. 3. (of drawers) dresser, cabinet, commode, chiffonier, chiffrobe, bureau: My father's cufflinks were on the chest.

chew vb. bite, munch, gnaw; nibble: The puppy has chewed up my slipper.

chic adj. stylish, up-to-date, fashionable, smart, modish, à la mode, (informal) trendy: Penelope Gastleigh can be seen wearing only the most chic clothes and jewels.

chide vb. scold, criticize, admonish, reprimand, rebuke, reprove: Victor's mother chides him for the slightest thing. ant. praise, extol, commend.

chief n. leader, ruler, commander, boss, head: The chief of the robber band was masked. adj. leading, principal, main; head: The chief reason for going to school is to learn something. ant. adj. secondary, incidental, auxiliary, accidental.

chiefly adv. mostly, mainly, principally, especially: We go out to the country chiefly on hot, sunny days in the summer. ant. lastly, last.

childish adj. childlike, immature, babyish, infantile: By the time you become a teenager, you must put away childish behavior. ant. adult, grownup, mature, seasoned.

chill n. cold, coldness, coolness, cool: You'll need a sweater in the chill of the evening. adj. chilly, cool, brisk, frosty: The nights in Vermont during October are quite chill. ant. n. warmth, heat. adj. warm, heated, hot.

chirp vb., n. twitter, peep, tweet, warble, cheep, chirrup: The birds were chirping happily in the trees. The chirps of the crickets and the birds woke me up.

chivalrous adj. brave, valorous, noble; polite, courteous, gallant, gentlemanly: Harry was always chivalrous when in the company of the ladies. ant. rude, impolite, crude, uncivil.

chivalry n. nobility, knighthood; courtesy, gallantry: The age of chivalry will never die as long as gentlemen continue to behave politely to women.

choice n. selection, option, pick: The saleslady offered us a choice of styles and colors. adj. select, fine, rare, uncommon, valuable, precious: The mare in the pasture is a choice example of the best horsebreeding.

choke vb. strangle, throttle; gag: When he resisted, the burglar tried to choke him. The pepper on that steak almost made me choke.

choose vb. select, pick, decide between or on, settle on or for: At the record shop, we had thousands to choose from. I chose an old jazz album.

chop vb. mince, cut; hew, fell: My mother asked the butcher to chop the meat for hamburgers. The woodsman chopped down the tree in ten minutes.

chore n. job, task, routine, work, duty: Doing the laundry every week is a chore I'd like to avoid.

chronic adj. continuing, persistent, continuous, lingering, perennial, sustained, constant, lifelong, permanent, unending, eternal, everlasting: My aunt had a chronic illness that prevented her from getting out of bed. ant. acute, fleeting, temporary.

chuckle vb., n. giggle, titter, laugh: The teacher chuckled over the story that Marjorie had written. Every few minutes, he gave a little chuckle.

chum n. companion, friend, buddy, pal, comrade: Donald is having a few chums over to watch the football game on his TV.

circle n. 1. ring; disk: The magician drew a circle in the sand. 2. group, set, class, club: In her circle of friends, everyone now chews gum. vb. encircle, surround, round, enclose: The road circled our farm.

circuit n. orbit, circle, revolution; course, tour, journey: The earth makes one circuit about the sun each year.

circular adj. round, ringlike, disklike: Most drinking glasses are circular. n. advertisement, handbill, leaflet: We received a circular in the mail advertising the sale at the department store. ant. adj. straight.

circumference n. periphery, border, edge, perimeter: The circumference of a square table that is two feet on each side is eight feet.

circumstances n. pl. 1. situation, conditions, facts, factors, grounds, background: Among the circumstances that led to his punishment was the increased strictness of his parents. 2. means, assets, capital, income; class, rank: Each year, after buying Christmas presents for his family, Christopher was in reduced circumstances.

cite vb. quote, mention, refer to: I cite the Holy Bible as the source of many of the expressions I use.

citizen n. inhabitant, native, national, subject, denizen, dweller, resident: The citizens of this country wish to be free.

city n. town, municipality, metropolis; village: Many people have moved from the cities to the suburbs during the last few years.

civil adj. 1. municipal, public: Every citizen must do his civic duty. 2. polite, courteous, respectful, gracious, well-mannered: Roger has always been very civil to me. ant. 2. impolite, rude, crude.

civilization n. culture, society: Western civilization has much to learn from that of the Far East.

civilize vb. cultivate, refine, polish, tame, teach, instruct: Civilized people eat with a knife and fork.

claim vb. 1. demand, require, request, ask for: After my grandfather died, my father claimed for himself all of the property along the river. 2. assert, state, maintain, insist, declare: Donald claimed that he knew nothing about the theft of the statue. n. 1. demand, request, requirement: The court ruled that the miner's claim was invalid. 2. title, right, interest: I told you that Kitty has no claim to the brooch.

clamor n. din, noise, shouting, uproar: When the teacher announced another exam, there was such a clamor from the students that he canceled it. vb. demand noisily, shout: The girls in the audience clamored for the guitar player to come back on stage. ant. n. quiet, serenity, tranquillity.

clan n. family, set, group: The MacGregor clan has its own tartan.

clarify vb. explain, clear, define: I wish you would clarify what you are trying to tell me so that I can understand it. ant. confuse, muddle, obscure.

clash n. 1. clang, crash, clank: The clash of armor could be heard for miles as the knights fought. 2. conflict, opposition, struggle, disagreement; collision: There was a clash between those in office and those who sought to replace them. vb. 1. contrast, mismatch, conflict: Your tie clashes with your shirt. 2. contend, conflict, disagree, interfere; collide: Our points of view about what is right and wrong always clash. ant. n. 2. harmony, agreement, accord. vb. 1. harmonize, blend. 2. agree, match.

clasp vb. grasp, embrace, hug, clutch, hold: Her father was so happy to find her safe and sound that he wept as he clasped her to him. n. hook, catch, pin, fastening, brooch, buckle: These two parts of the dress are held together by a silver clasp.

class n. 1. classification, rank, order, grade, division, subdivision, family, sort, kind, set, species, group: I don't know whether this animal belongs in the fish or reptile class. The upper class doesn't have to work. 2. form, group, study group, grade, year, section: Our class will graduate next spring. vb. classify, rank, grade: I wouldn't class you in the same category with your sister.

classic n. masterpiece: Paradise Lost is considered one of the greatest classics in the English language.

classification n. 1. category, order, class: Into which classification should I put this book, science or philosophy? 2. arrangement, grouping, ordering, organization: The librarian's classification of new books takes a great deal of time.

classify vb. class, arrange, sort, order, organize, group, grade, index: We were asked to classify these nations by the kinds of government they have. In the storeroom, the fabrics were classified by color rather than by kind of material.

clause n. paragraph, article, condition, limitation: According to the third clause of our contract, I am forbidden to work in the movies.

claw n. nail, talon, hook: The cat's claw caught in the curtain and tore it. vb. scratch, tear; rip: The dog kept clawing at the door, trying to get in.

clean adj. 1. neat, tidy, clear, dustless, immaculate, unsoiled, unstained: My mother made me scrub my room till it was clean. 2. pure, untainted, uncontaminated, purified: Don't drink from a glass that isn't clean. vb. 1. dust, mop, vacuum, scour, scrub, sweep, wipe, wash, rinse, cleanse: If you don't clean your room, you may not go out to play. 2. purify, decontaminate; sterilize: All surgical instruments must be cleaned after every use. ant. adj. dirty, soiled, impure, contaminated. vb. soil, dirty, pollute.

clear adj. 1. plain, understandable, distinct, lucid, obvious: I want to make the entire matter as clear as possible. 2. uncloudy, unclouded, bright, light; sunny, fair: Water is a clear liquid. Saturday was such a clear day you could see for miles. 3. certain, sure, doubtless, obvious: Alan's innocence was clear. 4. open, free, unobstructed, unblocked: The road was clear early in the morning. vb. 1. empty: Please clear the room so that it can be painted. 2. acquit, free, release, emancipate, let go: The statements the murderer made about his other crimes cleared two men who had been arrested for them. 3. rid, loose, unloose, free, remove: If they clear the channel of debris, we shall be able to sail the boat through it. ant. adj. 1. confused, muddled. 2. overcast, cloudy, dark. 3. dubious, questionable. 4. obstructed, blocked, blockaded. vb. 1. fill, clutter. 2. implicate, involve. 3. obstruct, block, blockade.

clearly adv. obviously, definitely, plainly, evidently, unmistakably, certainly, surely: You are clearly not the kind of person we had in mind for this job. ant. dubiously, questionably.

clerical adj. 1. priestly, ministerial, churchly, pastoral, clerical; sacred, holy: The bishop's other clerical duties did not prevent him from conducting services. 2. stenographic, secretarial: After graduating from high school, Anne was lucky to get a clerical job in town.

- clerk n. 1. office worker, file clerk, office girl, office boy, typist: A clerk in the accounting department found an enormous error in bookkeeping. 2. salesclerk, saleslady, saleswoman, salesman, salesperson: The clerk told me to take my purchases to another desk for gift wrapping.
- clever adj. 1. bright, intelligent, shrewd, quick, talented, expert, gifted, smart: A clever person could move ahead in that company. 2. skillful, adroit, dexterous, handy: My brother is so clever with his hands that he finished a model airplane in two hours. ant. 1. stupid, slow, backward, dull. 2. clumsy, maladroit, inept.
- client n. customer, patron: If we don't have more clients, we'll have to close the store.
- cliff n. bluff, precipice, crag, tor, scar, escarpment: The sheer face of the cliff loomed above them, making further climbing impossible.
- climate n. atmosphere, ambience, aura, air: The minister was uncertain that the climate was right for a tax increase.
- climb vb. scale, ascend, mount: The men started to climb up the mountain at dawn. ant. descend.
- clip vb. cut, mow, crop, snip: They clipped my lawn too short. n. fastener, paper clip, clasp: Please put a clip on those papers to keep them together.
- cloak n. cape, mantle, wrap, shawl: You'd better take your cloak—the evening is chilly. vb. conceal, hide, cover, mask: Her smile cloaked her real feelings about him. ant. vb. reveal, show, display.
- clod n. 1. lump, gob, wad, chunk, hunk, clot, gobbet. 2. dunce, idiot, blockhead, dolt, fool, oaf: Bernard was so clumsy and absentminded that everyone considered him a clod.
- clog vb. congest, overfill, stop up; crowd, cram, stuff: The sink is clogged with garbage. The doorway was clogged with people trying to leave.
- close¹ vb. 1. shut, fasten, bolt, lock: Be careful and make sure to close your doors at night. 2. end, terminate, conclude: The speaker closed his remarks with a few compliments to the mayor. ant. 1. open, unlock. 2. begin, start.
- close² adj. 1. near, nearby: If the market were closer to the house, I wouldn't have to walk so far to shop. 2. stuffy, unventilated, oppressive: With the windows closed and the heater on, it feels very close in this room. 3. stingy, mean, mingy, tight: Scrooge was certainly a close man with the penny. ant. 1. far, distant. 2. fresh, clear. 3. generous, open-handed, charitable.

- closet n. wardrobe, cabinet, cupboard; locker: The weather here is so fine that my raincoat never leaves the closet.
- cloth n. material, fabric, textile, goods: It required two yards of cloth to make this skirt.
- clothe vb. dress, apparel, garb: The prince was clothed in garments woven with silver and gold. ant. undress, strip.
- clothes n. pl. garments, clothing, dress, garb, attire, apparel, costume: Stanley comes home after school with his clothes torn and dirty.
- cloud n. 1. haze, mist, fog: The clouds made it a gloomy day for our picnic. 2. collection, mass: The stagecoach rattled into town in a cloud of dust. vb. dim, obscure, shadow: The politician clouded the issue with his evasive answers.
- cloudy adj. 1. dim, obscure, vague, indefinite, blurred, unclear, confused: If your thinking is cloudy on a subject, you cannot write about it clearly. 2. overcast, clouded, sunless, gloomy: It was a cloudy morning when we set sail for the island. ant. 1. clearheaded, lucid, clarified. 2. sunny, clear, brilliant, cloudless.
- club n. 1. association, society, organization, circle, set: There was a long waiting list for membership in the club. 2. cudgel, bat, stick, nightstick, blackjack: The thieves were carrying clubs with which they threatened their victims.
- clue n. hint, suggestion, trace, sign: The detective found a clue that linked the night watchman to the theft of the bracelet.
- clumsy adj. awkward, ungraceful, unskillful, bungling, bumbling, ungainly, inept: The waitress was so clumsy that she dropped every tray on the way to the kitchen. The manager made a clumsy attempt to apologize for the rudeness of the saleswoman. ant. graceful, adroit, skillful, polished, dexterous.
- cluster n. group, batch, bunch, clutch: A cluster of flowers grew near the rock. vb. group, gather, assemble, pack, crowd: The students clustered about the bulletin board where the examination results were posted.
- clutch vb. seize, grip, grasp, hold, grab: The child clutched the doll to her. When I felt myself falling, I clutched at the stair handrail.
- coarse adj. rough, crude, rude: Burlap is a coarse cloth. People with bad manners are usually considered to be coarse. ant. fine, refined, cultivated, genteel, suave.
- coast n. seashore, shore, shoreline, seaboard, beach: We like to spend our vacations on the west coast of Florida. vb. glide, ride; drift: Pete came coasting down the hill on his sled.

Some people just coast along through life letting nothing disturb them.

coax vb. wheedle, persuade, cajole, urge: Why do mothers often have to coax children to eat things that are good for them? ant. bully, force, coerce.

coddle vb. mollycoddle, baby, pamper, indulge, spoil, cater to: If you continue to coddle the child he will surely become too dependent.

code n. cipher, cryptogram, crypt: Hermione and I exchanged notes in code so that our messages would remain secret.

coherent adj. sensible, logical, rational, intelligible, reasonable, commonsensical: The witness gave a sober and coherent description of what had taken place.

coiffeur n. hairdresser: My coiffeur has been so successful that he is about to open his own salon.

coiffure n. hairdo, haircut, hairstyle: Her outlandish new coiffure drew stares at the reception.

coincide vb. correspond, agree, match, harmonize: These two parts of the jigsaw puzzle coincide exactly. Our opinions coincide on how to treat naughty children.

coincidence n. chance, accident: By coincidence, one of my classmates is the son of one of my father's classmates. ant. plan, scheme, plot, prearrangement.

coincidental adj. chance, unpremeditated, unpredicted, fortuitous, unforeseen, unexpected, accidental: Her losing her handbag and my finding the money were purely coincidental.

cold adj. 1. cool, chilly, chill; frigid, freezing: Winter in Alaska can be very cold. 2. cool, chilly, unemotional, unfriendly, unfeeling, indifferent, heartless: Susan's attitude toward her classmates was so cold that she had no friends at all. ant. 1. hot, warm, temperate. 2. friendly, warm, compassionate, outgoing.

collapse vb. fall, fail, drop: The walls of the building collapsed during the fire. n. failure, downfall, destruction: The kingdom was doomed to collapse when the dictator overthrew the government.

colleague n. associate, co-worker, collaborator: The professor's colleagues honored him with a dinner.

collect vb. 1. gather, assemble, accumulate: I used to collect seashells as a hobby, but now I collect stamps. 2. solicit, obtain, procure, secure, get, raise: The Boy Scouts collected thousands of dollars for the poor in our town. ant. 1. disperse, dispel, scatter.

collection n. accumulation, hoard, store, pile, aggregation:

There was a huge collection of dead leaves when the men finished raking.

collide vb. crash, smash, strike, hit: The car collided with the truck in front of the theater.

collision n. crash, smash, smash-up: There was a three-car collision on the highway in which six people were injured.

color n. hue, shade, tone, tinge, tint: I can't tell the color of your eyes through those dark glasses. vb. tint, paint, tinge; decorate: This room should be colored to match the carpet.

colorful adj. 1. vivid, impressive, striking: My publisher had a colorful display of my new book at the fair. 2. variegated, multicolored, full-color: The male birds are always more colorful than the female. 3. (of people) odd, eccentric, strange, weird, peculiar, offbeat, unusual: The ninety-year-old hitchhiker was one of the most colorful characters I had ever met. ant. dull, flat. 3. uninteresting.

colossal adj. enormous, huge, immense, gigantic: The Merchandise Mart, in Chicago, is a colossal building. Phoebe told her mother a colossal lie. ant. tiny, miniature, minuscule, microscopic.

combat vb. fight, battle, oppose, contest, struggle: The economists seem to be unable to combat inflation effectively. n. fight, battle, contest, conflict, war, struggle: The two knights were locked in mortal combat. ant. vb. surrender, yield, succumb.

combination n. 1. blending, mixing, compounding: The combination of flour and water makes a light paste. 2. blend, mixture, compound, composite: Gunpowder is a combination of three simple ingredients. ant. 1. separation, division.

combine vb. blend, mix; unite, join, connect: If these ingredients are combined, a strong acid is produced. We must combine forces to fight the enemy. ant. separate, divide.

come vb. 1. approach, advance, near: I want you to come here when I call you. 2. arrive, reach: Dick came home late last night. vb. phr. come about, happen, occur, take place: The accident came about because you were driving recklessly. come around, revive, recover, recuperate: After the blow on his head knocked him out, it took ten minutes for George to come around. come to, revive, recover: Gene came to in a strange room. come upon, discover, find: Betty came upon an old cookbook in the attic. ant. go, leave, depart.

comedian n. humorist, comic, stand-up comic, wit, gagman, funnyman, wag: The comedian laughed at his own jokes, but the audience did not think he was funny.

come-on n. inducement, lure, temptation, enticement; premium: The car-dealer is offering a free camera as a come-on to purchasers.

comfort vb. soothe, relieve, console, ease, calm, cheer: Whenever Victoria was upset, her mother was always there to comfort her. n. 1. solace, consolation: The comfort of knowing that you will stand by is all I need. 2. relaxation, rest, satisfaction, luxury, ease: Because of her careful saving plan, the old lady was able to live in comfort. ant. vb. upset, agitate, disturb, discompose. n. 1. uncertainty. 2. discomfort.

comfortable adj. 1. relaxed, easy, rested, contented, cheerful: The teacher's friendly manner made us all feel comfortable. 2. restful, cozy, satisfying: This is a very comfortable armchair. ant. 1. uncomfortable, strained, tense, edgy.

command vb. order, direct, demand, decree, rule: The principal commanded the children to appear in his office. n. order, demand, direction, rule, decree, charge, authority: By whose command was this ship sent into battle? ant. vb. obey.

commandeer vb. seize, take, take command, possession, or control of, appropriate, requisition, confiscate: We weren't five miles outside the harbor when pirates commandeered our boat.

commanding adj. 1. masterful, self-assured, imposing, authoritative, assertive, positive: From his commanding presence one could tell that the king was no mere figurehead. 2. extensive, overlooking, dominating, broad, wide: From the terrace we had a commanding view of the entire harbor below.

commence vb. begin, start, open: The king gave the order that the festivities could commence. ant. end, stop, terminate, finish.

commend vb. praise, recommend, applaud, laud: The general commended the entire company for its bravery. ant. blame, censure, criticize.

commendable adj. praiseworthy, deserving: The actors turned in a very commendable performance. ant. deplorable, bad, lamentable.

commendation n. praise, approval, recommendation; applause; medal, honor: The highest commendation he received in the war was the Good Conduct Medal. ant. condemnation, criticism, censure.

comment n. 1. explanation, commentary, review, report, criticism, judgment: Your comments on how the program succeeded will be helpful in planning one for next year. 2. remark, observation: She made some offhand comment that I didn't hear. vb. remark, explain, observe, opine: He commented that he thought the carpet might be a little bright for this room.

commerce n. business, trade, marketing: Interstate commerce in this country may slow down.

commission n. 1. committee, board: The rent commission refused to allow any increases during the coming year. 2. order, command, permission, permit: His commission as a second lieutenant came through today. vb. appoint, delegate, authorize, commit, entrust, deputize: I have been commissioned to bring you home.

commit vb. 1. entrust, delegate, empower, authorize, commission: The association is committed to raising funds to help the blind. 2. do, perform, carry out: The murder was committed by a person or persons unknown.

commitment n. pledge, promise, duty, responsibility: I have made a commitment to help you and I shall do everything I can.

committee n. board, commission, council, bureau, delegate: The executive committee meets on Wednesday, right after the finance and business committees submit their reports.

commodity n. goods, merchandise, article, wares: Wheat is one of the best export commodities of the United States.

common adj. 1. joint, communal, mutual, shared: My neighbor and I have a common wall between our properties. Our common friend, Danny, invited us together. 2. customary, usual, regular: This is a common garden variety of flower and not rare at all. 3. ordinary, natural, conventional, plain, commonplace, stale, trite: The movie had rather a common plot. 4. ordinary, coarse, vulgar, low: He was nothing but a common criminal. ant. 1. separate, different. 2. unusual, rare. 3. distinctive, outstanding, extraordinary. 4. refined, cultivated, genteel.

commonplace adj. ordinary, common, everyday, usual, undistinguished, frequent, run-of-the-mill, run-of-the-mine. This is a commonplace piece of furniture, not the antique you promised to show me. ant. unusual, distinctive, original.

communicable adj. catching, contagious, infectious, transferable: The common cold is a highly communicable disease.

communicate vb. 1. impart, convey, transmit, reveal, disclose, divulge, advertise, publicize, publish: The secretary communicated the President's comments to the press in his behalf. 2. transmit: Disease can be communicated by using someone else's drinking glass. ant. 1. conceal, withhold, dissemble.

communication n. 1. transmission, announcement, disclosure, notification, declaration, publication: The President often uses his press secretary for the communication of his ideas to the news media. 2. message, information, news, report, account, announcement, advice: The secret communications between the governments were sent in code.

communicative adj. free, unreserved, unrestrained, unrestricted, frank, candid, open, straightforward: The President's assistants were unusually communicative about his schedule. ant. secretive, closemouthed.

community n. 1. public, commonwealth, society, public: The community felt that Victor was doing a good job as mayor. 2. town, village, city, township: We moved to a small community south of Cleveland.

compact adj. compressed, packed, tight, thick: The soil was so compact that I was hardly able to force a shovel into it. n. 1. makeup box or case, vanity: I lost my silver compact at the restaurant when I went to powder my nose. 2. agreement, treaty, contract, pact, covenant: A trade compact was reached by the two countries. ant. adj. loose, unconfined, sprawling, unfettered.

companion n. associate, comrade, mate, partner, colleague, friend: When my daughter went to London, she took along Barbara as a companion.

company n. 1. business, firm, partnership, concern, house, corporation: After all those years of hard work, Len was made president of a big paper company. 2. group, band, party, assembly, throng: I told the company that had gathered at the steps why I thought they should obey the rules. 3. companionship, fellowship: We have been members of the Royal Company of Silversmiths for generations. 4. guest(s), visitor(s): Are you expecting company for dinner tonight?

comparable adj. relative, alike, like: The prices of hamburger and chicken are comparable today. ant. different, unlike.

compare vb. 1. contrast, match: The teacher asked us to compare the invention of the telephone with any invention from before 1800. 2. compete, rival, vie: Your beauty and hers cannot compare.

comparison n. contrasting, likening, judgment: How can you make a comparison between an apple and a banana?

compartment n. section, division: The ship was divided into a large number of watertight compartments.

compassionate adj. sympathetic, tender, sympathizing, humane, kind: The workers who distributed the food to the famine victims were truly compassionate. ant. unsympathetic, cold-hearted.

compatible adj. harmonious, agreeable, cooperative: We were all compatible, and there was never a harsh word heard among us. ant. at odds, disagreeable.

compel vb. force, coerce, drive, impel: The robber compelled his victims to lie flat on the floor. ant. coax, wheedle, cajole.

compensate vb. 1. repay, remunerate, recompense, reimburse: The insurance company compensated my father for the loss of the money. 2. balance, counterbalance, offset: No amount of saying you are sorry could compensate me for the broken vase.

compensation n. pay, remittance, wage, salary, earnings, settlement, payment, remuneration, repayment: The rate of compensation for that kind of work is $4.50 per hour.

compete vb. contest, vie, rival, oppose: The grand masters were competing for the chess championship of the world. ant. accord, reconcile.

competence n. ability, skill, capability: Although she might not be very lovable, Phoebe's competence as a student is unquestioned. ant. incompetence, ineptitude.

competent adj. capable, skillful, qualified, apt, able, proficient: Ricky has become quite competent at swimming and has even won races. ant. incompetent, inept, awkward, gauche.

competition n. rivalry, contest, tournament, match: The competition in the sack race event will be limited to those under ten years of age.

competitor n. contestant, rival, opponent: You must defeat eight competitors to qualify for the finals in the tennis championship match. ant. friend, ally, colleague.

complain vb. protest, grumble, moan, groan, fret: I wish you would stop complaining about getting up so early.

complaint n. objection, protest, grievance, (slang) beef, (slang) squawk, (slang) kick: I have heard no complaints about the service or the merchandise, so I suppose all is well.

complement vb. complete, supplement: That hat really com- plements your outfit—and I'm not just complimenting you!

ant. conflict, clash.

complete adj. 1. whole, full, entire: The complete chemistry set costs a great deal. 2. ended, over, finished, done, concluded: The manuscript would be complete if the author could write the last chapter. vb. finish, end, conclude, terminate; close: I've completed all my homework for tomorrow. ant. adj. unfinished, incomplete, partial. vb. begin, start, commence.

completion n. conclusion, end, termination, finale, finish, close, wind-up, culmination: With the completion of the project, we packed our belongings and went home.

complex adj. complicated, involved, elaborate, sophisticated, intricate: This textbook on astronomy is much too complex for a sixth-grader to understand. A gasoline engine is more complex than a diesel. ant. simple, basic, plain, uncomplicated, rudimentary.

compliment n. praise, honor, admiration, approval, commendation, appreciation: She took it as a compliment when I told her she was too young to go to school. vb. praise, honor, approve, commend, flatter: I'd like to compliment you on your new dress, Diane. ant. n. insult, aspersion, affront. vb. insult, affront, disparage.

complimentary adj. free, free of charge, gratis, on the house: A ball-point pen is complimentary with every Rolls Royce.

compose vb. 1. constitute, make up, go to make up: There are thousands of minerals that compose the crust of the earth. 2. create, write, make up: My sister composes popular songs in her spare time.

composed adj. relaxed, calm, cool, untroubled, peaceful, serene, tranquil, quiet: I can see from the way your hands are folded that you are quite composed. ant. agitated, nervous, anxious, overwrought, hysterical.

composition n. 1. essay, theme, paper, article, work: The assignment was to write a composition about our summer vacations. 2. mixture, compound, combination, mix: The wall material was a board of some sort of composition.

composure n. poise, self-control, control, presence of mind: When he told her he was leaving, she lost her composure and broke down completely.

compound n. mixture, combination, aggregate: Water is a chemical compound made up of the elements hydrogen and oxygen. adj. complicated, complex; combined, mixed: Shawn suffered a compound fracture of his arm when he fell off the horse. ant. adj. simple, uncomplicated.

comprehend vb. understand, grasp, perceive: I could see from the boy's expression that he hadn't comprehended what I was telling him.

comprehension n. understanding, perception, awareness: The students hadn't the slightest comprehension of what the teacher had said.

comprehensive adj. inclusive, broad, wide, complete, full: At the end of the year, we must pass a comprehensive examination in each subject. ant. partial, fragmentary, incomplete, limited.

compress vb. squeeze, compact, press, crowd, pack: I've never seen nine people compressed into one telephone booth! ant. stretch, spread, expand.

compulsory adj. necessary, required, unavoidable, obligatory: Fastening your seat belt during takeoffs and landings in a plane is compulsory. ant. optional, elective, unrestricted, free.

compute vb. calculate, reckon, determine, figure: I have computed that it would have taken 300 years for this tree to have grown to this size.

comrade n. companion, friend, associate: We were comrades at school many years ago.

con vb. (slang) delude, swindle, cheat, trick, bamboozle, hoodwink: We were conned into giving him $5000. n. cheat, swindle, con game: The Spanish handkerchief trick is the oldest con in the books.

conceal vb. hide, cover, secrete: The murderer had a dagger concealed in his sleeve. I believe that you concealed your poor marks from your father. ant. reveal, show, display, expose.

concede vb. admit, allow, acknowledge, yield: After the policeman told him that three people had seen him at the lake, George finally conceded he had been there. ant. deny, contradict, negate.

conceit n. vanity, egotism, self-esteem: His high opinion of himself was due to conceit and not to any accomplishments. ant. modesty, humility, humbleness, self-effacement.

conceited adj. vain, arrogant, proud, smug, self-important, egotistical: She is so conceited about her new fur coat that no one can talk to her. ant. modest, humble, self-effacing.

conceive vb. 1. create, think(up), invent, imagine: The prisoners conceived a clever plan to escape. 2. understand, perceive, grasp: It is difficult to conceive why they chose purple wallpaper with pink polka dots.

concentrate vb. 1. focus, localize, condense: The rays of light should be concentrated on one point by this lens. 2. ponder, center, meditate, scrutinize: Please don't interrupt while I'm concentrating on my homework. ant. 1. diffuse, scatter, disperse, dissipate.

concept n. idea, notion, thought, theory: I often wonder how the concept of arithmetic ever occurred to mankind.

concern vb. 1. interest, relate to, affect, touch, involve: I don't see why what I had for breakfast should concern the Prime Minister of Great Britain. 2. worry, trouble, disturb: I'm concerned about my teenager's staying out past midnight. n. 1. interest, consequence: International politics are of concern to everyone. 2. anxiety, worry, care: My concern about the safety of children is not limited to that of my own. 3. business, firm, company, house, partnership, corporation: Larry resigned from one company and started a concern of his own. ant. vb. 1. disinterest, bore, tire. 2. soothe, calm. n. 1., 2. disinterest, indifference.

concerning prep. about, regarding, respecting: The defendant testified that he knew nothing concerning the disappearance of the jewels.

concerted adj. joint, united, combined: We made a concerted effort to persuade Frances to join our club. ant. unorganized, individual, separate.

concession n. yielding, admission, granting: Although it was against the rules to admit anyone under 18, the owner made a concession and let us in. ant. demand, insistence.

conclude vb. 1. finish, end, terminate, complete: We concluded our dinner with a toast to the guest of honor. 2. arrange, settle, determine, decide: The treaty was concluded when Japan agreed to stop whaling. 3. presume, assume, gather, understand, deduce: I conclude from your comments that you do not like yogurt. ant. 1. begin, start, commence.

conclusion n. 1. end, finish, termination, close: In conclusion of these remarks, I should say that I once again welcome all of you to Old Siwash College. 2. decision, resolution, determination: Don't jump to conclusions about Eddie just because he wears his shoulder-length hair in curls. ant. 1. beginning, start, opening, commencement.

concrete adj. firm, definite, solid, specific, precise: I couldn't give her any concrete reason, without insulting her, for not wanting to go, so I went. ant. vague, undetermined, general.

condemn vb. 1. denounce, rebuke, blame: You mustn't condemn a person just because he cannot do what you can do. 2. judge, doom, punish, convict, sentence: The court condemned the man to ten years in jail. ant. 1. praise, laud, extol, applaud. 2. pardon, absolve, excuse.

condense vb. reduce, abbreviate, shorten, abridge, concentrate, compress, digest, diminish: This magazine condenses popular novels several hundred pages long into only a few pages. ant. expand, enlarge, swell, increase.

condition n. 1. state, position, situation: The doctor told me that I was in excellent physical condition. 2. requirement, necessity, provision, stipulation: One of the conditions of employment in that restaurant is that you agree to turn over all tips to the management. vb. train: He was conditioned to perspire whenever they rang a bell.

conduct n. behavior, manners, deportment, actions: Your conduct is not proper for an officer of the United States Navy! vb. 1. behave, act: I thought that Philip conducted himself very well, considering he's only four. 2. lead, guide, escort: Kathy got a job conducting tours of the United Nations Building in New York this summer.

confer vb. 1. give, award, bestow, grant: In his sixtieth year, the university conferred on him their highest honor. 2. discuss, consult, deliberate: Don't you think we ought to confer before announcing a hasty opinion by one person? ant. 1. withdraw, retrieve.

confess vb. admit, acknowledge, grant, concede: I confess I love you very much. The murderer confessed and the innocent man was released.

confidence n. 1. trust, faith, reliance: My confidence in your abilities has always been justified by your accomplishments. 2. self-assurance, self-reliance, self-confidence, courage: Many people would be more successful if they just had more confidence in themselves. ant. 1. distrust, mistrust, doubt. 2. shyness, modesty, diffidence.

confident adj. sure, certain, self-assured, self-reliant, self-confident, dauntless: I was confident that we would win the championship. ant. timid, uncertain, shy, self-effacing.

confine vb. limit, restrict, bound, hinder: As a punishment, Marilyn was confined to her room for the rest of the day. ant. release, free.

confirm vb. 1. assure, verify, corroborate, substantiate: I confirmed everything that she had told me. 2. validate, approve, ratify: The higher court confirmed the lower court's findings. ant. 1. deny, disclaim, disavow.

confirmed adj. habitual, established, chronic, regular: I am a confirmed supporter of the Democratic party. ant. infrequent, occasional.

confiscate vb. take, seize, appropriate, commandeer: The drugs he was trying to smuggle into the country were confiscated by customs.

conflict vb. oppose, clash, contend: It seems obvious that your ideas about bringing up children conflict with mine. n. 1. fight, battle, struggle, encounter, engagement: We must recognize the eternal conflict between right and wrong. 2. controversy, disagreement, contest: I don't want to be caught in the middle of a conflict between political enemies. ant. vb. agree, harmonize, concur, coincide. n. agreement, harmony, concurrence.

conform vb. 1. comply, submit, yield, obey: If you wish to remain a member of this club, you must conform to the rules. 2. agree, correspond: The work you are now doing does not conform to our plan. ant. 1. rebel. 2. disagree, vary.

conformity n. agreement, congruence, correspondence, accord: Your revised plan is in conformity with our intentions.

confound vb. perplex, confuse, puzzle, bewilder, baffle: The gang of thieves escaped in several directions and thus confounded their pursuers.

confuse vb. 1. puzzle, perplex, bewilder, mystify, baffle, mislead: The directions for putting the bicycle together confused my father. 2. mistake, mix up, jumble: My aunt is often confused with my mother, whom she resembles closely. ant. 1. enlighten, edify, illuminate, clarify. 2. differentiate, distinguish.

confusion n. 1. perplexity, bewilderment, uncertainty: At first, there was some confusion among the actors as to where they should stand on stage. 2. disorder, mess, muss, turmoil, upset: Your belongings are in such a state of confusion that I don't see how you can find anything. ant. 1. enlightenment, understanding, comprehension. 2. organization, tidiness.

congregate vb. meet, gather, convene, foregather: All of the teachers congregated in the lobby before going into the auditorium. ant. disperse, scatter, dissipate, dispel.

congress n. legislature, parliament, assembly: Last year we attended the second annual congress of the new association.

congruity n. See conformity.

conjunction n. junction, link, combination, connection: The conjunction of the two opposing parties quickly resolved the issue. ant. disconnection, separation, diversion, separation.

connect vb. 1. unite, join, link, combine: The front of our train was connected to the rear cars of the train in the station. 2. associate, relate: Somehow, I failed to connect her quitting so suddenly with the disappearance of the vase. ant. 1. disconnect, disjoin. 2. dissociate, disassociate.

connection n. 1. junction, union, link; bond, tie: There was a loose connection that prevented the radio from working. 2. association, relationship, bond, tie: I no longer have any connection with that company. ant. 2. dissociation, disassociation.

conquer vb. 1. succeed, win, gain, achieve: The army conquered the fort in two days. 2. defeat, overcome, overpower, subdue: It may be years before medicine will be able to conquer cancer. The small force conquered the enemy in hard fighting. ant. 2. surrender, yield.

conquest n. triumph, victory: The conquest over infantile paralysis was gained only after many years. ant. failure, surrender.

conscientious adj. honest, upright, scrupulous, straight, straightforward, incorruptible: Bob is a conscientious worker and will be very successful in whatever he does. ant. irresponsible, careless, slovenly.

conscious adj. 1. aware: I suddenly became conscious of a slow, scratching sound at the window. 2. awake, sensible: When Marilyn became conscious again after the blow on her head, she recognized her mother beside her. 3. deliberate, intentional, purposeful: I don't like him, so I make a conscious effort to avoid him. ant. 1. unaware, insensitive. 2. asleep, insensible, comatose. 3. careless, indifferent, slack, negligent.

consent vb. agree, permit, allow, let, assent: I consented to Laura's going to the movies with a friend. n. permission, agreement, assent: You have my consent to leave school early today. ant. vb. refuse, dissent. n. refusal, dissent.

consequence n. 1. result, outcome, effect, issue: Eugene was rude in class and, as a consequence, was reprimanded by the teacher. 2. importance, significance, value: Zeke's father is a man of some consequence in this town. ant. 1. cause, impetus.

consequential adj. important, significant, weighty: The pro- fessor is a consequential authority in the field of international relations. ant. unimportant, trivial, minor, insignificant.

conservative adj. 1. reactionary, right-wing, conventional: The conservative members of the town council refused to allow men on the beach without tops for their bathing suits. 2. moderate, cautious, careful: After the accident, Jed became a much more conservative driver. ant. 1. liberal, radical. 2. reckless, rash, adventurous, foolhardy.

conserve vb. preserve, keep, retain: When I ask Alexa why she lies about in the sun all day, she says she's conserving her energy. ant. squander, waste, use.

consider vb. 1. study, think about, deliberate, reflect on, contemplate: The committee agreed to consider Janet's request for an increase in salary. 2. think of, regard, look upon, judge, estimate: Shirley had never considered Tom to be particularly good-looking. ant. 1. ignore, disregard, disdain.

considerable adj. 1. quite a lot, much, a great deal: There was a considerable amount of snow last winter. The complaints from the public were considerable. 2. worthwhile, noteworthy, important, significant: Dr. Einstein was a man of considerable accomplishments.

considerate adj. kind, thoughtful, polite: If you want to become a nurse, you must be considerate of others. ant. inconsiderate, thoughtless, selfish.

consideration n. 1. thoughtfulness, kindness, kindness, concern, courtesy, politeness, sympathy, empathy: It was Mark's consideration for other people that made him an outstanding social worker. 2. attention, thought, reflection, study: I'll give that matter immediate consideration. 3. payment, fee, pay, compensation: For a small consideration, the steward will serve your meals in your cabin.

consistent adj. 1. agreeing, compatible, harmonious: Consistent with your wishes, I have asked that the meeting take place tomorrow. 2. regular, expected, faithful: He might have been irresponsible about repaying debts to the bank, but he was always consistent about returning money to his friends. ant. 1. contrary, opposed, antagonistic. 2. inconsistent, erratic, eccentric.

consolation n. solace, comfort, sympathy: It's been such a consolation to know that you were there when I needed you. ant. discouragement, discomfort, burden.

console vb. solace, comfort, sympathize with: When Kitty's dog died, her father consoled her by giving her a new puppy. ant. disturb, upset.

conspicuous adj. noticeable, visible, clear, prominent, obvious, outstanding: Steve made himself conspicuous by wearing a bright-green tie and a lavender shirt. ant. inconspicuous, neutral.

conspire vb. plot, plan, scheme, intrigue: The gang conspired to steal the car.

constant adj. 1. unchanging, fixed, stable, invariable, unchangeable: The constant sunshine in the desert made me long for clouds and rain. 2. loyal, faithful, steadfast, true, staunch, devoted, steady, firm: My constant companion during those years was Arthur. ant. 1. irregular, off-and-on, periodic. 2. occasional, infrequent.

constitute vb. 1. make up, compose, form: People once thought that all matter was constituted of four elements—earth, air, fire, and water. 2. found, establish, create, organize: The courts are a duly constituted authority for dispensing justice. 3. delegate, appoint, commission, authorize: My father was constituted ambassador to Ethiopia.

constitution n. 1. code, law: The U.S. Constitution has been put to some severe tests during the last decade. 2. health, physique, vitality: With your constitution, you should be able to eat anything.

construct vb. build, erect, raise: The prefabricated home was constructed in two days by four workmen. ant. destroy, demolish, raze.

construction n. building, raising, fabricating: The construction of this building is fireproof.

constructive adj. helpful, useful, valuable: After your constructive comments, I rewrote the paper and it got an "A." ant. destructive, ruinous.

consult vb. confer, discuss, deliberate: In the future, I think we ought to consult together about what we tell to the newspapers.

consume vb. 1. use, use up, exhaust, expend; eat, devour: The people in this country consume more sugar than those of any other country. 2. destroy, devastate: She had a consuming passion for Elvis Presley. The barn was quickly consumed by the flames.

consumer n. buyer, user, purchaser: When the wholesale prices increase, the consumer is the one who pays more in the end.

contact n. touching, meeting: The contact at this electrical connection is faulty.

contain vb. hold, be composed of, include: This clause in the contract contains the essence of the agreement. This cereal contains a lot of protein.

contaminate vb. pollute, soil, dirty, corrupt, infect, poison: The nearby sewer pipe contaminated our drinking water.

contemplate vb. 1. think about, consider, study, deliberate on or over, reflect upon: Desmond was contemplating the outcome of the trial. 2. intend, plan: Do you contemplate correcting your behavior? 3. view, look at, regard, observe: Irene was contemplating her reflection in the mirror.

contemplative adj. thoughtful, meditative, studious, pensive: My uncle looked contemplative, so I didn't want to disturb him. ant. indifferent, inattentive, thoughtless.

contemporary adj. 1. contemporaneous, simultaneous, coexisting, coexistent: Gilbert Stuart, the artist, was contemporary with George Washington, whose portrait he painted several times. 2. modern, up-to-date, fashionable: The room was decorated in contemporary style. ant. 1. antecedent; succeeding.

contempt n. scorn, disdain, malice: Who can feel anything but contempt for a man who has betrayed the trust placed in him? ant. admiration, approbation.

contemptible adj. low, base, mean, detestable, miserable: Stealing money from the blind beggar was the most contemptible thing you've ever done. ant. admirable, honorable.

contemptuous adj. scornful, disdainful, insolent, sneering: The woman gave a contemptuous look at the man rummaging about in the trash can. ant. humble, modest, self-effacing.

contend vb. 1. combat, dispute, contest: A teacher sometimes has to contend with students who misbehave. 2. claim, assert, maintain, argue: The lawyer contended that his client was innocent.

content adj. happy, satisfied, pleased, contented: Sam wasn't content until he was sure that all the children were safe. ant. dissatisfied, restless, discontented.

contest n. competition, match, tournament: The seventh grade won the contest for the best traffic safety poster. vb. dispute, oppose: The miner contested the right of anyone to trespass on his property.

contingency n. possibility, likelihood, circumstance, occasion: This home insurance policy will cover every contingency except flood damage.

contingent adj. (usually with on) depending (on), dependent

(on), conditional (on), provisional (on): The annual bonus will be contingent on the profits of the company.

continual adj. regular, consecutive, connected: The hammering on the door was continual throughout the night. ant. irregular, intermittent, occasional.

continue vb. 1. persist: If you continue in your present manner, you will be punished for it. 2. proceed, resume, recommence, renew: The trial continued after an hour out for lunch. 3. endure, last, remain, stay: After he was discovered to be dishonest, the manager realized he couldn't continue in his job. ant. discontinue, stop, cease, interrupt.

continuous adj. uninterrupted, continuing, ceaseless, incessant, unceasing, constant, unending: There was a continuous flow of water from the broken pipe. ant. irregular, intermittent, sporadic.

contract n. agreement, bargain, pact; treaty: The contract between the company and the union was signed yesterday. vb. 1. agree: We contracted with our neighbor's son to mow the lawn each week. 2. diminish, reduce, condense, shrink: The armadillo contracts into a little ball when it is threatened. 3. get, acquire, come down with: I contracted a bad cold while out fishing. ant. vb. 2. expand, swell, enlarge.

contradictory adj. paradoxical, inconsistent, conflicting, opposing, contrary: Communism and democracy are contradictory in their views of human affairs.

contrary adj. 1. opposed, opposite, disagreeing, conflicting, opposing: If you say he should be released and I say he should be jailed, we obviously hold contrary opinions. 2. disagreeable, hostile, perverse, stubborn, headstrong: If you agree with me, then why are you being so contrary? ant. 1. similar, like, complementary. 2. obliging, agreeable, tractable.

contrast n. difference, distinction, disagreement: There is a marked contrast between what you are saying today and what you said before. vb. distinguish, differentiate, contradict, differ: One of our exam questions was to contrast the American Revolution with the Russian Revolution. ant. n. similarity, agreement, likeness.

contribute vb. donate, give, bestow, grant, provide, offer: Every year I contribute money to charity. Eleanor contributes to her mother's support. ant. withhold, deny.

contribution n. donation, gift, grant, offering: A contribution to the church is deductible for tax purposes. Dick made no contribution to today's history class.

contrive vb. 1. invent, make, form, hatch: We must contrive a plan to get even with those children who stole our bicycles.

2. maneuver, manage, arrange: Despite visiting hours being over, I contrived to see my sister in the hospital.

control vb. 1. manage, direct, rule, dominate, command: My uncle controls four companies. 2. check, restrain, curb, manage: That woman couldn't control her children and they annoyed everyone in the waiting room. n. 1. management, direction, rule, mastery, command: After buying large blocks of its shares in the stock market, Cawdry gained control of the zipper company. 2. check, restraint: You will have to keep yourself under control if you want to sit in this theater.

controversy n. dispute, argument, quarrel, debate, disagreement: A controversy over the new teacher's appointment arose at the school board meeting. ant. agreement, harmony, accord.

convenience n. 1. availability, accessibility: We all know the convenience of having a post office nearby. 2. assistance, help, aid, service, benefit: When you live in the country, a car is a great convenience. ant. 2. inconvenience.

convenient adj. accessible, handy, nearby, available, ready: I always keep a fire extinguisher in a convenient place. ant. inconvenient, awkward.

convention n. 1. conference, meeting, assembly: The political convention nominated Sarah's uncle for state senator. 2. custom, practice; rule, law: The karate contestants followed the convention of bowing to each other politely before and after the match.

conventional adj. everyday, common, usual, regular, habitual, accustomed, routine: Our conventional arrangement calls for customers to pay on receipt of merchandise. ant. unusual, extraordinary, exotic, bizarre.

conversation n. talk, discussion, chat, dialogue: Please try to limit your phone conversations to five minutes' duration.

converse vb. talk, chat, discuss, speak: My mother and the principal conversed in such low tones that I couldn't hear what they were saying.

conversion n. change, alteration, modification, mutation, metamorphosis: The conversion of our heating system from gas to oil took only one day.

convert vb. 1. change, alter, transform, turn: The alchemists tried to convert lead into gold. 2. win over: I was converted from Christianity to Zoroastrianism, then to Taoism, Buddhism, and Shintoism by various teachers.

convey vb. bear, carry, communicate: "Disgust" doesn't convey my feeling toward her; perhaps "disappointment" would be more accurate.

conveyance n. car, truck, van; train; plane: By what conveyance other than the prairie schooner could the pioneers have traveled westward?

conviction n. belief, opinion, view, position: It is my conviction that no one could survive in that icy water for more than an hour. Roger has the courage of his convictions.

convince vb. persuade, induce, assure: You could never convince me that even a little fib isn't really a lie.

convivial adj. social, gregarious, jovial, jolly: George is a convivial fellow who can enliven any party. ant. stern, solemn, unsociable.

cool adj. 1. chilly; cold, frosty, wintry, icy, frigid: The summer evenings are always cool in the mountains. 2. calm, composed, quiet, collected: When everyone about her would get excited about something, Irena always remained cool. 3. unfriendly, distant, chilly: After we broke her window with the baseball, Mrs. Thompson gave us a cool reception. vb. 1. chill: You should cool the wine before serving it. 2. calm, quiet, moderate: My enthusiasm for the job cooled when I found out how little it paid. ant. adj. 1. warm, hot, heated. 2. excited, overwrought, hysterical. 3. friendly, warm, outgoing. vb. 1. warm, heat. 2. excite, agitate.

cooperate vb. 1. join forces, unite, combine: If everyone cooperates, we can get the work done more quickly. 2. contribute, help, support: We tried to get the mule into the barn, but it refused to cooperate.

coordinate vb. harmonize, attune, adapt, balance, match: We must coordinate the various departments in order to get this project completed on time.

copious adj. plentiful, abundant, ample: Copious supplies of grain were shipped from the Midwest last year. ant. scarce, meager, scanty, paltry.

copy n. reproduction, imitation, facsimile, duplicate, likeness; carbon, print: Please send me a copy of your article. vb. reproduce, duplicate, imitate: You ought to copy over your paper before handing it in—it's so messy. ant. n. original.

cordial adj. friendly, polite, genial, affable, warmhearted: Even though she was very cordial, the lady in the blue house over there refused to buy an encyclopedia from me. ant. hostile, unfriendly, ill-tempered.

core n. center, kernel, heart: Some people think that the core of the apple is more nutritious than the pulp. ant. outside, surface.

corporation n. company, firm, business, conglomerate, organization: Many of the large corporations in the U.S. are listed on the Stock Exchange.

corpse n. body, cadaver, remains, carcass: The corpse of an old man was found buried in the woods.

correct adj. true, accurate, right, proper, precise, exact: The only version that is correct is the one prepared by our own students. vb. 1. set right, rectify, emend; better: The teacher corrected our papers before handing them back to us. 2. warm, caution, rebuke, admonish, punish: Each time she said something they didn't like, her parents corrected her. ant. adj. incorrect, wrong, inexact, erroneous.

correction n. amendment, improvement, emendation, remedy, repair, rectification: The teacher said he had to make too many spelling corrections to your paper.

correspond vb. 1. match, compare, agree, coincide, fit, suit: The two parts of this machine don't correspond. 2. communicate, write: While I was away at school, I corresponded regularly with my brothers and sisters. ant. 1. diverge, differ, vary.

corridor n. hall, hallway, passage, passageway; foyer, lobby: In the old days, you could leave your shoes in the corridor outside a hotel room and you'd get them back shined in the morning; today, you'd be lucky to get them back at all!

corrode vb. eat away, erode, wear away: Salt water—even the salt air near the seashore—causes brass to corrode.

corrupt adj. 1. dishonest, untrustworthy, crooked, treacherous, unscrupulous: Before my uncle became mayor and cleaned things up, this town had the most corrupt officials you could find. 2. wicked, debased, low, evil, perverted: The minister preached against all of the corrupt practices among some of the people. vb. bribe, demoralize, degrade: The gangsters used money, then threats, to try to corrupt the police chief. ant. adj. 1. honest, upright, scrupulous. 2. pure, sanctified. vb. purify, edify, sanctify.

cost n. 1. price, value, charge: What is the cost of that puppy in the window? 2. sacrifice, loss, penalty, damage: Risking the cost of our friendship, I must tell you that you are very mean to your mother.

costly adj. expensive, dear, high-priced: Food becomes more costly every day. ant. inexpensive, low-cost, cheap.

costume n. clothing, dress, attire, clothes, garb, apparel: For the school pageant, Sofia came in a costume made from peacock feathers.

couch n. sofa, davenport, settee, loveseat: I sat on the couch in the living room while Penny left to get me some tea.

council n. committee, board, cabinet: The town council has met to decide about new taxes.

counsel n. 1. advice, opinion, guidance: Your counsel in matters relating to marriage is meaningless, since you were never married. 2. lawyer, attorney, counselor: If learned counsel will permit, I should like to cross-examine this witness. vb. advise, guide: He counseled me to remain quiet in court.

count vb. 1. enumerate, number, reckon, total, compute, tally: I counted 13 buns in the bag from the bakery—a baker's dozen. 2. amount to something, add up, figure: Your score on the last test won't count because you copied the answers from a neighbor. n. sum, total, number: Take a count of the books on that shelf.

countenance n. 1. face, visage, aspect, appearance: I like to see the smiling countenances of my students each morning. 2. approval, support, encouragement, assistance: I cannot give countenance for such activity. vb. approve, support, favor, encourage, assist: I refuse to countenance absence from school to watch a baseball game. ant. vb. prohibit, forbid.

counteract vb. offset, thwart, counterbalance, neutralize, defeat: When you misbehave, you counteract any good feelings I had for you.

counterfeit adj. 1. fake, false, fraudulent, spurious, false: I thought we had become millionaires when the money was found, but it turned out to be counterfeit. 2. pretended, pretend, false, fake, sham: Your counterfeit expression of love doesn't fool me. n. forgery, imitation, fake: This document is a counterfeit. vb. 1. forge, fake, falsify, imitate, copy: The police found the men counterfeiting ten- and twenty-dollar bills in the basement. 2. pretend, sham: At the funeral, those who were glad that George was gone counterfeited great sorrow. ant. adj. genuine, real, authentic.

country n. 1. nation, state: How many foreign countries have you traveled to? 2. farmland, forest, exurbia: We gave up our apartment in the city and bought a house in the country. ant. city.

couple n. pair; team, brace: A young couple just moved into the neighborhood. Hitch a couple of horses to the wagon.

courage n. bravery, spirit, daring, fearlessness, valor, mettle, pluck: It took a lot of courage for Jimmy, who is only ten, to jump into the swimming pool to save his six-year-old sister. ant. cowardice, fearfulness, weakness.

courageous adj. brave, fearless, dauntless, intrepid, plucky, daring, heroic, valorous: The courageous men who defended the fort against great odds were relieved to see the cavalry arrive. ant. cowardly, fearful, timid.

course n. 1. advance, progress, passage: In the course of life it often becomes necessary to suffer hardship for the sake of others. 2. direction, way, bearing: When I saw the Empire State Building, I knew we were on the wrong course for Miami.

courteous adj. polite, well-mannered, gracious, respectful: I don't expect people to bow and scrape, but they should at least be courteous. ant. rude, impolite, discourteous.

courtesy n. politeness, graciousness, respect: When I visited my friends in Sweden, they showed me every courtesy. ant. rudeness, discourtesy.

cover vb. 1. overlay, spread: Please cover the furniture to keep the dust off. 2. conceal, hide; mask: Miriam covered the scratch on the table with a lamp. 3. include, embrace: The term "American" is used to cover all citizens of the United States. n. 1. lid, top, stopper, covering: Evelyn couldn't get the cover off the jar. 2. shelter, protection, refuge: During the thundershower, we sought cover under an overhanging rock. ant. vb. uncover, expose, reveal.

covetous adj. greedy, avaricious, grasping, acquisitive: A covetous person is seldom aware of the wealth he already possesses. ant. generous.

coward n. milksop, milquetoast, dastard, cad: He was such a coward that he was afraid to go outside alone even in daylight. ant. hero.

cowardly adj. afraid, fearful, timid, timorous, fainthearted, lily-livered, white-livered, yellow, spineless, pusillanimous, craven: Because of his cowardly behavior he was given the white feather by the other men in the squad. ant. brave.

cower vb. cringe, wince, quail, flinch, tremble: When the police broke in, the fugitive was cowering under the bed.

coy adj. bashful, shy, timid, modest: If you want another helping of food, don't be coy—just ask for it. ant. bold, brash, forward.

crack vb. break, snap, split: Just as Walter was looking at himself in the mirror, it cracked. n. 1. snap: There was the crack! of the rifle and the rabbit lay dead. 2. break, flaw, split, fissure: Be careful not to drink from the side of the glass with the crack in it.

cracker n. biscuit, wafer, saltine: Cheese and crackers make a good midnight snack.

craft n. 1. skill, ability, talent, expertness: Have you ever seen an expert cabinetmaker exercise his craft? 2. cunning, deceit, trickery, guile: Charles used every bit of his craft to get Gennie to marry him. 3. handicraft, trade, occupation, profession: The harpooner has not plied his craft for many years.

crafty adj. cunning, clever, shrewd, skillful, sly, tricky: That crafty little beggar of a brother of mine knows how to steal affection although he's only three. ant. guileless, gullible, open, naive.

crank adj. bad-tempered, short-tempered, cross, testy, irritable: Many people become cranky when they are tired, or hungry, or both. ant. good-natured, cheerful, happy.

crash vb. shatter, smash, dash: It was a miracle that you weren't even scratched when the car crashed into the wall. n. smash, smashup: Twenty people were hurt in the crash.

crave vb. desire, yearn for, want, long for, hunger for: That little kitten craves affection. ant. renounce, relinquish.

craven adj. See cowardly.

crawl vb. creep, worm along: I found the most beautiful caterpillar, crawling on the window.

crazy adj. mad, insane, lunatic: You're crazy if you think I'm going to the party without Judy. ant. sane, rational, lucid.

creak vb. squeak: The old iron gate creaked as we opened it.

create vb. 1. originate, invent, beget: The composer created a new piece to honor his parents on their anniversary. 2. make, form, construct, design: The early pioneers created farms and homes out of the wilderness. ant. destroy, abolish.

creative adj. inventive, imaginative, original, ingenious, resourceful, innovative: She was creative enough to escape from the slave labor camp, so she's no fool, you may be sure.

credible adj. believable, conceivable: The police found the suspect's story credible, so they released him. ant. incredible, unbelievable, inconceivable.

credit n. 1. belief, trust, faith: How can anyone place any credit on what you say when they know how you lied in the past? 2. honor, merit, recognition: Philip and Peter deserve a lot of credit for taking care of their aged mother. 3. repute, reputation, name, standing, rank: My credit is good enough at the bank to get a loan for a new car. vb. 1. believe, accept, trust: Even though I credit your explanation of the flat tire, you shouldn't have been out so late. 2. attribute: The museum experts credited the painting to my grandfather. ant. n. vb. discredit.

credible adj. praiseworthy, worthy: The high school band gave a very credible performance during the intermission. ant. discreditable, dishonorable, shameful.

credulous adj. believing, trusting, gullible, naive, unsuspicious: In their opinion, the average person is so credulous that they can sell refrigerators to Eskimos and electric heaters to the Australian aborigines. ant. suspicious.

creed n. belief, credo, doctrine, faith: No one should be discriminated against because of race, color, or creed.

creek n. stream, brook, rivulet, spring: After a heavy spring rain, this creek turns into a raging river.

crime n. wrongdoing, misconduct, wrong, offense; infraction, violation, misdemeanor, felony: Possession of narcotics by unauthorized people is a crime.

criminal adj. illegal, unlawful, felonious: Maltreating a child is a criminal offense. n. crook, gangster, lawbreaker, outlaw, felon, convict, culprit, offender, delinquent: The escaped criminals were being sought by the police of three states.

cringe vb. See cower.

cripple vb. maim, injure, hurt, damage: The fall from the second-story window crippled him for life.

crisis n. emergency, climax: The doctor said that my aunt had passed the crisis and would get better quickly. There was a crisis at the bank when they found that $50,000 was missing.

critic n. 1. judge, reviewer, commentator: Brooks Atkinson was the drama critic of The New York Times for many years. 2. faultfinder, censor, slanderer, defamer: I may make a mistake once in a while, but who appointed you as my critic?

critical adj. 1. faultfinding, carping, condemning, reproachful, disapproving: Please stop nagging me: you have no reason to be so critical of everything I do or say. 2. dangerous, risky, hazardous, perilous: His health was in critical condition and the doctor ordered him to rest. 3. crucial, important, decisive: The timing in putting a new product on the market can be critical. ant. 3. unimportant, trivial.

crony n. friend, comrade, companion, buddy, chum: Rick liked to get together with his cronies for a game of poker every now and then. ant. enemy.

crooked adj. 1. bent, twisted, curved, hooked, zigzag: A crooked path wove among the boulders to the pond. 2. dishonest, criminal, corrupt: The directors were embarrassed when they discovered that the treasurer was crooked and had stolen money. ant. 1. straight. 2. honest, upright.

crop n. harvest, produce, yield: Because of lack of rainfall the crop will be poor this year. vb. cut, lop, mow, clip: I think you look better with your hair cropped short.

cross vb. 1. traverse: Don't cross the street against the lights. 2. mingle, mix, interbreed: If you cross a scottie with a poodle, you get a "scoodle." 3. thwart, frustrate, oppose: Once Reginald has his mind made up, it's not a good idea to cross him. adj. irritable, annoyed, testy, cranky, ill-natured, bad-tempered, snappish; mean, angry: Our teacher was very cross with those children who hadn't done their homework. ant. adj. good-natured, cheerful.

crouch vb. stoop, duck: We crouched low behind the bushes so we wouldn't be seen. ant. stand.

crow vb. brag, boast, show off: What has Raymond to crow about?—His team lost the game.

crowd n. throng, swarm, host, flock, mob, pack: There was a crowd of people waiting in front of the White House to see the President. vb. 1. throng, swarm, mob: We crowded onto the football field after the game. 2. squeeze, cramp, pack; shove, push: We were crowded in the tiny cabin.

crown n. 1. circlet, coronet, tiara: The princess wore a gold crown studded with precious stones. 2. head, skull: Jack fell down and broke his crown. vb. coronate: She was crowned queen in a ceremony that lasted for seven hours.

crude adj. 1. unfinished, rude, raw, coarse: On the workbench stood a crude sculpture of a figure that I couldn't recognize until I was told it was of my sister. 2. unpolished, unrefined, coarse, graceless, boorish: Rennie's manners are very crude. ant. 1. finished, polished. 2. refined, genteel, cultured.

cruel adj. heartless, mean, merciless, unmerciful, pitiless, ruthless, brutal, inhuman: I think it's cruel to forbid your little brother to go to the movies with us. ant. kindhearted, compassionate, merciful.

cruelty n. meanness, harshness, brutality, savagery: Cruelty to animals is against the law. ant. kindness, compassion.

crush vb. break, smash, crash: The machine quickly crushed all of the stones into smaller sizes, suitable for driveways and other uses.

cry vb. 1. shout, yell, yowl, scream, roar, bellow: When I saw the rock falling, I cried out as loudly as I could. 2. weep, wail, sob, bawl: When the baby cries, either feed her, change her, or make sure nothing is hurting her. ant. 2. laugh.

cryptic adj. 1. mysterious, puzzling, enigmatic: The ancient inhabitants left some cryptic signs carved into the stone walls. 2. secret, hidden, occult, obscure, vague, unclear: The purposes of this organization have always seemed somewhat cryptic to me. ant. 1., 2. open.

culpable adj. blameworthy, to blame, guilty, at fault: As for the missing $50,000, the police have determined that the vice president was the culpable one. ant. innocent.

cultivate vb. 1. farm, till, plant, seed, harvest: Although he owns about 1,000 acres of farmland, Mr. Snyder cultivates only half of that. 2. educate, refine, teach, nurture: Our parents cultivated in all their children a desire to learn and the habit of reading.

cultural adj. educational, civilizing, instructive, elevating: Living in a town with a university means that there are many cultural activities available—theater, courses in many subjects, community projects in health, and so on.

culture n. 1. education, learning, humanism, civilization: Western and eastern cultures differ widely. 2. refinement, breeding, cultivation, upbringing: From her bad manners and rude behavior you could tell at once that she was totally lacking in culture.

cumbersome adj. awkward, bulky, unwieldy, clumsy, unmanageable: Isn't that unabridged dictionary a little cumbersome to carry with you everywhere? ant. handy.

cunning adj. 1. clever, tricky, wily, foxy, crafty: Even at the age of three, Betsy was cunning enough to get what she wanted from anyone. 2. skillful, clever, ingenious: That box was carved by a cunning hand from a solid piece of wood. n. 1. skill, ability: Her cunning was matched only by her beauty. 2. craft, wiliness, foxiness, shrewdness, cleverness, slyness, deceit: Another example of his cunning was the way he was able to persuade people to give him their money for his fake schemes. ant. adj. 1. simple, naive, gullible. n. 2. simplicity, openness.

curb n. check, restraint, control: The new tax law was an effective curb on expense accounts for executives. vb. check, restrain, control: It required stern measures to curb waste of the state's natural resources. ant. vb. encourage, foster.

cure n. remedy, treatment, medicine: People used to think that sulfur and molasses were a cure for almost anything. vb. heal, remedy: The salesman told us that snake oil would cure my broken leg.

curious adj. 1. inquiring, inquisitive, interested; nosy, prying: If you weren't so curious about things that don't concern you, you wouldn't get into so much trouble. 2. peculiar, odd, strange, unusual, queer: There was a curious animal with a red plume and a white tail and blue fur sitting on the fence. ant. 1. incurious, indifferent, uninterested.

current adj. present, up-to-date, modern: The current craze for horror movies is bad for children. n. stream, tide: The current carried the sailboat down the river and out into the sea. ant. adj. out-of-date, outmoded, old-fashioned.

curse n. 1. oath, ban: The witch's curse caused the children to shout and dance wildly. 2. trouble, misfortune, evil: The rain, originally a blessing, turned into a curse after two weeks without letup. vb. swear, denounce, condemn: When the police finally caught the thief, he cursed them for finding him. ant. n. 1. benediction. 2. blessing, boon, advantage.

curt adj. abrupt, short, brief, brusque, blunt, gruff, bluff: I only asked him what time it was, and he dismissed me with a curt remark. ant. polite, friendly, pleasant.

curtain n. drape, drapery, shade, blind: A dark curtain over the window prevented any light from entering the room.

cushion n. pad, pillow: There was a comfortable red cushion at each end of the couch. vb. absorb, check: This foam rubber is packed into the box to cushion the shock during shipping.

custodian n. keeper, caretaker, guard, guardian, protector, warden, watchman: The curator was appointed custodian of the treasures found in the tomb.

custom n. habit, practice, rule: By custom, the entire family would have dinner together at Thanksgiving.

customary adj. usual, common, habitual, regular: The customary procedure is to ring the bell and wait for someone to open the door. ant. unusual, rare, unaccustomed.

customer n. client, patron, buyer: The shop closed at six o'clock and no customers were allowed in after five-thirty.

cut vb. 1. gash, slash, prick, nick: I cut my finger on the point of the blade. 2. sever, slice, carve, cleave, slit: That knife isn't sharp enough to cut the bread. 3. mow, lop, chop, crop: The grass was cut once already this week. 4. reduce, lower, lessen: The government may cut spending in order to curb inflation. vb. phr. cut back reduce, decrease: The budget for school supplies was cut back by 20 percent. cut in interrupt, interfere, butt in: When the teacher was talking, Phil cut in to ask if he could leave the room. cut off stop, cease, end, terminate: The moderator cut off debate after 20 minutes. cut short finish, stop, quit, end: The performance was cut short by the power failure. n. incision, slash, gash, slit: The nurse bandaged the cut on Janet's finger.

cutthroat n. murderer, killer, assassin, executioner. adj. ruthless, pitiless, merciless, insensitive: No one could approve of that man's cutthroat business practices.

cutting adj. caustic, bitter, scathing, acerbic, stern, harsh: Philip made some cutting remark and Sonia went off in tears.

dagger n. blade, stiletto, knife: The assassin plunged the dagger into the back of his victim.

dainty adj. delicate, petite, beautiful, graceful, fine, elegant: Only Cinderella's dainty foot would fit into the glass slipper. ant. clumsy, oafish, lumpish.

dam n. levee, dike, barrier: The beavers built a dam across our stream and flooded part of our land. vb. obstruct, block, stop; check, slow: A huge tree fell down in the storm and dammed up the drain.

damage n. impairment, injury, harm; destruction: The hurricane caused millions of dollars worth of damage along the coast. vb. impair, injure, harm, mar: The telephone lines were damaged when the truck hit the utility pole. Gossiping about a person can damage his reputation. ant. vb. repair, rebuild, improve, fix.

damn vb. condemn: Because of his poor performance in the movie, he was damned to unemployment.

damp adj. moist, dank, humid: When the weather is damp, I can't open this closet door because it sticks. n. moisture, dampness, dankness, humidity, wetness: The damp in the walls makes the plaster mildew. ant. adj. dry, arid.

dampen vb. 1. moisten, wet: It is better to dampen clothes before ironing them. 2. slow, retard, inhibit, moderate: The noise of the traffic outside was dampened by the thick stone walls.

dandy n. fop, coxcomb, Beau Brummel, clotheshorse, (informal) swell, popinjay: Eustace is such a dandy! He's always wearing a yellow shirt with that purple tie. adj. marvelous, great, wonderful, fine, excellent: There's a dandy new movie at the Bijou. I think it's just dandy that you can join us for dinner. ant. 1. slob. 2. awful.

danger n. peril, risk, hazard, uncertainty, threat: Weakened by the long swim from the boat, the boys were in danger of drowning in the swift current. ant. safety, security.

dangerous adj. perilous, hazardous, risky, uncertain, unsafe: It's very dangerous to play close to the road. ant. safe, secure.

dare vb. 1. brave, risk: The acrobat dared to walk the tight-rope over the river, 200 feet below. 2. challenge: Rosemarie dared George to swim across the lake.

daring adj. brave, fearless, intrepid, courageous, bold, valiant: Entering the lion's cage carrying only a chair and whip is very daring. n. bravery, courage, valor: Vincent's reputation for daring began when he saved three children from a burning house. ant. n. cowardice, timidity.

dark adj. 1. shadowy, unlit, murky, gloomy, dim, dusky, shaded, sunless, black: The half of the earth facing away from the sun is always dark. 2. dismal, sad, gloomy, unhappy: The period before the war was a dark time for many people. ant. 1. light, illuminated, bright. 2. cheerful, happy.

darling n. beloved, dear, sweetheart, favorite: Anthony was the darling of all the teachers. adj. dear, beloved: Richard's mother called him "Darling baby" until he was 25 years old.

dart n. barb, arrow, missile: The dart hit the target but missed the bull's-eye. vb. run, scurry, scamper, hasten, dash: From the top of the tall building, the people on the street below looked like ants darting to-and-fro.

dash vb. 1. strike, smash, beat, break: In the darkness we could hear the surf dashing on the rocks ahead of the ship. 2. run, scurry, scamper, rush, dart: At rush hour, thousands of people dashed down the stairs into the subway. n. bit, sprinkling, scattering, pinch, hint: Add just a dash of pepper before serving.

dashing adj. dapper, flamboyant, swashbuckling, impressive, handsome: Frank cut quite a dashing figure in his new beret.

data n. information, facts, evidence, statistics: We still have too little data about the habits of the whale to draw any conclusions.

dated adj. old-fashioned, passé, out-of-date, outmoded: The dinner jacket is fine, but isn't the wing collar a bit dated? ant. à la mode, the latest (thing).

daunt vb. frighten, discourage, intimidate: Whenever I went to see the president of the company about a raise, I felt his manner so daunting that I forgot to ask him. ant. encourage, enspirer.

dauntless adj. brave, fearless, undaunted, bold, intrepid, courageous, valiant: Our dauntless navy won more battles with fighter planes than with the ships' guns. ant. cowardly, timid, fearful.

dawn n. 1. sunrise, daybreak: The duel was arranged: it would be pistols at dawn in the park. 2. beginning, origin, start: At the dawn of civilization, man already used a highly devel- oped language. ant. 1. sunset, dusk, nightfall. 2. end, finish, conclusion.

daydream vb. muse, woolgather: You'll never amount to anything if all you do is daydream.

daze vb. stun, confuse, perplex, puzzle: The author was dazed by the publicity and fame his first novel had brought him. Roger was dazed by the blow he received on the head. n. stupor, confusion, bewilderment: I just walked around in a daze after learning about winning the scholarship.

dazzle vb. astonish, bewilder, surprise, stupefy, stun, impress: Victor, who had never met a movie star before, was dazzled by Dorothea's charm and beauty.

dead adj. 1. deceased, lifeless, defunct; gone, departed: Janet forgot to water her violets for a week, and when she looked at them, they were dead. Donald's great grandfather has been dead for 20 years. 2. inert, motionless, still, inoperative, inoperable, inactive: The engine went dead right in the middle of a highway traffic jam. ant. 1. alive, animate. 2. active, functioning.

deaden vb. numb, paralyze, anesthetize: The ointment helped to deaden the pain of my sunburn.

deadlock n. stalemate, standstill, impasse: When neither management nor labor would yield in its demands or concessions, the situation reached a deadlock.

deadly adj. 1. fatal, lethal, deathly, mortal: After the train wreck, deadly gas escaped from one of the tank cars and the nearby town was evacuated. 2. deathly, baleful: Margaret's face turned deadly pale when she learned of the accident.

deaf adj. 1. unhearing, stone-deaf: After the explosion, Tim was deaf in one ear for almost a week. 2. unheeding, unheedingful, unaware, stubborn, inattentive, oblivious: My father was deaf to my pleas for an increased allowance. ant. 2. conscious, aware.

deal vb. 1. treat, cope, act, attend: Our former principal had methods for dealing with mischievous boys. 2. trade, barter, do business, buy and/or sell, bargain: My company refuses to deal with anyone who isn't completely honest. 3. distribute, apportion, deliver, give: I was dealt three aces and two kings.

dear adj. 1. loved, beloved, darling: His dear wife would meet his train every evening. 2. expensive, costly, high-priced: That new hat was much too dear for someone on my salary. ant. 1. hateful. 2. cheap, inexpensive, reasonable.

- death n. demise, decease, passing, extinction: The death of our dog was a sad occasion in the family. ant. life.
- debate vb. argue, dispute, contend, discuss: We debated the merits of French and domestic wines until midnight. n. discussion, dispute, argument, controversy: The debate in the Senate over the new welfare bill went on for a week. ant. n. agreement, accord.
- debonair adj. soigné, urbane, suave, sophisticated, refined, well-bred, elegant, dapper: Julian looks so debonair in his tuxedo that all the girls want to dance with him.
- debris n. wreckage, ruins; refuse, trash, rubbish, detritus: It required three trucks to haul away the debris of the building that collapsed.
- debt n. obligation, liability: We owe a debt to our teachers, who are dedicated to improving us in every way.
- decay vb. 1. rot, spoil, decompose, molder: If you don't keep fresh food under refrigeration, it will decay rapidly. 2. deteriorate, decline, wither, perish, die: In the Dark Ages, western culture decayed so badly that there was little literature for several hundred years. n. 1. decline, downfall, collapse: The decay of the Roman Empire was caused by internal corruption. 2. rot, decomposition, mold, rottenness: Some bakeries add chemicals to their breads and rolls to retard decay. ant. vb. grow, progress, flourish.
- deceit n. deceitfulness, deception, fraud, dishonesty, guile: Because of the manager's reputation for deceit, nobody would patronize his restaurant. ant. honesty, forthrightness, openness.
- deceitful adj. insincere, false, dishonest, fraudulent, deceptive: It was deceitful of him to pretend to be so friendly and then tell everyone in town that I was nasty. ant. honest, sincere.
- deceive vb. mislead, cheat, swindle, defraud, hoax, hoodwink, fool: I was deceived by the girl's friendly manner and couldn't imagine she would do anything so underhanded.
- decency n. propriety, decorum, respectability, dignity: Obadiah always treated her with decency.
- decent adj. proper, becoming, fitting, appropriate: Hortense's behavior has always been very decent. ant. indecent, improper, indecorous, unsuitable.
- deception n. trickery, treachery, craftiness, deceit: If he continues to practice every deception, he won't have any friends left at all. ant. honesty, openness, frankness, probity.
- deceptive adj. deceiving, false, misleading, unreliable, tricky; deceitful, dishonest: That pink lens gives a deceptive image

- of the true colors in the painting. Because of his deceptive dealings, the merchants asked my uncle to leave town.* ant. real, true, authentic.
- decide vb. determine, settle, choose, resolve: We decided to leave at four o'clock to miss the weekend traffic. ant. hesitate, waver.
- decision n. determination, resolution, settlement: The judge's decision was final.
- decisive adj. resolute, determined, decided, firm, unhesitating: We must take a decisive step about selling the house.
- declaration n. announcement, pronouncement, statement, assertion, affirmation, notice: The company issued a declaration that it would seek greater profits from its real-estate holdings in the coming year.
- declare vb. say, state, proclaim, announce, pronounce, affirm, assert: When he reached the age of 21, Edward declared that he would move to Chicago. ant. deny, suppress.
- decline vb. 1. refuse, deny, reject: Vernon's mother offered me some candy, but I declined. 2. lessen, deteriorate, weaken, fail, diminish: Profits continued to decline after the company stopped advertising. n. 1. lessening, weakening, diminution: After the accident, my brother's health went into a decline, but then he recovered completely. 2. descent, slope, incline, hill: Soapbox cars, which have no motors, are always raced down a gentle decline. ant. vb. 1. agree, accept. 2. improve, increase, grow. n. 1. improvement.
- decompose vb. rot, decay, molder: By springtime, the autumn leaves were completely decomposed.
- decorate vb. 1. ornament, paint, color, enhance: The bedroom was decorated in different shades of blue. 2. furnish, furnish: The old farmhouse was decorated with early American furniture. ant. 1. deface, mar.
- decoration n. 1. ornamentation, adornment, furnishing: The decorations for our Christmas tree are stored in the attic. 2. medal, citation, award: My father won seven decorations for bravery during the war.
- decrease vb. lessen, diminish, decline, dwindle: The number of complaints about the new cars decreased after the manufacturer recalled them for repairs. n. lessening, diminution, decline: It will be a long time before we see any decrease in the cost of living. ant. vb. increase, expand. n. increase, expansion.
- decree n. edict, order, declaration: The new government issued a decree that filling stations would be open only 12 hours a day. vb. order, declare, announce: The king decreed that all prisoners would have their sentences reduced.

decrepit adj. 1. feeble, weak, weakened, enfeebled, infirm: The old man was so decrepit he could hardly walk. 2. tumbledown, rickety, dilapidated, run-down: That decrepit barn is unsafe and ought to be torn down. ant. 1. energetic.

dedicate vb. 1. consecrate, sanctify, hallow: The grounds were dedicated as a cemetery for those who had died in the war. 2. set apart or aside, devote, assign: He dedicated all of his free time to helping the elderly.

deduct vb. subtract, eliminate, take away: Taxpayers in the U.S. are allowed to deduct all interest payments from their gross incomes. ant. add.

deed n. 1. act, action, achievement, feat: For his deed of heroism in rescuing the little girl, the Boy Scout received a scholarship from the girl's father. 2. title, document, certificate: After we met with the lawyers at the bank, we were given the deed to the house.

deem vb. judge, determine, regard, consider, hold: The boy's aunt was deemed unfit to care for him.

deep adj. 1. low; bottomless, unplumbed: They say that this pool is so deep that it has no bottom. 2. serious, acute, bad, grave: That boy will find himself in deep trouble one of these days. 3. profound, obscure: I can see from your expression that you are thinking deep thoughts. 4. absorbed, involved: The two men were deep in conversation, and I didn't want to interrupt. n. ocean, sea: Many brave men are asleep in the deep. ant. adj. 1. shallow.

deface vb. mar, scratch, disfigure, mutilate: There is a large fine against anyone caught defacing public property. ant. beautify, decorate.

defeat vb. 1. overcome, conquer, vanquish, overthrow, suppress: The small scouting patrol was completely defeated by the enemy's superior forces. 2. thwart, foil, spoil, frustrate: The thundershower defeated our plans for a picnic. n. conquest, overthrow: Loss of the fighter plane spelled defeat for us. ant. vb. 1. surrender, submit, yield.

defect n. flaw, weakness, imperfection, blemish: There was a defect in the new toaster, so we returned it and got our money back. vb. desert, abandon, leave, forsake: The men who defected from the work squad were all rounded up and punished. ant. n. perfection, flawlessness. vb. join, support.

defective adj. flawed, faulty, inoperable, inoperative, imperfect: That garage sold me a defective tire for my bicycle and it went flat in a week. ant. perfect, flawless, faultless.

defend vb. 1. protect, guard, safeguard, shield: The main army went out into the battle and left only 50 men to defend the women and children in the fort. 2. uphold, maintain: She tried to defend her son's behavior, but everyone knew he had been wrong. ant. attack.

defense n. 1. protection, resistance: Until only recently, man was unable to provide defense against certain diseases. 2. trench, bulwark, fortification, fort, barricade, rampart, fortress: The orange crates were no defense against the oncoming tanks.

defer vb. delay, put off, postpone: If you have to leave tomorrow afternoon, how can we defer the decision until tomorrow night? ant. hurry, expedite, speed.

defiant adj. antagonistic, obstinate, rebellious. The students were defiant when told that the sports program would be eliminated. ant. submissive, yielding.

defile vb. corrupt, pollute, debase: Our drinking water has been defiled by the sewage from the town up the river. ant. purify.

define vb. 1. explain; designate, name, label: This dictionary defines words very thoroughly. 2. limit, fix, mark off, set off, distinguish: I could see his outline defined against the windowshade.

definite adj. 1. certain, sure, positive, determined: Our plans for Christmas are definite—we're having dinner at your house. 2. clear, sharp, distinct, obvious, plain: There, in the stone, was the definite outline of a dinosaur's foot. ant. indefinite, undetermined.

definitely adv. positively, absolutely, certainly, surely, assuredly: You must definitely visit the dentist this week.

definition n. meaning, sense, explanation, interpretation: That old dictionary doesn't contain a definition for "jet" engine because it hadn't been invented when it was published.

deft adj. adept, handy, clever, adroit, dexterous, skilled, skillful: Making a deft turn at high speed, the driver narrowly missed the oncoming car. ant. inept, maladroit, clumsy, awkward.

defunct adj. dead, extinct, expired: The regulation requiring every home to have blackout curtains is now defunct.

defy vb. challenge, oppose, dare, flout: It is very rude of you to defy your parents' orders about staying out late. ant. yield, submit, surrender.

degrade vb. downgrade, lower, reduce, demote, depose: The official felt that being stripped of all his authority was a degrading experience.

deign vb. stoop, condescend: After the way she treated him, I am surprised he would deign to talk to her.

dejected adj. depressed, unhappy, disheartened, discouraged, downhearted, sad: You shouldn't be dejected about missing the movie—it will come around again. ant. happy, cheerful, optimistic.

delay vb. 1. postpone, put off, defer: Mail delivery was delayed for three days over the Christmas holidays. 2. slow, hinder, retard; pause, hesitate: Let's delay our decision about swimming until we hear the weather report. When you hear the fire alarm, line up in the corridors and don't delay. n. slowdown, postponement: During the strike, there was a three-week delay in the delivery of fresh produce. ant. vb. hasten, forward, advance.

delegate n. ambassador, emissary, representative, envoy: Three universities sent delegates to the convention. vb. appoint, deputize, commission, authorize: I was delegated to ask the teacher whether the class could have a party.

delete vb. cancel, erase, remove, cross out: The military censors deleted so much from my brother's letter that I could no longer understand what he had written. ant. add.

deleterious adj. harmful, injurious, hurtful, baleful; detrimental, damaging, destructive: Smoking can be deleterious to your health. ant. healthy, healthful; constructive, helpful, beneficial.

deliberate adj. 1. purposeful, intentional, studied, considered, planned, calculated, premeditated: I believe that there was a deliberate effort to set fire to the house. 2. slow, methodical, careful: The old man's deliberate walk was recognized by all who knew him. vb. weigh, judge, consider, reflect: We deliberated for a long time before deciding what we would give to our teacher for a wedding present. ant. adj. 1. accidental, unintentional, unplanned.

delicate adj. 1. dainty, fine, fragile, frail: The delicate cobwebs sparkled in the morning dew. 2. frail, weak, precarious: For a month after his operation, my uncle was in delicate health, but he's fine now. 3. sensitive, critical, demanding: The situation between Greece and Turkey has always been delicate. ant. 1. clumsy, heavy-handed, coarse. 2. hale, hearty, strong.

delicious adj. savory, delectable, appetizing, luscious: This clam chowder is the most delicious I've ever eaten. ant. unpleasant, unpalatable.

delight n. pleasure, joy, enjoyment: He is a loving father and takes great delight in his children. Why do you take delight in teasing me all the time? vb. please, entertain, satisfy: Nothing delights me more than your telling me that you are happy. ant. n. revulsion, disgust, displeasure. vb. displease, revolt, disgust.

delightful adj. charming, pleasing, refreshing, pleasant, pleasurable: Having a picnic on the beach can be a delightful experience. ant. disagreeable, unpleasant, nasty.

deliver vb. 1. transport, carry, convey: Each year, on my friends' birthdays, I deliver gifts to them. 2. present, give, offer, address: Yesterday my father was to have delivered a speech to 400 people. 3. liberate, set free, release, save: The Emancipation Proclamation delivered the blacks from slavery in America. ant. 3. confine, imprison, enslave.

deluge n. flood, overflow: There was a deluge of fan mail for the new rock star. vb. flood, overflow: The singer was so bad that the audience deluged him with tomatoes and eggs.

delusion n. fantasy, illusion, phantasm: Philip has delusions of grandeur thinking he's Napoleon!

demand vb. 1. request, call for, ask for, claim: I demanded my rights. 2. challenge, command, charge, direct: The teacher demanded that the noisy children leave the room. 3. require, need: This night job demands more than I expected. n. 1. request, claim: Women's demands for voting rights equal to men's were a long time being met. 2. requirement, obligation: This job puts too many demands on my free time. 3. market, interest, call: There isn't very much demand for buggy whips anymore. ant. vb. 1. relinquish, waive.

● demented adj. mad, insane, crazy, mental, lunatic, psychotic: Hitler's demented view of the world has been fully described.

demolish vb. destroy, ruin, raze, devastate: The wrecking crew demolished the building in two hours—only a heap of stones remained. ant. build, construct, erect.

demolition n. destruction, wrecking: The demolition of the old railway station was accomplished by a charge of dynamite. ant. construction, erection.

demonstrate vb. 1. show, exhibit, prove: The science teacher demonstrated how water could be made to run uphill. 2. explain, describe, illustrate: The simple screw demonstrates an application of the principle of the inclined plane. 3. display, exhibit: We demonstrated in front of Town Hall.

demonstration n. 1. show, exhibition, exhibit, presentation, display: There was a demonstration at the planetarium that showed how the planets revolve around the sun. 2. protest, march, rally: The police scattered the demonstration in front of the White House.

demure adj. modest, shy, meek, diffident, bashful, retiring, coy: In Victorian times, demure young ladies were always escorted by a member of the family when a young man came to visit. ant. brash, forward.

den n. lair, cave, cavern: Bears spend the winter hibernating in their dens.

denial n. refusal, disallowance, rejection, proscription, prohibition: The company is being sued for the denial of employees' rights.

dense adj. thick, solid, packed, compact, crowded: On New Year's Eve, dense hordes of people pack into Times Square to wait for the midnight signal. ant. sparse, scanty.

deny vb. 1. contradict, confute, repudiate, gainsay, dispute: The suspect denied that he had taken the necklace from the case. 2. refuse, reject, disallow: You can't deny me the right to answer your charge. ant. 1. admit, concede, confess. 2. allow, permit.

depart vb. leave, go, withdraw: The train doesn't depart until ten o'clock, so we have time for dinner. ant. arrive, come.

depend vb. 1. rely on, confide in, trust: We are all depending on Samantha to win the swimming race. 1. be dependent on, be contingent on, rest on or upon: Whether we win or not will depend on the total score.

deposit vb. 1. put, place, put down: Our mail is deposited in the box in front of our house every day. 2. save, bank, store: No matter how little money you have, you should get into the habit of depositing some in the bank regularly. n. 1. sediment, lees, dregs: This wine throws a deposit, so you must decant it before serving. 2. addition, entry: Please make this bank deposit for me when you go downtown. ant. vb. withdraw. n. 2. withdrawal.

deprecate vb. belittle, depreciate, minimize, disparage: You needn't deprecate something just because you don't understand it. ant. praise, applaud.

depress vb. 1. dispirit, dishearten, discourage, dampen: Paul was depressed for three days after losing the championship match. 2. devalue, devaluate, cheapen: The dollar was depressed yesterday on the international money market. ant. 1. cheer, exhilarate, exalt.

depression n. 1. cavity, dip, hole, pothole, dent: All that remained of the flying saucer was a smoking depression in the ground where it had stood. 2. despair, gloom, melancholy, sorrow, sadness, hopelessness: My mother went into a period of depression after my brother broke his arm. 3. decline, recession, hard times: Some people thought that the business depression of the 1970s would be worse than that of 1929. ant. 1. elevation, eminence. 2. elation, happiness. 3. boom.

deprive vb. deny, strip; bereave: When a person is sent to prison, he is deprived of his rights as a citizen. ant. supply, provide, provision.

depth n. deepness, profundity: The depth of that oil well is more than three miles. That last book I read was lacking in depth. ant. height, tallness, loftiness.

deputy n. assistant, lieutenant, aide, delegate: The manager turned over all the responsibility to his deputy.

deranged adj. mad, insane, demented, lunatic, crazy, daft, psychotic: There is no telling what Richard will do in his present deranged condition.

derelict adj. 1. dilapidated, decrepit, neglected, shabby; deserted, abandoned, forsaken. 2. negligent, remiss, neglectful, lax, dilatory: Abner has been derelict in his duties of caring for his aged aunt. n. tramp, vagabond, hobo, beggar: On cold winter nights the derelicts huddle over the subway grating.

derive vb. receive, obtain, get, acquire: Mr. Thomas derives an income from the sale of petrified prickly pears.

descend vb. move lower, climb down: We descended from the rock with the aid of ropes. ant. ascend, climb.

descendant n. progeny, child, offspring, issue: She has to tell everyone that she is a descendant of someone who landed at Plymouth in the Mayflower.

describe vb. portray, characterize, picture, narrate, relate, recount, represent: I wish you would describe what happened at the campground that day.

description n. account, narration, report, record: A description of the suspect omitted the fact that he was only three feet tall.

desert¹ n. waste, wasteland, wilderness: It may some day be necessary to irrigate the deserts to provide more farmland. adj. wild, barren, uninhabited: Robinson Crusoe was cast ashore on a desert island.

desert² vb. abandon, leave, forsake, quit: When the cat de- serted her kittens, our dog adopted them and took care of them. ant. join, accompany.

deserter n. fugitive, runaway, defector, renegade: In time of war, deserters from the armed forces were shot by a firing squad. ant. loyalist.

deserts n. pl. due, right, reward; compensation, requital; fitting, condign, or just punishment: Victor got his just deserts for behaving so badly.

deserve vb. earn, merit, be worthy of, warrant: Some people believe that no matter what you do, good or bad, you get what you deserve in the long run.

design vb. 1. plan, intend, scheme, plot: The trapdoor was designed to open if anyone tried to open the jewel case. 2. create, originate: My sister designs clothes for a large manufacturer in Paris. n. 1. pattern, plan, blueprint, sketch: These designs for the new monument were copied from old books. 2. meaning, intention, purpose, end, aim: Veronica's design for the future did not include Harry as her husband.

designate vb. 1. point out, point at, indicate, denote, specify: The farmer designated the correct road on the map. 2. appoint, name, assign, select, nominate: The club designated me as treasurer for the coming year.

desirable adj. wanted, sought-after, wished-for, coveted: Honesty is a desirable characteristic of anyone. ant. unattractive, repellent.

desire vb. 1. crave, long for, want, covet: What I desire most of all right now is a delicious, nutty, caramel-flavored candy bar. 2. ask, request: If you pick up the phone, just tell the maid who answers what you desire. n. need, longing, want, craving, wish: The magician said he could satisfy every one of Harvey's desires. ant. vb. 1. loathe, abhor, detest.

desist vb. (usually followed by from) cease, stop: Please desist from calling me names in front of my mother. ant. persist, continue.

desolate adj. 1. deserted, empty, lonely: During the winter, the beach was desolate. 2. miserable, sad, unhappy, wretched: When you're away from me I am just desolate. ant. 1. crowded, populous, teeming. 2. cheerful, happy.

despair n. hopelessness, desperation, discouragement: When the hundredth experiment resulted in failure, the research staff was in deep despair. vb. lose heart, lose hope: When I lost my watch while boating on the lake, I despaired of ever seeing it again. ant. n. joy, hope, optimism.

desperado n. gangster, criminal, thug, hoodlum, crook: The posse finally cornered the desperado in the canyon.

desperate adj. despairing, hopeless, reckless: The escaped murderers were desperate men who would stop at nothing to avoid capture. ant. calm, collected.

despicable adj. mean, base, low, contemptible, worthless: Beating any animal is a despicable thing to do. ant. admirable, honorable, worthy.

despise vb. scorn, dislike, disdain, condemn: All those who knew he had betrayed his country despised him. ant. admire, like, honor.

despite prep. notwithstanding, regardless of, in spite of, even with: Despite his poverty, Abraham Lincoln became an educated man.

destiny n. fate, fortune, lot: I guess it was not my destiny to become a famous writer.

destitute adj. poverty-stricken, poor, indigent, penurious, impoverished, needy, hard up: The family was so destitute they couldn't even afford a loaf of bread. ant. wealthy, rich.

destroy vb. 1. ruin, demolish, raze, waste: These trees were destroyed by disease. 2. kill, slay, end, extinguish: When I saw the train pulling out of the station, my vacation plans were destroyed. ant. 1. create, start, undertake.

destruction n. devastation, demolition, ruin, extinction: With the destruction of the old theater went memories of happy times spent there. ant. creation, beginning.

detach vb. separate, disengage, divide: The engine was detached from the rest of the train, which hurtled down the steep track at 100 miles per hour. ant. attack, connect, hitch.

detain vb. delay, restrain, hold back, stay, retard: The customs inspectors detained the young man for three hours because they suspected he was smuggling. ant. forward, hurry, rush.

detect vb. determine, discover, ascertain, learn, find out: I detected something suspicious about Carolyn's behavior yesterday.

determine vb. 1. decide, settle, resolve: It was only a few minutes to determine who had eaten the candy—he had chocolate all over his chin. 2. fix, establish, define: I wasn't able to determine exactly where my property ended and my neighbor's began.

detest vb. despise, hate, loathe: I detest fried squash. ant. like, love, appreciate, savor.

detriment n. harm, damage, injury, disadvantage: To his detriment, it must be said that he allowed the prisoners to be tortured. ant. benefit.

develop vb. 1. grow, expand, enlarge, advance, mature: Anne has developed from a child into a beautiful, charming young lady. 2. reveal, become known, unfold: It developed that Chris hadn't gone to the dance at all. ant. 1. deteriorate, degenerate.

device n. 1. machine, tool, utensil, instrument: What kind of device could have been used to pick the lock to this door? 2. gadget, contrivance, (slang) whatcha: That thing with seven wheels, a sail, two steam engines, and a horse is a strange device!

devilish adj. diabolical, diabolic, fiendish, satanic, demonic: The students hatched a devilish plot to discredit the teacher.

devise vb. invent, create, originate, concoct: After much thought, the boys devised a clever plan for escape from the cave where they had been trapped.

devote vb. apply, dedicate, give: With eleven children, how could my mother devote a lot of time to each one? ant. relinquish, withdraw, withhold, ignore.

devotion n. attachment, affection, adherence, loyalty, love, fondness, liking, regard: The dog's devotion to his master was matched by the master's devotion to his dog.

devour vb. gorge, gulp: After working all day, Jim would come home and devour a huge dinner.

devout adj. religious, pious, devoted: I am a devout believer in treating others the way I'd want them to treat me. ant. indifferent, scornful.

dexterous adj. adroit, deft, clever, handy, facile, skilled, skillful, proficient: I like the dexterous way you handle the airplane. ant. clumsy, awkward.

diabolic adj. See devilish.

dialogue n. conversation, talk, discussion, exchange: The dialogue in the second chapter of the novel is not realistic.

dicker vb. bargain, haggle, negotiate: We dickered for a while and the builder finally reduced the price by twenty percent.

dictate vb. 1. speak, deliver, record: If he dictates too fast, I cannot take it down in shorthand. 2. order, command, direct: The general dictated the conditions under which he would accept a surrender.

dictator n. tyrant, despot, overlord: A dictator decides what he wants the people to have and to do, and they can say nothing about it.

die vb. 1. debase, perish, expire, go, pass away: Because of the advances in medicine, people aren't dying until they are much older. 2. decrease, diminish, fade, sink, decline, wither, wane, fail: The candle, like the roses in the vase, is dying. ant. 2. flourish, grow.

difference n. disagreement, inequality, contrast: There is a difference between the way men and women regard the same things. ant. similarity, likeness, kinship, compatibility.

different adj. 1. unlike, unlike, differing, changed: You and your sister are as different as can be. 2. various, miscellaneous: There are fifteen different flavors of ice cream to choose from. ant. 1. similar, alike, identical.

differentiate vb. distinguish, separate: I know so little about plants that I can't differentiate one flower from another.

difficult adj. 1. hard: Handling a horse-drawn plow is difficult. 2. intricate, complicated, obscure: That college textbook is much too difficult for a child to understand. ant. 1. easy. 2. simple.

difficulty n. 1. hardship, trouble: Getting a good job after school can be a difficulty these days. 2. predicament, fix, trouble: Barbie got herself into some difficulty at school last week. ant. 1. ease.

diffident adj. See demure.

diffuse adj. scattered, spread, dispersed, sparse, scanty, meagre, thin, rare: Talent was so diffuse in those days that we had to search high and low to find someone who could paint the fresco. ant. concentrated.

dig vb. 1. excavate, burrow, scoop out: The men dug a hole in which to bury the treasure. 2. (Slang) understand; appreciate: All the kids I know really dig cool rock music.

digest vb. 1. eat, consume: After a huge meal, some snakes spend days digesting their food. 2. study, consider, reflect on: Give me a few minutes to digest the teacher's remarks before replying. 3. summarize, shorten, abridge: How can you digest the Bible into such a small book? n. summary, abridgment, abstract, synopsis, précis: Why should anyone want to read digests of great authors' books when the real pleasure comes from reading the originals?

dignified adj. noble, serious, stately, solemn, elegant: The dignified procession to the throne was led by the queen.

dignify vb. elevate, honor: My uncle was dignified by the grand reception given for him in London. ant. humiliate, degrade, shame.

- dignity n. distinction, stateliness, bearing: The dignity with which the old man conducted himself won everybody's respect.
- dim adj. unclear, faint, shadowy, vague: I could hardly make out the dim outline of the house in the fog. ant. bright, brilliant. vb. obscure, dull, darken: The houselights were dimmed as the curtain went up for the last act of the play. ant. brighten, illuminate.
- dimension n. measure, size, extent; importance: The dimension of the room did not leave much space for a large chest of drawers. After winning the scholarship, Patrick assumed a new dimension in his friends' eyes.
- diminish vb. lessen, shrink, reduce, wane: Without water, the plant diminished to the size of a toothpick. When the new government came into power, the senator's importance diminished to practically nothing. ant. enlarge, increase, wax.
- diminutive adj. little, small, tiny, wee, minute: At the side of the road, sitting on a fallen tree, was a diminutive green man playing a golden harp. ant. big, large, great, huge, gigantic.
- dine vb. eat, feast, lunch, sup: We dined on steak and kidney pie.
- dingy adj. dark, murky, drab, dull, dismal, dreary: After giving the dingy old basement a fresh coat of paint, it became a cheerful space we could use. ant. bright, cheerful.
- dip vb. plunge, immerse, submerge, wet: Dip the burning stick into the water to make sure it's out. n. plunge, swim: I like to take a dip in the pool before breakfast.
- diplomatic adj. polite, tactful, gracious, discreet. It was very diplomatic of him not to mention the huge spot on her skirt. ant. impolite, rude, thoughtless, ungracious.
- dire adj. dreadful, grievous, terrible, terrifying, frightful, harrowing, fearful, awful, horrible, horrifying, horrendous, monstrous: We were afraid that the colonel would carry out his dire threats to have us all tortured. ant. delightful, pleasant, wonderful.
- direct vb. 1. command, manage, control, regulate: The new president directed the company through one of its most profitable periods. 2. aim, sight, point, level: Completely frustrated, Betty directed her gaze skyward as if in appeal to a higher power. 3. indicate, guide, conduct, show: Please direct me to the nearest police station. adj. 1. straight, unswerving: When my son comes home after school, he makes a direct beeline to the kitchen for cookies and milk. 2. plain, straightforward, frank, sincere, earnest: Please

- stop delaying and give me a direct, honest answer to my question.* ant. adj. 1. crooked, indirect, swerving. 2. dishonest, untruthful.
- direction n. 1. way, route: After all I had told her, she drove off in the wrong direction. 2. management, guidance, supervision: Under her direction, the school became one of the best in the country.
- directly adv. straight, immediately, at once: Go Directly to Jail. Do Not Pass Go. Do Not Collect $200.
- dirt n. soil, filth, pollution, filthiness: No matter how you try to keep them apart, kids and dirt seem always to go together. ant. cleanness, cleanliness.
- dirty adj. soiled, unclean, filthy, polluted: I wouldn't drink that dirty water if I were you. Have you heard the story of the dirty shirt? Ha! That's one on you! ant. clean, spotless, pure. vb. soil, foul, befoul, spot, pollute: The town's drinking water was dirtied by the drains from the chemical-company plant. ant. clean, cleanse, purify.
- disability n. incapacity, unfitness, injury: His disability kept him from going to work for a whole year.
- disable vb. cripple, incapacitate, weaken: My grandfather was disabled in the First World War. ant. strengthen.
- disadvantage n. 1. inconvenience, drawback: The only disadvantage of my new job is that I have to get up at 5 o'clock. 2. handicap, hindrance, obstacle: Her disadvantage is that she cannot type. ant. benefit, advantage, convenience.
- disappear vb. vanish; end: In the twinkling of an eye the fairy disappeared and was never seen again. Horsecars have disappeared from the streets of American cities. ant. appear, emerge.
- disappoint vb. fail, dissatisfy; mislead: I always seemed to disappoint my mother when she saw my report card. ant. satisfy, please, gratify.
- disappointment n. defeat, dissatisfaction, failure, discouragement: I can't tell you the disappointment I felt when I arrived after a week's journey to find my father away on a vacation. ant. satisfaction, pleasure, gratification.
- disaster n. calamity, misfortune, accident, catastrophe: Three hundred people were killed in the train disaster last week. It was a disaster when mother burned the turkey last Thanksgiving.
- disbelief n. incredulity; doubt, skepticism: The politician's campaign promises were greeted with disbelief by those who knew him. ant. credulity; certainty.

discern vb. see, distinguish, recognize, differentiate, perceive: Coming up the road in the snowstorm, we could discern the men who were to rescue us. I discern your meaning now that you have explained more fully.

discernment n. intelligence, perception, perspicacity, perception, percipience, acuity, sharpness, keenness: It was plain to see from her art collection that Phoebe was a lady of some discernment. ant. stupidity, dullness.

discharge vb. 1. relieve, unload, unburden: Marie's responsibilities were not discharged, until she finished washing the dishes. 2. fire, shoot: The rabbit ran off into the woods when the gun discharged. 3. let go, dismiss: When business got bad, three of us were discharged from our jobs. ant. 3. employ, hire, enlist. n. 1. explosion, firing, detonation: The sudden discharge of the gun made me jump. 2. release, liberation; dismissal: My father's discharge from the navy became final this week. ant. 2. enlistment.

disciple n. follower, supporter; student; pupil: Plato was a disciple of Socrates. ant. leader, guide.

discipline n. 1. training, practice, exercise drill: If you want to do well in sports, you must follow a strict discipline. Discipline in the armed services is not as severe as it once was. 2. order, control, regulation: A neatly written paper shows good discipline. vb. 1. train, control, drill, teach: Your puppy will make a better pet if you discipline him properly. 2. punish, correct, chastise: In the old days, parents disciplined their children much more strictly than they do now. ant. n. 2. carelessness, negligence, sloppiness, messiness.

disclose vb. reveal, show, expose, uncover: When the curtain was drawn back, a white mouse on a golden chain was disclosed, dancing on the tiny stage. ant. hide, disguise, mask, conceal.

discomfit vb. confuse, perplex, baffle, ruffle, disconcert: I was quite discomfited by his constantly staring at my shoes.

discomfort n. anxiety, malaise, uneasiness, concern: I hope that the committee's giving you third prize will not cause you any discomfort.

disconcerted adj. agitated, uncomfortable, ill-at-ease, disturbed, upset: Herbert was quite disconcerted to learn the police were looking for him.

disconnect vb. separate, divide, unhook, detach, disengage: The engineer disconnected the engine from the freight cars. ant. connect, engage, attach, bind, unify.

disconsolate adj. sad, dejected, unhappy, morose, wretched, miserable, depressed, melancholy: Ruth was disconsolate at finding that her cat had been killed by a car. ant. happy, delightful, cheerful.

discontent adj. unhappy, displeased, dissatisfied, disgruntled, vexed: The members were quite discontent with the recommendations of the wine committee. ant. happy, content, pleased.

discontinue vb. cease, end, stop; interrupt: I have discontinued my subscriptions to all magazines for the time being. ant. begin, start, launch, initiate.

discord n. conflict, disagreement: Let us hope that with the new Congress, there will be less discord among the branches of the government. ant. agreement, accord, concord.

discourage vb. dispirit, dishearten, depress: Poor grades in school can be discouraging, especially when you've worked so hard. ant. encourage, inspire, inspirit.

discover vb. find; learn, find out, ascertain, determine: It wasn't until I went to work that I discovered how important school is. I can't remember the name of the explorer who discovered the Mississippi. ant. conceal, hide.

discreet adj. tactful, judicious, prudent, wise; cautious, careful: You should be discreet and not talk about family arguments to others. ant. careless, incautious, tactless, indiscreet, imprudent.

discrimination n. prejudice, racism, bias, intolerance, bigotry: After they passed the law against discrimination, people were hired on the basis of their skills.

discuss vb. talk about, deliberate, consider: My father and I discussed what kind of job I might get for the summer.

discussion n. talk, conversation, dialogue, conference: The principal phoned my mother to arrange for a discussion of my behavior.

disdain vb. scorn, reject: She disdains the way her sister dresses. ant. admire, respect, esteem, prize. n. scorn, contempt, haughtiness: He treats everyone who has less money than he with disdain. ant. admiration, respect, honor.

disdainful adj. scornful, contemptuous, haughty, arrogant: You shouldn't be disdainful of those who are less well off than you. ant. admiring, awed, regardful.

disease n. illness, sickness, affliction, ailment, complaint, disorder, malady, infirmity: It wasn't until the nineteenth century that scientists understood that disease could come from germs.

disentangle vb. unravel, unwind, clear, unknot, untie, untangle, unsnarl: It took almost an hour to disentangle the wires.

disfigured adj. defaced, deformed, scarred, marred: Luckily, Betty's face was not disfigured in the car crash.

disgrace n. shame, dishonor, embarrassment: Tim had to live with the disgrace of having been caught cheating. ant. honor, esteem, vb. shame, dishonor, embarrass, humiliate: The army deserter was told that he had disgraced his uniform and his country. ant. honor, respect.

disguise vb. mask, hide, screen, conceal, camouflage: The detective disguised himself as a woman and waited in the street for the robber to attack. ant. reveal, display, show. n. mask, coverup, makeup: In her disguise as a flower girl, no one could recognize the bank president at the party.

disgust vb. nauseate, sicken; offend, revolt, repulse: The sight of an operation disgusts me. n. distaste, nausea; aversion, revulsion: The dead horse filled him with disgust. ant. n. liking, admiration.

disgusting adj. revolting, repulsive, nauseous, nauseating, repugnant: I thought that the horror show was too disgusting for children to see. ant. attractive, appealing.

dishonest adj. corrupt, false, thievish: The politicians in America are often tempted to be dishonest, but very few really are. ant. honest, straightforward, upright.

dishonor n. shame, disgrace, obloquy, loss of face, indignity, defamation: The students who had been caught cheating had to face the dishonor of having their names read aloud in the assembly.

disinclined adj. reluctant, unwilling, loath: We were disinclined to join those who went swimming in the freezing water.

disingenuous adj. deceitful, dishonest, tricky, underhanded, artful, insidious, scheming, cunning, crafty, shifty: You may think the investment group is completely honest, but I think they are disingenuous and will take all your money.

disinterested adj. neutral, unbiased, impartial, open-minded, unprejudiced: As she had nothing to gain or lose, Nicky took a disinterested view of the entire argument.

disloyal adj. faithless, unfaithful, untrue, false: Peter became a double agent and was thus disloyal to both of the countries he served.

dismal adj. gloomy, sorrowful, depressing, melancholy, dreary, somber: The dismal winter weather made us yearn for a vacation in the Caribbean. ant. cheerful, happy, charming, lighthearted.

dismay vb. scare, frighten, alarm; discourage, dishearten: We were dismayed to learn that the only roads to town were buried by the avalanche. ant. hearten, encourage. n. fear, terror, horror, dread: You can imagine the neighbors' dismay when the poisonous snake escaped.

dismiss vb. discharge, release, let go, liberate: The teacher dismissed the class early before the holidays. ant. engage, employ, hire.

disorder n. confusion, turmoil, tumult, chaos: My older sister always leaves her room in terrible disorder. ant. order, neatness, organization.

disown vb. 1. repudiate, deny, reject, renounce, forsake: Harry disowned any responsibility for having lost the house key. 2. disinherit: Lord Gastleigh disowned all his children and left all of his money to Columbus, his parakeet.

disparaging adj. discrediting, belittling, deprecating, deprecatory, depreciating, denigrating, defamatory: There was no justification for your disparaging remarks about Alexandra's hat.

dispassionate adj. cool, calm, composed, unemotional, imperturbable, controlled: The judge rendered a dispassionate decision, awarding libel damages to the plaintiff.

dispatch vb. 1. send off or away: I dispatched the letter the very same day the request came. 2. conclude, achieve, finish: I had only one more thing to do and dispatched that as quickly as I could. n. 1. message, report, communication, communiqué: The dispatch from the front lines said that our troops were advancing. 2. speed, promptness, quickness, swiftness: My next visitor is a bore, and I shall get rid of him with dispatch. ant. n. 2. slowness, reluctance, hesitancy.

disperse vb. distribute, apportion, give out: There is now a vending machine that dispenses hot soup. At Christmas, the president dispenses the bonus checks himself.

disperse vb. scatter, spread (out), separate: The seeds of many plants are dispersed by the wind. ant. gather, collect, assemble.

dispirited adj. dejected, downhearted, disheartened, unhappy, sad, melancholy, depressed, morose: Alan gave a dispirited response to his father's rebuke. ant. happy, cheerful, optimistic.

display vb. 1. exhibit, show, demonstrate: There are strict rules about how the American flag should be displayed. 2. reveal, uncover, show: Many people display their lack of knowledge as soon as they start talking. n. showing, exhibit, exhibition, demonstration: I have never seen such a display of patriotism as during the parade. ant. vb. 2. disguise, hide, conceal, cover.

displeasure n. dissatisfaction, dislike, distaste, disapproval, discontentment: The audience expressed their displeasure by shouting, loud hoots, hisses, and catcalls.

dispose vb. arrange, settle; adjust: The town council disposed of the question of which Christmas decorations to buy by agreeing to have none at all.

disposition n. nature, character, temperament, personality: Suzie has such a sweet disposition that you can't help liking her.

dispossess vb. evict, dislodge, eject, oust, throw out, expel: Ulrika was dispossessed for nonpayment of rent.

disprove vb. invalidate, refute, controvert, deny: The lawyer disproved the evidence of the witness by showing that he could not have been present at the time stated.

dispute vb. 1. argue, debate, quarrel, contest: How can you dispute my statement that my birthday is March twenty-first? 2. oppose, deny, contradict: Disputing the wisdom of the new law, the President vetoed the bill. n. argument, quarrel, debate, controversy: There was a dispute at the door about whether the tickets were valid or not. ant. vb. agree, concur. n. agreement, accord, concurrence.

disregard vb. ignore, overlook, neglect: In hiring people, employers must learn to disregard race, color, creed, and sex and to consider only character and qualifications. n. inattention, neglect, oversight: The policeman jumped into the icy stream with total disregard for his own safety.

disrepair n. dilapidation, ruin, shambles, decay, destruction: The building was in a state of disrepair owing to neglect.

disreputable adj. dishonorable, dishonored, disgraced, infamous, notorious: Because of his escapades, the iceman was considered the most disreputable person in the town.

disrespectful adj. rude, impudent, fresh, impolite, impertinent; cheeky: You must learn not to be disrespectful to adults. ant. respectful, polite, courteous.

disseminate vb. spread, publish, publicize, circulate, broadcast, promulgate: The editor was charged with disseminating false information.

dissent n. disagreement, opposition, repudiation: Five members of the council registered their dissent by voting against the plan.

dissertation n. treatise, thesis, disquisition: As a postgraduate student, Charles had written a long dissertation on the energy expended by a flea when jumping.

distant adj. remote, far, afar, away, separated: A star that looks larger in the sky may, in fact, be more distant than one that looks smaller. Man developed from lower animals at some distant point in time. ant. near, close.

distasteful adj. unpleasant, disagreeable, objectionable: The judge thought it distasteful to sentence a 95-year-old lady to prison for stealing a loaf of bread.

distinct adj. 1. individual, separate, different: In nature, each species is distinct from every other, even though some may seem alike. 2. clear, definite, obvious, plain: I have a distinct recollection that you promised to take me to the movies. ant. 2. indistinct, vague, uncertain, obscure.

distinction n. 1. honor, renown, fame, repute, prominence, importance: It is a great distinction to be selected a winner of the Nobel prize. 2. difference; characteristic: Until a child is taught what they mean, he is unable to make a distinction between right and wrong.

distinguish vb. 1. separate, divide, differentiate, classify: It is hard for anyone but the specialist to distinguish one seashell from another. 2. perceive, discern, recognize: Even at that great distance I was able to distinguish George in the crowd. ant. 1. blend, join, confuse.

distinguished adj. renowned, famous, honored, eminent, illustrious, noted, important, celebrated: Suzanne's father is a distinguished scientist who has won many prizes. ant. obscure, unknown, undistinguished.

distract vb. 1. divert, occupy: I always found the radio too distracting when I was trying to do my homework. 2. confuse, bewilder: Penny seemed distracted and unable to concentrate on what I was saying. ant. 2. concentrate, focus.

distraction n. amusement, entertainment, diversion; confusion: After studying for days for examinations, Jonathan felt he needed some distraction and went to the movies.

distress n. 1. anguish, trouble, anxiety, worry, wretchedness; pain: Maggie caused her mother great distress whenever she stayed out late at night. 2. danger, peril; disaster: The small boat was in distress because of the storm. vb. worry, trouble, grieve, make wretched: Bill was distressed to learn that the school principal had written to his father. ant. n. 1. happiness, tranquillity, peacefulness. vb. please, charm, satisfy.

distribute vb. share, deal, dispense, issue, dole, mete out, allocate, apportion: The Salvation Army distributes food and clothing among the poor. ant. collect, gather, assemble.

district n. region, area, neighborhood, section: These days, many children are taken by bus from the neighborhoods where they live to schools in distant districts.

distrust vb. suspect, doubt, mistrust: The bank manager distrusted the new teller. n. suspicion, doubt, mistrust: A good relationship between people must be founded on confidence, without distrust. ant. vb. trust. n. trust, confidence.

disturb vb. 1. annoy, bother, vex: Please don't disturb me when I am practicing on the piano. 2. worry, trouble: Even though the doctor said you were fine, the condition of your cold disturbs me. ant. calm, pacify.

disturbance n. 1. commotion, disorder, confusion: The marchers in the street caused quite a disturbance in the traffic. 2. disorder, riot, brawl, fight: The police were called to control a disturbance between the political clubs. ant. calm, serenity, tranquillity.

disturbed adj. psychoneurotic, neurotic, psychotic, psychopathic, unbalanced: Bingo was committed to a home for disturbed children. ant. normal.

diverge vb. branch off, separate, fork: The road diverges when it comes to the river. ant. join, converge, merge.

diversify vb.; alter, modify, change: The storekeepers must diversify their stock to keep up with changing demand.

diversion n. distraction, entertainment, amusement, sport, recreation: What do you do for diversion if you live in such a small town? ant. routine.

divert vb. 1. turn aside or away, deflect: The bullet was diverted when it struck the sheriff's badge, and he was unhurt. 2. amuse, entertain, distract: After a hard day's work, my father likes to be diverted by TV. ant. 2. bore, tire, weary.

divide vb. 1. separate, split, part, detach, sever, cleave: Divide that apple into six pieces so we can share it. 2. apportion, share, allot, allocate, distribute, deal or parcel or dole out: After the apple is cut up, we can divide it among the six of us. 3. disunite, split up, estrange: Disagreements about the rights of women divided the political party from the start. ant. 1. join, merge, combine. 2. gather, collect. 3. unite, unify.

division n. 1. separation, partition, sharing: In olden times, conquering soldiers were entitled to a division of the valuables in the cities and towns they captured. 2. section, part, segment, portion: My father fought in the 83rd Division during the war. ant. 1. agreement, union.

divulge vb. reveal, release, disclose, expose; admit: After careful questioning by his mother, George divulged that he had gone to the movies instead of to school. ant. conceal, hide.

dizzy adj. giddy, unsteady, light-headed: After the blow on the head, the detective was dizzy for more than two hours. ant. clearheaded, rational, unconfused.

do vb. 1. execute, enact, carry out, finish, conclude, effect: Success depends on everyone's doing his job the best he can. 2. accomplish, achieve, attain: Don't just talk about it, do it! vb. phr. do away with kill, murder, execute: The pirates did away with all those who refused to join them. do over 1. redo, rework, repeat: I think you ought to do your homework over again because of the ink blots. 2. redecorate, remodel: The Robinsons have done over their entire house. do up wrap (up), enclose, tie (up): This is a beautiful gift—all done up with a red ribbon!

doctrine n. teaching, teachings; dogma, belief, principle: The philosophy that developed during the eighteenth century was based on the doctrine that all men are created equal.

dodge vb. evade, elude, avoid; equivocate: The policeman ran, zigzag, down the street, trying to dodge the robber's bullets. Don't try to dodge the question—you know there's a lot of prejudice in the world.

dogmatic adj. authoritarian, domineering, overbearing, dictatorial, imperious, (informal) bossy: You mustn't be so dogmatic about things you know nothing about.

dole n. alms, relief, welfare: Don's father has been on the dole ever since he lost his job at the factory. vb. deal, distribute, mete out: The Red Cross doled out the food to the flood victims.

doleful adj. sorrowful, sad, unhappy, mournful, depressed, dejected, morose, melancholy, blue: The little boy had such a doleful expression on his face that we stopped to ask him what was wrong. ant. happy, cheerful, jovial.

domain n. realm, kingdom, empire, dominion; charge, dominion, jurisdiction, bailiwick: The island is part of the domain of King Frederick. Hiring staff is not within Rumble's domain.

domestic adj. 1. home-loving: I am really very domestic and like nothing better than a good book and comfortable chair by my own fireside. 2. native, home-grown, homemade: If you buy domestic products, you stimulate the economy of your own country. ant. 2. foreign, alien, outside.

domesticate vb. tame, train, teach; housebreak: Man didn't learn to domesticate wild animals until less than 10,000 years ago.

domicile n. home, residence, abode, dwelling: The bank refused us a mortgage on our domicile. vb. (usually passive) be resident in or at: I shall be domiciled abroad for tax purposes.

dominate vb. control, rule, govern, influence, manage, subjugate, tyrannize: Some women are completely dominated by their husbands.

dominion n. See domain.

donation n. gift, contribution, present, offering: Any time of the year is the right time to make a donation to charity.

doom n. 1. fate, destiny, fortune: The criminal had to wait till the judge passed sentence before learning his doom. 2. death, ruin, destruction: The entire regiment rode into the valley and to its doom. vb. 1. destine, predestine, ordain, foreordain; decree: The entire project is doomed to failure if you take that attitude. 2. sentence, condemn: The judge doomed the murderer to death by hanging.

doomed adj. destined, fated, foreordained, predestined: The Flying Dutchman was doomed to travel the high seas forever.

dote vb. (usually with on) treasure, indulge, coddle, spoil, pamper, mollycoddle: Mother always doted on Tessa because she was the youngest. ant. ignore.

doubt vb. distrust, mistrust, question, suspect: The detective doubted that Professor Twinkle had been home all evening after he noticed the mud on his shoes. n. 1. uncertainty, indecision, misgiving, skepticism, disbelief: I have my doubts about the truth of your story of being brought up by wolves. 2. indecision, hesitancy: When we saw the fox running away with the chicken between his jaws, we no longer had a doubt about the identity of the culprit. ant. vb. trust, believe. n. belief, trust, confidence, reliance.

doubtful adj. dubious, uncertain, questionable, unsettled, undetermined, unsure: The result of the race is doubtful until it's over. I am doubtful that I'll be able to go to the party. ant. certain, definite, sure, settled.

doubtless adv. undoubtedly, unquestionably, certainly, positively, assuredly: Doubtless, this has been the most difficult decision I have ever been faced with.

dowdy adj. untidy, messy, sloppy, unkempt, frowzy, shabby: You can't attend a royal audience looking so dowdy. ant. neat, natty.

downcast adj. dejected, sad, depressed, downhearted, discouraged, unhappy, dispirited, despondent, crestfallen: Janet has been so downcast since her puppy got lost, we ought to cheer her up. ant. cheerful, happy, lighthearted, encouraged.

downfall n. comedown, destruction: Dishonesty among his own staff contributed to the downfall of the crooked politician.

downgrade vb. lower, reduce, decrease, diminish; depreciate: Many more students have been admitted to colleges since the requirements were downgraded. ant. upgrade, improve, appreciate.

downhearted adj. sad, gloomy, depressed, downcast: You shouldn't be so downhearted about losing the game; you'll have another chance to win next week. ant. cheerful, happy, enthusiastic.

downpour n. deluge, cloudburst, flood: The Indians did their raindance, and everyone smiled at their innocent faith—and then came the downpour!

downright adv. completely, totally, absolutely, positively, definitely: Barbara is so downright stubborn that you won't change her mind.

drag vb. pull, draw, tow: Stop dragging that poor kitten about on a leash.

drain vb. 1. draw off, empty, tap: The man drained his glass in one gulp. The conservationists fight the draining of swamps and wetlands where birds, fish, and other wildlife breed. 2. exhaust, empty, sap, waste; milk: Your annoying manner drains me of all patience. n. tap, duct, channel, pipe: I pulled the stopper out of the sink and watched the water go down the drain. ant. vb. fill, fulfill.

drama n. play, piece, show, production: I am going to take courses in drama because I like the theater.

dramatist n. playwright: George Bernard Shaw was one of the most famous Irish dramatists.

draw vb. 1. sketch, trace, depict, picture: The artist drew an excellent likeness of Anne in only a few minutes. 2. drag, haul, tow, pull, tug: The oxen drew the heavy wagon up the muddy hill. 3. attract: The parade drew a large crowd to the arena where the circus was to take place. vb. phr. draw back withdraw, recoil, retreat: She drew back when she saw the box was full of snakes. draw on or upon employ, use: When you want to get something done properly, you must draw on all of your resources. draw up draft, prepare: Our lawyer drew up the documents for us to sign. ant. vb. 2. push, propel.

dread vb. fear: I used to dread being in that teacher's class. n. fear, terror, horror: Moriarty never overcame his dread of high places. ant. n. confidence, security.

dreadful adj. 1. awesome, inspiring, impressive, awe-inspiring: Some religions have dreadful gods. 2. terrible, awful, frightful, bad, horrible, outrageous: Simon had the most dreadful car accident. I saw a dreadful show on TV last night.

dream n. 1. reverie, daydream: I had a dream about you yesterday. 2. fantasy, hope, wish, fancy: His dreams of glory included landing on Mars and becoming a billionaire. vb. imagine, fantasize, invent, fancy: She dreams of becoming a Vogue model.

dreary adj. dismal, gloomy, cheerless, chilling, depressing: With unemployment at its height, my job prospects are pretty dreary right now. When it rains day after day in the country, life can seem dreary. ant. cheerful, hopeful, bright, encouraging.

drench vb. soak, wet, bathe; inundate: I was out in that drenching rain and caught a cold.

dress n. 1. gown, frock, costume: I like that low-cut dress on you. 2. attire, garb, wardrobe, clothing, garments, clothes, apparel; habit; livery: Will Nancy's party require everyone to wear evening dress? vb. 1. clothe, garb, don, wear, attire; robe: How are you going to dress for the masked ball? 2. prepare, treat, attend: The doctor dressed my cuts and bruises and I was almost as good as new. ant. vb. 1. undress, disrobe, strip.

drift vb. float, sail, wander: The empty boat drifted about in the current until it finally came to rest on the beach. n. tendency, intention, direction: In women's fashions there seems to be a drift toward repeating the styles of the 1930s and 1940s.

drifter n. tramp, vagabond, hobo: Two drifters came to the kitchen door for a handout.

drink vb. swallow, sip, gulp, imbibe: You shouldn't drink a lot of cold water when overheated from exercise. n. swallow, sip, gulp, beverage, potion, refreshment: There's nothing like a long, cool drink of plain, fresh water when you're thirsty.

drinker n. See drunk.

drip vb. drop, dribble, trickle: Can't you make that faucet stop dripping?

drive vb. 1. control, direct, run, handle: Do you know how to drive a car? 2. impel, propel, push, urge: I tried to reach the canoe but was driven back by the wind and the waves. n. 1. ride, journey, trip, outing, tour, run: On Sundays, we used to go for a drive in the wagon. 2. pressure, energy, urge, vigor, effort, force: Some people just have more drive than others.

droop vb. sag, sink, settle: The flag drooped without any wind to make it flutter. ant. straighten, rise.

drop vb. 1. drip, dribble, trickle: The rain ran down the roof and dropped into the barrel. 2. fall, tumble: At the sound of the first shot, the soldiers dropped to the ground. n. 1. droplet, gob, drip; trickle: There's a drop of rain right at the end of your nose. 2. reduction, fall, slump, slip, decline: I haven't noticed a drop in the price of gum. 3. speck, dab, scintilla: There's not one drop of evidence against her.

drove n. herd, flock: The drove of cattle was resting for the night.

drudgery n. toil, labor, travail: The pay is good at the factory, but the work is sheer drudgery.

drug n. medicine, remedy: There's a drug for almost everything today; whether it cures or not is another matter. vb. anesthetize, stupefy, numb, benumb: The doctor drugged me so I wouldn't feel the pain when he set my broken arm.

drugged adj. doped; stupefied, numb, numbed, benumbed, groggy, dazed: After the blow on the head, Ted staggered about like a drugged fool.

drunk adj. intoxicated, inebriated; soused, sozzled, drunken, besotted, grogged: Sonia was so drunk that we couldn't let her drive home. n. drunkard, sot, boozier, toper, wino, alcoholic, lush, dipsomaniac, rummy: Walter was a drunk till he joined our self-help group, and now he won't touch a drop of liquor. In most countries, drunks are forbidden to drive cars.

dry adj. 1. arid, dehydrated, waterless, parched: If you don't believe that the desert is dry, you've never been there. 2. dull, boring, tedious, tiresome: I found that educational program on lampshade making too dry to hold my interest. vb. dehydrate, desiccate: Partly dried plums are called prunes. ant. adj. 1. wet, soaked, moist. 2. interesting, attractive, fascinating.

due adj. 1. owing, payable, owed, unpaid: My rent is due at the end of the month. 2. expected, imminent: The ship was due yesterday.

dull adj. 1. boring, tiring, tiresome, uninteresting: Instead of seeing a movie on the history of piracy, we saw a dull one on how to grow rutabagas. 2. blunt, dulled: That knife is so dull it couldn't cut a banana. 3. slow, dumb, stupid, unimaginative: That fellow is the dumbest one in our class. 4. unfeeling, insensible, lifeless, dead: She's so dull that nothing interests her except eating and sleeping. ant. 1. fascinating, interesting, engaging. 2. sharp, keen. 3. bright, intelligent, quick. 4. alert, animated, spirited.

dumb adj. 1. dull, stupid, ignorant: Sadie is so dumb she failed every course in school. 2. speechless, mute: Some people who seem to be dumb are really only deaf. ant. 1. intelligent, bright, lucid, quick.

dumfounded adj. astonished, astounded, shocked, flabbergasted, stunned: Marty was dumfounded to learn that he had won the lottery.

dungeon n. prison, cell, jail, keep: The Count of Monte Cristo was kept in a dungeon for twenty years, after which he escaped.

duplicate vb. copy, replicate, reproduce: The mad doctor, who had created a flying baboon, wanted to duplicate his experiment on a human being. n. copy, clone, replica, facsimile, twin, double: This machine can produce a duplicate in less than five seconds.

durable adj. lasting, firm, enduring: You must use a durable paint on the outside of a boat. ant. perishable, unenduring, short-lived.

dutiful adj. faithful, obedient, docile: The big dog obeyed his young master like a dutiful pet. ant. willful, disobedient, headstrong, unruly.

duty n. 1. obligation, responsibility, conscience, faithfulness: It is every citizen's duty to report a crime when he sees one. 2. function, responsibility, part, assignment: Every person in this naval unit is expected to perform his duty no matter what the cost may be.

dwarf n. runt, midget: Only a dwarf could have crawled through that opening. vb. stunt, reduce, minimize: I'm more than six feet tall, but that basketball player dwarfed me easily. adj. dwarfish, tiny, minuscule: A dwarf apple tree gives large apples. ant. n. giant.

dwelling vb. reside, live, abide: Most people in cities dwell in apartment houses and not private homes.

dwelling n. residence, home, abode, house, domicile: These people built their dwellings on pilings over the surface of the lake.

dwindle vb. diminish, wane, lessen, decrease: Because their nesting sites were destroyed, the number of ospreys has dwindled almost to extinction. ant. increase, wax, gain, grow.

dynamic adj. energetic, active, vigorous, forceful, mighty, strenuous: Ernest is a dynamic salesman, and he was soon made sales manager. ant. listless; sleepy.

E

eager adj. keen, fervent, enthusiastic: I am very eager to go to the rodeo, but my mother won't let me go alone. ant. indifferent, uninterested, uninvolved.

earn vb. deserve, merit, win; realize, clear, net, collect: Virginia really earned her position as class president. How much do you earn per hour in your new job?

earnest adj. sincere, serious, determined, eager: Alan is so earnest about his studies that I know he will do well in school. ant. insincere, frivolous, indifferent.

earnings n. salary, wages, income, pay: This year, my earnings will be lower than last. ant. payments, expenses, expenditures.

earth n. 1. world, globe: The earth is about 93 million miles from the sun. 2. sod, turf, dirt, soil, ground: When planting tomatoes, make sure the earth is pressed firmly around the roots.

earthly adj. worldly, everyday, mundane: Earthly necessities cannot compare with the spiritual. ant. heavenly.

earthy adj. 1. earthen, earthlike: The earthy pots lay about the Indian campfire. 2. coarse, unrefined, crude, vulgar: The audience was shocked by the comedian's earthy humor. ant. 2. refined, elegant, tasteful.

ease n. 1. comfort, rest, relaxation, repose, contentment, contentedness: My father takes his ease on Sundays by watching football or baseball on TV. 2. naturalness, facility, skillfulness, cleverness: It is such a pleasure to watch the ease with which a master craftsman works. vb. comfort, relieve, alleviate, soothe; lighten, lessen, reduce: That liniment certainly helped ease the pains in my legs. If you'll ease up on the brake, we can let the car roll ahead a little. ant. n. 2. difficulty, trouble, effort. vb. aggravate, worsen, heighten, intensify.

easy adj. 1. simple, effortless: Preparing a dictionary is not as easy as it may seem. 2. comfortable, unhurried, leisurely: Because he was stationed in Washington during the war, my uncle had it pretty easy in the navy. ant. difficult, awkward, strenuous.

eat vb. 1. consume, chew, devour, swallow: Eat your spinach and you'll be as strong as Popeye. 2. dine, lunch, breakfast; feast: We eat at about seven o'clock in the evening, after my father returns from work.

ebb vb. recede, draw back: When the tide ebbed, the boats were left stranded on the mudflats. n. neap, low tide. ant. (vb.) advance, flood. (n.) high tide, flood tide.

ebullient adj. buoyant, high-spirited, vivacious, exuberant: Kathy's ebullient mood lifted our gloomy spirits. ant. gloomy, sad, depressed.

economical adj. thrifty, provident, sparing, careful, frugal: It is often more economical to buy larger sizes of food products because they cost less per serving. ant. wasteful, lavish, unsparing.

economize vb. save; scrimp, pinch, cut corners: Now that Dad's lost his job, we'll have to economize to get by. ant. squander.

ecstasy n. rapture, delight, pleasure: What ecstasy it is to see a beautiful painting or hear beautiful music. ant. misery, unhappiness, agony.

ecstatic adj. delighted, overjoyed, elated, thrilled, happy: The entire staff was ecstatic to learn that the grant to continue their research had come through from the government. ant. miserable, sad.

edge n. border, rim, brink, threshold, boundary, margin: The northern edge of the lake is where we swim. Don't cut yourself on the sharp edge of that piece of paper. vb. 1. border, trim: She edged the neck and sleeves of the dress with lace. 2. inch, move little by little, sidle: Roger edged over to Michele and grasped her hand. ant. n. middle, center.

edgy adj. nervous, tense, irritable, touchy: Miles gets a little edgy when he hasn't had enough sleep. ant. tranquil, undisturbed, peaceful, bland.

edict n. declaration, proclamation, pronouncement; order, command, ukase, fiat: An edict was issued by the Supreme Council forbidding anyone in the streets between sunset and sunrise.

edifice n. building, structure: The edifices are all more than ten stories in height, situated downtown.

educate vb. teach, train, instruct, school: The people who are trying to educate others are specially skilled at their work.

education n. 1. instruction, training, schooling: There are many excellent schools and colleges where you can get a good education. 2. culture, learning, knowledge: It is almost impossible to do the things you want to do without the proper education. ant. illiteracy.

erie adj. weird, strange, fearful, spooky: The old deserted mansion had an eerie feeling about it.

effect n. 1. result, outcome, consequence, end: There was a time when the effect of being naughty was a sound spanking. 2. significance, importance, meaning: Some kinds of punishment have almost no effect at all. vb. 1. accomplish, achieve: A compromise between the union and the management was effected at three o'clock. 2. cause, make; bring about: Conservation of our natural resources has effected many changes in the spread of large cities. ant. n. 1. cause.

effective adj. productive, efficient, practical: Advertising has been shown to be a most effective aid in selling merchandise and services of all kinds. ant. ineffective, wasteful, useless.

efficient adj. 1. effective, useful, serviceable: The lever is a very efficient machine. 2. competent, apt, adept, able, capable, talented, skilled, clever: Phil has proved himself to be one of the most efficient workmen in the plant. ant. 1. useless, unworkable. 2. inefficient, ineffective, clumsy, awkward.

effort n. endeavor, attempt, try; struggle: With a huge effort, the fat boy was able to jump over the three-foot-high bar.

effortless adj. easy, simple, (informal) easy as pie, (slang) like child's play: Winning the 100-meter dash was effortless for Frank.

egghead n. intellectual, scholar; pedant, know-it-all, (informal) highbrow: Prendergast is such an egghead—all he wants to do is study butterflies.

egoism n. 1. selfishness, self-interest: Because of his egoism, all of the Christmas gifts that are sent to the company end up at his home. 2. egotism, conceit, self-worship, pride, vainglory: Barfthwaite's egoism is matched only by his lack of talent. ant. 1. generosity, selflessness. 2. modesty.

elaborate adj. ornate, ornamented, decorated, decorative; complicated, complex: The Victorian style of architecture is one of the most elaborate that was ever developed. vb. decorate, embellish; develop, detail: The director of the department elaborated on his plan for reorganizing the division. ant. adj. simple, unadorned, stark. vb. simplify, streamline.

elastic adj. flexible; resilient, pliable: Rubber is one of the most elastic materials known. ant. rigid, inflexible, stiff.

elated adj. overjoyed, happy, delighted, in seventh heaven, jubilant, ecstatic: Suzanne was elated at having been selected to play the part of the wicked witch in "Snow White." ant. depressed, melancholy, miserable.

elderly adj. old, aged, aging, superannuated: An elderly gentleman gave the young girl his seat on the bus. n. aged, pensioners, retirees, senior citizens, golden-agers: The senator's bill to provide for the elderly was defeated again. ant. adj. young, youthful. n. young.

elect vb. choose, select, vote for: The people elected Victor as their representative.

elegant adj. fine, refined, cultivated; tasteful, choice: My grandmother and grandfather were an elegant couple who were invited to many important affairs in London. ant. crude, unpolished, coarse, tasteless.

elementary adj. 1. basic, primary, fundamental: An elementary rule of competition is good sportsmanship. 2. simple, uncomplicated: The explanation of how the prisoner escaped from the locked cell is elementary. ant. 2. complex, complicated, involved, sophisticated.

elevate vb. raise, lift: With one hand the giant elevated one end of the car while I changed the tire. ant. lower, drop.

eliminate vb. remove, get rid of, leave out, omit: Although he played a good game of tennis, Wilbur was eliminated from the finals when he lost to Maurice.

elite n. upperclass, the Four Hundred, aristocracy, nobility, gentry: Duffy's Tavern is a place where the elite meet to eat. ant. dregs (of society); proletariat; mob.

eloquent adj. silver-tongued, articulate, Ciceronian; glib: The prime minister delivered an eloquent speech asking the country to tighten its belt. ant. inarticulate, tongue-tied.

elude vb. evade, avoid, dodge: The fox eluded the hunting party and ended up safe in his burrow. ant. include, add.

emaciated adj. shriveled, withered, shrunken, gaunt, hollow-eyed, hollow-cheeked, haggard, drawn: After fourteen days in the open boat without food, the survivors were emaciated and weak.

embargo n. restriction, restraint, prohibition: The government has placed an embargo on exports of dried fruits.

embarrass vb. shame, abash, confuse: My teacher always embarrasses me by asking me questions I can't answer.

embassy n. legation, ministry; consulate: The people in the Spivonian embassy have been held hostage by the terrorists for a week.

- embellish vb. decorate, adorn, ornament: The doors of the palace were embellished by figures in gold leaf.
- embezzle vb. steal, misappropriate, misuse, rob, pilfer: The treasurer embezzled $2 million and then fled to Brazil.
- emblem n. sign, token, symbol, badge, mark: That emblem on the car means it is a Rolls Royce.
- embrace vb. 1. hug, clasp: When I found her in the crowd I embraced my mother. 2. include, contain, cover: The categories of animal, vegetable, and mineral embrace all things on earth except water, the atmosphere, and many other familiar things. ant. 2. exclude, bar.
- embroider vb. embellish, dress up, exaggerate: Ferncliff kept on embroidering his tale of the missing funds until no one could believe anything he said.
- emerge vb. come forth, appear; surface: We all waited for the star to emerge from the stage door. ant. recede, retreat, disappear.
- emergency n. crisis, predicament: I seldom visit my sister, but she knows she can count on me in an emergency.
- eminent adj. distinguished, famous, celebrated, renowned, important, prominent: Martin's father is an eminent doctor who has been invited to join the President's committee. ant. unknown, undistinguished, ordinary, commonplace.
- emit vb. discharge, expel, eject: The volcano emits poisonous fumes for two days after each eruption.
- emotion n. feeling, sentiment: I have mixed emotions when I see that play: I don't know whether to laugh or cry.
- emotional adj. 1. passionate, ardent, stirring: That display was one of the most emotional scenes I've ever seen. 2. hysterical, overwrought, zealous, enthusiastic, impetuous: I can't understand why my mother gets so emotional just because I keep breaking my arm playing football. ant. calm, tranquil, placid.
- emphasis n. stress, accent: I think that our history teacher puts too much emphasis on the history of Brazil. The first syllable of "funny" receives much more emphasis than the second.
- emphatic adj. definite, positive, energetic, forceful, strong: The speaker made an emphatic point that turned out to be completely wrong. ant. quiet, lax, unforceful.
- employ vb. 1. use, utilize, apply: It isn't necessary to employ foul language just because you're angry. 2. hire, engage, retain: The company employs people according to their skill. n. employment, service: My sister left the employ

- of that restaurant last week.* ant. vb. 1. waste, ignore, disregard.
- employee, employe n. worker, laborer, wage-earner, servant: The largest company in our town has more than 5,000 employees. ant. employer, boss.
- employer n. boss, proprietor, owner, management, manager, supervisor, superintendent: Our employer gives us ten paid holidays a year. ant. worker, employee.
- employment n. work; job, position: I was looking for employment after school and on Saturdays.
- empty adj. vacant, unoccupied, void, blank: Except for the gold coin, the box was empty. I sat staring at the empty sheet of paper, wondering what to write about. vb. void, unload, evacuate: Empty that bucket of water outside. ant. adj. full, filled. vb. fill.
- enchant vb. charm, fascinate, delight, bewitch: My mother's friend enchanted us with her stories about India and China. The figures in the enchanted picture kept moving about. ant. bore, tire.
- enclose vb. surround, encircle: We built a fence that enclosed the entire ranch. ant. exclude.
- encounter vb. meet, come across, face: We encountered our old neighbors while shopping at the supermarket. n. meeting; appointment, rendezvous: Let me tell you about an encounter I once had with a poisonous snake.
- encourage vb. inspirit, support, inspire: After meeting with the basketball coach, I was encouraged to try out for the team. ant. discourage, dissuade, deter.
- end n. 1. extremity, tail-end, termination: After winding it for three hours, I finally came to the end of the string. 2. limit, termination, bound: Before Einstein, scientists used to think that space had no end. 3. finish, conclusion, termination, close: The symphony came to an end and we all applauded. 4. aim, purpose, object, intent: What end have you in view when you behave so badly? vb. stop, finish, terminate, close, halt: I wish that nations could end all their wrangling so we could have peace. ant. n. beginning, start, opening, launch. vb. begin, start, launch, initiate.
- endanger vb. imperil, jeopardize, risk: Gregory Fantod is the last person I would expect to endanger his life by saving another's. ant. secure.
- endeavor vb. try, attempt, strive, struggle: If you promise to be good, I'll endeavor to forgive you. n. try, attempt, exertion, struggle: Phoebe has made a serious endeavor to memorize her part in the school play.

endow vb. give, bestow: Cynthia is endowed with the most beautiful hair I've ever seen. ant. divest.

endure vb. 1. last, continue, persist: The kinds of governments that limit the power of the people cannot endure for long.

2. suffer, bear, undergo, experience: I don't think I could endure the pain and discomfort of another broken arm. ant.

1. fail, perish, die.

enemy n. foe, adversary, opponent, antagonist, rival: By his continual unpleasant reviews, the critic made many enemies. ant. friend, colleague, cohort, ally.

energetic adj. vigorous, active, forceful, potent: Only the energetic pursuit of justice can achieve liberty for all. ant. lazy, indolent, sluggish, lax.

energy n. power, force, strength, vigor: If you put as much energy into your schoolwork as you do into football, you'd be at the top of your class. ant. lethargy, feebleness.

enervate vb. weaken, exhaust, enfeeble, debilitate, devitalize: We felt so completely enervated after the marathon that we slept for two days. ant. invigorate.

engage vb. 1. employ, occupy: I am engaged in research for a new project. 2. employ, hire, retain: She was engaged as a secretary, but she has now been made president of the company. ant. 1. disengage. 2. fire, dismiss, discharge.

engaged adj. 1. betrothed, affianced, spoken for: Vera and Ed were engaged for only a few months before their marriage. 2. occupied, busy: I can't connect you now, the line is engaged.

engaging adj. beguiling, enchanting, charming: My sister's boyfriend has such an engaging manner that we can't help liking him. ant. boring, ordinary.

enigmatic adj. puzzling, perplexing, baffling, confusing, mystifying: We received an enigmatic message from Paul's father, and no one could understand what it meant.

enjoyment n. delight, pleasure, gratification: Some people derive enjoyment from helping others. ant. displeasure, abhorrence.

enlarge vb. increase, amplify, extend, expand, magnify. The balloon became greatly enlarged as gas was pumped into it. ant. decrease, diminish, wane, shrink.

enlighten vb. inform, teach, educate: The most politically advanced nations have the most enlightened citizens. ant. confuse.

enlist vb. enroll, enter, sign up, register: Instead of waiting to be drafted, my father enlisted in the navy. ant. leave, abandon, quit.

enormity n. wickedness, atrociousness, heinousness, barbarity, savageness: The enormity of her crimes could not even be described in the newspapers.

enormous adj. huge, immense, gigantic, vast, colossal, stupendous, gargantuan: From the ground sprang up an enormous beanstalk, which reached right up to the sky. ant. small, diminutive, tiny, slight, infinitesimal.

enough adj. sufficient, adequate: I hope that there's enough ice cream for everyone.

enrage vb. infuriate, anger, madden: The enraged mob crowded against the prison gates. ant. soothe, appease, calm.

enroll vb. enlist, register, sign up: Jim's father enrolled in some adult-education classes at the university. ant. leave, quit, abandon.

ensue vb. follow, succeed; arise, result: An argument started and, in the ensuing fight, three men were hurt.

entangle vb. tangle, ravel, ensnarl, snarl: The rope became entangled in his feet and he was yanked overboard. She didn't want me to be entangled in her legal affairs.

enterprise n. 1. project, venture, undertaking: America is one of the few countries where a new enterprise can succeed. 2. courage, boldness, drive, energy: Bob has the enterprise necessary to do well in anything he gets involved in.

enterprising adj. resourceful, energetic: It's very enterprising of Bill to establish his own repair shop. ant. indolent, lazy, unresourceful, sluggish.

entertain vb. amuse, divert; interest: We were all entertained by the clowns. ant. bore, tire.

enthusiasm n. eagerness, zeal, earnestness: Jean's enthusiasm for scuba diving led to her interest in marine biology. ant. indifference, unconcern.

enthusiastic adj. eager, zealous, earnest: We were so enthusiastic about the new football team that we bought a season ticket to see their games. ant. indifferent, aloof, unconcerned.

entire adj. whole, complete; intact, undivided: The entire car was being supported by only one nail. The magician seemed to slice through the orange with the sword yet leave it entire. ant. partial, incomplete, separated, divided.

entitle vb. authorize, allow, empower: Knowing the President doesn't entitle you to address him by his first name.

- entourage n. retinue, company, train, cortège, escort: The millionaire arrived at the club with his entourage of flatterers.
- entrance n. entry, door, access, gate, opening: The entrance to the enchanted cottage was through a door made of gingerbread. ant. exit.
- entreat vb. beg, plead, implore: Nellie entreated her husband to stop watching TV and pay some attention to her.
- entreaty n. appeal, plea. The math teacher ignored every entreaty to give the class another day to study before the test.
- entrust vb. delegate, commit, consign, assign: Ruby entrusted the care of her jewels to the bank manager.
- enumerate vb. count, number, list, catalog: Let me enumerate the various ways one can break out of this prison.
- environment n. surroundings, habitat, conditions: Growing up in a bad environment can determine whether or not a youngster becomes a criminal.
- envision vb. imagine, dream up, envisage, picture, visualize: Envision yourself lying on a beach in the warm sun, the azure waters licking at your toes.
- envoy n. delegate, legate, representative, emissary, agent: My government's envoy was shot dead while waiting to be served at the takeout counter in the Chinese restaurant.
- envy n. jealousy, covetousness: Millie regarded her sister's new coat with envy. vb. covet: You shouldn't envy your friends' property. ant. n. generosity.
- epicure n. gourmet, epicurean, gourmand, gastronome, aesthete, connoisseur: Philbert is such an epicure that he has a fit if a restaurant cannot serve him the proper wine with his dinner.
- epidemic n. plague, scourge, pestilence: The epidemic of typhus wiped out one quarter of the population of Europe in the Middle Ages.
- episode n. event, occurrence, incident: I considered living in the city as just another episode in my life.
- equal adj. 1. equivalent; same, identical: All men and women are supposed to be equal in the eyes of the law. Four is equal to two plus two. 2. even, regular, uniform: Equal rights are provided for under the Constitution. vb. match: The wealthy man said that he would equal any contribution to the library fund. ant. adj. 1. unequal, different. 2. uneven, irregular.
- equip vb. furnish, outfit, provide: Before we left, we made sure that we were fully equipped with all the camping gear we might need.

- equipment n. material, materials, utensils, apparatus: What kind of equipment would I need to become a stamp collector?
- era n. period, time, age: The electronic era began with the invention of the transistor.
- erase vb. remove, obliterate, expunge; cancel: The police made the boys erase all of the writing on the wall. ant. include, add.
- erect adj. upright, vertical, straight: Sometimes I get a little dizzy when I stand erect after bending over. vb. build, construct, raise; set up: The men erected the temporary building in less than two days. ant. adj. horizontal, flat. vb. demolish, raze, flatten.
- erratic adj. 1. irregular, uneven, sporadic, occasional, unsteady, changeable: The performance of my car has been erratic, and I am looking for a replacement. 2. queer, eccentric, odd, peculiar, bizarre, extraordinary, strange, unconventional, outlandish: You may not regard streaking nude through a crowded railway station as erratic behavior, but I'm afraid the police do. ant. 1. steady, regular, normal. 2. ordinary, normal.
- erroneous adj. mistaken, wrong, inaccurate, incorrect, false, untrue: The teacher gave a failing grade to all those who had more than three erroneous answers on the examination. ant. correct, right, accurate, true.
- error n. mistake, oversight, inaccuracy, slip, blunder: There are too many spelling errors in this report.
- erudite adj. learned, sage, wise, profound, deep; well-educated: My father was an erudite man—one of the first from Borneo to earn a Ph.D.
- escapade n. prank, caper, stunt, antic, trick: That little escapade involving the stolen railway car will get you into a lot of trouble.
- escape vb. 1. run away, steal away, flee: Three prisoners have escaped from the county jail. 2. avoid, elude, evade: Running away through the swamp, the men escaped their pursuers. n. flight, departure; release. The criminal's escape was reported on the radio.
- escort n. guard, protection, convoy; guide: The murderer was brought to the jail by an armed escort. vb. accompany, attend, usher; guard, protect: The shipment of gold was escorted by ten men with shotguns.
- especially adv. particularly, unusually, chiefly, specially: An especially heavy guard was set up around the palace after the threatening phone call.

essence n. character, principle, nature, basis: The essence of the problem lay in the fact that Reggie didn't want to go to school.

essential adj. important, necessary, vital, critical, indispensable: In addition to knowing the subjects he is teaching, it is essential that a teacher be kind and understanding. n. necessity, requirement: Oxygen is an essential for all mammals. ant. adj. unimportant, dispensable, inessential, unnecessary.

establish vb. found, form, set up, begin: The colonists established a new village at the mouth of the river. ant. discontinue, disperse, scatter.

esteem vb. prize, value, regard highly, revere, respect: The students as well as the teachers esteemed the headmaster of the school as a great educator. n. respect, reverence, regard, honor, admiration: The captain was held in esteem by his crew. ant. vb. disdain, disregard, scorn. n. scorn, contempt.

estimate vb. value, gauge, evaluate, judge, compute: The expert estimated that our paintings were worth almost one million dollars. n. value, evaluation, computation: The insurance company considered the estimate too high for repairing the old car.

estimation n. opinion, judgment, point of view, viewpoint: In our estimation, the candidate is suitable for the position.

eternal adj. everlasting, endless, perpetual: Most religions believe that their god or gods are eternal. ant. brief, passing, temporary, transient.

etiquette n. decorum, (good) manners: This book on etiquette has a chapter about how to invite people to a party.

evade vb. elude, avoid, escape, dodge: The fox evaded the hunters by doubling back on the trail. ant. meet, confront, face.

evaluate vb. appraise, value, assay: The auctioneer evaluated my diamond necklace at $100. I don't know how to evaluate the reply "Tuesday" to my question, "What time is it?"

evaporate vb. vaporize; disappear, vanish: The water evaporated into the air. Our picnic plans evaporated when we saw the storm coming. ant. appear, condense.

even adj. 1. level, smooth, flat: It was easier to walk where the ground was even. 2. equal, balanced, square: If I give you the dollar I owe you, we'll be even. 3. parallel: The police car drew up even with us. adv. just, exactly: Even as I was watching, the sun disappeared and it started to rain.

ant. adj. 1. bumpy, irregular. 2. unequal, unbalanced. 3. divergent.

evening n. dusk, twilight, nightfall, sundown: Toward evening the stars came out. ant. dawn, sunrise.

event n. occurrence, incident, episode: I ought to explain the events that led up to my decision to write this book. The study of history is essential to the understanding of current events.

even-tempered adj. calm, self-possessed, composed, cool, unruffled: Brian is known to be even-tempered and is likely to make a good judge for the dog show. ant. hot-tempered, hotheaded.

eventual adj. ultimate, consequent: The eventual result of crime is usually punishment. ant. current, present.

ever adv. 1. always, continuously, constantly: The sea, like the clouds in the sky, is ever changing. 2. at all, at any time: Haven't you ever told a lie? ant. never.

everlasting adj. See eternal.

everyday adj. common, commonplace, ordinary, usual, customary: It's not as though the appearance of Halley's comet is exactly an everyday occurrence. ant. rare.

evidence n. 1. proof, testimony, grounds: I know you think he took your umbrella, but have you any real evidence? 2. indication, sign: The best evidence I have is that I saw him using it when it was raining.

evident adj. clear, plain, obvious, apparent: It was evident from the chocolate around his mouth that Ronnie had eaten the candy. ant. unclear, obscure, doubtful, uncertain.

evil adj. 1. sinful, immoral, wicked, bad: Some people used to think that any kind of entertainment on Sunday was evil. 2. harmful, injurious: Drinking alcoholic beverages is an evil practice. n. harm, woe; badness, wickedness, sin: Evil to him who does evil. ant. adj. 1. virtuous, moral, upright, good. 2. beneficial, advantageous, useful. n. goodness, virtue, uprightness.

evolve vb. develop, grow, emerge, result: The way society evolved in that country, there was neither need nor opportunity for education.

exact adj. correct, accurate, errorless, faultless: Yours is an exact copy of that painting in the museum. ant. inexact, inaccurate, faulty.

exaggerate vb. overstate, magnify: I knew Tommy was exaggerating when he said that the elephant was as big as a house. ant. minimize, understate, diminish.

- examination n. 1. inspection, scrutiny, investigation: The jury was cautioned to rely only on a careful examination of the testimony and the evidence. 2. test: I haven't yet studied for my math examination.
- examine vb. inspect, investigate; scrutinize: After examining me carefully, the doctor said I was fit as a fiddle.
- example n. sample, specimen, model: This is a fine example of the sand paintings done by the Indians.
- exceed vb. beat, surpass, outdo, excel: The workmanship on this box exceeds any I have ever seen.
- exceedingly adv. very, unusually, extremely, surprisingly, especially: There is an exceedingly good movie on TV tonight, but I can't recall its title.
- excel vb. outdo, surpass, exceed: Matilda excels at sports.
- excellence n. superiority, distinction: Frank was given an award for excellence in seamanship. ant. inferiority, poorness, badness.
- excellent adj. fine, superior, wonderful, marvelous: Dave is an excellent swimmer. ant. inferior, poor, bad, terrible, substandard.
- except prep. save, but, excepting, barring, excluding: Everyone wanted to go skiing except Donald.
- exceptional adj. unusual, different, strange, irregular, abnormal: You must admit that a house made out of gingerbread and candy icing is very exceptional, indeed. ant. unexceptional, ordinary, commonplace.
- excerpt n. extract, abstract: There is an excerpt of the President's speech in the paper tonight.
- excess adj. profuse, abundant, immoderate: The government checked up on all companies they thought might be earning excess profits. n. profusion, lavishness: Baggage weighing in excess of 44 pounds is charged for at a high rate. ant. adj. sparse, inconsequential, meager.
- exchange vb. trade, swap; barter: I exchanged a dollar for four quarters. n. 1. trade, interchange: In exchange for the three neckties, Suzie took a pair of warm gloves. 2. market: Don't invest all your money in the stock exchange.
- excite vb. stir up, arouse, stimulate; move: The thought of going canoeing on the river excited us. ant. lull, bore.
- exclamation n. outcry, shout, clamor: With an exclamation of disgust, he turned and left the restaurant.
- exclude vb. keep out, shut out, bar, except: I cannot understand why we were excluded from membership in the club. ant. include, embrace, involve.

- exclusion n. bar, exception, rejection: The boys' exclusion from the theater came about because of their rowdy behavior. ant. inclusion.
- exclusive adj. 1. limited, restricted, restrictive, selective: Do I have your exclusive permission to represent you? 2. select, fashionable, choice: We can't afford to stay at an exclusive hotel, so we go to a boarding house. ant. 1. general, unrestricted. 2. ordinary, unfashionable, common.
- excursion n. trip, tour, voyage, outing: All of us went for a day's excursion on the lake steamer.
- excuse vb. forgive, pardon: Please excuse Phil for speaking rudely; he didn't mean it. n. explanation, reason, plea, apology: The teacher accepted Sam's excuse for lateness. ant. vb. condemn.
- execute vb. 1. carry out, do, complete, achieve: Every soldier is expected to execute the orders given him. 2. kill, put to death, hang: Three men convicted of murder were executed last week.
- exercise n. 1. practice, drill, training; gymnastics, calisthenics: Exercise is good for you. The old man said he did exercises every morning. 2. use, application, employment: The exercise of a citizen's rights is a duty. vb. train, drill, practice: Don't exercise after a large meal.
- exertion n. effort, attempt, endeavor, strain: The exertion of carrying the couch upstairs made us all out of breath.
- exhaust vb. 1. tire, fatigue, wear out: I was exhausted from chopping wood for three hours. 2. use, use up, consume; spend: If people aren't careful, they may exhaust many of the natural resources of the earth. ant. 1. refresh, renew. 2. replenish, replace.
- exhaustive adj. thorough, comprehensive, complete, thoroughgoing, extensive: Our research into the colors preferred by women of different cultures was exhaustive. ant. superficial; incomplete.
- exhibit vb. 1. show, display, demonstrate: At the World's Fair some manufacturers exhibited their future product designs. 2. show, display, betray, reveal: With a sneer Sophie exhibited her hatred for fried spinach. n. show, display, demonstration, exhibition: We saw an interesting exhibit of weaving at the county fair. ant. vb. conceal, hide, disguise.
- exile vb. banish, cast out, expel, deport: The government once exiled criminals to distant colonies. n. banishment, deportation, expulsion: The exile of the king was forced by the revolutionaries.

- exonerate vb. clear, acquit: Frank was exonerated of the charges against him and will be home for dinner.
- exorbitant adj. outrageous, excessive, unreasonable, preposterous: Six dollars may be an exorbitant price for a loaf of bread, but not when there's none to be had. ant. reasonable, normal.
- exotic adj. strange, foreign, alien, unknown: The natives offered us some of the exotic fruits that grow in the region.
- expand vb. enlarge, swell, inflate; bloat: As the gas tank emptied, the balloon expanded and began to rise. ant. shrink, shrivel, contract.
- expect vb. anticipate, await, look forward to: I was expecting you to say that. Your father was expected on the noon train.
- expedite vb. hasten, rush, hurry, speed up: Please expedite the delivery of this letter—it must arrive by tomorrow morning. ant. delay.
- expedition n. journey, voyage, trip, excursion: Tom's grandfather went on an expedition to South America early in this century.
- expel vb. drive out or away, discharge; banish, deport, exile: The unpleasant man was expelled from the restaurant. They expelled the aliens from the country. ant. invite, accept.
- expend vb. use, consume, exhaust: Too much energy was expended in shoveling the snow when a machine could have been used. ant. conserve, reserve, ration.
- expense n. cost, price, charge, payment: The expense of the trip would be covered by the sponsors of the contest.
- expensive adj. dear, costly, high-priced: We bought a small car last year because gasoline was so expensive. ant. inexpensive, modest, low-priced, low-cost, cheap.
- experience n. 1. encountering, living, existence: I have had a little experience in dealing with naughty children. 2. knowledge, background, skill: You don't have enough experience to be an executive in this company. vb. feel, live through, undergo: No one can know what war is like until he has experienced it. ant. n. inexperience, naiveté.
- experienced adj. skilled, accomplished, expert, practiced, able, qualified: My mother is an experienced teacher of foreign languages. ant. inexperienced, untutored, naive, unpracticed.
- experiment n. test, trial; research: Some people don't approve of doing experiments on animals. vb. test, prove, try, examine: The scientists are going to experiment on human beings for the next space launch.

- expert n. authority, specialist: It takes many years of training to become an expert in Chinese art. adj. skillful, experienced, knowledgeable, skilled: The factory has three job openings for expert toolmakers. ant. adj. unskilled, untrained, inexperienced.
- expire vb. terminate, end, cease; die: My subscription expires with the next issue of the magazine. The old man expired on the steps of the church.
- explain vb. 1. clarify, define, interpret: Scientists cannot explain how the earth began. 2. justify, account for: How do you explain what you were doing at the movies when you were supposed to be at school?
- explanation n. 1. description, definition, interpretation: Please give me an explanation of how the Constitution is applied to defend citizens' rights. 2. account, justification; reason; excuse: The teacher refused to accept Beth's explanation for why she was late.
- exploit n. feat, accomplishment, achievement: Riding a bicycle on a tightrope across Niagara Falls is a fantastic exploit.
- explore vb. investigate, examine: Can you imagine how brave the men must have been who first explored central Africa?
- expose vb. reveal, bare, uncover, display, disclose: The theater curtain was pulled back to expose a man in chains submerged in a glass tank filled with water. ant. conceal, hide, covered, mask.
- exposition n. show, exhibition, fair, expo; bazaar: I saw a sailboat at the exposition and would buy it if I could afford it.
- express vb. state, declare: A civilized person learns to express himself clearly. adj. 1. specific, precise, exact, special: I went to the grocery for the express purpose of buying celery and then forgot it. 2. nonstop, quick, direct, rapid, fast: The express train doesn't stop at those small stations. ant. adj. 2. local.
- expression n. 1. statement, declaration: The teacher asked for an expression of interest from all those who wanted to go to the museum. 2. look; air: Michele had a horrified expression on her face when we showed her the snake.
- exquisite adj. 1. delicate, dainty, elegant, beautiful: Have you ever noticed the exquisite workmanship of the crown jewels? 2. fine, excellent, superb, matchless, perfect: The exquisite furnishings of the palace were known throughout the world.
- extemporaneous adj. offhand, off-the-cuff, impromptu, casual: The speaker made some extemporaneous remarks before beginning his prepared speech.

extend vb. 1. stretch, stretch out: The forest extended as far as the eye could see. 2. lengthen: The ladder can be extended another six feet. 3. give, offer, grant; yield: We all extend you our best wishes on your birthday. ant. 2. shorten, abbreviate, curtail.

extension n. stretching, expansion, enlargement, increase: The teacher gave us an extension of the time in which to prepare our papers.

extensive adj. wide, broad, spacious, vast: In the central part of the United States is an extensive region of farmland. ant. confined, restricted, narrow.

extent n. degree, measure, amount, range: My French improved after my visit to Paris to the extent where I could understand everything said to me.

exterior n. outside, face, surface, covering: The exterior of our school is painted white. adj. outside, outer, external: Exterior paints are made with materials that resist weathering. ant. n. interior, inside, lining. adj. inner, internal, interior.

exterminate vb. kill, slay, put to death, eradicate: I have to have the mice in my barn exterminated.

external adj. exterior, outer, outside: The external features of the books seem similar, but their content is very different. ant. internal, interior, inner, inside.

extinct adj. dead, lost, gone, vanished: We must preserve our wildlife lest it become extinct. ant. alive, present, extant, flourishing.

extract vb. draw out, withdraw, pull out, remove: The knight extracted the sword from the stone where it had been embedded. n. essence, distillate: The doctor prescribed an extract of cascara for my stomachache. ant. vb. insert, introduce, penetrate.

extraordinary adj. unusual, exceptional, rare, uncommon, remarkable: The reason I learned so much at school is that I had an extraordinary teacher. ant. ordinary, commonplace, usual.

extravagant adj. wasteful, lavish, excessive: Philip and Peter were so extravagant that they spent their money in a day. ant. frugal, economical, prudent, thrifty, provident.

extreme adj. 1. utmost, greatest: Tim's extreme nervousness made his hands shake. 2. furthest, outermost, endmost, ultimate: In the picture at the extreme right the monkey is washing his hands. 3. excessive, immoderate: This morning I am suffering from an extreme pain in the neck. n. end, limit, extremity: I can understand being angry, but jumping up and down is going to extremes. ant. adj. 3. modest, moderate, reasonable.

exuberant adj. ebullient, high-spirited, buoyant, vivacious: The audience was exuberant at seeing their favorite conductor leading the orchestra. ant. depressed, sad.

exult vb. rejoice: The natives exulted in their new-found wealth from the oil wells.

fable n. 1. parable, tale, legend, myth, story: Aesop's fables are among the most popular in the world. 2. falsehood, fib, fiction, tale; lie: That story about his getting a medal for swimming was a complete fable.

fabric n. cloth, material, textile: This is too lightweight a fabric for a winter coat.

fabricate vb. make, manufacture, assemble, construct, form: It is now possible to fabricate many parts of a new house in a factory and then put it together at the site. ant. destroy, demolish, raze.

fabulous adj. fantastic, unbelievable, amazing, astonishing, astounding: The returning explorer told a fabulous story about finding a golden mountain. ant. commonplace, ordinary.

face n. 1. look, expression, features, visage, countenance: Roger made a funny face when the teacher wasn't looking. She had a friendly face. 2. front, façade: The face of the cliff was too steep for us to climb. vb. meet, encounter, confront: I'll never be able to face Louis now that I know he tried to kiss my sister. ant. vb. avoid, evade, shun.

facility n. 1. ease, skill, skillfulness, ability: The instructor skis down that steep slope with such great facility. 2. equipment, material: This laboratory is equipped with every modern facility for research. ant. 1. difficulty, effort, labor.

facsimile n. See copy.

fact n. truth, certainty, actuality, reality: It is now known to be a fact that the earth is shaped like a ball.

factual adj. correct, accurate, true: The newspaper reporter gave a factual account of the disaster. ant. erroneous, invented, fabricated, incorrect.

faculty n. ability, capacity, talent: Spencer has the faculty of making everyone like him.

fade vb. 1. pale, bleach, discolor: These curtains have faded from being in the bright sunlight. 2. diminish, weaken, fail: My strength began to fade and I was afraid I couldn't hold on any longer. ant. 2. increase, grow, wax.

fail vb. 1. fall short, miss, founder: The explorer failed in his attempt to find the source of the Nile. 2. disappoint: Don't fail me now that I've invested so much in your success.

3. fade, weaken; dwindle: Her strength failed when she reached the top. ant. 1. succeed.

failure n. 1. failing, unsuccessfulness: The team's failure to win the game was due to lack of training. 2. deficiency, insufficiency: The president's failure as a good supervisor brought about the closing of the business. ant. success, achievement, accomplishment.

faint adj. 1. dim, faded, indistinct: The writing on the wall of the tomb was too faint to read. 2. feeble, weak, halfhearted: We heard faint cries coming from inside the box. vb. swoon, lose consciousness, collapse: Ted's mother fainted when the hospital phoned about his accident. ant. adj. 1. clear, sharp, distinct. 2. strong, forceful, loud.

fainthearted adj. timid, shy, bashful; cowardly: Watching a surgical operation is not for fainthearted people. ant. brave, courageous, stouthearted, fearless.

fair¹ adj. 1. just, impartial, unbiased, objective, unprejudiced; honest: The umpire made a fair decision when he called the runner safe. 2. ordinary, average, not bad: My marks for the semester were fair. 3. light, white, milky, blond: She had fair hair but a swarthy skin. 4. beautiful: Every knight yearned to save a fair damsel in distress. 5. sunny, pleasant, bright, unclouded: The weather forecaster predicted it would be fair for our picnic tomorrow. ant. 1. unfair, unjust, biased. 3. dark, dusky, swarthy. 4. stormy, cloudy, threatening.

fair² n. exhibit, exhibition, festival, bazaar, carnival: I know some people who visited the New York World's Fair in 1939.

fairy n. pixie, sprite, elf, brownie: Don't you believe in fairies?

faith n. 1. trust, reliance, belief: I have faith in everything you say. 2. belief, religion, creed: The rights of Americans are equal regardless of their faith. ant. 1. mistrust, distrust, disbelief.

faithful adj. 1. loyal, devoted, trustworthy, trusty, true: My dog is the only faithful friend I have, and I don't have a dog. 2. credible, accurate, strict: The artist had painted faithful copy of the museum picture. ant. 1. disloyal, faithless, treacherous. 2. inaccurate, erroneous, wrong.

faithless adj. disloyal, treacherous, perfidious, unfaithful, untrue: "Capture the faithless wretch and have him drawn and quartered," said the king. ant. faithful, loyal.

fake adj. false, pretended, phony: The counterfeiters were printing fake dollar bills until they were arrested. n. fraud, cheat; counterfeit, forgery, imitation: The man who promised to cure your cold is a fake. This diploma is a fake. ant. adj. genuine, real, authentic.

fall vb. 1. drop, descend; plunge, topple: After the lumberjack had made a deep cut in the trunk, the tree began to fall. 2. die: Two thousand brave soldiers fell in the last battle of the war. 3. lower, decrease, diminish: The price of sugar has fallen during the last month. n. 1. autumn: I have to go back to school next fall. 2. drop, decline, collapse, spill: Prices haven't taken a fall like that for many years. ant. vb. 1. rise, soar, ascend. 2. rise, increase, climb. n. rise, ascent, increase.

falsehood n. fib, story, untruth, lie: Ben has told so many falsehoods that no one believes him even when he tells the truth. ant. truth.

falsify vb. distort, misquote, misstate, misrepresent: That liar has falsified the things I testified to in court.

falter vb. stumble, hesitate, tremble: Once your mind is made up, you should go ahead and not falter.

fame n. name, reputation, renown, honor, glory: The person who cures the common cold will be assured of great fame. ant. anonymity.

famed adj. renowned, known; famous: My grandfather was famed far and wide as the best shot in the county. ant. unknown, anonymous, obscure.

familiar adj. 1. known, common, frequent, well-known: That song sounds familiar—I think it's "America, the Beautiful." 2. well-acquainted, friendly, close, intimate: Jennie was a familiar friend at our house. 3. well-acquainted, well-versed: I am quite familiar with the rules of the club. ant. 1. unfamiliar, unknown, foreign, alien. 2. rare, distant. 3. ignorant, unaware.

familiarity n. knowledge, understanding, awareness, comprehension: After studying it for so many years, Don should have some familiarity with the subject. ant. ignorance.

family n. relatives, tribe, relations, house: During their first years of marriage, Connie and Fred's families helped the young couple financially.

famine n. want, hunger, starvation: When the crops failed, there was a famine in which thousands died. ant. plenty.

famous adj. well-known, renowned, celebrated, famed, eminent, illustrious: The mayor told my father that the town was proud to have such a famous resident. ant. unknown, obscure, anonymous.

fan n. follower, enthusiast, aficionado, devotee: I have been a fan of the Beatles since the early 1960s.

fancy n. imagination, fantasy; taste: My mother said that the pink tile in the kitchen didn't suit her fancy. adj. 1. ornate, ornamented, elaborate: The decorations on that dress are too fancy for my taste. 2. special, deluxe: We received a basket of fancy fruit for Christmas. ant. adj. plain, unadorned, simple, undecorated.

fantastic adj. unbelievable, incredible, unreal, unimaginable: My sister looks just fantastic in her new dress. We heard a fantastic story about witches and goblins.

fantasy n. illusion, mirage, daydream, dream, delusion, vision: Having dropped out of school at 16, Copperhead will never see his fantasy of becoming a Nobel prizewinner come true.

fascinate vb. attract, charm, bewitch, enchant: We were fascinated by the wild animal exhibits at the museum of natural history. ant. bore.

far-fetched adj. unlikely, fanciful, improbable: As her excuse for being three days late, Alice told me some far-fetched tale about having been to the moon. ant. believable; fundamental, basic.

fashion n. 1. manner, way, method, mode: The teacher spoke to the children in a friendly fashion. 2. style, mode, custom, vogue: Alexandra's mother dresses in the fashion of the 1930s. vb. make, shape, mold, form: The potter fashioned the vase in a few minutes.

fashionable adj. stylish, chic, modish, smart: Nicole's mother is always dressed in the most fashionable clothes. ant. unfashionable, dowdy.

fast adj. 1. quick, rapid, swift, speedy: A fast horse could get me back to the ranch in less than an hour. 2. secure, solid, staunch, firm: Before leaving the house, we made sure that there was a fast lock on the door. adv. 1. quickly, rapidly, swiftly, speedily: How did you get back here so fast? 2. tightly, securely, firmly: The fishermen held fast to the overturned boat. ant. adj. 1. slow, sluggish. 2. loose, insecure.

fasten vb. attach, fix, join, secure, pin: You don't even know how to fasten a button to a shirt! ant. loosen, loose, free, release, unclasp.

fat adj. 1. fatty, oily, greasy: The doctor told me not to eat so many fat foods. 2. obese, plump, fleshy, stout, chubby: Betty used to be fat, but since her diet has lost a lot of

- weight. 3. thick, wide: The lawyer carried a fat briefcase into court. ant. 2. thin, lean, emaciated, slim, scrawny.
- fatal adj. 1. deadly, lethal, mortal: The wound from the sword proved to be fatal, and the soldier died that night. 2. fateful, doomed, inevitable: Any mistake in timing during a rocket launching could be fatal for the entire project. ant. 1. nonfatal.
- fate n. fortune, luck, chance, destiny: It was fate that we should meet here, at the edge of the cliff.
- fatherly adj. paternal, paternalistic, protective, kind: My cousin gave me some fatherly advice before I was sent away to school.
- fatigue n. weariness, exhaustion, tiredness: After three days in the wilderness, the child was found suffering from fatigue and exposure. ant. energy.
- fault n. 1. defect, imperfection, flaw, blemish, weakness: The mechanic could find no fault with the engine in my car. 2. blame, responsibility: It's your own fault you have a cold if you won't wear your scarf.
- faultfinding adj. critical, carping, caviling, censorious, (informal) nitpicking: Nick's faultfinding attitude isn't winning him any friends at the club.
- faulty adj. defective, imperfect, damaged, broken: There was a faulty lock on the door and the thieves broke in there. ant. perfect, flawless, whole.
- favor n. approval, liking, benefit: In Ken's favor, I must admit that he works very hard. vb. 1. approve, like, prefer: I favor support for local libraries. 2. prefer, patronize, support: The girls favor having a swimming team. ant. vb. disapprove, deplore.
- favorite n. pet, darling: Irena is the teacher's favorite. adj. favored, preferred, liked: My favorite ice cream is chocolate.
- favoritism n. partiality, prejudice, bias; one-sidedness: Bender's appointment as director was purely a matter of favoritism, as he has no talent or training for the job. ant. impartiality, fairness.
- fear n. fright, dread, terror, alarm, dismay, anxiety: As the killer approached him with knife drawn, Ron felt his fear overcome him. vb. dread, be afraid of: This snake is completely harmless, and you have nothing to fear.
- fearless adj. brave, courageous, bold: The leader of the band of pirates was fearless and would fight with anyone. ant. fearful, timid, cowardly.
- feast n. banquet; dinner, barbecue: After the wedding cere- - mony, we were all treated to a feast at the bride's father's home.* vb. dine, gluttonize: We feasted on venison and roasted ox.

- feat n. achievement, act, deed: Leaping across the canyon was a feat for the motorcycle rider.
- feature n. quality, characteristic, trait: One of the features of life in America is political independence. vb. star, promote: Last week the shop featured blue jeans at half price.
- fee n. pay, payment, remuneration: The lawyer charged a lot as a fee for his services.
- feeble adj. weak; frail, sickly, infirm: The old man made a feeble attempt to fight off the robbers. ant. strong, powerful, potent.
- feed vb. nourish, satisfy: My father had six mouths to feed and always worked very hard. n. fodder, forage, food: The farmer stocked up on feed for his cattle for the winter.
- feel vb. experience, sense; perceive: I tried to feel pity for the doomed criminal. John felt his way along in the dark.
- feeling n. 1. emotion, sentiment, sympathy: Finding her lost kitten gave Susan a feeling of joy. 2. attitude, belief, thought, opinion: My mother had a feeling that I would do well in school.
- fellowship n. companionship, comradeship, camaraderie: As we were all in the same boat after our ship was sunk, a sense of fellowship developed among us. ant. enmity, dislike; distrust.
- felonious adj. criminal, larcenous, murderous: Johnston's felonious activities were well known to the police, who had been searching for him for years.
- ferocious adj. fierce, savage, bloodthirsty, wild: The old house was guarded by two ferocious dogs. ant. gentle, playful, calm, harmless.
- fertile adj. productive, rich, fruitful: The bottomland on our farm is the most fertile. Judy has a fertile mind and is always coming up with new ideas. ant. barren, sterile, unproductive.
- festive adj. merry, gay, joyful, joyous: All of his friends had a festive time at Miles's birthday party. ant. sad, mournful, morose, gloomy.
- fetching adj. attractive, charming, pleasing: The movie star was wearing a fetching gown of red silk.
- feud n. quarrel, argument, dispute, strife: Because of the feud between them, the two families hadn't spoken to one another for years.

fictitious adj. made-up, invented, fabricated, imaginary, make-believe: Do you think I believed his fictitious story about being a war hero? ant. true, real.

fidget vb. squirm: Stop fidgeting and answer the question!

fiendish adj. demonic, devilish, diabolic, diabolical, satanic: Thewless came up with a fiendish plot for releasing alligators into the sewer system.

fierce adj. savage, ferocious, furious, violent, wild: The circus specialized in exhibiting fierce lions and tigers trained to perform for the crowds. ant. gentle, peaceful, harmless.

fight n. battle, war, conflict, combat: When the enemy gunboat fired a shot across our bows, we knew we had a fight on our hands. vb. combat, battle, struggle: Brothers shouldn't fight against each other.

figure n. 1. pattern, design: This necktie has figures of sailboats on it. 2. form, outline, shape, mold, frame: My girl friend has a nice figure. We could see the figure of a man against the sky at the top of the hill. vb. calculate, reckon, determine, compute: I've already figured my income tax for this year.

filter n. strainer, sieve, screen: I prefer coffee that has been made with a filter.

filth n. dirt, foulness, pollution, sewage: The town on the river was responsible for the filth we saw floating by.

filthy adj. dirty, foul; polluted, contaminated: Those socks of yours are filthy because you never wash them. The lake where we used to swim became filthy after the factory dumped its wastes into it. ant. clean, pure, unspoiled.

final adj. last, ultimate, terminal, concluding: This will be the final call for dinner. ant. first, initial, beginning, starting.

finally adv. at last, in the end, at long last, ultimately, eventually: We were finally able to get the plumber to repair the leaking pipe.

fine adj. 1. excellent, superior, superb, choice, exquisite, perfect: After living in France, we developed a taste for fine foods and wines. 2. thin, minute; powdered: The holes in the strainer are too fine to allow the noodles to pass through. The stone was ground down to a fine consistency. ant. 1. inferior, poor, squalid. 2. coarse, broad.

finicky adj. finical, fussy, fastidious, meticulous: She may be very finicky about her food and clothes, but her house is a mess.

finish vb. 1. end, terminate, close, conclude: The opera finished on a note of triumph. Please finish whatever you are doing so that you can help me wash the dishes. 2. consume, use up, complete: Finish your lima beans and then we'll see if you deserve ice cream for dessert. n. 1. conclusion, end, close, termination: I've written a new finish for my play; do you want to read it? 2. surface, patina, polish: We had to have a new finish put on the table because you spilled paint on it. ant. vb. 1. begin, start, open. n. 1. opening, start, beginning.

firm adj. 1. rigid, stiff, solid; unchanging, inflexible, steadfast, unshakable: Quentin was firm in his conviction that his father was innocent of the theft. The house was on a firm foundation. 2. compact, dense, hard: For a really sound sleep, I prefer a firm mattress. n. company, business, concern; partnership, corporation: My uncle works for a firm that manufactures striped paint. ant. adj. 1. limp, drooping, soft, weak. 2. soft, squashy.

fishy adj. (informal) doubtful, questionable, suspicious: The police thought that his alibi of having spent the night alone in the Turkish baths was fishy. ant. credible, believable.

fit adj. 1. suited, suitable, appropriate, proper, fitting: It wasn't a fit night out for man or beast. 2. ready, prepared, suited, fitted: We had all our equipment and were fit to go camping. 3. healthy, robust: The doctor said I could keep fit if I continued to get exercise. vb. 1. conform: That dress doesn't fit you at all. 2. agree, suit, belong, harmonize: They made the punishment fit the crime. 3. equip, fit out, outfit, provide: We were fitted out for the safari by the biggest store in New York. After the robbery, we had to fit the window with new panes of glass. n. 1. conformation: The shoes were a good fit. 2. spasm, convulsion, seizure, attack: Dinah was doubled over in a fit of laughing.

fitting adj. suitable, apt, proper, due: It isn't fitting for a young person to be impolite to adults. ant. unsuitable, inappropriate, improper.

fix vb. 1. attach, rivet, cement, fasten, pin, tie, secure, affix: The teacher fixed the sign to the bulletin board. 2. repair, mend: The man at the shop on the corner can fix radios. 3. determine, establish, pinpoint: We fixed a time for my next appointment.

flair n. flamboyance, style, drama, panache, élan, dash: You may not like what Irena does, but you must admit that she does it with flair.

flamboyant adj. flashy, gaudy, showy, ostentatious: Beau's flamboyant clothes marked him as a man of little taste and no reserve.

flame n. fire, blaze: It was the flame from one match that caused the huge forest fire.

flash n. 1. flame, flare: The people's faces were lit up by the flash from the camera. 2. instant, wink, second, twinkling: In a flash, Santa Claus was back up the chimney. vb. gleam, sparkle, twinkle, glitter: Maureen's eyes flashed with anger.

flat adj. 1. level, even, smooth: The land was as flat as a pancake as far as the eye could see. 2. dull, uninteresting, boring, lifeless: We all found the play a little flat. adv. evenly, smoothly: That rug should lie flat on the floor. The poster was pasted down flat against the wall. ant. adj. 1. uneven, rough, bumpy. 2. interesting, stimulating.

flattery n. praise, compliment: Don't think that your flattery is going to make me like you any more.

flaunt vb. display, exhibit, parade, show off: Harold was rude in flaunting his new-found wealth before his poverty-stricken relations. ant. hide, conceal.

flavor n. 1. taste, savor, tang: This soup has the flavor of lemon. 2. quality, characteristic, essence, character: That painting really gives you the flavor of the sea. vb. season, spice: Vickie flavored the salad dressing with cheese.

flaw n. imperfection, spot, fault, blemish, defect: The manufacturer called back all of the new model cars because there was a flaw in the brake system.

flee vb. run away, desert, escape: When we saw the watchdog coming toward us, we all fled.

fleece vb. purloin, steal, rob, filch; swindle, cheat, defraud: Sylvia was known to have fleeced eight elderly ladies out of their life savings.

fleet adj. swift, fast, rapid, quick: In ancient times, the news was carried by fleet runners between towns. ant. slow, sluggish.

fleeting adj. temporary, brief, passing, swift: I caught only a fleeting glance at the sign as we sped by and couldn't read it. ant. permanent, fixed, stable, lasting.

flexible adj. 1. elastic, supple, pliant, pliable: You'll need a flexible wire to reach into that clogged drain. 2. yielding, easy, agreeable, adaptable: My plans for this evening are flexible, so I can meet you at any time. ant. inflexible, rigid, firm, unyielding, fixed.

flighty adj. frivolous, giddy, irresponsible, light-headed: Eustace cannot be relied upon because he's just too flighty. ant. steady, solid, responsible.

flimsy adj. weak, wobbly, frail, fragile: I wouldn't put that heavy sculpture on such a flimsy table. Saying that he had a pain in his toe was giving a pretty flimsy excuse for staying home. ant. strong, firm, stable.

fling vb. toss, throw, pitch: Walter flung the curtain aside and stepped into the room. n. party, celebration, fun: Roberta has had her fling and can now get back to more serious things.

flit vb. fly, skim, dart: The hummingbird flits from flower to flower drinking up the nectar.

flock n. group, gathering; herd, flight, swarm, school: A flock of birds flew about in the sky over the meadow.

flood n. deluge, overflow: After two weeks of rain, we knew that the river would rise over its banks and cause a flood. vb. deluge, overflow, inundate: When the sink drain clogged up, the water flooded the bathroom floor.

flourish vb. 1. grow, succeed, prosper: Because of his hard work, Dick's business flourished, and he was soon employing twenty people. 2. wave, brandish: The Samurai flourished his great sword. ant. 1. decline, die.

flout vb. scorn, disdain, ignore, fly in the face of, spurn: If you are going to flout convention, you must pay the consequences.

flow vb. 1. stream, pour, run: The millstream flowed right under the middle of the building. 2. spurt, squirt, gush, spout: We couldn't stop the oil from flowing out of the broken pipe. n. outpouring, discharge, stream: The doctor first tried to stop the flow of blood from the wound.

fluent adj. flowing, glib: I am not yet fluent in Spanish.

fluid n. liquid; gas: Water is one of the most common fluids on earth. adj. liquid, liquefied, running; gaseous: You have to heat the butter or lard until it is fluid for this recipe.

flush adj. even, level, flat: Then we sanded down the door of the cabinet till it was flush with the top.

fluster vb. agitate, flurry, make nervous or uneasy, rattle, upset: Inez was so flustered by the surprise birthday party that she couldn't say a word.

fly vb. 1. soar, wing, hover, flit: At the sound of our footsteps, the scarlet bird flew away. 2. flee, escape, withdraw: The minute the door was left open unguarded, the prisoners flew out.

foam n. lather, froth: Ed's father explained that one isn't supposed to use shaving foam with an electric razor.

foe n. enemy, adversary, antagonist, opponent: We met the foe on the battlefield and finally conquered them all. ant. friend, ally.

- fog n. 1. mist, cloud, haze: We couldn't see our way in the dense fog. 2. confusion, daze, stupor: Millie is in such a fog that she hardly recognizes her friends. vb. befog, steam, obscure, blur: The windshield was fogged by our breath.
- foible n. weakness, failing, frailty: Sympathy and sentimentality are common human foibles, according to some people.
- fold vb. 1. double, lap, overlap: After folding your paper in half, write your name at the top on the left. 2. clasp: Ricky folded his arms across his chest and waited for Vincent to do something. n. lap, pleat, tuck, overlap: Put two folds into the napkin when you set the table.
- follow vb. 1. succeed, ensue: Let's play "follow the leader." The mother duck swims along first, and the baby ducklings follow. 2. obey, heed, observe: If you want to play any game at all, you must follow the rules. 3. chase, pursue, track; trace: Bloodhounds can follow even the faintest scent. ant. 1. lead.
- follower n. pupil, disciple: The followers of the founder of the new religion gave him enormous amounts of money. ant. leader.
- following n. supporters, disciples, public: For a young man, he has quite a large following.
- folly n. silliness, stupidity: People once thought that steam engines wouldn't work, so they called the first steamboat "Fulton's Folly."
- fond adj. 1. attached, affectionate: I am very fond of chocolate ice cream. 2. affectionate, loving, tender: Carolyn was aware of the fond looks being given her by Patrick.
- fondness n. liking, affection, partiality: We have all developed a fondness for Valerie. ant. unfriendliness, hostility.
- food n. sustenance, bread, victuals, provisions: The price of food has increased by more than 10 percent during the period.
- fool n. 1. clown, jester: The king always insisted on having the fool at his side. 2. idiot, dolt, dope, dunce, simpleton, blockhead, ninny, nincompoop, nitwit, oaf, jackass, buffoon, goose: If you think you can commit a crime without getting caught, you are a fool. vb. 1. jest, joke, play: I didn't mean anything cruel—I was just fooling. 2. deceive, trick, hoax, hoodwink: The magician had us all fooled—we were sure the hat was empty, but he pulled two rabbits from it!
- foolish adj. silly, senseless, stupid, simple: Playing with matches is one of the most foolish things you could do. ant. sensible, sound, reasonable, rational.

- footing n. basis, foundation, base: If you are going to collect the money, we shall have to put the agreement on a different footing.
- forbid vb. ban, disallow, prohibit, prevent: I think they ought to forbid parking in front of the school. My mother forbade me to see that movie. ant. allow, permit, let.
- forbidding adj. unfriendly, hostile; sinister, evil: The forbidding look of the dark castle frightened me. ant. friendly; beneficent.
- force n. strength, power, energy, might: The force of the wind is strong enough to knock down that building. vb. 1. compel, oblige, coerce, make: I was forced to accept a purple car because it was the only one available. 2. drive, impel, push: We forced our way through the crowd.
- forceful adj. vigorous, energetic, dynamic: Donald Queasy doesn't have a forceful enough personality to make a successful salesman. ant. weak, namby-pamby.
- foreboding n. suspicion, apprehension, misgiving: It was with a sense of foreboding that Catherine entered the dark tunnel.
- foregoing adj. previous, preceding, former; above: The foregoing material was supplied by the researchers who worked on the project. ant. following; below.
- foreign adj. strange, unfamiliar, alien, different, exotic: Our neighbors come from many foreign countries. ant. familiar, ordinary, commonplace.
- foreigner n. alien, stranger, outsider, newcomer: I'm a foreigner in these parts myself, so I can't tell you where the bus stops. ant. native, resident.
- foreman n. supervisor, superintendent, super, overseer, boss: The foreman of that department has thirty men working for him.
- forest n. wood, woods, woodland, grove, copse: The children entered the forest and soon found a tiny house made of gingerbread.
- forestall vb. prevent, hinder, obstruct, thwart: Only if I am successful in persuading the committee to act quickly will we be able to forestall a financial disaster.
- foretell vb. predict, prophesy, divine: In the old days, people really believed that there were some who could foretell the future.
- forever adv. always, hereafter, evermore, everlastingly: Nobody lives forever. ant. temporarily, fleetingly.
- forgive vb. pardon, excuse: If you apologize, the teacher might forgive you. ant. censure, blame.

forgo vb. release, relinquish: If you buy that model, you'll have to forgo the price reduction.

form n. 1. shape, figure, outline: The prince disappeared, then reappeared in the form of a frog. 2. mold, pattern: My father made this form so that I could cast my own lead soldiers. 3. kind, sort, type, style: Vinyl is one of the many forms of plastic. 4. blank, paper, document: Please fill in this form on both sides. vb. 1. mold, fashion, make, model, construct: As we watched, the glassblower formed a goblet from a blob of molten glass. 2. instruct, teach, develop, educate: Many believe that parents have more influence in forming a child's mind than do teachers. 3. take shape, grow, develop, appear: I have watched clouds form in the sky directly over that mountain.

formal adj. 1. conventional, conformist: The formal way to do it is to send an application in by mail. 2. ceremonial, ritual: There will be a formal marriage ceremony at the church, and you are expected to wear formal clothes. ant. informal, unceremonious.

former adj. previous, earlier, erstwhile, one-time: There's my former English teacher, Miss Crumtooth. ant. present, current.

formidable adj. imposing, alarming, terrifying, frightful, terrible, horrifying: The knight was swinging a huge, formidable sword round and round his head. Ed is a formidable chess player.

forsake vb. desert, give up, abandon, forgo: We have forsaken life in the city for a healthier, happier life in the country.

forth adv. forward, onward, out: The young king rode forth to conquer the enemy.

forthright adj. direct, honest, candid, frank, outspoken: I wish you would be more forthright and tell me what you think. ant. devious, tricky, roundabout.

forthwith adv. immediately, at once, without delay: I was told to pack my belongings forthwith and to leave as soon as possible.

fortify vb. strengthen, bolster, buttress: The general fortified the town with a great wall and then fortified himself with a large whiskey.

fortunate adj. lucky, blessed, charmed: You are fortunate to have been brought up in a happy home. ant. unfortunate, unlucky, cursed.

fortune n. 1. luck, chance, lot, fate: By good fortune, the gypsies were very kind to the lost boy. 2. wealth, riches: Nellie will inherit a fortune when her grandfather dies.

forward adv. onward, ahead: We marched forward till given the order to halt. adj. 1. front, first, leading, foremost: The forward wagons sank into the marsh before they could stop. 2. rude, bold, arrogant, fresh, impertinent, impudent: Manuel's forward attitude made him few friends. ant. adv. backward, rearward. adj. 1. rearmost, last. 2. shy, demure, retiring.

foul adj. 1. dirty, filthy, unclean, impure, polluted: The people who live in that factory town are always breathing foul air. 2. evil, wicked, vile, sinful: What a foul deed! stabbing someone in the back! 3. stormy, bad, rainy: We sailed through some foul weather as we rounded Cape Horn. ant. 1. clean, pure, immaculate. 2. saintly, good. 3. clear, sunny, calm.

found vb. establish, organize: Our forefathers founded a great country.

foundation n. basis, establishment, ground: The foundations of liberty were the guiding principles of those men.

foxy adj. crafty, sly, cunning, artful, wily, shrewd, sharp, canny: It was very foxy of you to persuade Simonova to join the ballet and then defect to America. ant. naive.

fracture n. break, crack; rupture: There was a slight fracture in the dam, but it increased to a dangerous size overnight. vb. break, crack; rupture: When I fell, my arm was fractured in two places.

fragile adj. delicate, breakable, frail, weak: That package is fragile, and if you drop it, it will break. ant. sturdy, hardy, stout, strong.

fragment n. bit, part, piece, scrap, remnant: After the tank exploded, a fragment of it was found two miles away. ant. whole.

fragrance n. smell, odor, aroma, perfume, scent: The fragrance of the orange blossoms in the grove is very sweet.

fragrant adj. sweet-smelling, aromatic, perfumed, scented: The air in the florist's shop was fragrant from the flowers. ant. malodorous, noxious, smelly.

frail adj. weak, fragile, breakable, feeble, delicate: In the wheelchair sat a frail old lady. A stubbed toe is a frail excuse for being absent from school. ant. strong, sturdy, hardy, powerful.

frame n. 1. skeleton, framework, support: The frame of this house is too weak to support a slate roof. 2. border, molding: The paintings in the museum have gold frames around them. vb. 1. mount, enclose, border: I have sent the paint- ing of my father out to be framed. 2. plan, imagine, construct, structure, compose, outline: Let us try to frame our activities for the next few months.

frank adj. candid, open, forthright, honest, unreserved, sincere, direct: It isn't always a good idea to give others your frank opinion of them. ant. devious, dishonest, tricky.

frantic adj. wild, frenzied, delirious, excited; hysterical, mad, crazy: My mother was frantic with worry when I stayed out all night. ant. calm, tranquil, composed.

fraud n. deceit, trickery, treachery: The officers of the company that was selling the fake jewelry were arrested for fraud.

fraudulent adj. fake, deceitful, tricky, dishonest: These ten-dollar bills are fraudulent—they have Cary Grant's picture on them!

fray n. fight, brawl, battle, melee, tussle: After O'Brien jumped into the fray, it was all over in a few minutes, with everyone taken off to the police station.

freak n. monster, abnormality, oddity, curiosity: I was always scared to visit the freak show at the carnival.

free adj. 1. independent, unrestrained, liberated: America is a free country, but that doesn't mean it costs nothing to live there. 2. gratuitous, without charge: The shop was giving away one free candy bar for every five you bought. 3. loose, unfastened, unattached: We tied one end of the string to a tree and fixed the balloon to the free end. vb. release, liberate, set free, emancipate: Lincoln freed the slaves. The hunter freed the animals caught in the traps. ant. vb. enslave, entrap, snare.

freedom n. liberty, independence: People everywhere are struggling for freedom from want. ant. slavery, servitude, bondage.

freely adv. generously, liberally, unstintingly: Frobisher has always given freely of his time to the flower show committee.

freight n. cargo, load, shipping, shipment: This ship carries freight and has room for only twelve passengers besides the crew.

frenzy n. excitement, agitation; craze: Every time I mention your name, she goes into a frenzy of anger.

frequent adj. common, customary, habitual: The wren was a frequent visitor to the birdhouse near our garage. vb. habituate, visit often: The teacher noticed that you have been frequenting the library lately. ant. adj. infrequent, uncommon.

fresh adj. 1. recent, new, current, late: The farmer had already planted a fresh crop of wheat. These eggs are very fresh. 2. pure, sweet, drinkable, safe: This water from your own well is very fresh and doesn't taste of chemicals. 3. rested, healthy, energetic, vigorous: The Pony Express rider exchanged his tired horse for a fresh one. 4. different, original: We need some fresh ideas for the project. 5. inexperienced, unskilled, untrained: Let's give that young fellow a chance—he's fresh out of school. ant. 1. old, out-of-date. 2. impure, polluted, foul. 3. exhausted, tired. 4. stale, unoriginal. 5. mature, seasoned, experienced.

fret vb. worry, anguish, grieve; torment: I wish you wouldn't fret about me so much—I feel fine.

fretful adj. irritable, peevish, testy, touchy, short-tempered: The train was already an hour late, and we were getting fretful waiting. ant. calm, easygoing.

friend n. companion, acquaintance, crony, chum, mate: Anyone who isn't completely honest can't be a friend of mine. Nicole arrived with a few friends for the weekend. ant. enemy, foe.

friendship n. amity, fraternity, fellowship, comradeship, camaraderie: Our friendship is more important to me, and I shall refuse the job offer to go to Tierra del Fuego. ant. enmity.

fright n. fear, terror, alarm, panic: In his fright at seeing the lion right in his path, Steve's hair stood on end.

frighten vb. alarm, scare, terrify, panic: That dog's bark doesn't frighten me at all.

frigid adj. icy, freezing, cold, frosty, wintry, arctic, glacial: It's frigid in this room; why don't you put on the heat? The new member was given a frigid reception at the club.

fringe n. border, edge; hem, edging, trimming: The bedspread has a blue fringe with gold tassels at the corners.

frisky adj. lively, vivacious, active, spirited, animated, peppy: That frisky puppy has my best pair of slippers to chew on. ant. lethargic, lazy.

frolic vb. frisk, cavort, play, gambol, romp: You should have seen the school headmaster frolicking about on the beach last Sunday!

front n. 1. face, façade: The front of the house is painted green. 2. beginning, start, head: Paul always tries to sneak in at the front of the line for ice cream. vb. face, border, look out on: Our house fronts on the main street. ant. n. 1., 2. back, rear.

frontier n. boundary, border: The small group crossed the frontier into Switzerland at midnight.

frowzy adj. See dowdy.

fruitful adj. fertile, productive, rich, abundant: The farmers have had a fruitful harvest this year. ant. barren, lean, unproductive, fruitless.

fruitless adj. sterile, unproductive, barren; vain, futile: All efforts to convince Manny that he ought to get a job were fruitless. ant. fruitful, productive, fertile.

frustrate vb. defeat, discourage, prevent: My attempts to convince my mother to let me go on the picnic were frustrated by my father's arguments. ant. satisfy.

fugitive n. runaway, deserter, refugee: The fugitive from the jail break was found hiding in our garage.

fulfill vb. complete, do, accomplish, realize, effect, carry out: Fred has at last been able to fulfill his lifelong ambition to become a musician.

full adj. 1. filled, complete; replete: Don't talk with your mouth full. Since the heavy rains, the reservoir has been full. 2. taken, occupied, in use. Get to the movies early because later on, every seat will be full. ant. empty, vacant.

fulsome adj. nauseating, disgusting, nauseous, repulsive, revolting, repellent: As we entered the slaughterhouse, a fulsome stench assailed our nostrils.

fume n. smoke, vapor, steam, gas: The fumes from the back of the car were very strong. vb. 1. smoke: The smokestack fumed with a yellow fog. 2. rage, rave, storm: The customer was fuming because the waiter spilled the soup down his neck.

fun n. pleasure, amusement, entertainment, merriment, enjoyment, sport, gaiety: We all had lots of fun at Irene's party.

function n. 1. use; activity, operation: The function of a teacher is to teach; that of a student, to learn. The function of a watch is to keep accurate time. 2. ceremony, affair, celebration, party, gathering: The ambassador attended the function at the embassy. vb. operate, work, run: My new car doesn't function properly.

fundamental adj. basic, elementary, essential, principal, underlying, primary: The conservation of matter is a fundamental law of physics. n. basics, elements, essential, principle: Before learning the details, you must learn the fundamentals.

funny adj. humorous, amusing, droll, comic, comical, laughable. The speaker told funny stories after dinner. ant. unamusing, unfunny, humorless.

furious adj. enraged, angry: My mother was furious when she found that someone had eaten the pie she had made for dinner. ant. calm, serene.

furnish vb. 1. supply, provide: My uncle Harry is in business to furnish companies in the area with office equipment. 2. decorate, appoint, outfit: We winterized our attic and furnished two bedrooms there in Early American style.

furor n. tumult, commotion, turmoil, to-do: John's appointment as president caused a furor among the other company executives.

furthermore adv. further, also, moreover: Furthermore, I don't want to go because I have a headache.

furtive adj. underhand(ed), surreptitious, sneaky, clandestine, hidden, secret: Dick was the leader of a furtive move to oust the plant manager. ant. open; honest.

fury n. 1. rage, anger, wrath, frenzy: Imagine my father's fury when he found the scratch on his new car! 2. violence, ferocity, ferociousness, fierceness: After a short period of calm, the hurricane struck again in its full fury. ant. serenity, calmness.

fuss n. bother, ado, to-do, commotion: Why make so much fuss about some water on the kitchen floor? vb. bother, annoy, pester, irritate: I'll get the work done faster if you stop fussing at me about it.

futile adj. 1. useless, pointless, vain, idle, worthless: Trying to persuade Thomas to do his homework is futile during baseball season. 2. unimportant, minor, trivial: Don't waste your time in futile activities. ant. 1. worthwhile, valuable. 2. important, serious, weighty.

future adj. coming, to come, approaching, impending, imminent, destined: The future plans for our company were approved at the last meeting. ant. past, bygone, former.

fuzzy adj. blurred, indistinct, out-of-focus: I don't understand how you can tell that it's me in that fuzzy photograph. ant. clear, lucid.

- gab v. (informal) chatter, jabber, gossip, prattle, babble: Sam was just gabbing away, and I couldn't get a word in edgewise.
- gaiety n. cheerfulness, high spirits, high-spiritedness, light-heartedness, joyfulness, joyousness: There was much gaiety at the party. ant. depression, sadness.
- gain vb. 1. obtain, get, acquire, win, earn: The home team gained a victory in the last few minutes of the game. 2. improve, better, advance: The candidate was gaining in the farm districts. 3. increase in: Eating cake will make you gain weight. n. 1. profit: There was a 10 percent gain in earnings this year. 2. increase, improvement, advantage: We have been making gains in our fight against poverty. ant. vb. lose. n. loss.
- gala n. festival, fete, carnival, ball, party: The charity organizers held a gala to raise funds to help the poor.
- gall¹ n. impudence, audacity, cheek, face, nerve: With all your money, you certainly have a lot of gall asking for a handout!
- gall² vb. irritate, annoy, vex, provoke, anger: It galls me to think that what she spends for one dinner in a restaurant could feed a family of four for a week.
- gallant adj. 1. brave, valiant, valorous, bold, courageous: Many gallant soldiers died in that battle. 2. polite, courteous, noble: Our grandfather had a reputation among the ladies for being gallant.
- gamble vb. 1. bet, wager, game: The countess gambled until she lost all of her money at the casino. 2. risk, hazard, venture: Don't gamble with your health. n. chance, risk: It's a gamble whether my talk with Lester will do any good.
- gambol vb. See frolic.
- game n. 1. amusement, entertainment, play, sport, pastime: The games will start as soon as all of the children arrive. 2. contest, competition: The game between the two teams was canceled because of rain.
- gang n. band, troop, group, company, crew; horde: The ship was captured by a gang of pirates.
- gangster n. hoodlum, crook, criminal, gunman, hit man; soldier: There was a rumor that gangsters were in control of the racetrack.

- gap n. space, interval; break: There's a gap between the floor and the wall.
- garb n. dress, costume, clothing, clothes, apparel, attire: I'm not sure the headwaiter will allow you into the restaurant in that outlandish garb.
- garbage n. trash, rubbish, refuse, waste: If you're going out, please take the garbage.
- garbled adj. distorted, twisted, mixed-up, confused: He told me some garbled story about pirates and witchcraft that I couldn't make heads or tails of. ant. clear, straight.
- garments n. pl. clothing, clothes, attire, garb, apparel: The dry cleaner delivered some garments and I put them into your closet.
- gasp vb. puff, pant, wheeze: Harold finally reached the surface of the pond, gasping for breath.
- gather vb. 1. assemble, collect, accumulate, come or bring together: At Christmas, we gather our friends around us for a party. The relatives of the slain man gathered at the grave. 2. understand, learn, assume: I gathered from what the teacher said that the exam would be next week. ant. 1. disperse, scatter, dispel.
- gathering n. crowd, meeting, assembly, company, throng: There was a huge gathering on the steps of the courthouse.
- gaudy adj. flashy, showy, ostentatious, loud, bold: I wish you wouldn't wear such gaudy clothes to church.
- gaunt adj. lean, meager, spare, wasted, underfed, undernourished: The mountain climbers returned after a month, looking gaunt and exhausted.
- gay adj. 1. joyful, joyous, jovial, gleeful, merry, cheerful, happy: What a gay time we had at Cecile's house last night! 2. bright, colorful, brilliant: The ballroom was decorated in gay colors for the dance. ant. sad, mournful, somber, sorrowful.
- gaze vb. stare, gape, goggle at, look: The magician gazed deep into my eyes, trying to hypnotize me.
- general adj. 1. indefinite, miscellaneous, inexact, vague: Our general plans call for leaving tomorrow, but we haven't worked out the details yet. 2. common, usual, regular, customary: The general way to do it isn't good enough. ant. 1. definite, specific, exact, precise.
- generally adv. usually, customarily, ordinarily, as a rule: The doctor is generally at the hospital in the morning. ant. rarely.
- generate vb. create, produce, make: That small business doesn't generate enough income to keep the family alive. The atomic plant on the river generates electricity for the entire area.

generous adj. 1. charitable, liberal, unselfish: Mr. Storm made a generous contribution to the museum. 2. noble, big, honorable: The committee has been very generous with its efforts to help the poor. ant. 1. stingy, mean, selfish, tightfisted.

genius n. 1. ability, talent, intellect, gift, aptitude: My brother has a genius for mathematics. 2. prodigy, brain: My brother is a genius at mathematics.

gentle adj. 1. friendly, amiable, mild, kindly, kind: Ken is so gentle he'd never say anything to hurt anyone's feelings. 2. tame, cultivated, civilized: That tiger cub is as gentle as a lamb. ant. 1. mean, nasty. 2. rough, uncouth.

genuine adj. 1. real, actual, true: If that were a genuine diamond, you'd be able to scratch glass with it. 2. sincere, unaffected, definite: When I told you that I loved you, my feelings were completely genuine. ant. 1. fake, bogus, counterfeit, false. 2. insincere, pretended, sham.

gesture n. movement, move; sign, signal: At the slightest gesture from his master, the poodle would do the most wonderful tricks. vb. motion, signal: The boss gestured and the thugs at once drew their pistol.

get vb. 1. acquire, obtain, secure, procure, gain: Where did you get that funny hat? 2. fetch: Go and get your coat: we're leaving. 3. remove, carry, take: Get that bicycle out of the street! 4. prepare, ready, make ready: You'll have to get your own breakfast. 5. persuade, induce, urge: Sam can get anyone to do anything. 6. come, approach, near: Get over here to my house as soon as you can. 7. arrive at, reach, come to: When does the circus get to town? vb. phr. 1. get along succeed, prosper: Will he be able to get along without his mother? 2. get by manage, survive: I'll get by all right on three dollars a week. 3. get in enter; arrive: Get in the car at once! My train gets in at noon. 4. get off disembark, alight: The train stopped with a jerk and he got off. 5. get over overcome, recover, survive: My father got malaria during the war and he's never gotten over it. 6. get up arise, rise: I get up at seven o'clock to go to school.

ghastly adj. 1. horrifying, horrible, macabre, frightful, frightening, dreadful, hideous, grisly: Being in a war is a ghastly experience. 2. pale, wan, white, deathly: When Clarissa hung up the phone, she looked ghastly.

ghost n. 1. specter, phantom, spirit, spook: Have you ever seen a ghost? 2. trace, vestige, hint, suggestion: Without a lot of practice, our team hasn't the ghost of a chance to win the game.

giant n. colossus, Goliath, Cyclops, monster: The giant broke the telephone pole as if it were a matchstick. adj. gigantic, huge, colossal, monstrous, enormous: I had a giant ice-cream cone and now I can't eat my dinner. ant. n. dwarf, midget, runt. adj. small, tiny, minuscule, infinitesimal.

gift n. 1. present, offering, donation: Although I like to receive gifts, I get much pleasure from giving them, too. 2. talent, genius, ability, aptitude: Martin's gift for playing the kazoo won him a scholarship.

gigantic adj. huge, enormous, giant, large: I never realized how gigantic the moon rockets were until I saw one. ant. small, little, tiny, infinitesimal.

gingerly adj. cautiously gentle: We made a gingerly progress along the slope of the cliff. adv. carefully, cautiously, gently: The police bomb squad handled the mysterious package very gingerly. ant. adv. roughly.

give vb. 1. furnish, provide, donate, supply, contribute, grant, present: I never realized how much your father has given to the town, both in time and money. 2. yield, give in, give way: I felt the floor begin to give a little where we were standing. 3. produce, develop, yield: This orchard won't give fruit for seven years. 4. sacrifice, give up, donate: I have but one life to give for my country. vb. phr. give away betray, reveal, divulge: Whenever Peter tells a lie, he gives himself away by stuttering. give in yield, submit, surrender; admit: The weather was so beautiful that the teacher finally gave in and let the children go home early. When they tortured him, he finally gave in and told them where the money was hidden. give off emit, give off: The chemicals give off a smell like burning rubber. give out a. distribute, deal, dole: The man at the corner is giving out free chewing gum. b. weaken, tire: My arm gave out and I couldn't play tennis anymore. c. publish, make known or public, publicize, advertise: The office refused to give out any details of the crime till the police arrived. give up a. stop, cease, discontinue, end: I've tried to give up smoking, but I can't. b. surrender, yield, submit, cede: The robbers gave up when surrounded by the police. ant. vb. 1. take.

glad adj. 1. pleased, happy, satisfied, delighted: I'm so glad that you're coming to my party! 2. cheerful, happy, joyous, joyful: I heard the glad tidings: Marie is going to get married! ant. 1. unhappy, sad, morose. 2. gloomy, somber, dismal.

glamour n. allure, charm, attraction: We'll never again see the glamour of Hollywood in the 1930s.

glance vb. 1. peek, glimpse, look: She glanced in my direction, and I knew I had to meet her somehow. 2. reflect, rebound, ricochet: The bullet glanced off the wall and buried itself in the mattress. n. peek, glimpse, look: I caught a glance of the car as it sped around the corner.

glare n. dazzle, flash, brilliance: I couldn't make out who it was in the glare of the spotlight. vb. scowl, start: The speaker would glare in the direction of anyone who caused a disturbance.

glaring adj. obvious, prominent, flagrant, blatant: The glaring error in the budget is the price of ball-point pens at $2 each.

glassy adj. vacant, empty, blank, emotionless: Every time I asked him a question, he would give me that glassy stare.

gleam n. 1. glimmer, glimmering, flash: At that moment, I caught the gleam of a light in the depths of the cave. 2. shine, reflection, sparkle: The gleam of candlelight on silver and crystal will always remind me of my father's home. vb. shine, sparkle, glimmer: The moon gleaming on the water looked like a silver path to the horizon.

glide vb. slide, slip, flow: We went gliding along in the canoe, not making a sound on the still water of the lake.

glimpse n. peek, glance, impression: We caught glimpses of the mountain ahead of us through the trees.

glisten vb. shine, glitter, shimmer, glimmer, sparkle, glisten: Mandy's eyes glistened with tears as she was told about her kitten's death.

glitter vb. sparkle, glisten, shimmer, glimmer, shine: The calm sea glittered in the sunlight. n. light, splendor: The train dived with a roar into the tunnel beneath the glitter and swank of Park Avenue.

global adj. worldwide, international, universal; round-the-world: The United Nations is a global organization. We made a global flight in just 48 hours.

globe n. sphere, orb, ball: The astronauts could see the earth hanging in space like a blue globe.

gloom n. 1. darkness, shade, shadows, dimness: I heard footsteps but could see nothing in the gloom. 2. sadness, melancholy: A feeling of gloom came over us when we thought about the hungry people. ant. 1. brightness. 2. cheerfulness, happiness.

gloomy adj. 1. sad, melancholy, morose, downcast, downhearted, glum, unhappy: The news that the movie theater was to close made us all gloomy. 2. dark, dim, shadowy, dismal: The old, gloomy house had not been lived in for years—except by ghosts. ant. 1. happy, cheerful, merry, highspirited. 2. sunny, bright.

glorious adj. 1. famous, renowned, noted, famed, distinguished, splendid, celebrated: It is our glorious tradition that attracts members to the club. 2. delightful, admirable, wonderful: I've had a glorious day here in New England.

glory n. 1. honor, eminence, renown: His bravery in battle has won him much glory. 2. splendor, magnificence, grandeur: Can we ever forget the glory that was Greece?

glossary n. lexicon, dictionary: If there are any words you don't understand, they are explained in the glossary.

glossy adj. shiny, smooth, polished, glistening, sleek: I don't know how you get that glossy finish on your furniture. ant. dull, matte.

glow n. 1. gleam, light: I saw the glow of the city against the sky as we approached. 2. warmth, heat: The fire cast a warm glow on the children's faces. vb. 1. gleam, glimmer, shine: The hot embers glowed in the fireplace after the flames died down. 2. radiate, shine: Their faces glowed with the expectation that Santa Claus would soon be there.

glowing adj. favorable, complimentary, enthusiastic: Her former employer has given her a glowing reference.

glum adj. sad, gloomy, dismal, sullen, unhappy, dejected: Ever since Sophie's cat died, she's been very glum. ant. happy, cheerful.

gluttony n. hoggishness, piggishness, swinishness, insatiability: Gluttony is one of the seven deadly sins.

gnaw vb. eat, chew, erode: The dog gnawed hungrily at the bone. The feeling that I had forgotten something gnawed at me.

go vb. 1. leave, depart, withdraw: All evening long, people kept coming and going in the large hall. 2. proceed, move, travel; progress: Let's go to the movies. My parents went to California for a holiday. 3. become: Stop teasing me or I'll go crazy. 4. agree, harmonize, fit, suit: That tie doesn't go with that shirt. 5. operate, function, work, run: The car won't go unless you have the key. 6. pass, elapse: When you're busy, the day goes very quickly. vb. phr. 1. go by pass, proceed. I go by your house every morning. Why do the days seem to go by so slowly? 2. go off explode, blow up: Don't let that firecracker go off in your hand! 3. go on a. continue, persevere, persist: I just can't go on without you. b. happen, take place, occur: At our house there's a lot going on all of the time. 4. go over examine, scan, study: The doctor went over me with a fine-tooth comb. 5. go through experience, undergo, endure: Please don't ask me any more questions: I've gone through enough for one day. 6. go with harmonize, match, suit, agree, compliment: This gray hat will go with almost anything in my wardrobe. 7. go without want, need, require, sacrifice: When times are hard, we sometimes have to go without. ant. vb. 1. come.

goad vb. prod, stimulate, spur; incite, provoke: She goaded her husband into buying her a fur coat.

goings-on n. pl. events, occurrences, happenings; revelry, celebration: With such goings-on, I am surprised anyone was in bed before 3 A.M.

good adj. 1. qualified, suited, suitable, apt, proper, capable, fit: We have had a great many good applicants for the opening. 2. generous, kindly, kind, friendly, gracious, obliging: There's nothing more important in the country than having good neighbors. 3. pleasant, agreeable, pleasurable, satisfactory, fine: Did you have a good time at the party? 4. well-behaved, obedient, proper: If you're a good girl, you can have ice cream for dessert. 5. healthy, sound, normal: You have good hearing to be able to hear a footstep at that distance! 6. honorable, reliable, trustworthy, safe: Don't worry about lending John a quarter—he's good for the money. 7. favorable, excellent, profitable: Business prospects are good for the future. n. 1. benefit, welfare, advantage, profit: You'll do it now, if you understand it's for your own good. 2. virtue, righteousness: Embrace the good and shun evil. ant. bad. 3. kindness, beneficence: The good that men do is often buried with them when they die. ant. evil.

good-bye interj. so long, see you soon, adios, au revoir, auf Wiedersehen, adieu, farewell: I had to say good-bye to my parents at the railway station.

good-for-nothing adj. worthless, valueless, useless: I wish you'd get rid of that good-for-nothing coffee-pot once and for all. n. idler, malingerer, lazybones, sluggard: My brother-in-law is a good-for-nothing who hasn't worked for five years.

good-hearted adj. kind, kindhearted, good; considerate, thoughtful: Sally's mother is a good-hearted old soul who makes the best gooseberry pie I've ever tasted. ant. evil-hearted.

good-humored adj. cheerful, pleasant, sunny, amiable, good-natured: Herman is so good-humored that I can't imagine his saying anything cruel. ant. cranky, petulant.

goodness n. honesty, virtue, good, integrity: Even in the most evil human being there is some goodness. ant. dishonesty, badness, evil, corruption, sin.

gorge n. pass, defile, ravine: The outlaws lay in wait for the stagecoach at the edge of the gorge. vb. stuff, cram, fill: Of course you can't eat your dinner after gorging yourself on popcorn.

gorgeous adj. splendid, magnificent, grand, dazzling: The peacock has a truly gorgeous tail. ant. ugly, homely, squalid.

gossip n. 1. prattle, prate, hearsay, rumor: Don't believe what you hear about Henry—it's just gossip. 2. blabbermouth, meddler, snoop, tattler: That nosy Mrs. Parker is just a back-fence gossip. vb. prattle, tattle, chatter, blab: I knew they must have been gossiping about me because they stopped talking the minute they saw me.

gourmet n. gastronome, gourmand, connoisseur: The Bell Inn is a gourmet's paradise.

govern vb. rule, control, guide, run; command: The new President governs as he sees fit. The laws governing the use of firearms are complicated.

government n. 1. rule, control, command, direction, authority, jurisdiction: The United States has a democratic form of government. 2. administration, regime: The government has the power to levy taxes.

gown n. dress, frock; robe: Hortense wore a blue silk floor-length gown to the party.

grab vb. seize, clutch, grasp: As we were leaving the party, Steve grabbed me and pulled me aside to whisper something in my ear.

grace n. 1. gracefulness, ease, elegance: I admire the grace with which you got rid of that awful bore. 2. charm, attractiveness, beauty: The princess is noted for her grace.

gracious adj. 1. kind, friendly; courteous, polite: It was very gracious of you to allow me to invite my friend for dinner. 2. tender, merciful, mild, gentle: How gracious your wife is to take care of me when I'm ill. ant. 1. rude, impolite, discourteous, thoughtless.

gradual adj. little by little, slow, moderate: A gradual change came over the doctor until he turned into a beast before our very eyes. ant. sudden, swift, abrupt.

graft n. cheating, fraud, dishonesty, theft, corruption: The entire town council was being investigated for graft.

grand adj. 1. splendid, elaborate, great, royal, stately: The Rockefellers have always lived in a grand style. 2. fine, noble, dignified: My grandfather was truly a grand old man. 3. chief, principal, main: We had dinner in the grand ballroom. ant. 1. humble, modest, unassuming.

grant vb. 1. give, bestow, confer, award: Larry was granted a leave of absence from the university. 2. agree, allow, concede, accept: The detective granted that I couldn't have been at the scene of the crime. n. award, bequest, gift: My sister received a $1,000 grant for study abroad. ant. vb. 1. deny.

grasp vb. 1. seize, hold, grab, clasp, grip, clutch: Howard grasped the gun by the barrel and wrenched it from the robber's hand. 2. perceive, understand, comprehend: I don't quite grasp what you're trying to tell me. n. 1. grip, clutches, clasp, hold: The coin fell from my grasp and slipped down between the bars of the sewer grating. 2. reach, understanding, capacity: That book is beyond the grasp of a seven-year-old.

grasping adj. greedy, acquisitive; possessive, selfish: Jones is a grasping old man who made his fortune by taking advantage of others. ant. generous.

grateful adj. appreciative, thankful: The president of the charity drive was very grateful for your contribution. ant. ungrateful, thankless, grudging.

gratify vb. satisfy, please: I was very gratified to see the results of the examination. ant. frustrate.

gratuity n. tip, baksheesh, cumshaw, pourboire: The menu says that gratuities are included in the price of the meal.

grave adj. 1. sober, thoughtful, solemn, serious: When I saw the doctor's grave expression, I knew something was wrong. 2. important, serious, weighty: If we don't catch that poisonous snake, we shall have a grave problem. ant. 1. happy, merry, frivolous, jolly. 2. trivial, unimportant.

gravity n. seriousness, importance; concern: It wasn't until fourteen people were hospitalized that we realized the gravity of the disease. ant. triviality.

great adj. 1. large, big, huge, enormous, immense, gigantic: A great mountain loomed over us. 2. noteworthy, worthy, distinguished, remarkable: Those who wrote the Constitu- tion of the United States were great men. 3. chief, leading, main, principal: Sheldon has always been a great friend of mine. ant. 1. small, diminutive. 2. insignificant, trivial. 3. minor.

greed n. avarice, greediness, covetousness: The mayor's greed led him to steal money from the city's treasury. ant. generosity, selflessness, unselfishness.

greedy adj. selfish, covetous, grasping, avaricious: The greedy old man ate all of the food and left nothing for his children. ant. generous, giving, unselfish.

green adj. inexperienced, naive, unsophisticated, amateurish: When I first started working here, I was so green that I let them send me to the foreman for a gallon of striped paint.

greet vb. meet, welcome: The town sent a band down to the train to greet the returning hero.

grief n. sorrow, sadness, distress, suffering, anguish, woe, misery: The mother's grief over her son's dying was not hard to understand. ant. joy.

grievance n. complaint; accusation: The workers' main grievance was that there was no provision for their safety.

grieve vb. 1. lament, mourn, weep: Peggy grieved over the loss of her puppy for weeks. 2. distress, sorrow, sadden, hurt: It grieves me to realize that all people are not honest. ant. rejoice, celebrate.

grievous adj. dreadful, awful, gross, shameful, outrageous, regrettable, lamentable: Lending Bobby my car turned out to have been a grievous error.

grim adj. 1. stern, severe, harsh: The principal gave the students a grim warning about writing on the walls. 2. ghastly, sinister, frightful, horrible, grisly: The skull nailed to the tree was a grim reminder that we were far from being safe.

grind vb. 1. powder, pulverize, mill, crush: The corn was ground to meal between the two stones. 2. sharpen; smooth, even: Try to grind down the rough spots.

grip n. 1. hold, grasp, clutch, clasp: My grip on the branch was weakening and I was about to plummet to the rocks below. 2. suitcase, valise, satchel, bag: I want to check these grips and pick them up later. vb. seize, grasp, hold, clutch: Grip the handle tightly and don't let go until I tell you to.

groan vb. moan; sob: Did you have a bad dream? I heard you groaning in your sleep last night.

groggy adj. stupefied, dazed, stunned, dopy, drugged: I felt a bit groggy after taking the medicine. ant. alert.

- groove n. slot, channel, scratch, furrow: The carpenter cut a groove in each board to support the shelf.
- gross adj. 1. improper, rude, coarse, indecent, crude, vulgar: Please don't use gross language around me. 2. outrageous, extreme, grievous, shameful: The innocent man's conviction was a gross miscarriage of justice. ant. 1. refined, cultivated, polite.
- grotesque adj. weird, bizarre, strange, odd, peculiar, freakish, queer: Basil used to play the most grotesque practical jokes on his butler.
- grouchy adj. grumpy, cantankerous, surly: You're always so grouchy before breakfast!
- ground n. 1. land, earth, soil: My great-grandfather built his log cabin on a small plot of ground. 2. grounds basis, foundation, base: You have no grounds for saying such things about me. vb. train, educate, instruct: I was well grounded in history.
- groundless adj. unfounded, baseless: Your assumption that I was the guilty one was groundless.
- group n. gathering, collection, set, assembly, assemblage: A group of us went out for pizza. There is an interesting group of exhibits at this end of the hall. vb. gather, collect; sort, classify: Group all of the red flowers together.
- grow vb. 1. enlarge, increase, swell, expand: Watch that house grow. 2. develop, flower: The rosebushes grow very well in this soil. 3. cultivate, raise, produce, nurture: My father grows tomatoes every year. ant. 1. shrink, decrease.
- growth n. increase, development: The growth of that sunflower has been incredible!
- grudge n. resentment, ill will, spite, bitterness: He has a grudge against me because I took away his girl friend.
- gruesome adj. ghastly, grisly, hideous, horrifying, horrible: During the war, the Nazis did many gruesome experiments on the prisoners in the concentration camps.
- grumble vb. complain, protest, fuss: Frances grumbled a bit when her mother wouldn't allow her to go to the dance.
- grumpy adj. See grouchy.
- guarantee n. warranty, commitment, promise, pledge: The manufacturer's guarantee says that he will replace any defective parts for nothing. vb. warrant, promise, pledge, insure: I can safely guarantee you'll be home before midnight.
- guard vb. protect, preserve, shield, defend: Two armed men were guarding the bank. You must guard against catching a cold. n. protector, sentry, watchman, sentinel: There is a - guard at every door during the king's visit.* ant. vb. neglect, ignore, disregard.

- guarded adj. careful, cautious, discreet: The guarded replies she gave to the detective's questions hinted that she might know more than she was telling. ant. careless, indiscreet.
- guess vb. suppose, think, imagine, believe: Now that your work is finished, I guess you'll be leaving. n. notion, opinion, hypothesis, theory: I'll give you three guesses how I got here last night. ant. vb. know.
- guest n. visitor, caller, company: I see from the extra table setting that you are expecting a guest for dinner. ant. host.
- guide vb. 1. lead, direct, conduct, steer, pilot: I wish I had someone who could guide me through the forest. 2. influence, affect: Let good judgment guide you throughout your life. n. director, pilot, steersman, leader: We were able to hire a Sherpa guide for the climb. ant. vb. 1. follow. n. follower.
- guileless adj. innocent, open, sincere, naive, simple: Charlotte is far too guileless to have hatched a plot to steal the jewels. ant. plotting, treacherous.
- guilt n. blame, fault; sin, offense, misstep: Why do people who do something wrong often try to pin the guilt on someone else?
- guilty adj. responsible, culpable, blameworthy: The jury found the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree. ant. innocent, blameless, guiltless.
- gulf n. 1. chasm, abyss, ravine, canyon: The gulf that separated us from the lion was fortunately too wide for him to leap over. 2. inlet, sound, bay: Have you ever been in the Gulf of Mexico?
- gullible adj. unsuspecting, trustful, unsuspicious, innocent: Maurice is gullible enough to believe that the moon is made of green cheese. ant. sophisticated, skeptical.
- gush vb. spurt, flow, pour, stream: The water gushed from the drains during the storm.
- gutter n. drain, trough, ditch, sewer: As the car passed close by, it splashed water from the gutter all over my shoes and stockings.

- habit n. 1. addiction, compulsion, disposition: Reginald has a nasty habit of chewing his nails. 2. custom, practice: You ought to get into the habit of brushing your teeth after every meal.
- habitation n. dwelling, abode, home: Human habitations were cut into the cliffside.
- habitual adj. customary, usual, regular, routine, ordinary: It was habitual for him to stop at his club for a drink every day at 6 P.M. ant. unusual, rare.
- haggard adj. gaunt, drawn, worn, careworn: After driving through the storm for six hours, Noel's father looked very haggard. ant. fresh, animated, bright, clear-eyed.
- haggle vb. bargain, dicker: The shopkeeper wanted too much for the necklace, so we haggled and I bought it for half of what he had originally asked.
- hail vb. greet, welcome, address: The tax refund was hailed by many as the solution to the crisis.
- hairdo n. coiffure, hairstyle, haircut: Jane's new upswept hairdo reminds me of the 1940s.
- hale adj. hearty, healthy, robust, vigorous: Despite three days and nights in the open boat, the boys were found to be quite hale. ant. feeble, weak.
- halfhearted adj. indifferent, uncaring, cool, unenthusiastic: Wilbur made a halfhearted attempt at water-skiing, but fell in each time. ant. enthusiastic, eager, earnest.
- halfwit n. dunce, idiot, dope, fool, simpleton: Anybody who would spend three hours trying to find a bucket of steam must be a real halfwit.
- hall n. passage, corridor, hallway; vestibule, lobby, foyer: I was standing in the hall outside the classroom when you came along.
- hallucination n. mirage, illusion, vision, dream, fantasy: I had thought you dead, so when you walked in, I thought I was having hallucinations.
- halt vb. stop, cease, hold: The train halted in the station to discharge and receive passengers. n. stop, end: The government has called a halt to sugar rationing. ant. vb. start, begin. n. start, beginning.
- hamper vb. hinder, prevent, obstruct, thwart: I was hampered

- from swimming by my clothes and heavy shoes.* n. basket, creel: We carried our sandwiches in a wicker hamper.
- hand n. 1. helper, farmhand, assistant, laborer: We have three hired hands at the farm. 2. aid, help, support: Can someone please give me a hand with this piano? n. phr. 1. at hand near, nearby, close: The boy's tenth birthday was at hand. 2. by hand manually: This desk was made entirely by hand. on hand available, ready, convenient, in stock: We always keep spare parts for the engine on hand. vb. give, pass, deliver: Please hand me that wrench. vb. phr. 1. hand down pass on, bequeath, give: The hunting rifle has been handed down for more than seventy years. 2. hand in deliver, submit, give: We handed in our compositions yesterday. 3. hand out distribute, pass out: A man in the street was handing out these leaflets.
- handicap n. disadvantage, hindrance: In spite of great improvement, the color of a person's skin can still be a handicap.
- handily adv. easily, skillfully, dexterously, readily, smoothly, deftly, adroitly: McArthur beat Leech handily, six games to one, and won the tennis trophy.
- handsome adj. 1. good-looking, fine, comely: Don is as handsome as a movie star. 2. generous, large, big, liberal, ample: My employer gave me a handsome bonus at Christmas. ant. 1. ugly, homely, unattractive. 2. mean, petty, stingy, niggardly.
- handy adj. 1. ready, at hand, near, nearby, close: When the Indians were on the warpath, the pioneers always kept their guns handy. 2. helpful, clever, useful: A can opener is a very handy gadget. ant. inconvenient.
- hang vb. 1. suspend, dangle, drape: The flag was hung from the railing of the balcony. 2. execute, kill, lynch: The murderer was hanged the next morning.
- happen vb. occur, take place, come to pass: We'll probably never know the truth of what happened when they were marooned on the desert island.
- happiness n. joy, delight, joyfulness, joyousness, elation, ecstasy: Children can bring so much happiness into a home. ant. sadness, gloom, melancholy.
- happy adj. 1. pleased, contented; satisfied: I'm so happy to see you I could hug you! Jimmy was happy to be home again. 2. lucky, fortunate: By a happy coincidence, the policeman came along just then and the thief ran off. ant. 1. sad, gloomy, sorrowful. 2. unlucky, inconvenient, unfortunate.

happy-go-lucky adj. carefree, easygoing, untroubled, unconcerned: Let's be happy-go-lucky for once and not worry about tomorrow.

harbor n. port, haven, anchorage: New York is one of the busiest harbors in the world. vb. shelter, protect: Harboring a fugitive from justice is against the law.

hard adj. 1. firm, solid, rigid, unyielding, compact, dense: I could not dig the shovel into the hard ground. This stale bun is as hard as a rock. 2. difficult, laborious, exhausting: Hard work never hurt anybody. 3. difficult, complicated, puzzling, tough, intricate: We won't get any of the really hard problems to solve till we get to college. 4. severe, stern, harsh, strict, demanding: Things will go hard for anyone who disobeys. 5. shrewd, hardheaded, unsympathetic, cool, cold: Shirley really drives a hard bargain. adj. phr. hard up up against it, poor, poverty-stricken; broke: During the Depression, many once-wealthy families were really hard up. adv. energetically, vigorously, forcefully, earnestly: My father has worked hard all his life. ant. adj. 1. soft, pliable, yielding. 2. easy, undemanding, comfortable. 3. simple, uncomplicated, direct. 4. lenient, easygoing.

hard-boiled adj. tough, unsympathetic, unsentimental; harsh: Bogart found a niche in Hollywood playing the hard-boiled detective.

harden vb. solidify, petrify: Once that glue hardens, you won't be able to separate the pieces of the plate. ant. soften, loosen.

hardheaded adj. obstinate, stubborn, headstrong, unyielding: That hardheaded husband of mine insisted on going out in the snowstorm and he hasn't returned in three days.

hardhearted adj. hard, stony-hearted, merciless, unmerciful, ruthless, pitiless, callous: She was hardhearted Hannah, the vamp of Savannah. See also hard-boiled.

hardly adv. scarcely, barely: I had hardly been home for a minute when Phil gave me the bad news.

hard-nosed adj. tough, practical, shrewd, businesslike: I know we have to make a profit, but you don't have to be so hard-nosed that we let half the staff go.

hardship n. difficulty, trouble, affliction: Although it was a terrible hardship after my uncle died, my aunt put all of her children through school.

hardy adj. vigorous, sturdy, tough, strong: You have to have a hardy constitution to live through a winter in northern Canada. ant. weak, feeble, frail, fragile, decrepit.

harm n. 1. damage, hurt, injury: Your father wouldn't let any harm come to you. 2. evil, wickedness, wrong: Although they don't want to admit it, gossips really wish to do harm. vb. hurt, damage, injure, cripple: Alan is so gentle, he wouldn't harm a fly.

harmful adj. mischievous, hurtful, injurious: Using medicine all the time can be harmful. ant. beneficial, advantageous.

harmless adj. innocent, painless: The coloring matter used in foods is supposed to be harmless. ant. harmful, injurious, dangerous.

harmonious adj. 1. melodious, tuneful: Those boys certainly make a harmonious trio. 2. amicable, congenial: The two companies reached a harmonious settlement of the lawsuit. ant. 1. discordant, dissonant. 2. quarrelsome, discordant, disagreeable.

harmony n. agreement, accord, unity: Everyone in our family got along very well in a spirit of harmony and friendship. ant. discordance, disagreement, conflict.

harness vb. yoke, control: For many years scientists have been developing means for harnessing tides for electric power.

harry vb. harass, vex, annoy, pester, bother, plague: I won't give you permission to go to the dance, so stop harrying me!

harsh adj. 1. rough, severe, tough, unpleasant, unkind, stern, cruel: The police may have to take harsh measures to control the drug traffic. 2. rough, coarse, jarring: The harsh cry of the raven was heard in the woods. ant. 1. easy, soothing, gentle. 2. melodious, pleasing.

harvest n. crop, yield: America can expect another successful wheat harvest next year. vb. gather, collect, pick, glean, reap: What is not sown cannot be harvested.

haste n. 1. rush, hurry, rapidity, speed: Those who were not fighting the flames left the dangerous area with haste. 2. scramble, hurry, flurry, rush, heedlessness: If you marry in haste, you may repent at leisure. ant. 1. sluggishness, sloth.

hasten vb. 1. hurry, rush, run, scurry, scamper, dash, sprint: Timothy hastened to be first in line for ice cream. 2. hurry, rush, dispatch, quicken, urge, press, speed: Mother hastened us on to school in the mornings. ant. 1. dawdle, linger, tarry.

hat n. bonnet, headgear, headpiece; helmet: In this weather you must wear a hat.

hatch vb. brood, breed, bring forth, incubate: Three tiny blue eggs hatched and the baby birds started peeping at once.

hate vb. detest, abhor, loathe, despise; disfavor, dislike: I have never understood why Cinderella's stepmother and half-sisters hated her so. n. hatred, loathing, abhorrence; dislike: The Chief Justice has a hate of injustice. ant. vb. like, love, admire. n. liking, love, esteem.

hateful adj. detestable, loathsome, offensive: Nobody gets along with him because he's such a hateful little boy. ant. lovable, likable, admirable.

hatred n. hate, loathing, aversion: Nothing could compare with Tessa's hatred for toasted cheese sandwiches. ant. liking, appreciation.

haughty adj. aloof, proud, prideful, arrogant: Just because her family has more money than mine she acts in such a haughty way. ant. humble, simple, down-to-earth, unaffected.

haul vb. drag, draw, pull, tow: It took three of us to haul the fallen tree off the road.

have vb. 1. hold, possess, own: Dick has a pony that he got for his birthday. 2. contain, include: The truck has room for all our furniture. 3. get, receive, obtain, take, gain, acquire: Have another cookie with your milk. 4. engage in, experience, undergo: My father has 20 years of army service. 5. maintain, uphold, hold, believe, say, assert, testify: As the officer would have it, we drove into the wall on purpose. 6. bear, give birth to, bring forth, beget: Annemarie just had twins.

havoc n. ruin, devastation, destruction: Very few lived to describe the havoc created by the third atomic bomb.

hazard n. peril, risk, danger: Driving too fast is a hazard not only to yourself but to other drivers. vb. offer, tender, dare: I'd hazard a guess that there will be more than 300 million people in America by the year 2000.

hazardous adj. perilous, dangerous, risky: The road through the mountains is too hazardous to take at night. ant. safe, secure.

head n. 1. supervisor, leader, commander, director, chief: We went to talk to the head of the English department about our grades. 2. source, start, beginning, origin: It took explorers many years to find the head of the Nile. vb. lead, direct, command: Isaac will head this project and tell the workers what they must do. adj. chief, leading, principal, main: The head man of the tribe signaled that we were to put down our weapons.

headstrong adj. stubborn, obstinate, willful: Charlie is so headstrong that you'll never convince him he ought to go. ant. amenable, easygoing.

headway n. progress, movement, advance: The jungle was so thick that the explorers could make no headway.

heady adj. intoxicating, thrilling, electrifying, exciting: Being a millionaire rock star after those years of poverty can be a pretty heady experience.

heal vb. cure, restore: The medicine healed the cut in a few days.

healthy adj. hale, hearty, robust, vigorous, strong, sound; healthful: Two weeks after his operation, Adam was healthy enough to go camping. Drinking liquor isn't healthy. ant. unhealthy, ill, sick, unwholesome.

heap n. pile, stack, mound, collection, accumulation: There was a heap of rubbish at the side of the road. vb. pile, stack, mound, collect, accumulate: We kept heaping the sand in one place till there was a hill 20 feet high.

hear vb. listen, hearken; detect, perceive: Hear what I have to say before you blame me. Can you hear the song of the nightingale?

heart n. 1. center, core: The heart of the problem was that we didn't believe anything Jack said. 2. sympathy, feeling, sentiment: Dave has so much heart he'd do anything for you.

heartbroken adj. crestfallen, downhearted, brokenhearted, dejected, miserable: Tony's script has been turned down by the movie studio and he's heartbroken about it. ant. delighted, overjoyed.

heartless adj. cruel, mean, hardhearted, ruthless, pitiless: Those heartless hunters shot the mother of the baby fawn. ant. kind, sympathetic.

heartrending adj. depressing, heartbreaking, agonizing: The survivors told a heartrending story about the deaths of the mothers and of their children.

heat n. 1. warmth, hotness, temperature: The heat of the ice couldn't be more than 32° Fahrenheit. The heat from the fire singed the blanket. 2. passion, excitement: They said that he struck her in the heat of anger. 3. warmth, zeal, ardor: The heat of his enthusiasm for a swim was quickly chilled by the frigid water. vb. warm, inflame, cook: It takes a long time to heat water on a wood stove. ant. n. 1. coolness, cold, coldness, iciness, chilliness. vb. cool, freeze, chill.

heated adj. fiery, vehement, passionate, intense: The witness said that the two men had been engaged in a heated argument and then shot each other.

heave vb. 1. hoist, boost, raise: With one final push they heaved up the box. 2. haul, pull, tug: Three men heaving on the rope couldn't lift the safe.

heaven n. paradise; empyrean: We may never be able to prove that there is such a place as heaven.

heavenly adj. 1. blissful, divine, saintly, angelic, holy, blessed: The minister had a heavenly expression on his face. 2. celestial: Astronomers observe the motions of the heavenly bodies.

heavy adj. 1. weighty, ponderous: That trunk is too heavy for you to lift by yourself. 2. intense, concentrated, severe: There was a very heavy snowfall last week and the skiing is now excellent. 3. burdensome, oppressive, harsh, depressing: The atmosphere was heavy when I walked into the courtroom. 4. sad, oppressed, serious, grave, gloomy, mournful, melancholy, dismal: The heavy news he had to tell us was that the company had failed and we were all dismissed. 5. boring, dull, tiresome: I found the play quite heavy going. ant. 1. light, buoyant, airy. 2. light, insignificant, minimal. 3. cheerful, happy.

heckle vb. harry, hector, torment, tease, harass: Several members of the audience attended the meeting only in order to heckle the speaker.

heed vb. obey, regard, observe: You'd better heed the traffic lights when crossing the street. n. attention, mind: Pay Jean no heed—she's only teasing you. ant. vb. ignore, disregard, overlook, disdain.

heedless adj. unmindful, disregardful, deaf, blind, inattentive: Heedless of his own safety, Nobuko plunged into the icy river to save the puppy.

height n. 1. altitude, elevation, tallness: What is the height of that skyscraper? 2. mountain, peak, prominence: We looked down on the valley from the height. 3. acme, pinnacle, maximum: Crossing the street with your eyes closed is the height of stupidity. ant. depth.

heighten vb. intensify, increase, amplify, concentrate, focus: The TV program heightened the viewers' awareness of the plight of those starving in Africa.

heinous adj. grievous, abominable, atrocious: The mass murder was the most heinous crime of the century.

hello interj. hi!, hiya!, greetings, good morning, good afternoon, good evening: I said hello to everyone when I first walked into the room. ant. good-bye, farewell, so long.

help vb. 1. aid, assist, support; back, encourage: Can someone please help me lift this piano? In these times, we help all the needy we can. 2. avoid, prevent: I can't help hiccuping. 3. wait on, attend, serve: Please, help yourself to some more corned beef and cabbage. n. aid, assistance, support, relief: We need all the help we can get—Whether it's people donating merchandise, their time and effort, or their money.

helper n. assistant, aide; supporter: The driver of each truck must have a helper for loading and unloading.

helpful adj. advantageous, profitable, valuable: Your advice about returning to school to complete my education was most helpful. ant. useless, futile, worthless.

helpless adj. 1. dependent, feeble, weak, disabled: My brother has been helpless in a wheelchair since his operation. 2. unresourceful, incompetent, inept, incapable: Sarah is completely helpless when faced with a machine that won't work. ant. 2. competent, resourceful, enterprising.

helter-skelter adv. chaotically, haphazardly, every which way, irregularly: The efficiency expert found no system for doing anything in the company, with everything done helter-skelter.

herd n. flock, crowd, group, drove, pack: A herd of elephants stampeded toward us, and we had no place to hide. vb. group, gather, crowd: The guide herded all of the tourists into the bus for the ride home.

heritage n. legacy, birthright, inheritance, patrimony: Americans have a heritage that they can be proud of.

hermit n. anchorite, recluse, eremite: Do you want to live all alone, never speaking to anyone, like a hermit?

hero n. champion, paladin, idol: Rock music stars were the teenagers' heroes during the 1960s. The hero of the battle was awarded a medal.

heroic adj. valiant, brave, valorous, dauntless, gallant, courageous, bold, fearless: The firemen made a heroic effort to save the family, and everyone was finally carried out. ant. cowardly, fainthearted, timid.

heroism n. bravery, valor, gallantry, courage, boldness: For his heroism, the knight was given huge estates by the king. ant. cowardice, uncourageousness, timidity.

hesitate vb. pause, wait, delay: He who hesitates is lost—except when crossing the street. ant. proceed.

hide vb. conceal, cover, mask, screen, camouflage, cloak, shroud, veil: You can't hide your true feelings from me. n. skin, pelt, leather, fur: The hides of buffaloes were once worth a lot of money. ant. vb. show, display, reveal.

hideous adj. ugly, frightful, frightening, shocking, horrible, horrifying, terrible, terrifying, monstrous, gross, grisly: The man was convicted of the hideous crime and sentenced to die. ant. beautiful, lovely, ethereal, beauteous.

high adj. 1. tall, lofty, towering: That's a very high building. 2. raised, shrill, high-pitched, strident, sharp: She speaks in a very high voice that gets on my nerves. 3. important, prominent, powerful: A high officer in the government gave me the news. 4. dear, expensive, costly, high-priced: The jeweler asks high prices for gold these days. 5. serious, grave, extreme: The spy was arrested for high crimes against the state. ant. 1. low, short, lowly. 2. deep. 3. lowly, unimportant, insignificant. 4. reasonable, inexpensive. 5. petty, trivial.

highly adv. very, exceedingly, extremely, extraordinarily: The accountants have found some highly irregular entries in the company books.

high-minded adj. noble, lofty, honorable: It is uncertain whether the high-minded principles of the founder of the charity are being followed today. ant. base, dishonorable.

high-priced adj. expensive, dear, costly: People are buying more high-priced cars than ever before and I just don't know where they're getting the money. ant. cheap; economical.

high-strung adj. tense, nervous, intense, wrought-up: Tom is so high-strung that if you ask him the time, he takes your head off. ant. calm.

highway n. speedway, parkway, turnpike, freeway, superhighway, skyway: The car was speeding down the highway at 90 miles per hour.

hilarious adj. side-splitting, funny, (slang) hysterical: The stand-up comedian told some hilarious jokes that had us clutching our sides with laughter. ant. sad, depressing.

hinder vb. interrupt, hamper, slow, delay, obstruct, interfere with, block, thwart, prevent, stop: The sled was speeding down the hillside with nothing to hinder it. ant. advance, further, promote.

hindrance n. delay, interruption, obstruction, interference, barrier, obstacle: Approval of the committee removed the last hindrance from the plan for building the new civic center.

hinge vb. depend, rely, pivot: Success of the project hinges on getting enough people to support it.

hint n. suggestion, tip, clue; whisper, taste, suspicion: If you don't get the answer in ten seconds, I'll give you a hint. There was just a hint of curry in the soup. vb. suggest, mention: Are you hinting that Felix has been going out with my girl friend?

hire vb. 1. employ, engage, retain, enlist: The factory hired 200 people today. 2. rent, lease, charter: We hired a car in Chicago and drove the rest of the way home. n. rent, rental, lease, let, charter: The marina advertised boats for hire for as little as $3 per hour. ant. 1. dismiss, fire.

history n. chronicle, annal, record, account, narrative, tale, memoir, story: The old lady told me the entire history of her family, going back three generations.

hit vb. 1. strike, smite: The ball hit the wall and bounced off. Stop hitting kids smaller than you. 2. find, come upon, discover: I hit upon a plan whereby we could eat our cake and have it, too. n. blow, stroke: She gave him a hit right in the face.

hitch vb. tie, fasten, tether, harness: Hitch the horses to the wagon and drive down to the sheriff to warn him. n. hindrance, interruption, interference: There's been a hitch in our plans and we can't go on the picnic.

hoard vb. amass, save, store, secrete: During the shortage, some people hoarded sugar and coffee. n. store, stock, cache: The police found a hoard of gold coins in a box in the chimney. ant. vb. spend, use, squander.

hoarse adj. rough, raucous, deep, husky, grating, harsh: We were hoarse from singing all last evening. ant. clear.

hobby n. pastime, diversion, avocation: My uncle collects seashells as a hobby. ant. profession, vocation.

hobo n. vagrant, derelict, vagabond, tramp: Whenever a hobo came to the door for a handout, my mother gave him a full meal.

hoist vb. lift, raise, heave, elevate: It will take four men to hoist that ladder up to the roof. n. crane, derrick, elevator: The hoist was too weak to lift the piano.

hold vb. 1. grasp, clasp, grip, clutch: The woman disappeared into the crowd, leaving me there holding the baby. 2. have, keep, retain: I am holding onto the prize money until the taxes have to be paid on it. 3. contain: This bottle holds exactly one quart. 4. possess, have: My uncle holds the rank of admiral in the Swiss navy. 5. conduct, observe, engage in: The society is holding a meeting next month. 6. think, believe, maintain, consider, judge: We hold these truths to be self-evident: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. 7. remain, stick, adhere, cohere, cling: Will that tiny drop of glue hold the entire car together? n. 1. grasp, grip: Get a good hold on the fishing rod. 2. sway, influence, control: The gangsters have some hold over the mayor, but we don't know what it is.

holdup n. 1. robbery, (slang) heist, (slang) stickup: The holdup at the bank netted the robbers just $20. 2. delay, slow-down, interruption: Aunt Winnie wanted her refund at once and couldn't understand the reason for the holdup.

hole n. 1. opening, tear, rip, aperture: I'm so embarrassed! I had a hole in my sock when I took off my shoe. 2. burrow, pit, cave, den, lair: The bear crawled into his hole to hibernate for the winter.

hollow adj. 1. vacant, empty, unfilled: The wall made a hollow sound where it was tapped, so we know it wasn't solid. 2. empty, false, flimsy, meaningless: We lost so many men in the battle that ours was a hollow victory. n. cavity, hole, depression, pit: The dog crawled into the hollow in the rock and went to sleep. vb. excavate, dig, shovel: The pirates hollowed out a place in the hillside where they hid the treasure. ant. adj. 1. full, filled, solid.

holocaust n. burning, fire; disaster; extermination, massacre, mass murder, butchery: About five million Jews were slaughtered in the holocaust in Nazi Germany.

holy adj. 1. blessed, sacred, hallowed, consecrated: We visited many holy places on our tour of Jerusalem. 2. saintly, sainted, divine, pious: The people gave money to the blind beggar, for they considered him holy. ant. 1. profane, unconsecrated, unsanctified.

homage n. respect, reverence, honor: Do homage to those you love.

home n. 1. family, hearth: Wherever my wife and children are is home to me. 2. residence, house, abode, dwelling, habitation: Several thousand homes have been built in the area already.

homely adj. plain, unattractive, ugly: I don't understand why such a handsome man married such a homely woman. ant. attractive, beautiful, handsome, comely, pretty.

homesick adj. nostalgic; lonely: Jennie was so homesick the first few days that she cried herself to sleep every night.

honest adj. 1. truthful, trustworthy, moral, upright, honorable: The bank tries to employ honest people. 2. open, candid, forthright, frank, straightforward: If you want my honest opinion, I think you treated her very badly, and I don't blame her for biting you. ant. 1. dishonest, fraudulent.

honesty n. 1. integrity, uprightness, trustworthiness, fairness, honor: Honesty is a virtue that we seek in all people. 2. candor, frankness, sincerity: In all honesty, you did steal the money, didn't you? ant. 1. dishonesty, fraud.

honor n. 1. respect, esteem, distinction: It was an honor to be selected to head the refreshment committee. 2. principle, character, honesty, uprightness: Although Jane didn't have to return the money, she did so as a matter of honor. vb. 1. respect, esteem: We honored the memory of the past president with a testimonial dinner. 2. admire, reverse: Honor the returning soldiers with more than a brass band at the train. 3. accept, acknowledge, clear: The bank refused to honor my check. ant. n. 1. dishonor, disgrace, shame. vb. 1. dishonor, disgrace, shame.

honorable adj. 1. honest, noble, just, fair: The hero fought well and went to an honorable death. 2. illustrious, famed, distinguished: The honorable chairman of the council received a presidential award. ant. 1. dishonorable, shameful, humiliating.

honorary adj. complimentary, gratuitous: My mother was given an honorary degree by the university.

hoodlum n. gangster, crook, hooligan, criminal, mobster: The police are launching an all-out campaign to rid the city of hoodlums.

hoodwink vb. deceive, fool, bamboozle, dupe: The medium hoodwinked Aunt Clara into believing she had talked with Uncle Tom, who has been dead for twenty years.

hop vb., n. leap, jump: Why do you keep hopping about on one leg? Because with each hop I am giving the other leg a rest.

hope n. 1. expectation, anticipation; desire: My parents have high hopes for me, which is why I am going all the way through school. 2. trust, faith, confidence: There may not be food on the table, but there's hope in our hearts. vb. desire, aspire, expect: I hope Zeke will invite me to the dance. ant. n. 2. hopelessness, despair.

hopeful adj. confident, optimistic: I am still hopeful that our team will win the championship. ant. hopeless, despairing.

hopeless adj. 1. despairing, desperate, forlorn: With the score 10 to nothing, the situation looks hopeless. 2. incurable, fatal, disastrous: His condition is hopeless: I don't think your pet turtle will live. ant. hopeful, promising.

horde n. multitude, crowd, mob, throng, host: We placed only one small advertisement, but a horde of people came to the shop.

horizontal adj. 1. level, even, plane, flat, straight: Whichever way you look at it, the horizon is always horizontal. 2. sideways: The surface of a dining table should always be horizontal so that the dishes won't slide off. ant. vertical, upright.

horrendous adj. See horrible.

horrible adj. horrifying, awful, terrible, horrid, dreadful, ghastly: I felt and looked horrible after a sleepless night. ant. wonderful, splendid.

horrid adj. shocking, horrifying, horrible, revolting, repulsive: A horrid little man was standing at the entrance to the amusement park.

horror n. 1. terror, dread, alarm: Horror movies frighten me. 2. loathing, hatred, aversion: The soldiers had a horror of war.

horseplay n. clowning, tomfoolery, shenanigans, (U.S.) monkey-shines.

hospital n. clinic, infirmary, sanatorium, sanitarium; rest home, nursing home: After the accident, I was taken to the emergency ward of the hospital.

hospitality n. generosity, liberality, graciousness, warmth, welcome: Because of George's hospitality, we stayed with him for a week after the fire in our house.

hostile adj. unfriendly, antagonistic, warlike: The Secretary of State considered the invasion a hostile act. ant. friendly, hospitable.

hot adj. 1. torrid, heated, burning, fiery, blazing, sizzling, roasting, frying, broiling, boiling, scorching, searing: It can get very hot in the middle of the desert at noon. 2. spicy, sharp, biting: If you didn't put so much pepper on it, that pizza wouldn't be so hot. 3. excited, violent, passionate, ardent: The question of how to save fuel and energy is a hot issue today. ant. 1. cold, cool, chilly, freezing. 2. bland, tasteless.

hotel n. inn, motel, hostelry, hostel: The hotel in Aston Clinton has fine rooms and excellent food.

hotheaded adj. reckless, rash, unruly; touchy, testy, short-tempered, irritable: It isn't a good idea to give a person who is hotheaded too much responsibility. ant. coolheaded, levelheaded, calm.

hound vb. pursue, harass, harry, pester: Pete was constantly hounded by the people to whom he owed money.

house n. abode, building, dwelling, residence: I have to be back at my house by noon. vb. shelter, lodge; harbor: The new dormitory will house more than 500 students.

howl vb., n. wail, yowl, cry; yell: Crowded in the lonely cabin, we heard the wolf howling in the distance. With a howl, the dog leaped at the robber.

hue n. color, shade, tone, tint: The hues of the sunset reminded me of a rainbow.

hug vb., n. embrace, clasp, press, grasp: Monica hugged the frightened puppy close to her. Laura's father came home and gave her a big hug and a kiss.

huge adj. enormous, gigantic, immense, colossal, tremendous; large, big: A huge statue of a man once straddled the harbor entrance of Rhodes. ant. small, tiny, diminutive, miniature.

humane adj. kind, thoughtful, kindly, merciful, kindhearted, tender, gentle, softhearted: It would be humane to bring that dog home from the pound. ant. cruel, mean, heartless.

humble adj. 1. unassuming, modest, unpretending, unpretentious: Abe Lincoln came from a humble home. 2. polite, courteous, respectful: You should be more humble when talking to your elders. vb. lower, reduce, degrade, downgrade, shame: Visiting the Hall of Fame can be a humbling experience. ant. adj. 1. vain, proud, haughty.

humiliate vb. degrade, disgrace, shame, humble: After having worked for the same company for 25 years, my father thought it humiliating to lose his job.

humor n. 1. amusement, joking, clowning, fun: I really like the style of humor of the Marx Brothers. 2. mood, sentiment, disposition: If you want to ask Dorothy for a favor, you'd better wait till she's in good humor.

humorous adj. funny, comical, comic, amusing: The comedian told humorous stories all evening. ant. serious, unfunny, sober, somber.

hungry adj. famished, starved: I certainly don't want to go swimming with a hungry shark. ant. full, sated, glutted.

hunt vb. 1. chase, track, pursue, stalk: I've been invited up to Canada to hunt moose. 2. seek, probe; scour: She's been hunting for a new boyfriend. n. chase, pursuit; search: I went along on a fox hunt just for the ride.

hurl vb. fling, throw, pitch, cast: The detective hurled the murderer's gun out of the window.

hurry vb. 1. rush, run, speed, race, hasten: Dinner is probably ready, so I'd better hurry home. 2. rush, hasten, urge, accelerate: The police hurried the people along the passageway away from the fire. n. rush, haste, bustle, ado: Stop pushing! What's the hurry? ant. vb. 1. linger, tarry, dawdle.

hurt vb. 1. damage, harm, injure: Did you hurt yourself when you fell down the stairs? 2. wound, distress, afflict, pain: If you tell Alexa that she can't go because she's too young, you'll hurt her feelings. n. injury, harm, pain. I feel the hurt of knowing I'll never see him again.

hush vb., n. silence, quiet, still: Please don't hush me when I want to say something. It is so peaceful in the hush of the evening.

husky adj. brawny, strong, muscular, strapping: The husky lumberjacks picked me up and threw me into the river. ant. weak, feeble.

hustle vb. hurry, hasten, race, run, speed: Nora came hustling through the crowd to meet me.

hut n. cabin, cottage, shed, shanty: We found a woodcutter's hut in the forest and spent the night there.

hypnotize vb. mesmerize, entrance, charm, fascinate: Sonia was so beautiful that she didn't ask men to do things, she hypnotized them into it.

hypothetical adj. speculative, conjectural, theoretical: Let's take a hypothetical case: Suppose you were one of King Arthur's knights. ant. actual.

idea n. 1. thought, conception, concept: I just had a great idea: let's have hot dogs for lunch! 2. notion, understanding: I haven't the slightest idea of what you're talking about. 3. opinion, plan, belief, view: The head of the company asked me what my ideas were for expansion.

ideal n. 1. model, example, sample, paragon, standard: My ideal is a kitchen appliance that does the dishes by itself. 2. aim, objective, target, goal: The ideals of the United Nations are peace and friendship throughout the world. adj. perfect, complete, fitting, supreme: This is an ideal spot for a picnic.

identical adj. alike, indistinguishable, like; same: Too bad; I bought the identical dress for $10 less. ant. unlike, different.

identify vb. name, describe, classify: At the police station, Jerry was able to identify the woman who had stolen his car.

identity n. individuality, character, uniqueness, personality: You must have some papers with you to establish your identity.

ideology n. belief, doctrine, credo, principles: Our ideologies may differ, but I respect your right to yours—even though you are wrong.

idiot n. fool, nincompoop, dunce, moron: Don't be an idiot: you can't hold your breath for five minutes.

idiotic adj. stupid, senseless, foolish, inane, moronic, half-witted, thinble-witted, simpleminded, dimwitted: It's idiotic to believe that you'll live forever. ant. intelligent, bright, brilliant, smart.

idle adj. 1. unemployed, inactive, unoccupied, unused: Five hundred men were made idle by the layoffs at the factory. 2. lazy, sluggish: An idle mind finds nothing interesting in the world. ant. 1. active, busy, occupied, engaged.

idol n. 1. image, symbol, graven image, god, statue: The natives fell to their knees before an idol of their water god. 2. favorite, pet, darling: The Three-headed Monster was the name of the new rock group that was the idol of the teenagers.

idolize vb. adore, worship, revere: For a decade the star was idolized by millions, but now no one remembers who he was. ant. despise.

ignorant adj. 1. untrained, uneducated, illiterate, untaught: Some of the applicants were too ignorant to qualify for the job. 2. unaware, unmindful, unwitting, uninformed: Ignorant of the fact that she had just come in the back door, Bill went out to look for his sister. ant. 1. educated, cultivated, cultured, schooled, lettered, learned. 2. aware, informed.

ignore vb. disregard, overlook, omit, neglect: Ignoring the danger to himself, Freddie dived into the river to save the puppy. ant. notice.

ill adj. sick, unwell, unhealthy, diseased, ailing: I felt ill after eating that turkey with chocolate sauce. ant. well, healthy, fit.

ill-advised adj. imprudent, injudicious, ill-considered: Punching that policeman was an ill-advised move.

ill-at-ease adj. uneasy, uncomfortable, nervous: The young lady waiting for the job interview seems to be ill-at-ease. ant. comfortable, at ease.

illegal adj. unlawful, illicit: Selling alcoholic beverages was illegal during Prohibition. ant. legal, lawful, legitimate.

illicit adj. illegal, unlawful, unauthorized: He was arrested for operating an illicit distillery up in the mountains. ant. legal, licit.

ill-natured adj. cranky, crabby, cross, irascible, grouchy: Sam is so ill-natured that he fired an employee who wished him "Good morning."

illogical adj. irrational, absurd, preposterous: It was illogical to claim unemployment compensation after selling your own company.

ill-tempered adj. See ill-natured.

ill-treated adj. abused, harmed, maltreated, mistreated: There was a show on TV last week about ill-treated children.

illuminate vb. 1. light, light up, brighten, lighten: A strange green glow illuminated the sky. 2. enlighten, explain, clarify, interpret: The difficult lecture was illuminated by many illustrations and examples. ant. 1. darken, shadow, becloud, obscure.

illusion n. mirage, delusion, hallucination, vision, fantasy: The movie was so vivid that I had the illusion I was falling. The apple didn't turn into a scarf! That was a magician's illusion. ant. reality, actuality.

illustrate vb. 1. illuminate, decorate, adorn, embellish: The book was illustrated with color photographs. 2. demonstrate, picture, show: The salesman illustrated the use of the gadget by peeling potatoes with it.

illustration n. 1. picture, photograph: This book contains hundreds of illustrations. 2. example, explanation: At least one illustration has been provided for each entry in this dictionary.

illustrator n. artist, painter: The illustrator has been very careful to show details in his drawings.

illustrious adj. famous, renowned, noted, prominent, famed: Churchill was one of the most illustrious statesmen of his day.

image n. 1. likeness, representation, reflection: Betsy stared at her own image in the mirror. 2. idea, picture, notion, conception: In my mind there is an image of what I would want to become when I grow up.

imaginary adj. unreal, fanciful, whimsical, fantastic: The unicorn is an imaginary animal. ant. real, actual.

imagine vb. 1. conceive, picture, envisage, envision: Imagine yourself floating down the Nile with Cleopatra. 2. suppose, believe, think: I couldn't imagine what had happened to you.

imitate vb. follow, copy, mimic, duplicate, reproduce: Try to imitate my pronunciation of these French words.

immaculate adj. spotless, clean, unblemished: She appeared wearing an immaculate white suit. ant. dirty.

immaterial adj. unimportant, trivial, inconsequential, insignificant: What you say, now that the trial is over, is immaterial.

immediate adj. 1. instant, instantaneous, present: My immediate reaction to your request for a loan is "No." 2. near, next, close; prompt: Let's take care of the immediate problems now and leave the others for later. 3. direct: The immediate result of the plan was to give housing to the elderly. ant. 1. long-range, distant. 2. future.

immediately adv. at once, instantly, forthwith, directly, straightaway, promptly: I want you to go now—your plane leaves immediately.

immense adj. huge, enormous, vast, gigantic, great, large, big: Before us stretched an immense crater, left there when the volcano had exploded. ant. small, tiny, minuscule, petite.

immensity n. enormousness, hugeness, vastness: The immensity of the universe is almost impossible to imagine.

immortal adj. undying, everlasting, eternal, timeless, endless: Most cultures have developed religions whose gods are immortal.

impact n. contact, striking, collision: The bullet struck the wall with such impact that it went right through.

- impair vb. mar, damage, spoil, destroy: The furnace was impaired by the leaking water pipe.
- impasse n. deadlock, standstill, stalemate: The talks between the union and management representatives reached an impasse, and agreement seems unlikely before the holidays.
- imperfection n. flaw, blemish, defect: The inspectors in our assembly lines are trained to reject any product with the slightest imperfection. ant. perfection.
- imperial vb. endanger, jeopardize, risk: The installation of the automatic machinery has imperiled all our jobs.
- impersonal adj. detached, objective, disinterested: Since I have nothing to gain or lose, I take an entirely impersonal view of the situation. ant. personal.
- impertinent adj. impudent, insolent, rude, disrespectful: In the old days, when a student was impertinent to the teacher he was made to stand in the corner. ant. polite, courteous, respectful.
- impetuous adj. rash, hasty, impulsive: Ken is so impetuous to have bought his wife a fur coat when he can't afford it. ant. careful, cautious, thoughtful, prudent.
- implement n. tool, utensil, instrument, device: The diecutter uses precision implements in his trade. vb. complete, fulfill, achieve, realize: Audrey implemented her promise by showing up for work on Saturday.
- implicate vb. incriminate; involve: I cannot see why he implicated Janet in the plot to steal the money.
- implore vb. beg, beseech, entreat: I implored the judge to hear my side of the story.
- imply vb. hint, suggest, indicate, mention: Without exactly saying so, Marty implied that he'd appreciate having another piece of chocolate cake. ant. state, declare.
- impolite adj. rude, unpleasant, discourteous, insolent, impertinent, uncivil: Jennie's cousin was so impolite to my mother that I'll never invite him again. ant. polite, courteous, respectful.
- important adj. 1. essential, significant, considerable, primary, principal: The budget approval was an important step toward our getting the school buses. 2. famed, illustrious, well-known, famous, distinguished, notable: We have had some very important people visiting us. ant. 1. unimportant, trivial, trifling, secondary. 2. inconsequential, anonymous.
- impose vb. require, levy, demand: The government has imposed high taxes on luxuries.
- imposing adj. impressive, majestic, grand, stately: The impos-

- ing figure of the king appeared at the head of the stairway and everyone stopped talking.* ant. insignificant; minor.
- imposition n. burden, onus, load: I consider it an imposition to take care of your cat while you are out of town.
- impossible adj. unworkable, preposterous: It will be impossible for us to go to the party tonight because we have to babysit. Many of the things we take for granted today were thought impossible less than 100 years ago.
- impregnable adj. unassailable, invulnerable, secure, safe: The soldiers thought that their position was impregnable till the enemy started the gas attack. ant. vulnerable.
- impress vb. 1. influence, affect; awe: All of the parents were well impressed by their children's achievements in the art class. 2. imprint, emboss, indent, mark, print: The Roman general impressed his seal on the document.
- impression n. 1. effect, mark, influence: The President's speech made a deep impression on me. 2. mark, dent, indentation, depression: The thief's shoe made an impression in the flower bed outside the window. 3. thought, belief, guess, opinion: I have the impression that you'd rather not go.
- impromptu adj. off-the-cuff, extemporaneous, casual, offhand, unprepared: The chairman made some impromptu remarks before the start of the board meeting.
- improper adj. 1. unsuitable, unfit, inappropriate: The manager told us that blue jeans and sweatshirts were improper attire for the restaurant. 2. indecent, naughty, unbecoming: My father used to punish any of us whom he heard use improper language. ant. proper, fitting, appropriate.
- improve vb. better, refine, upgrade: Maybe these new glasses will improve your vision. ant. impair.
- imprudent adj. indiscreet, ill-advised, thoughtless, irresponsible: I thought it imprudent of you to tell Jan's wife that you'd seen him having breakfast with another woman. ant. wise, thoughtful, discreet.
- impudent adj. impertinent, fresh, insolent, insulting, rude: Don't be impudent to the teacher, or you'll be kept after school. ant. courteous, polite, respectful.
- impulse n. 1. whim, hunch, fancy, caprice, urge: Fanny got an impulse to place a bet on a horse called "Bottoms Up." 2. force, surge, pulse: The impulse of the waves keeps the pump going automatically.
- impulsive adj. hasty, rash; spontaneous, automatic: Betsy is an impulsive shopper—she never makes a list and buys what she sees in the store. ant. careful, cautious, prudent.

inaccurate adj. incorrect, wrong, mistaken, faulty: To say that Gerald Ford was the thirty-fourth President of the U.S. is inaccurate. ant. accurate, correct, right.

inactive adj. inert, motionless, still, idle: That machine has been inactive for five years. The bank notified us that they wished to close inactive accounts.

inadvertent adj. negligent, careless, unthinking, thoughtless: I'm sorry, calling you an idiot was inadvertent—a slip of the tongue. ant. intentional.

inane adj. silly, stupid, absurd, foolish: Kenneth delights in recording the most inane greetings on his telephone-answering machine.

inanimate adj. lifeless, mineral, vegetable: A table, like a stone, is an inanimate object.

inaugurate vb. initiate, launch, open, start, begin, commence: The company has inaugurated a new, liberal pension plan. ant. terminate.

incense vb. enrage, infuriate, anger: Terry's father was incensed to learn that she had taken the car without his permission.

incentive n. inducement, stimulus, impulse, encouragement: As an incentive to buyers of new cars, the manufacturers were giving rebates of hundreds of dollars. ant. discouragement.

incessant adj. unending, eternal, continuous, perpetual, constant, relentless: The woodpecker kept up his incessant hammering, preventing me from sleeping. ant. intermittent, irregular, spasmodic.

incident n. event, occurrence, happening: The incident at the club last night may get many people into trouble.

incidental adj. secondary, unimportant, trivial: Receiving a diploma is incidental to education; it's how much you learn that counts. ant. fundamental, basic.

incidentally adv. by the way, by the by: Incidentally, I had a wonderful time at your party last night.

inclination n. 1. tendency, predisposition, preference, prejudice: My inclination is to do nothing for a week and see what happens. 2. slope, slant, incline, lean: The inclination of the Tower of Pisa continues to increase every year. ant. 1. disinclination, reluctance. 2. uprightness, straightness.

incline vb. lean, slope, nod: The bidder at the auction inclined his head slightly and the painting was sold. ant. straighten.

include vb. embrace, encompass, contain, involve: Please don't include Sara in your plans to go skiing. ant. exclude, omit.

income n. salary, earnings, wages, pay; revenue, receipts, return: At 5 percent per year, my income from each $100 in savings is at least $5. ant. expense.

incomparable adj. matchless, peerless, unequalled: The orchestra played Grofé's incomparable Grand Canyon Suite.

incomprehensible adj. undecipherable, unintelligible: Foreign languages sound like incomprehensible babble to me. ant. understandable.

inconceivable adj. unimaginable, unbelievable, impossible: It is inconceivable that Tim could have passed the examination without cheating. ant. believable, possible.

inconsiderate adj. unthoughtful, unthinking, thoughtless, unmindful, careless: Sidonie was inconsiderate enough to remind me that I never would have been married if she hadn't blackmailed Edmund into it. ant. considerate, thoughtful.

inconsistent adj. self-contradictory, contradictory, illogical: Swearing that you love your country and then spying for Spivonia are inconsistent. ant. consistent, logical.

inconspicuous adj. unnoticed, retiring, unostentatious: That inconspicuous little old lady won the Nobel prize for physics a few years ago. ant. conspicuous, obvious.

inconvenient adj. inappropriate, awkward, troublesome, untimely: You're not the only one! Everybody finds it inconvenient when the phone rings while he is in the bath. ant. convenient, handy.

incorrect adj. wrong, inaccurate, mistaken, erroneous: 32 is an incorrect total for the numbers 12, 15, 4. ant. accurate, proper, suitable.

increase vb. swell, enlarge, greaten, extend, grow, prolong, lengthen, broaden: The river increased from the rains. My boss increased my salary this year. n. enlargement, growth, expansion: There has been a huge increase in the price of cheese during the past year. ant. vb. decrease, shrink, lessen, diminish. n. decrease, lessening, shrinkage.

incredible adj. unbelievable, improbable: Your excuse that an elephant fell on you and made you late is just incredible. ant. credible, plausible, believable.

indeed adv. really, in fact, truthfully, surely, honestly: This cabinet proves that Roger is indeed a fine craftsman.

indefinite adj. uncertain, unsure, vague, unsettled, confused, confusing: He was indefinite about when he would arrive, so we'll just have to wait. ant. definite, decided, unequivocal.

independence n. liberty, freedom: The early Americans fought hard for their political independence from England. ant. dependence, reliance.

indicate vb. 1. signify, symbolize, mean: The hexagonal sign indicates that you are supposed to stop your vehicle. 2. point out, show, designate: The state policeman indicated the best route to the park would be straight ahead.

indifferent adj. unconcerned, uncaring, cool, insensitive, nonchalant: My boss was indifferent whether I took my vacation in July or August. ant. concerned, caring, earnest.

indignant adj. angry, irritated, aroused, exasperated, irate: I was indignant that the other students had been dismissed while I had to remain. ant. serene, calm, content.

indirect adj. roundabout, circuitous: We took an indirect route home to avoid the traffic. France made an indirect suggestion to the delegate that it was time to leave. ant. direct.

indistinct adj. vague, blurred, blurry, hazy: I can recognize the others in this photo, but the face on the left is too indistinct to identify. ant. clear, distinct.

individual adj. single, undivided, separate, apart, different, distinct; special: Each student will be given his individualized reading list for the summer. n. person, human, human being: Each individual will be given his own reading list for the summer.

indolent adj. lazy, idle, slow, sluggish, inactive: I wouldn't hire that indolent fellow—he just lies about all the time. ant. vigorous, active, dynamic, zestful.

induce vb. persuade, influence, convince: We induced Charles to go along to the movies with us. ant. dissuade, discourage.

inducement n. lure, enticement, incentive, stimulus: What sort of inducement will they offer to persuade us to try the new product? ant. discouragement.

induct vb. install, instate, establish: Three new members were inducted into the secret society at midnight yesterday. ant. oust, eject.

indulge vb. yield to, gratify, humor, satisfy: Barbie is terribly spoiled because her parents indulge her every wish.

indulgent adj. tolerant, easy, obliging; pampering: Inez has always been much too indulgent with her children. ant. severe, stern.

industrious adj. hard-working, busy, diligent, persistent: The ant is an industrious insect. ant. lazy, indolent, shiftless.

inebriated adj. See drunk.

inept adj. 1. awkward, clumsy: Jack is too inept to become a good watchmaker. 2. inappropriate, unseemly, improper, unfitting: Your comment, "How careless of you," when Mrs. Keane told you she had lost her husband, was extremely inept. ant. 1. adept, adroit, dexterous. 2. appropriate, fitting, proper, apt.

inert adj. motionless, unmoving, fixed, static, immobile, lifeless, inanimate: The frog's inert little body lay before me on the table, ready for dissection.

inevitable adj. unavoidable, inescapable, sure, certain: When the fugitive ran down the dead-end street, his capture was inevitable.

inexpensive adj. low-priced, modest, economical; cheap: This camera costs quite a bit, but, considering its quality, it's inexpensive. ant. expensive, costly, dear.

inexperienced adj. untrained, green; uninformed, naive: If one is inexperienced, he will earn less than if he is experienced. ant. skilled, experienced, seasoned, trained, sophisticated.

infamous adj. 1. scandalous, shocking, shameful: Because of his reputation for drinking and gambling, the prince became infamous. 2. wicked, evil, bad: Everyone knows about the infamous Spanish Inquisition.

infantile adj. childish, immature, babyish, naive: Sucking your thumb is pretty infantile behavior. ant. grownup, mature, adult.

infectious adj. catching, communicable, contagious; transferable: Keep away from Eustace: he has a highly infectious disease.

infer vb. deduce, extract, understand: Am I to infer from the fact that you shot him that George is not your favorite person?

inferior adj. lower, second-rate, mediocre: The quality of frozen foods is not inferior compared with fresh. ant. superior, higher.

infinite adj. vast, boundless, innumerable, numberless, endless, unlimited, limitless: I wouldn't say that there are an infinite number of ways to solve the problem. It seems as though the distance to the farthest star is infinite. ant. finite, limited.

infinitesimal adj. tiny, minute, minuscule, microscopic, sub-microscopic: Even infinitesimal changes in climate over a long period can cause major disasters anywhere on earth. ant. enormous, huge, gigantic.

inflame vb. excite, arouse, incite, fire: The speaker was trying to inflame the crowd enough to cause them to riot. ant. calm, soothe.

inflammation n. irritation, soreness, infection: The doctor told me that the red spot on my arm was inflammation caused by scratching a mosquito bite.

inflammatory adj. provocative, instigating, inciting, rabble-rousing: In any other country, a speaker making inflammatory remarks against the government would have been arrested.

inflate vb. swell, expand, blow up, distend: Gradually, the huge balloon was inflated with gas. The price of fresh vegetables is inflated during the winter. ant. deflate, collapse.

inflexible adj. rigid, unbending, firm, unyielding, immovable, steadfast: The history teacher was inflexible in his demand that the papers be handed in by Tuesday. ant. flexible, pliant, yielding, giving, elastic.

inflict vb. 1. give, deliver, deal: The gang that attacked us inflicted serious injuries to those who resisted. 2. impose, levy, apply: The American colonists rebelled against the heavy taxes inflicted on them by the British.

influence n. effect, sway, weight, control: The political boss had great influence throughout the city. vb. affect, control, sway, impress: The scientist insists on keeping an open mind and will be influenced only by actual facts.

inform vb. notify, advise, tell, relate: Although I missed the meeting, the other members informed me about what had happened. information n. facts, data, knowledge, intelligence: The information in all reference books is carefully checked for accuracy.

informative adj. enlightening, instructive, educational: The economic report was very informative.

informer n. betrayer, traitor, tattler, rat: Ezra was known as an informer because he told his mother all of the club's secrets.

ingenious adj. resourceful, imaginative, inventive, creative: Peter has come up with an ingenious solution to the problem.

ingenuous adj. naive, simple, innocent, unsophisticated: Your suggestion that the way to lose weight is to eat nothing at all is ingenuous.

ingredient n. element, component, constituent: One of the most important ingredients in our food is salt.

inhabit vb. occupy; live, dwell, or reside in: A family of squirrels inhabits our attic.

inheritance n. heritage, legacy, patrimony: Barbie thought her uncle was rich, but her entire inheritance was only $100.

inhibit vb. curb, repress, control, restrain: The presence of the gunmen in the audience inhibited the speaker's remarks about organized crime. ant. encourage.

inhuman adj. barbaric, savage, brutal, bestial: The prisoners were given inhuman treatment, being tortured and beaten daily. ant. humane.

initial adj. first, basic, primary, elementary: When I heard the good news, my initial reaction was to tell everyone. ant. last, final, terminal.

initiate vb. start, begin, commence, open: I want to initiate the ceremony by welcoming you all to Boondock, Iowa. ant. stop, finish, terminate.

initiative n. enterprise, enthusiasm, energy, vigor: Nobody suggested that Bill clean up the yard: he did it on his own initiative.

injure vb. harm, hurt, wound, damage: My little toe was slightly injured in the accident, so I sued.

injurious adj. harmful, hurtful, damaging, destructive: Smoking can be injurious to your health. ant. beneficial, useful, advantageous.

injury n. harm, damage, hurt: The article in the newspaper had done injury to Mr. Scott's reputation, according to the jury.

inmate n. prisoner; patient: I was an inmate at that hospital for two weeks.

inn n. hotel, lodge; motel: We stayed in an inn in the country during our vacation.

innocent adj. 1. not guilty, blameless, faultless, virtuous: The defendant was found to be innocent and was set free. 2. unknowing, naive, unsophisticated: Innocent young people are not allowed to see that kind of movie. ant. 1. guilty, blameworthy. 2. sophisticated, wise, worldly.

inquire vb. ask, question; investigate, examine: We inquired whether Harvey was well enough to come out and play. The police inquired into the movements of the suspect the previous evening.

inquiry n. examination, study, investigation: The detective conducted an inquiry into the whereabouts of the victim.

inquisitive adj. inquiring, questioning, prying, curious: I wish that Sadie weren't so inquisitive and would mind her own business. ant. uninterested, incurious.

insane adj. 1. deranged, lunatic, demented, mentally unsound, mad, crazy: The murderer was declared legally insane and did not stand trial. 2. senseless, foolish, stupid, idiotic: You're insane to dive off that tower into a small tank of water. ant. 1. sane, coherent, rational.

insecure adj. shaky, nervous, uneasy, uncertain: I feel insecure about investing my money in hula hoops at this time.
ant. secure.

insensitive adj. callous, hard, tough, unfeeling: The insensitive attitude of public officials will create hardships for the poor and the elderly this winter. ant. sensitive.

insincere adj. deceitful, dishonest, false: Sylvia knew that Michael was insincere by his shifty expression and evasive answers. ant. sincere, honest.

insist vb. demand, require, command: The lawyers insisted on seeing the president of the company.

insolent adj. impertinent, rude, disrespectful, insulting: That boy has to learn not to be insolent to his elders. ant. polite, courteous, respectful.

inspect vb. examine, investigate: All of our products are carefully inspected before being offered for sale.

inspiration n. thought, impulse, idea, notion, hunch: Ed's inspiration led to the invention of a new steering device.

install vb. establish, set up, put in: My father was installed as president of the club last night. The servicemen installed our new heater today.

instance n. case, example, occasion, illustration, occurrence: Last night's robbery is another instance of the rise in crime in that neighborhood.

instant n. moment, flash, twinkling: In an instant, the frog had turned into a handsome prince.

instantly adv. at once, immediately, right away, directly, instantaneously: When the sergeant gives an order, he expects it to be obeyed instantly.

instinct n. feeling, intuition: My instinct tells me that someone is watching us.

institute vb. establish, organize, found, launch, begin, initiate: Last year we instituted the practice of having a coffee break in the afternoons. n. establishment, organization; university: Haven't you ever heard of the Illinois Institute of Technology?

instruct vb. 1. teach, educate, train, tutor, school, drill: The gym teacher instructed us in the manly art of self-defense. 2. order, command, direct: We were instructed to be very quiet during the ceremony.

instruction n. 1. teaching, training, education, schooling, guidance: Miles plays the violin beautifully, and he's never had any instruction. 2. direction, order, command: The instruction was to proceed to the end of the street and turn right.

instrument n. tool, implement, device; means: The surgeon's instruments were neatly laid out in the cabinet.

insubordinate adj. disobedient, intractable, defiant, mutinous: If that soldier is insubordinate again, he will be court-martialed.

insult vb. offend, outrage, humiliate: I won't insult you by telling you what I think of that cake you baked. n. offense, affront, outrage, scorn: Even though you love your dog, telling me that I look like him is an insult. ant. vb. flatter, praise. n. flattery, praise.

integrated adj. combined, interspersed, mingled, mixed; desegregated, interracial, nonsectarian: Our school system has been integrated for two years. ant. segregated, separated, divided.

integrity n. 1. soundness, wholeness: You can't remove a brick from that wall without threatening the integrity of the entire structure. 2. honesty, uprightness, honor, principle, virtue: We need more men of integrity in our government.

intellect n. 1. judgment, understanding: The men who planned the lynching were of small intellect. 2. intelligence, mind, mentality, sense, reason, brains: There can be no doubt that Albert Einstein was a man with enormous intellect.

intellectual adj. intelligent, learned: I don't think you will find this comic magazine too intellectual for you. n. academic, scholar, academician: The intellectuals are all in favor of a higher governmental appropriation for the arts.

intelligence n. ability, skill, aptitude: Herman is a student of high intelligence who gets good marks.

intelligent adj. smart, bright, clever, quick, astute, alert, wise: The more intelligent students learn all of the time, not only when they are studying. ant. stupid, slow, unintelligent, dumb.

intend vb. mean; expect; plan, propose: What do you intend to do about your dog when you take a vacation?

intense adj. 1. deep, profound, concentrated, serious, earnest: Felicia was wrapped up in her own intense thoughts. 2. concentrated, great, heightened, intensified, exceptional: The intense heat from the burning building scorched the trees nearby.

intent n. aim, purpose, intention: The man had been arrested for attacking the pedestrian with intent to kill him. adj. concentrated, set; steadfast: I was so intent on the book I was reading that I didn't hear you come in.

intention n. plan, intent, purpose, expectation, design, aim, object: Is it your intention to marry the banker's daughter?

intentional adj. purposeful, deliberate, planned, intended: I refuse to believe that his stepping on your toe was intentional.
ant. accidental, chance.

intentionally adv. purposefully, on purpose, deliberately, maliciously: You sat on my hat intentionally! ant. accidentally.

interest n. 1. concern, care, attention: The scientist examined the fossil with interest. 2. profit, advantage, benefit, gain: It's in your own interest to do well in school. 3. share, ownership, credit: Yes, I have a small interest in the ice-cream parlor down the street. 4. percentage, premium: When Kathryn bought her house, she had to pay interest of 7 percent on her mortgage. vb. 1. attract, engage, absorb: What you say about your uncle's jewel collection interests me. 2. entertain, amuse, engage: I am interested by the theater. ant. n. 1. disinterest, apathy. vb. 1. bore, weary.

interested adj. concerned, involved, affected: You cannot be impartial: since you own a share in the property, you are an interested party. ant. uninterested, unconcerned, indifferent.

interesting adj. attractive, fascinating, engaging, inviting: That's one of the most interesting books I've ever read. ant. uninteresting, boring, tedious, wearisome.

interfere vb. meddle, butt in, intervene: I wish you wouldn't interfere when I'm trying to settle this matter with your brother alone.

interference n. 1. meddling, prying, intrusion: Your interference in matters that don't concern you has gone far enough. 2. obstruction, obstacle, barrier: Every time I have tried to settle the question the others have created some interference.

interior n. inside, center: She's not a landscape architect, she's an interior decorator. The interior of the house was painted yellow. adj. inside, central, inner, internal: The interior sections of the state were mostly swamplands. ant. n. exterior, outside. adj. external, outer, outside.

internal adj. 1. inner, interior, inside, private, intimate: I don't think I want to reveal to you my internal feelings about her. 2. domestic, native: Diplomatic relations are an international, not an internal matter. ant. external, outer, surface.

interpret vb. 1. explain, define; understand: The way Lorenzo interpreted your remark, he thinks you don't like him. 2. translate, paraphrase: Because the ambassador understood not one word of Russian, he hired Ivan to interpret what was being said.

interrupt vb. 1. intrude, break in, interfere, cut in (on): Please don't interrupt me when I'm talking. If you always interrupt, how can you know what others think? 2. discontinue, stop, hinder, obstruct: The trees on this side of the house interrupt the view of the seashore.

interval n. gap, pause: There should be a two-second interval between the strikings of the clock.

intervene vb. come between, interfere, interrupt, intrude: Two years intervened between the last two times I saw her.

intimate adj. 1. close, familiar, personal: Shellie is one of my most intimate friends. 2. private, personal, confidential, secret: We have always shared the most intimate details of our lives with each other. 3. thorough, complete, detailed: I have an intimate understanding of the difficulty of building a bridge there. vb. hint, suggest, imply: Charlie intimated that if I were to offer to lend him a quarter, he wouldn't refuse it.

intolerant adj. prejudiced, biased, bigoted: You cannot expect fair treatment yourself if you are intolerant of the rights of others. ant. tolerant, broadminded, fair.

intoxicated adj. See drunk.

intrigue vb. attract, charm, interest, captivate: The dark-haired girl at the table in the corner intrigues me. n. plot, scheme, conspiracy: The cafés of Casablanca were famous as the scenes of many international intrigues.

introduce vb. 1. present; acquaint: We were introduced to each other at Flora's house in Paris. 2. submit, propose, present, offer: The committee has introduced a bill to the legislature to control the sale of guns.

intrude vb. interrupt, infringe: You have intruded on my privacy enough, and I must ask you to leave.

intruder n. prowler, thief, trespasser, robber: Although the jury didn't believe him, the accused man swore he had seen a bushy-haired intruder attack his wife.

intuition n. instinct, sixth sense; clairvoyance, insight: My intuition tells me that this will be a very lucky decision.

invade vb. penetrate: The commandos invaded an unguarded part of the coast.

invaluable adj. valuable, precious, priceless: Your experience with oil well fires will be invaluable to the company in case of trouble. ant. worthless.

invasion n. intrusion, attack: The invasion of the continent began on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

invent vb. create, make up, originate, devise, contrive: I think that Felix invented that tale about his having been in the navy: he's only nine years old! Thomas Edison invented the electric light bulb.

investigate vb. examine, inspect, explore, study: The police investigated every possible suspect until they found one who could have been on the scene.

investigation n. examination, exploration, inquiry, study, research, search: A full-scale investigation revealed that the bank's president had been gambling away the depositors' money.

invigorating adj. stimulating, vitalizing, bracing, fortifying: First thing in the morning, you should take an invigorating cold shower.

invite vb. 1. ask, bid: They invited us for dinner and then gave us only toasted cheese sandwiches. 2. request, encourage, urge: All furniture manufacturers were invited to bid on furnishing the governor's mansion.

inviting adj. alluring, luring, appealing, tempting, attractive, encouraging: That girl gave me an inviting smile, so I shall ask her to dance. ant. uninviting, unattractive.

involuntary adj. automatic, reflex, uncontrolled; unintentional: My wink was involuntary: I had an eyelash in my eye. ant. voluntary, willed, willful.

involve vb. 1. include, contain, embrace: If your plans for having dinner with the sheik involve me, I just want you to know I don't eat sheep's eyes. 2. complicate, confuse, entangle: "This is one of the most involved cases I have ever tried," said the judge.

irate adj. angry, furious, enraged, incensed: The teacher was irate to discover that a student had given her an apple made of wax.

irk vb. annoy, irritate, provoke, vex: It irks me to know about those wealthy people who manage to pay no tax at all.

irregular adj. 1. uneven, unequal, crooked: The irregular surface of this wall must accumulate a lot of dust. 2. disorderly, random, unsettled, disorganized: The hours kept by the staff are irregular, and you can never be sure when someone is in the office. ant. 1. regular, even.

irresponsible adj. untrustworthy, unreliable: Philip is too irresponsible to be considered for the job of security guard.

irritate vb. 1. annoy, vex, pester, bother: I find your constant whining about going to the movies very irritating. 2. redden, chafe, inflame: Stop scratching your eye or you'll irritate it. ant. 1. soothe, pacify, calm.

irritable adj. sensitive, touchy, testy, peevish, short-tempered, fretful: Irene is so irritable that you can't say anything to her without getting her angry. ant. cheerful, happy.

isolate vb. separate, disconnect, segregate, detach: The doctor said that Ephraim should be isolated because the flu is very contagious. The scientists were able to isolate the valuable minerals from the ore.

isolation n. separation, segregation, detachment; solitude, loneliness: After a few weeks, Robinson Crusoe began to feel the effects of his isolation from other human beings.

issue n. 1. number, copy, edition: Have you seen the Sunday issue of the newspaper? 2. problem, question, concern; matter, subject: The TV quiz program dealt with current events and with issues of importance to all of us. vb. 1. appear, emerge, come out, come forth: The smoke issued from the chimney in great black clouds. 2. publish, distribute, put out, send out, circulate, release: A quarterly is issued four times a year.

itemize vb. list, record, detail, register: When the inventory is done, it is important to itemize every book we have in stock.

jackass n. idiot, fool, dope, imbecile, ignoramus, dunce, simpleton, ninny, nincompoop, blockhead, lamebrain, (slang) jerk: That jackass really believes that pigs can fly—they just don't want to.

jail n. prison, penitentiary, reformatory; stockade, brig; dungeon, keep: After spending 20 years in jail, the man was afraid to face the responsibilities of freedom. vb. imprison, confine, detain, lock up, incarcerate: She was jailed for shoplifting.

jailer n. keeper, guard, warden, turnkey: When he was sure the jailer was asleep, the prisoner unlocked his cell and escaped.

jam vb. pack, crowd, force, ram, push, squeeze, wedge: I don't see how they can jam eight tomatoes into that tiny can. n. preserve, conserve: Do you like jam with your peanut butter?

jargon n. vernacular, patois, argot, parlance: In the jargon of the Labor Department, he isn't unemployed, he's "temporarily at liberty."

jaundiced adj. prejudiced, biased: He looks at job applicants with the jaundiced eye of someone who believes that they would be working if they had anything to offer. ant. fair.

jealous adj. envious; covetous: Mother gave you two more pieces than me and I'm jealous. Oh, you're jealous of anyone who has more of anything than you—except maybe more punishment!

jealousy n. envy; covetousness; greed: His jealousy of his sister because she got better grades was unreasonable.

jeopardize vb. endanger, imperil, risk: Don't jeopardize your good reputation by being seen with Victoria. ant. secure.

jerk vb. twitch, quiver, shake: When you jerked the tablecloth, you spilled the milk. n. 1. twitch, spasm, shake, quiver: With a quick jerk, the horse threw the cowboy to the ground. 2. fool, dope: I think you're a jerk for eating six candy bars.

jet n. spurt, squirt: When I turned on the tap, a jet of water hit me in the face.

jewel n. gem, gemstone, stone; bauble: The crown was made of gold set with diamonds and other jewels.

job n. 1. work, employment, trade, profession, position, calling, career, business: With so many people unemployed, my father was lucky to have a job. 2. task, chore, duty: Mother told me she had some jobs she wanted done around the house after school.

join vb. unite, connect, couple, assemble, link, fit, attach: The pieces of the jigsaw puzzle joined together to form a picture of a sunset. ant. split, separate, divide, sunder.

joint n. connection, link, coupling, union, junction: I could see where the glue was oozing out of the joint between the parts. adj. common, mutual, combined, connected: If we make a joint effort, we can do it together. ant. adj. separate, divided.

joke n. jest, prank, game, caper, antic; anecdote: Tying a can to a dog's tail isn't a funny joke. vb. jest, banter, laugh: You go to your office on a camel every day? You must be joking!

jolly adj. joyful, gleeful, gay, spirited, happy, cheerful, glad: What a jolly fellow Santa Claus is! ant. sad, somber, gloomy, melancholy.

jolt vb., n. jar, bump, bounce, shake, shock: The electric wire touched my finger and jolted me. Everett got quite a jolt when he sat on that tack.

journal n. 1. diary, account, record: Some people keep a journal of everything that happens to them. 2. newspaper, daily: In our house we subscribe to The Evening Journal.

journey n. trip, voyage, excursion, tour: Our journey to Istanbul took three days on the train. vb. travel: The student journeyed two weeks to visit his old professor.

joy n. delight, pleasure, happiness, gladness, satisfaction: There is nothing to parallel the children's joy at visiting their grandmother at Christmas. ant. unhappiness, misery, sadness, gloom.

judge n. arbiter, referee, umpire, arbitrator; justice, magistrate: How can you be a judge of the matter when you don't know all of the facts? vb. 1. arbitrate, referee, umpire; decide, determine: We judged that the home team had won because of the fouls. 2. estimate, guess, reckon, consider, regard: I judged the distance as being about 90 feet.

judgment n. 1. decision, verdict, estimation, opinion: In our judgment, the horse should not have been disqualified. 2. understanding, wisdom, discretion, sense, common sense, intelligence: I think you showed good judgment when you reported the prowler to the police.

jug n. jar, bottle, flagon, flask, pitcher: There is a jug of cheap wine in the closet.

jump vb., n. leap, spring, bound, vault, skip, hop: Don't try jumping over that puddle or you'll fall into it. He's going to attempt a jump over the river next year while riding a horse.

jumpy adj. nervous, touchy, sensitive, excitable: Sally was so jumpy in the old house at night that she thought every sound was a ghost's footstep. ant. calm, tranquil, unruffled.

junction n. 1. joining, coupling, union: The junction of the two families by marriage meant that the whole county was now under their control. 2. intersection, crossroads; connection, joint, weld, seam: The rust started at the junction where the two sides of the box come together.

junk n. trash, scraps, rubbish, waste: After the wreck, the car wasn't worth more than $10 as junk. vb. scrap, discard, dump: After 40 years of use and abuse, the broken-down bicycle was finally ready to be junked.

just adj. 1. fair, impartial: I think that the referee's decision was just—the man was out at second. 2. rightful, lawful, legal, proper: Since we had paid for the land, we had just title to it.

justify vb. 1. vindicate, clear, acquit, excuse: I don't see how you can justify murder except in self-defense. 2. defend, explain, excuse: Tom tried to justify his actions by claiming that he had been very tired.

juvenile adj. childish, puerile, babyish: If you keep up this juvenile behavior, you'll never be treated as an adult. n. youngster, child, teenager, youth: The police arrested three juveniles and charged them with speeding on their skateboards. ant. adj. mature, adult. n. adult.

keen adj. 1. sharp, acute: This hunting knife has such a keen edge I can split a hair with it. 2. quick, shrewd, bright, clever, intelligent: Larry, you have a keen sense of humor. 3. enthusiastic, eager, interested: I don't know if Ward is so keen to publish the book anymore. ant. 1. dull, blunted. 2. dull, stupid, slow, obtuse.

keep vb. 1. retain, hold, withhold, preserve, maintain: When you borrow books from the library, you're supposed to return them, not keep them. 2. continue, persist in: I wish you wouldn't keep saying the same thing over and over again. 3. save, store, hold: You can't keep eggs for a month outside the refrigerator without their becoming rotten. vb. phr. keep back delay, hinder, hold, check: I couldn't keep back a sneeze. keep on continue, persist in; endure: The raven just kept on saying "Nevermore! Nevermore!" without stopping. keep up maintain, sustain, support: It must cost a lot of money to keep up such a large home. n. 1. room and board, maintenance, subsistence: The farmhand worked just for his keep during hard times. 2. tower, dungeon: The knight rescued the damsel from the keep of the king's castle.

keeper n. jailer, warden, custodian, guard: The lunatic escaped from his keeper at the asylum and hid in the forest. The lion attacked his keeper in the zoo.

keepsake n. memento, souvenir, remembrance: She had a lock of his hair as a keepsake in a locket that she wore round her neck.

kernel n. core, heart, nucleus: The kernel is the only edible part of the nut.

key n. clue; answer: The key to the puzzle is to spell the words backward.

kill vb. 1. slay, execute, assassinate, murder: The tiger killed two people and then ran into the jungle. 2. destroy, cancel, abolish: Your attitude could kill any feeling of love I might have toward you.

killing n. slaughter, massacre, butchery, genocide, carnage, bloodshed: Though the war has been over for more than 40 years, there is still far too much killing in the world today.

kind¹ n. sort, class, type, variety: What kind of bird is that?

kind² adj. friendly, gentle, kindly, mild, kindhearted, goodhearted, warm, tender, affectionate: I'm kind to dumb animals and to intelligent people. ant. cruel, brutal, mean, hardhearted.

kindle vb. 1. ignite, fire, light: You'll need some paper to kindle a fire. 2. excite, arouse, inflame, provoke: The new girl in class knew how to kindle a spark of dislike into a flame of hatred.

kindly adj. kind, warm, warmhearted, kindhearted: Simon was a kindly man who wouldn't hurt a fly. ant. cruel, mean.

kingdom n. monarchy, realm, domain, empire: At one time the kingdom of Spain was one of the most powerful in the world.

kingly adj. regal, kinglike, royal, majestic, imperial: The kingly mansion was magnificent. ant. lowly, squalid.

kit n. set; collection, outfit: My cousin got a tool kit for Christmas and built a table with it.

knack n. talent, skill, aptitude, ability: Though he's only 14, my son has a knack for repairing watches.

knit vb. combine, join, mend, unite, heal: The broken bone in my hand knit in about six weeks.

knob n. 1. handle, doorknob: You have to turn the knob if you want to open the door. 2. bump, protuberance: There's a knob on my head where the baseball hit me.

knock vb., n. rap, thump, whack, thwack, tap: Please knock on my door at seven tomorrow morning. I have a headache from that knock I got yesterday.

knot n. 1. group, cluster, collection, gathering, crowd: A small knot of people surrounded the injured man. 2. tangle, twist, snarl: My shoelaces were tied together in a knot by some wiseguy.

know vb. 1. recognize: I don't think I know you—have we met? 2. understand, comprehend, see: Do you know what I'm talking about? 3. distinguish, discriminate: I wouldn't know him from Adam.

knowing adj. smart, sage, sagacious, wise, shrewd; clever: We all noticed that when her husband mentioned Barbara, he and his wife exchanged knowing looks.

knowledge n. 1. information, learning, data: Sidney's knowledge of physics is rather limited. 2. understanding, wisdom, judgment: Man's knowledge of himself has increased enormously in the past century.

kudos n. praise, acclaim, approval, approbation: Nothing pleases the professor more than the kudos of his colleagues.

label n. tag, marker, mark, sticker, stamp: The label on this vase says it was made in Denmark. vb. tag, mark, stamp: All medicines should be labeled to show their ingredients.

labor n. 1. work, toil, drudgery: Clearing out your attic would provide labor for five men for a week. 2. workingmen, workers, working class: Management and labor reached an agreement last night, and the bus drivers returned to work today. vb. work, toil, strive: My father labored for many years for others before he could buy his own farm.

laborious adj. 1. difficult, tiring, burdensome, hard: Shoveling coal is very laborious. 2. painstaking, industrious: We had to admire the laborious detail of the ivory carvings. ant. 1. easy, simple, restful, relaxing.

lack n. shortage, need, dearth, want, scarcity: Driving over the speed limit shows a lack of good judgment. The lack of vitamins and protein in their diet made many of the people very weak and ill. vb. want, need, require: We are lacking three people to make up a baseball team. ant. n. abundance, quantity, plentifulness, profusion.

lad n. boy, youth, fellow, chap, stripling: Ted is a fine lad, but he may be too young to become the team captain.

lag vb. fall behind, dawdle, linger, loiter, tarry, straggle: Deliveries are lagging two weeks behind orders. n. slack, slowdown, tardiness: The lag in sales is due to the economic slump.

lame adj. 1. crippled, disabled, limping; deformed: The horse could not be entered in the race because it was lame. 2. poor, unsatisfactory, weak, inadequate, faulty: Having to wash your hair is a pretty lame excuse for not arriving at work on time. ant. 2. convincing, believable, plausible.

lament vb. mourn, weep, bemoan, grieve; regret: The widows of the men killed in the explosion lamented their loss. n. mourning, lamentation, moan, wail, moaning, wailing, weeping: The widows' lament could be heard for many days after the accident.

lamentable adj. deplorable, unfortunate: The conditions under which some poor people live are lamentable.

lane n. passage, alley, way: The lane behind the houses is overgrown with rose bushes.

language n. 1. tongue, speech: My uncle speaks three foreign languages. 2. dialect; jargon; patois: Don't you dare use foul language in my presence! The technical language of mathematics is hard to understand.

lank adj. lean, gaunt, slender, thin: The lank figure of the vicar could be seen in the distance. ant. fat, obese.

large adj. big, great, sizable, broad, massive, huge, vast, enormous, immense: Elephants are large animals. ant. small, little, tiny, diminutive.

largely adv. mainly, chiefly, mostly, principally: The spring floods were caused largely by the heavy winter snows when they melted.

lark n. frolic, fling, sport, play: The boys said they had meant no harm and had painted the fence orange just for a lark.

lash n. whip, thong, cane, rod, knout: The thief received five lashes in the public square.

lass n. girl, maiden, damsel: Kathy is a pretty lass.

last adj. final, latest, ultimate, extreme, concluding: The last time I saw her, she was wearing a green hat and coat. vb. continue, remain, endure: This pair of blue jeans had lasted for three years. ant. adj. first, initial, starting, beginning.

lately adv. recently, of late: Granny hasn't been doing much ski-jumping lately.

lather n. foam, suds, froth: Her lithe body was covered with lather which she washed off in the shower.

latitude n. freedom, scope, range, extent: If you give me only $10 to buy a pair of shoes, that doesn't give me much latitude of choice.

laudable adj. praiseworthy, admirable, creditable, commendable: The guard made a laudable effort to stop the robbers, but he was overcome and tied up. ant. contemptible.

laugh vb., n. chuckle, giggle, snicker, guffaw: I wasn't laughing at you because you're not funny. Alexa gave a little embarrassed laugh when asked why she was late.

laughable adj. amusing, funny, humorous, comical, ridiculous: The way the otters play around the pond is laughable to watch.

launch vb. 1. fire, drive, propel: The rocket was launched to the moon at dawn. 2. initiate, originate, start, begin: The senator launched his campaign for president early in February. ant. 2. stop, finish, terminate.

law n. rule, statute, order, decree, ruling: The Congress passed a law for aid to the elderly.

lawful adj. legal, legitimate: Every American is entitled to his lawful rights.

lawless adj. uncontrolled, uncivilized, wild, untamed, savage, violent: The early days of the West were lawless until the pioneers started settling west of the Mississippi. ant. law-abiding, obedient, tame.

lawlessness n. anarchy, chaos, mobocracy, mob rule: There was much lawlessness in the frontier towns of the Old West.

lawyer n. attorney, counselor-at-law, counsel, counselor, advocate: If you don't pay me the money you owe, I'll turn the matter over to my lawyer.

lay¹ vb. 1. put, place, set, deposit: Please lay the book on the table. 2. wager, bet, risk, hazard, stake: I'll lay you five to one that my horse wins. n. 1. position, site, location: I've just started work, so give me a chance to get the lay of the land. 2. song, ballad, lyric, ode: Sir Walter Scott wrote "The Lay of the Last Minstrel."

lay² adj. 1. laic, laical: John's uncle is a lay member of the church, not a minister. 2. amateur, nonprofessional: Since I wasn't a scientist, I could give only a lay opinion about the effects of the atomic power plant.

layout n. arrangement, plan, design: The thieves obviously knew the layout of the bank vault, so someone must have helped them.

lazy adj. indolent, slothful, idle, inactive, sluggish: If you weren't so lazy, you might get more work done. ant. ambitious, active, forceful, go-getting.

lead vb. 1. guide, conduct, direct, steer: The blind man's dog led him carefully across the street. 2. command, direct: We need a strong man to lead us through the coming difficulties. ant. follow.

leader n. director, chief, commander, head, manager, ruler: The little green women stepped out of the space capsule and asked to be taken to our leader. ant. follower, disciple.

league n. alliance, union, combination: The National League won the pennant last year.

leak vb. drip, flow: This pipe is leaking and we'd better phone the plumber.

lean¹ vb. 1. slant, tilt, slope: The Tower of Pisa leans over a little more each year. 2. rely, depend, trust: When you go in to take the examination, you won't be able to lean on your notes.

lean² adj. slender, slim, thin, lanky, gaunt, skinny: The tall, lean cowboy sauntered into the saloon. n. meat, sinew, muscle: I've always wondered why Jack Sprat's wife "could eat no lean." ant. adj. fat, portly, heavy, obese.

leap vb. n. jump, vault, spring, bound: Jennie leaped up to kiss me when I entered the room. With a leap, the tiger was attacking the elephant.

learn vb. acquire, gain, determine, find out; memorize: How did you learn so many languages? I learned that you weren't planning to come from your note to Anne. Please learn this poem before class tomorrow.

learned adj. scholarly, wise, educated, knowledgeable, well-informed: The three learned men were asked to serve as advisors to the university. ant. ignorant, uneducated, unlettered, illiterate.

learning n. knowledge, lore, scholarship, education: Just because someone has a great deal of learning, that doesn't mean he has any understanding of people.

lease vb. rent, charter, let: If you want to lease an apartment, you'll have to see the landlord. The man who operates the marina will lease you a boat for the day.

least adj. 1. smallest, tiniest, minutest: The least flycatcher is a very small bird. 2. slightest; trivial: Don gets annoyed by the least little thing. ant. 1. most.

leave vb. 1. depart, go, quit; desert, abandon: Evelyn left two days ago. The man in the witness box admitted to leaving his wife and two children. 2. bequeath, will: Oscar's grandmother left him some money when she died. n. 1. permission, allowance, liberty, freedom, consent: Do I have your leave to speak to the President? 2. furlough, vacation, holiday: Andy will be on leave from the navy all next month. ant. vb. 1. arrive, come.

lecture n. speech, talk, address, lesson: Last evening we attended an illustrated lecture on bird watching. vb. speak or talk (to), address, teach, instruct: The professor lectured the students about the plays of Shakespeare.

left n. sinistral, sinister, (nautical) port: The lady was behind one door, the tiger behind the other: the man cautiously opened the door on the left.

leftovers n. pl. remains, scraps, remainder, residue: It's not much fun to be invited to dinner and be served leftovers.

legacy n. inheritance, bequest: Aunt Martha received a legacy of only one acre of land, but that is now in the middle of Times Square.

legal adj. lawful, legitimate, honest: There was a question about whether or not it was legal to show movies on Sunday. ant. illegal.

legate n. agent, emissary, envoy, representative: The papal legate was meeting with the hijackers at that very moment.

legend n. story, tale, myth, folk tale, fable: There is a legend that anyone who kisses the Blarney Stone acquires the gift of gab.

legendary adj. 1. traditional: The strength of Hercules was legendary in Greek mythology. 2. mythical, fictitious, fanciful, imaginary: Nobody is exactly sure whether King Arthur was real or legendary.

legitimate adj. legal, lawful, right, proper, correct, valid: My aunt is the legitimate heiress of the king of Transylvania. ant. illegitimate.

leisure n. relaxation, ease, recreation, rest: Nowadays, people have much more time for leisure than when they had to work 60 hours a week.

leisurely adj. unhurried, casual, relaxed, comfortable: We took a leisurely boat ride on the lake after dinner. ant. hurried, pressed, forced, rushed.

lend vb. loan, advance: The most I could lend you is a dollar until the weekend.

length n. extent, measure, reach, stretch, longness: The length of this string is three feet.

lengthen vb. extend, stretch, reach, prolong, grow, increase: After Christmas, the days north of the equator lengthen until about June 22, the longest day of the year. ant. shorten, contract, shrink.

lessen vb. reduce, diminish, decrease, shrink, dwindle, decline: If we add another hook, the strain in the one holding the picture now will be lessened. ant. increase, swell, expand, multiply.

lesson n. 1. exercise, drill, assignment, homework: I hope that all the students have completed the lesson for today. 2. instruction: Your catching a cold ought to be a lesson to you to wear your coat.

let vb. 1. permit, allow, grant: Please let me go to the movies. 2. lease, rent: There's an apartment to let on the next street.

letdown n. disappointment, disillusionment: Coming in last in the tiddlywinks competition was a terrible letdown for Edwin.

lethargic adj. slow, sluggish, lazy, phlegmatic, logy, listless: After that huge dinner, I feel so lethargic I can only sit about and do nothing. ant. energetic, vivacious.

letup n. lessening, slackening, slowdown, reduction, abatement:

The police questioned the suspect for eight hours without letup.

level adj. 1. even, smooth, flat, uniform: The new board you put into the floor isn't level with the others. 2. horizontal, plane, flat: On a level road, this car will get 36 miles per gallon of gas. 3. equivalent, equal: My boat drew up level with the leader's, and then we started to pull ahead. vb. 1. even, equalize; smooth: I have to level that picture so it hangs straight. 2. demolish, destroy, raze, flatten: The entire center of the city was leveled by the bomb.

level-headed adj. sensible, reasonable, collected, calm, cool: You can count on Christine to remain level-headed in any crisis.

levy n. tax, charge, toll, fee, duty: There's a levy of 25 cents on every pack of cigarettes sold in the state.

liable adj. subject, accountable, answerable, responsible: Parents are liable for damage done by their children.

liar n. falsifier, prevaricator, fibber, fabricator: Anyone who says that Edward doesn't know how to play chess is a liar.

liberal adj. 1. generous, openhanded, unselfish, kind: Arnold has always been a very liberal tipper in this restaurant. 2. tolerant, unprejudiced, unbigoted, open-minded: I have always taken a liberal attitude toward women's rights. ant. 1. stingy, cheap, tightfisted, selfish.

liberate vb. free, release, loose, deliver: Every year at Christmas the governor liberated prisoners who had served most of their sentences. ant. imprison, confine, jail.

liberty n. freedom, independence: Liberty means the freedom to do as one pleases within the law. ant. bondage, servitude, slavery.

license n. 1. permission, consent: The trusty was given license to come and go as he pleased in the prison. 2. permit, authorization: I have a driver's license that expires next month. vb. permit, allow, sanction, authorize: Frank is not licensed to practice medicine in this country.

lid n. cover, top, cap: I can't get the lid off this jar of mayonnaise.

lie¹ n. falsehood, prevarication, fib, untruth, fiction, perjury: It's a lie to say that I stole that cherry pie—my twin brother did it. vb. fib, prevaricate, misinform: Don't lie to me! I know you have no twin brother.

lie² vb. 1. recline, repose: I lay in the bed till noon today. 2. be situated or located: The valley lies between the two mountains. n. situation, location, site: From the lie of that ball, I don't think you can hit it onto the green.

life n. 1. being, animation, existence, vitality: There's still a breath of life in the injured man. 2. biography: I've just finished reading a life of Lincoln. 3. vigor, vitality, energy, spirit, sparkle: Irene is always the life of the party.

lift vb. raise, elevate: Don't try to lift that heavy box by yourself.

light¹ n. 1. illumination, radiance, brilliance, brightness: There's not enough light here to read by. 2. lamp, fixture, chandelier, candle, bulb: Please turn off the lights when leaving the room. vb. 1. illuminate, brighten: That one candle isn't enough to light this room. 2. ignite, fire, burn, kindle: I lit a fire in the sitting room. adj. 1. bright, clear, luminous, lit, illuminated: This is a pleasant, light room to be in. 2. pale, whitish, bleached: Your light yellow dress looks very well on you. ant. n. 1. dark. vb. 1. darken. 2. extinguish. adj. dark.

light² adj. 1. unsubstantial, airy, buoyant, dainty: If all the books are removed, this bookcase is very light. 2. giddy, frivolous: Sometimes I think you're a bit light in the head. 3. trivial, shallow, slight: I enjoy a little light reading before going to sleep. ant. 3. serious, heavy, weighty.

light-headed adj. silly, frivolous, giddy, dizzy: The remnants of the anesthetic made me feel light-headed. ant. clear-headed, sober, rational.

lighthearted adj. gay, carefree, cheerful, merry, happy, glad: Phoebe's lighthearted manner gave no indication of the serious problems that faced her. ant. sad, melancholy, somber, serious.

like vb. admire, esteem, fancy, care for, cherish, adore, love: I like blueberry pie à la mode. Do you like me as much as I like you? ant. dislike, disapprove, hate, loathe.

likely adj. probable, liable, possible, reasonable: If I have a broken leg, it's not likely that I'll do much skiing this season. The governor is a likely candidate for U.S. senator.

likeness n. 1. resemblance, similarity: Yes, there is a likeness between you and Napoleon. 2. image, representation, picture, portrait: The king's likeness appears on all postage stamps, coins, and paper money.

likewise adv. similarly; besides, also: After you've watched how I peel this banana, I want you to do likewise. Likewise, Henry wanted to run for office.

liking n. affection, partiality, fondness: I've taken a liking to you, Donna, and would like to invite you out to dinner tonight. ant. dislike, antipathy.

- limit n. 1. boundary, bound, extent, frontier, end: The limits of our property are marked by those huge trees. 2. restraint, check, restriction: There is no limit to your rudeness! vb. check, hinder, restrain, restrict, confine: You ought to limit the amount of candy you eat.
- limp¹ adj. flabby, soft, supple, limber, flexible: After being left out in the rain, the pages of the book were all soggy and limp. ant. stiff, rigid, hard.
- limp² vb. hobble, falter, stagger: The pirate came limping into the saloon on his pegleg. n. hobble, lameness: This limp comes from my sprained ankle.
- line n. 1. row, array, file, sequence, series: There was a line of medicine bottles on the shelf. 2. mark, stroke; outline: After drawing a line at the top of your paper, write your name on it. 3. seam, crease, wrinkle: The palm reader told my fortune from the lines in my hand. 4. division, limit, boundary: I draw the line when it comes to three hot dogs in one day. Don't try to cross the state line near the river. 5. wire, cable; pipe; track: When digging along the railway line, the men had to be careful to avoid cutting the telephone, power, and gas lines. vb. line up, align, file, array: I want all the children who are going to the zoo to line themselves outside at once.
- linger vb. loiter, stay, remain, tarry, dawdle: Please don't linger near the front door after you leave the theater.
- link n. tie, bond, connection, connector, loop, coupling: I cannot see any link between your wanting to see a movie and Bob's washing his car. vb. connect, tie, couple: The chains were linked to each other.
- lip n. brim, edge, rim: The lip of the pitcher is cracked.
- list n. series, roll, record, register, slate: Is Merrill's name on the list of candidates? vb. record, register, post, file: At the bottom of the application blank, please list all personal references.
- listen vb. hear, attend: Listen to what your mother tells you, for Mother knows best.
- listless adj. See lethargic.
- literal adj. word for word, verbatim, exact, precise: This is a literal translation of the original.
- literate adj. educated, informed; intelligent: Every literate person knows who Shakespeare was. ant. illiterate, unread, unlettered, ignorant.
- litter n. trash, rubbish: Please don't throw litter on the streets. vb. strew, scatter, disorder: The park was littered with candy wrappers after the children left.

- little adj. 1. small, tiny, wee, minute: This little book has more information in it than many large ones. 2. brief, short: There's only a little time left before my plane leaves. adv. slightly: Aren't you even a little hungry? ant. adj. 1. large, big, huge. 2. long, extended.
- live¹ vb. 1. abide, reside, dwell: I am going to live in India when I grow up. 2. exist, be; survive: No animal—including man—can live without any water at all.
- live² adj. 1. alive; surviving: My grandmother used to go visiting carrying a live white mouse on a gold chain. There were only two live victims found after the crash. 2. energetic, active; unrecorded: There's live entertainment this weekend at the movie theater.
- lively adj. 1. active, live, vigorous, spry, nimble, quick: Jack's grandmother is pretty lively for a woman of 92. 2. gay, animated, spirited: That certainly was a lively dance you did last night. ant. slow, dull, sluggish.
- living n. livelihood; support: How does that fellow make his living? I've never seen him work.
- load n. burden, weight; cargo, shipment, delivery: That's quite a load you're carrying. I've ordered another load of coal for the winter. vb. weight, burden; lade: We loaded the luggage into the car. Don't load me up with so many packages.
- loaded adj. See drunk.
- loan n. advance; credit: I asked the bank to approve a loan of $1,000 for my new car. vb. lend, advance: Can you loan me a dollar till Tuesday?
- loathsome adj. abominable, offensive, foul, atrocious, obnoxious: Flinders caught a loathsome disease when he was in the tropics. ant. attractive, alluring.
- lobby n. vestibule, foyer, anteroom, entry, entryway: Please wait for me in the hotel lobby.
- locate vb. 1. find, discover, unearth: I haven't been able to locate a copy of the book you asked for. 2. situate, site, place: I've been planning to locate the new factory along the river.
- location n. site, situation, locale, spot, place, area, neighborhood: The top of that hill would be a fine location for your new home.
- lock¹ n. tress, braid, plait: Betty's golden locks flowed down to her shoulders.
- lock² n. latch, hasp, bolt, padlock: I have nothing that anyone would want, so I don't keep a lock on the door. vb. latch, padlock, bolt, fasten: Lock the door carefully after I leave and don't let anyone in.

lodge n. 1. cottage, cabin, hut; chalet: The prince had a hunting lodge in the mountains. 2. club, society: There was a meeting of our lodge every Tuesday at the local restaurant. vb. 1. room, stay, reside, abide, board, dwell: I've been lodging with my aunt while looking for a job. 2. settle, fix, put: Trying to get the pencil out of the rifle barrel, my finger became lodged in the hole.

lodger n. tenant, occupant; guest, boarder: Opal swore she would never take in lodgers again—they ruined all of her furniture.

lofty adj. 1. tall, high, towering: A lofty skyscraper can be seen as you approach the city. 2. exalted, elevated: His lofty ideas of himself annoyed everyone. 3. proud, scornful, haughty: She's much too lofty to have anything to do with us. ant. 1. lowly, low.

logical adj. reasonable, rational, sensible: It's logical to assume that you will annoy someone if you insult him. ant. irrational, crazy.

logy adj. See lethargic.

lone adj. sole, alone, solitary; apart, separate, separated: A lone cowboy rode along the trail.

lonely adj. lonesome, alone; lone: I feel so lonely when you go away for more than a day.

lonesome adj. 1. See lonely. 2. remote, secluded, unpopulated, empty, barren, desolate: Killingworth lived in a tiny, lonesome cottage halfway up the mountain.

long¹ adj. extensive, length, extended: I have never seen a piece of spaghetti six feet long. You have kept me waiting for a long time. ant. short, brief, limited.

long² vb. crave, desire, wish: I long for a tall glass of iced tea.

longstanding adj. established, persistent: The longstanding feud between the two families was not settled for almost a century.

long-winded adj. dull, boring; wordy: The senator gave such a long-winded speech that I fell asleep in the middle of it. ant. terse, curt.

look vb. 1. gaze, glance, survey, watch, regard, see, study: Look at the girl in the window. 2. appear, seem: It looks as if we won't be able to go on our picnic now that it's raining. 3. seek, search for: Please look for your keys yourself. n. 1. glance, peek, peep, glimpse: I've only had one look at the page, but I've memorized it. 2. gaze, stare; contemplation, study, examination: The fixed look she gave me made me nervous. 3. appearance, expression: The look on her face when I told her!

loose adj. 1. unfastened, untied, free, undone: There's a lion loose from the circus! 2. wobbly, insecure, unscrewed, movable: The arm of the chair is loose. 3. baggy, draped, slack: Now that I've lost all that weight, my trousers are too loose on me. vb. loosen; set free: Whenever anyone came too close to the property, they would loose the guard dogs. ant. adj. 1. fastened, tied, secure. 2. firm, secure, steady. 3. tight, confining.

loosen vb. loose, untie, undo, unchain, unfasten: The man was choking, so I loosened his collar and tie. ant. tighten, tie, secure.

loot n. plunder, booty, take: The bank robbers escaped with the loot. vb. rob, steal, plunder, rifle, sack: It was the manager of the bank who had looted the customers' accounts.

lopsided adj. uneven, unequal, askew, distorted, twisted: Adrian has a completely lopsided view of what happened. That picture is lopsided and looking at it makes me uncomfortable.

lord n. nobleman, peer; master, ruler, governor: The lord of the castle ordered the festivities to begin.

lore n. knowledge, learning, wisdom: The American Indians were experts in the lore of the forest.

lose vb. mislay, misplace: I've lost my door key again. ant. find, discover, locate, place.

loss n. 1. damage, injury, hurt: The insurance was barely enough to cover our losses in the fire. 2. want, bereavement, need; misfortune, trouble; death: The loss of Ben's mother was a loss to us all.

lost adj. 1. missing, mislaid, misplaced, gone, absent: The ring, which I thought was lost, turned up in John's soup. 2. wasted, spent, misspent, squandered: The money lost in gambling every year amounts to billions of dollars.

lotion n. balm, salve, cream, liniment: This hand lotion will smooth out the roughness in a few minutes.

loud adj. noisy, ear-splitting, thunderous, blaring, shrill: Please don't speak in such a loud voice in the hospital rooms. The loud sound of a car backfiring startled us all. ant. soft, quiet, murmuring.

lounge vb. loaf, idle, laze: Stop lounging about the house and go out and get yourself a job! n. 1. couch, sofa, divan, davenport: Only two people can sit on this lounge comfortably. 2. salon, parlor, lobby: Let's go into the lounge and wait for Hattie there, where it's more comfortable.

- love n. adoration, warmth, devotion, tenderness, liking, friendliness, affection: How can you compare a person's love for his family with his love of ice cream and candy? vb. worship, adore, treasure, cherish, like: Darling, when I say I love you, I mean I want to be with you forever. ant. n. hate, loathing. vb. hate, detest, loathe.
- lovely adj. attractive, fair, charming, comely, pretty, beautiful, handsome: The bride was lovely in white lace. ant. homely, ugly, hideous.
- lower vb. 1. reduce, decrease, lessen, diminish: If you don't eat a balanced diet, you lower your resistance to disease. 2. soften, quiet, turn down: Please lower the volume of that stereo. 3. degrade, disgrace, humble: I wouldn't lower myself to talk to someone who's such a bigot. 4. sink; drop: Martin lowered himself carefully into the hot bath. Lower the leaf of the table gently. ant. 1., 2., 4. increase, raise.
- lowly adj. humble, lowborn, low, base, common, mean: Though of lowly origin, Fred went on to become the prime minister of Spivonia. ant. noble, royal.
- loyal adj. faithful, true, devoted, dependable; patriotic: The British ambassador acknowledged that he was a loyal subject of the queen. ant. disloyal, treacherous, traitorous.
- loyalty n. faithfulness, devotion, fidelity; allegiance, patriotism: The king rewarded his knights' loyalty with grants of land and castles. It's amazing to see that dog's loyalty to his master. ant. disloyalty, treachery, traitorousness.
- lucid adj. clear, crystal-clear; transparent: Professor Bliss gave a lucid explanation of how a corkscrew works. ant. unclear, muddy, opaque.
- luck n. fortune, chance, fluke: It's all a matter of pure luck whether or not you win in the lottery. ant. misfortune.
- lucky adj. fortunate, favorable, favored, blessed: Sharon has always been lucky at cards. ant. unlucky, unfortunate.
- lucrative adj. profitable, well-paying, high-paying, money-making: One wouldn't think that repairing buggy-whips would be a very lucrative business these days, and I think you ought to diversify.
- luggage n. baggage, bags, suitcases, valises, trunks: The customs inspectors will examine the contents of your luggage when you reenter the country.
- lugubrious adj. sad, mournful, somber, gloomy, melancholy: Stanley is too lugubrious to invite to my birthday party. ant. cheerful, happy.
- lukewarm adj. tepid, unenthusiastic, spiritless: Danny's sug- - gestion that we play charades at the funeral received a lukewarm reception.*

- lull vb. calm, soothe, quiet: We were lulled to sleep by the sound of the waves beating on the shore. n. calm, hush, quiet, stillness, silence; pause: I took advantage of a lull in the activities to steal away unnoticed.
- luminous adj. alight, light, lighted, glowing, bright, luminescent, fluorescent: At night we could see millions of luminous particles in the wake of the boat.
- lump n. 1. bump, protuberance: I still have the lump on my head where she hit me. 2. cube; piece, block: I have two lumps of sugar in my tea.
- lure n. attraction, temptation, bait: The salesman used the promise of free information service as a lure to sell the encyclopedia. vb. entice, attract, tempt, draw: The spider attempted to lure the fly to land on its web.
- luscious adj. juicy, delicious, delectable: That Comice pear is the most luscious fruit I've ever eaten.
- lust n. 1. desire, passion, craving, appetite: It was his lust for money that drove the poor man to commit murder. 2. lechery, wantonness: The dance that Salome did for King Herod was to arouse his lust.
- luster n. 1. sheen, gloss, glister, glitter; brightness, brilliance, radiance: The luster of the pearls showed up best in candlelight. 2. fame, glory, reputation, honor, distinction: Although the luster of his accomplishments had won him praise, he was then awarded the Nobel prize.
- luxuriant adj. lush, dense, rich, rank: The luxuriant growth of the jungle was so thick that the sunlight never reached the ground.
- luxurious adj. lavish, rich, splendid, deluxe: The luxurious furnishings in the palace took my breath away. ant. sparse, Spartan, simple, crude.
- lyric n. words, text, libretto: I knew the lyrics, but the music is unfamiliar to me.

- macabre adj. gruesome, horrible, horrifying, ghastly, grim: At night, around the campfire, we used to tell macabre tales of the supernatural.
- machine n. device, contrivance, engine, motor, mechanism: This new kind of machine will print a sheet of paper in four colors on both sides at one time.
- mad adj. 1. insane, crazy, mentally ill, deranged: The composer finally went mad and had to be confined in a hospital. 2. angry, furious, enraged, irate, raging: I'm very mad at Nora for not telling me about Ted's surprise party. ant. 1. sane, rational, lucid. 2. happy, cheerful, content.
- madden vb. enrage, infuriate, anger, vex, annoy: The horses, maddened by the thousands of flies, stampeded into the river. ant. mollify, calm, please.
- magazine n. 1. periodical, journal: Our family subscribes to a lot of nature magazines. 2. arsenal, armory: One of the enemy shells hit our magazine and blew the entire building sky-high.
- magic n. sorcery, sleight-of-hand, witchcraft: The way that rabbit appeared in the silk top hat was magic. adj. magical: This is a magic wand that turns into a snake unless I'm holding it.
- magical adj. magic, marvelous, miraculous; mystical: A magical change took place, and the little green frog turned into an ugly princess.
- magician n. sorcerer, wizard, witch, warlock, conjuror, enchanter: The magician made the card disappear, then reappear behind my ear!
- magnetism n. attraction, appeal, allure, irresistibility: Darby could sense Joan's magnetism across the crowded room.
- magnificence n. splendor, grandeur, luxury: There are few countries today that can match a British coronation ceremony in magnificence.
- magnificent adj. 1. splendid, luxurious, rich, lavish, grand: The throne room of the palace is the most magnificent I've ever seen. 2. marvelous, wonderful, extraordinary, impressive: From our bathroom windows we have a magnificent view of the mountains. ant. plain, simple.
- magnify vb. enlarge, increase: These glasses magnify the tiny print so that I can read it easily. ant. diminish, reduce.

- magnitude n. 1. extent, dimension, measure: Nobody had any idea of the magnitude of the disaster because all telephones and other communications had been cut off. 2. importance, consequence, significance: The results of the research were of some magnitude for all mankind.
- maid n. 1. maidservant, housemaid, chambermaid, servant: We left the hotel room early so the maid could clean up and make the beds. 2. maiden, girl, young woman, lass: The shepherd was singing a song to a pretty maid who had brought his lunch.
- maiden adj. first, original, foremost: The main problem in building a house over there is that the ground is swampy. ant. secondary, accessory.
- maintain vb. 1. keep, continue, keep up, preserve, support: Despite oppositions, Johnson maintained his leadership of the political party. 2. preserve, keep, keep up, renew: If the town maintained the park in good condition, the people would be able to use it. 3. assert, state, hold, declare; claim, contend: The man whom the police are questioning maintains that he was nowhere near the scene of the crime. ant. 1. discontinue.
- maintenance n. 1. support, living, subsistence, bread, livelihood: On the salary you are paying me I don't even have the bare maintenance I need. 2. upkeep, preservation: This is a delicate machine, and maintenance and repairs are costly.
- majestic adj. 1. royal, kingly, princely, regal, noble, grand, stately: The star of the play made a majestic entrance and everyone applauded. 2. splendid, magnificent: The decorations in the grand ballroom of the hotel are truly majestic. ant. 1. lowly, base. 2. squalid.
- majesty n. dignity, nobility, grandeur: The majesty of the mountains lay before us.
- major adj. greater, larger; important, chief: The items of major concern are your safety and the ease with which the job can be done. ant. minor, inconsequential.
- make vb. 1. fabricate, manufacture, produce, form, build, construct, create: By using assembly lines, it became possible to make a car in an hour. 2. become, develop into: I think that Barbie would make an excellent class president. 3. cause, render; occasion: The popcorn and hot dogs and soda pop made me ill. 4. do, effect, execute, perform, accomplish: Alan made a bow and the curtain came down at the end of the play. 5. compel, cause, force: Patrick's mother makes him wear the velvet suit with the lace collar whenever they go visiting. 6. earn, gain, obtain, acquire, get: My guess is that as president of the company, Abernathy makes about $25,000 a year. 7. reach, arrive at: I don't see how we can make Chicago in three days if you drive at ten miles an hour all the time. 8. appoint, elect, select, assign: Ernie's father was made head of the town committee on preservation of trees. vb. phr. 1. make believe pretend, fantasize, imagine: Let's all make believe that we're sailing across the ocean in a big ship. 2. make good repay, compensate, reimburse: The company had to make good the loss of my wallet. 3. make it succeed, triumph: After working hard for 20 years, Professor Kelly has finally made it to the top of his profession. 4. make out discern, perceive, understand, recognize: Hubert mumbles so, I can hardly make out what he's saying. 5. make up a. create, invent, fabricate: The students made up a story about the Pilgrims and then put it on as a play. b. compose, form, join, constitute: Do we have enough people to make up a baseball team?

makeup n. 1. cosmetics: I must allow an hour for Evelyn to put on makeup. 2. constitution, composition: I doubt that Phoebe has the makeup of a long-distance runner.

malady n. illness, sickness, affliction, disease, ailment, disorder: Oscar has been taken ill with some strange malady that affects his big toe.

male adj. masculine, manly, virile: She described his dislike of dishwashing as a typically male attitude. ant. female, feminine, womanly.

malice n. spite, resentment, viciousness, grudge, bitterness: I'm sorry! I stepped on your sore foot by accident, not out of malice. ant. benevolence, charity.

malignant adj. deadly, fatal, terminal, lethal: The doctor had the report from the lab showing that the tumor was malignant—and that was 30 years ago! ant. benign.

mammoth adj. huge, colossal, enormous, immense, elephantine, gigantic: The ancient peoples who lived on Easter Island carved mammoth statues. ant. small, tiny, minuscule.

manage vb. 1. direct, guide, lead, supervise, superintend, control, conduct, administer, rule: My uncle manages an aircraft factory. 2. succeed, arrange, bring about: I managed to cling to a small tree that saved me from falling off the cliff. 3. handle, control, manipulate: The stagecoach driver was able to manage a team of eight horses. ant. 1. mismanage, bungle.

manageable adj. controllable, docile, tractable, willing; obedient: An animal born in captivity is more manageable than one born in the wild. ant. unmanageable, wild, recalcitrant.

management n. control, supervision, direction, regulation, administration, care: The management of the company was in the hands of the owner's son.

manager n. supervisor, superintendent, overseer, executive, director, boss: If that shop doesn't give me better service next time, I'm going to report it to the manager.

mandatory adj. required, obligatory, compulsory: A good education is mandatory if you want to get anywhere in the world. ant. optional.

manifest n. evident, obvious, apparent: It was manifest, from the tracks in the snow, that the elephant had passed this way. ant. hidden, concealed.

manly adj. masculine, manful, strong, brave, courageous: Now I shall give you a lesson in boxing—in the manly art of self-defense.

manner n. way, method, style, fashion, custom: I don't like the rude manner in which you speak to your teacher.

mannerism n. habit, quirk, peculiarity, eccentricity: Rudolph's thumbing his nose doesn't mean anything—it's just a mannerism of his.

manufacture vb. make, assemble, fabricate, construct: The company manufactures toys in the plant down the road. n. making, assembly, fabrication, construction, production: Detroit, Michigan, is the center of automobile manufacture in the world.

many adj. numerous, abundant, plentiful: There are many uses for plastic in modern commerce. ant. few.

map n., vb. chart, graph, plan: This map of New England doesn't include New York State. The survey team was mapping the area using photographs taken from an airplane.

margin n. edge, rim, border: The napkins have a colored margin that matches the design of the tablecloth.

marginal adj. borderline, nonessential, unnecessary, noncritical: Being able to read and write seems only a marginal requirement for being accepted at a university today. ant. essential.

marine adj. maritime, oceanic, nautical: My brother is studying marine biology at the Scripps Institution.

mariner n. sailor, seaman: The bars near the docks are very popular with mariners.

mark n. 1. impression, effect, trace, imprint, stamp, brand:

The teachers at the school have left their mark on their students. 2. sign, symbol, emblem, badge: The king made his mark on the treaty by using his signet ring. 3. target, goal: The first three arrows were wide of the mark, but the last hit the bull's-eye. vb. 1. label, tag, price, ticket: These sweaters were marked $20 yesterday. 2. stamp, brand, imprint, identify: The bookplate marks this book as one of mine. 3. note, heed, notice, pay attention to, attend, register: Mark what I say about these chemicals or you may get hurt. vb. phr. 1. mark down reduce or cut (a price): The prices of automobiles have been marked down 10 percent. 2. mark off separate, segregate, designate: These spaces in the parking lot have been marked off for executives' cars. 3. mark up increase or raise (a price): These cameras were marked up for only a small profit over cost.

market n. marketplace, mart, supermarket, shop, store, bazaar, stall: We have to go to the market to do our week's shopping tomorrow. vb. sell, merchandise: This company has been marketing cosmetics for almost 50 years.

marriage n. 1. wedding, nuptials: There aren't many people old enough to remember the marriage of the king. 2. matrimony, wedlock, union: Marriage is a solemn condition, but it can be rewarding for the right couple. 3. alliance, association, confederation: The marriage of the company making toothpaste with the one making toothbrushes worked out very successfully. ant. divorce, separation.

marry vb. wed; betroth: Anyone married to the same person for almost 25 years knows him or her pretty well.

marsh n. swamp, bog, fen, morass, quagmire: In the spring, the marsh is teeming with young birds and other wildlife.

marshal vb. arrange, order, organize, rank: The officers marshaled the military forces in readiness for the big battle.

marvel n. wonder, miracle, phenomenon: The electric light was one of the marvels of the late nineteenth century. vb. wonder, stare, gape: The children marveled at how an elephant could dance so gracefully.

marvelous adj. wonderful, miraculous, wondrous, extraordinary, amazing, astonishing, astounding: The eruption of the volcano was one of the most marvelous things I'd ever seen. ant. commonplace, ordinary, usual.

masculine adj. 1. male: There is some question as to whether professional basketball is strictly a masculine sport. 2. manly, brave, bold, courageous: Victor is so very masculine that he looks peculiar in a dress. ant. feminine, female, unmasculine.

mask n. protection, protector; disguise, camouflage: You must wear a mask when operating this machinery. The beautiful ladies all wore masks to the ball. vb. conceal, hide, disguise, veil, screen: I find it difficult to mask my contempt for someone who would strike a person when he's down.

mass n. 1. pile, heap, quantity, aggregation: A huge mass of building materials was being accumulated near the foundation. 2. size, bulk, magnitude, extent: The mass of the sun is many times greater than that of the earth. vb. gather, amass, accumulate, collect, marshal, assemble: The armies were massed on the battlefield.

massacre n. slaughter, genocide, killing, butchery, extermination: Early hunters in the nineteenth century were responsible for the massacre of millions of American buffalo. vb. slay, murder, kill, butcher, exterminate: The Nazis were guilty of massacring millions of innocent people.

massive adj. 1. huge, immense, gigantic, tremendous: Behind the town was a massive pile of rocks from the last avalanche. 2. large, bulky, weighty, ponderous: A massive rock was balanced on the edge of the cliff, about to topple into the valley below. ant. 1. small, little, tiny. 2. light, weightless.

mast n. spar, pole; post: Run the flag up to the top of the mast upside down, to show the boat is in trouble.

master n. 1. expert, maestro, genius: From what the museum curator could see, this artist was a master with a brush. 2. ruler, leader, chief, commander, captain, boss, director, supervisor, superintendent: In ancient Greece and Rome, slaves assumed the names of their masters. vb. 1. conquer, overcome, subdue, overpower: The inexperienced chess player was easily mastered by the professional. 2. control, dominate: Philip easily mastered the game of bridge. adj. 1. major, chief, principal: The man was a master bridge player. 2. expert, skillful, skilled: My cousin Peter has a license as a master mariner.

masterful adj. domineering, bossy, commanding, dictatorial: My sister always said she wanted to marry someone who is masterful.

masterly adj. skillful, expert, superb, adroit: The sailing team captain handles his boat in a masterly manner. ant. clumsy, maladroit, awkward.

mastermind n. genius, expert: Robin is a mathematical mastermind who can solve these problems in seconds. vb. manage, direct, supervise; organize: The woman who masterminded the bank robbery escaped and now lives in Brazil.

masterpiece n. masterwork, perfection, model: Da Vinci's paintings were all masterpieces, the products of great genius.

match n. 1. equal, equivalent, peer: Stan is very good at tennis, but he's finally met his match in Paul. 2. competition, rivalry, contest, sport: The wrestling match has been postponed. vb. 1. even, equal, balance, equate: You can't match that 98-pound weakling with a 400-pound sumo wrestler! 2. agree, resemble, harmonize: I'm sorry to tell you that your green polka-dot tie doesn't match that pink-and-purple shirt.

matchless adj. unequaled, unrivaled, peerless, incomparable: The acrobat turned in a matchless performance on the parallel bars. ant. unimpressive, ordinary.

mate n. 1. associate, companion, comrade: The moving man said he'd get two of his mates to help with the piano. 2. counterpart, complement: I cannot find the mate to this shoe. vb. breed: What would happen if you mated a goat with a bluebottle? You'd get a butterfly!

material n. 1. substance, matter, stuff; fabric: We were unable to identify the material of which the flying saucer was made. 2. cloth, fabric, textile: The shop sells material by the yard. adj. 1. substantial, considerable, important: The absence of the letter-opener from the desk of the victim is material to the case. 2. physical, real, touchable, palpable, tangible: You cannot discuss the spiritual world in terms of material objects. ant. adj. 1. immaterial, irrelevant. 2. immaterial, intangible, spiritual.

matter n. 1. substance, material: The matter of which the universe is composed is almost infinite in its variety. 2. subject, affair, business, interest: We have a matter to discuss before you go to the movies. 3. trouble, difficulty: What's the matter? You look pale. vb. count, signify, mean: Does it matter whether you paint the table before or after the bookcase?

mature adj. 1. ripe, aged, ready, seasoned: When these tomatoes are mature, each will weigh at least a pound. 2. adult, full-grown, matured, grown: The movie my parents saw last night is suitable only for mature audiences. vb. age, ripen, develop: This tree hasn't matured enough to be transplanted. ant. adj. 1. young, youthful. 2. immature, innocent, naive.

maybe adv. perhaps, possibly: If it's a nice day tomorrow, maybe I'll go to the beach. ant. definitely, decidedly.

meadow n. pasture, field, plain: We went out into the meadow to pick wildflowers.

meager adj. scanty, sparse, frugal, mean: The shipwrecked sailors had only meager supplies of food. ant. plentiful, bountiful, ample, abundant.

meal n. repast, refreshment; breakfast, dinner, lunch: The waitress brought our meal and we started to eat.

mean¹ vb. 1. intend, plan, expect, propose: What do you mean to do when you arrive in Florida? 2. indicate, denote, signify, say, express, suggest: You ought to know that I say what I mean, and I mean what I say.

mean² adj. 1. unkind, cruel, nasty, rude: I think it was very mean of you to tell Hortense that her dress is ugly. 2. stingy, miserly, tight, selfish: Scrooge was so mean that he didn't even give his employees a day off at Christmas. ant. 1. gentle, thoughtful, kind. 2. generous, openhanded.

mean³ n. average: Each family has a mean number of 3.2 children.

meaning n. sense, signification, denotation; significance, import, gist: The meaning of the speech is clearly that we must all pay higher taxes in order to beat inflation.

meaningless adj. senseless, nonsensical, preposterous, unreasonable: This essay is a meaningless jumble of words and I cannot give you a passing grade in the course.

means n. pl. 1. wealth, riches, money: The bank president is a man of means and should contribute more than just a dollar to charity. 2. support, agency, resources: What means can we use to persuade him to give more?

measure n. 1. extent, size, weight, volume, bulk, dimension, depth, breadth, height, length: It is difficult to comprehend the measure of the universe because the earth is so small by comparison. 2. rule, test, standard, trial: By some measure, all the students in the class have done rather well. vb. rule, weigh, count, estimate, gauge: How do astronomers measure the distance from the earth to the nearest star? Not in the same way you measure flour for baking a cake or cloth for making a coat.

measureless adj. limitless, immeasurable, boundless, immense, vast, infinite: From the surface of Mars we could look into the measureless blackness of space. ant. measurable, ascertainable, figurative.

meat n. flesh, lean; food: Jack Sprat ate only meat—his wife ate only fat.

mechanic n. 1. machinist: Only skilled mechanics are permitted to operate these machines. 2. repairman: The auto mechanic said we needed a new carburetor.

mechanism n. machine, machinery, device, tool, contrivance: In addition to the main engine, there is a small mechanism to control the windshield wipers.

medal n. award, decoration, medallion, badge, reward: Tim's father won the Distinguished Service Medal during the war.

meddle vb. interfere, pry, intrude, snoop: My mother has a friend who meddles in everyone else's business all the time.

medicine n. medication, drug, remedy, potion, prescription, cure: Any medicine you take for your cold can't cure it—it can only make you feel better.

medium n. 1. average; modicum: There must be some medium between your being either very good or very naughty. 2. means, mechanism, factor: I actually spoke to the President through the medium of one of his assistants. adj. average, median, middling: The medium-priced suits are on this rack. ant. n. 1. extreme.

meet vb. 1. encounter, come across or upon: I don't think that we have met before. 2. converge, connect, join, unite: This road meets the highway about three miles past that railway crossing. 3. settle, satisfy, fulfill, answer, discharge: I don't know if Hugo has the money to meet his obligations. 4. convene, gather, assemble, congregate: The committee is supposed to meet next week. 5. agree, unite: I'm not sure that we all now meet on these points that we disputed earlier. n. contest, meeting, competition, match: Our school won both the track meet and the swimming meet easily. ant. vb. 1. miss. 2. diverge, split. 4. scatter. 5. disagree.

melancholy n. sadness, gloom, depression: Since she moved from the country to the city, Janet seems so full of melancholy. adj. sad, gloomy, depressed, downcast, downhearted, blue, unhappy: The cry of the hoot owl sounds so melancholy—like the howl of the wolf. ant. adj. happy, joyful, jubilant.

mellow adj. 1. ripe, mature, cured, aged, full-flavored: This pear is so mellow I can eat it with a spoon. 2. smooth, sweet, melodious: The mellow sounds of the orchestra filled the room where we were dining. vb. ripen, mature, develop, soften: This whiskey has mellowed with age. ant. adj. 1. immature, unripened.

melody n. tune, air, music, song: Those words are different, but the melody is an old, traditional one.

melt vb. 1. liquefy, dissolve: The ice in my ginger ale has melted. 2. fade out, blend, dwindle, vanish, disappear: As we approached their village, the natives seemed to melt away into the jungle. 3. soften, relax: The giant's heart melted when he saw the children, and he let them play in his garden. ant. 1. harden, freeze, solidify.

memorable adj. historic, unforgettable, important, significant: The time when I was awarded my diploma was a memorable occasion for the whole family. ant. forgettable, passing, transitory.

memory n. recollection, remembrance: After more than ten years, my memory of the conversation is not very accurate.

menace n. threat, warning, intimidation: That driver is a menace to everyone else on the road. vb. threaten, intimidate, warn: As I stepped nearer to the gate, a huge dog leaped out and menaced me.

mend vb. 1. repair, patch, restore, fix: There's a man down the street who mends broken china. 2. improve, recover, recuperate, heal: Greg's broken arm mended very quickly. ant. 1. ruin, destroy, spoil.

mental adj. intellectual, reasoning, thinking: Ian's mental abilities are extraordinary, but he isn't very good at physical things, like sports. ant. physical.

mention vb. refer to, introduce, touch on: Please don't mention the subject of your leaving to mother. n. reference, remark: I do seem to remember that the speaker made some brief mention of the other candidates.

mercenary adj. greedy, covetous, money-grubbing, grasping: He's so mercenary he'd sell his mother for the price of a good dinner.

merchandise n. wares, stock, goods, commodities: The shopkeeper said that he doesn't keep that kind of merchandise and would have to order it. vb. sell, promote: The sales manager suggested merchandising the posters through bookstores.

merchant n. storekeeper, shopkeeper, retailer, trader, dealer, businessman: Mr. Wozzeck is one of the biggest wine merchants in the world.

merciful adj. kind, compassionate, lenient, forgiving, tenderhearted, kindhearted, sympathetic: In contrast to his cruel father, the young king was merciful and dealt out justice fairly. ant. unjust, unforgiving, harsh, mean, vengeful.

merciless adj. cruel, ruthless, pitiless, savage, hard, hardhearted, unfeeling: In order to get the truth, the spy was to undergo merciless torture. ant. merciful, benevolent, openhearted.

mercy n. 1. compassion, sympathy, pity, consideration, leniency, kindness, pity, tenderness: The prisoners begged for mercy,

- and the chieftain allowed them to be released. 2. disposal, discretion, disposition: The poor fly was caught in the web and was now at the mercy of the spider. ant. 1. cruelty, ruthlessness, pitilessness.
- mere adj. bare, scant: I was a mere lad when I was sent off to sea as a cabin boy on a schooner. ant. considerable, substantial.
- merely adv. barely, hardly, only, simply: When I offered to carry her packages, I was merely trying to be helpful, and she didn't have to accuse me of trying to steal them.
- merit n. worth, value, quality, worthiness: I think that there is a great deal of merit to the energy conservation plan. vb. deserve, earn, qualify for, be worthy of: Joe merited that commendation for bravery for saving the girl from drowning.
- merry adj. cheerful, cheery, joyful, gay, happy, jolly, joyous, jovial: We all had such a merry time at the party that we didn't notice it was past midnight. ant. sad, doleful, gloomy.
- mess n. 1. untidiness, dirtiness: Your face is a mess from eating pizza. 2. confusion, disorder, muddle, jumble: I've never seen a mess like the one in Sophie's room—everything's strewn about. 3. difficulty, trouble, predicament: Pete has got himself into a mess with the history teacher again—something about late homework. vb. confuse, muddle, dirty: It takes an hour to straighten up and clean a room that you mess up in a minute.
- message n. 1. communication, note, letter, memorandum, memo: The courier carried the message for three weeks through the jungle. 2. information, news, word, advice: I have a message for you from your mother: Don't forget to brush your teeth.
- messenger n. courier, bearer, runner, agent: The messenger ran all the way but arrived too late with the package.
- messy adj. dirty, disorderly, disordered, confused, confusing; untidy, sloppy, slovenly: The teacher wouldn't accept Joan's homework because it was too messy. ant. neat, orderly, tidy.
- method n. way, technique, manner, approach, means: By that method, it would take four people three days to complete the work.
- middle n. center, midpoint, median: The yogi sat down in the exact middle of the floor and started to chant. adj. center, central, halfway, intermediate: Bill lives in the house at this end, John in the one at the other end, and Betty lives in the middle one. ant. n., adj. beginning, end.

- middleman n. agent, broker, dealer, representative, distributor: Our prices are lower because you are buying directly from the manufacturer—there are no middlemen to pay.
- midst n. middle, center, thick, heart: The police chased the fugitive but he was lost in the midst of the throng.
- might n. power, strength, force: It would take the might of a giant to lift the stone from the mouth of the cave. ant. weakness, frailty, vulnerability.
- mighty adj. strong, powerful, muscular: The blacksmith was a mighty man who could bend a steel bar with his bare hands. ant. weak, frail.
- migrate vb. move, resettle; immigrate, emigrate: The United States was settled by people who migrated from Europe. ant. remain, stay, settle.
- mild adj. 1. calm, gentle, temperate, pleasant: After a bitter cold winter, New England experienced a mild spring. 2. amiable, kind, compassionate, peaceful, calm: Tom is known to have a mild disposition. 3. bland, soothing: This is a sharp, not a mild, cheese. ant. 1. stormy, turbulent, 2. violent, excitable, hot-tempered.
- mind n. 1. intellect, brain, intelligence, reason, understanding, sense: Albert Einstein had the mind of a genius. 2. inclination, intention: I have a mind to dismiss the entire class early to go swimming. vb. 1. care for, look after, watch, tend: Stefanie has a job minding three children after school. 2. pay attention, obey, heed, attend: When your father tells you to do something, you had better mind. 3. object (to), care (about), dislike: Do you mind moving the car a little? You've driven it onto my foot!
- mindful adj. aware, open-eyed, alert, watchful: Mindful of the dangers, Basil still wanted to become a commando.
- mine n. 1. pit, shaft, excavation, lode, vein: The mine was rich in coal and could be worked for 25 years. 2. source, mother-lode: Jim was a mine of information about baseball. vb. dig, excavate, drill, quarry: My grandfather mined silver in Colorado.
- mingle vb. combine, mix, blend: After sifting the flour, mingle it with the other ingredients in a bowl. ant. separate, sort.
- miniature adj. tiny, small, midget, little, minute: I dreamed that a white mouse was driving under my bed in a miniature car. ant. outsize.
- minimize vb. diminish, decrease, lessen, reduce: A safety helmet minimizes the effect of a blow on the head in an accident. ant. maximize, enlarge.

minister n. clergyman, pastor, parson, preacher, vicar, prelate, curate, chaplain, deacon, cleric, reverend: Last Sunday our minister preached a sermon on kindness to people before kindness to animals.

minor adj. smaller, lesser, secondary, petty, unimportant: The department stores no longer consider shoplifting a minor offense. n. boy, girl, child, youth, adolescent: No minors were allowed to attend the movie. ant. adj. major. n. adult, grownup.

mint vb. coin, punch, stamp, strike: The government has stopped minting pure silver coins.

minute¹ n. jiffy, moment, instant, second: When my wife says "Wait a minute," I wait an hour.

minute² adj. tiny, wee, microscopic, minuscule: I've never understood how the fly's minute wings could carry it so quickly. ant. large, huge, immense.

miraculous adj. marvelous, wonderful, incredible, phenomenal, extraordinary: The doctors had given me up for dead, but, as you can see, I've made a miraculous recovery. ant. ordinary, commonplace, everyday.

mirror n. looking-glass, glass; reflector: I don't always like what I see when I look in the mirror. vb. reflect: The image of the building is mirrored in the pond.

mirth n. glee, joy, gaiety, joyousness, jollity, joyfulness, merriment, laughter: The birthday party was marked by the happiness and mirth of all who came. ant. gloom, sadness, seriousness.

miscarry vb. fail, go wrong: Our plans for an outing miscarried because Edith forgot the food. ant. succeed.

mischief n. 1. prankishness, playfulness, roguishness, rascality: That redheaded boy is full of mischief—putting a tack on the teacher's chair! 2. trouble, harm, damage, injury: The vandals who broke into the school last night did a lot of mischief.

mischievous adj. prankish, roguish, playful, naughty: Penny isn't really a bad child, but she does tend to be mischievous. ant. good, well-behaved.

miser n. skinflint, tightwad, Scrooge: The old miser never gave anything to anyone and just sat counting his money, day and night. ant. philanthropist.

miserable adj. 1. unhappy, uncomfortable, wretched, heartbroken: Ted was miserable when he wasn't chosen to play on the team. 2. poor, penniless, needy, poverty-stricken. The miserable people in other countries have no one to turn to for help but us. 3. mean, contemptible, hateful, low, wretched, bad: What rotten, miserable person has been teasing these animals? 4. unlucky, unfortunate, luckless: I've had a miserable run of cards today—can't seem to win one game. ant. 1. happy, joyful, content. 2. wealthy, well-off, prosperous. 3. noble, honorable. 4. lucky, fortunate.

miserly adj. stingy, tightfisted, pennypinching, cheap, mean; selfish: That miserly old lady even refused to call in a doctor when she was sick. ant. generous, openhanded, spendthrift, extravagant.

misery n. 1. unhappiness, suffering, anguish, woe, agony, distress: During the famine I saw almost more misery than I could stand in one lifetime. 2. grief, sorrow: We all tried to console the widow in her misery. ant. 1. delight, joy.

misgiving n. doubt, hesitation, suspicion, mistrust, uncertainty: My father's misgivings about lending me the family car were confirmed when I had a slight accident.

misguided adj. misled, misdirected, misinformed, wrong-headed, wrong: Millie's misguided notions about what is moral and what immoral has got her into a lot of trouble with the women in the neighborhood.

mislay vb. lose, misplace: I've mislaid the keys to my house. ant. find, discover.

mismatched adj. unsuitable, unfit, unsuited, incompatible: Herbie and the princess are the most mismatched couple I've ever seen.

miss vb. 1. need, want, desire, crave, yearn for: Danny missed playing baseball in the winter and basketball in the summer. 2. drop, fumble, bumble: Sonia missed the ball completely, even when we threw it gently. n. slip, failure, error, blunder, fumble: A miss is as good as a mile.

missile n. projectile, shot: In modern warfare, guided missiles are widely used.

mist n. fog, cloud, haze, steam: The mist was so thick that we couldn't drive any further.

mistake n. error, slip, fault: Lester, this homework paper is full of mistakes and you must do it over. vb. misunderstand, misjudge, confuse; misinterpret: I mistook the reflection of the searchlight on the clouds for a flying saucer.

mistaken adj. wrong, incorrect, confused, misinformed, inaccurate: Alan was mistaken about whom he had seen down near the beach. ant. correct, right, accurate.

mistreat vb. abuse, maltreat: Frobisher finally divorced his wife, after she mistreated him for 46 years.

misunderstand vb. misinterpret, misjudge, confuse, jumble, mistake: Tony misunderstood what I said and became very angry for no reason. ant. comprehend, perceive.

misunderstanding n. disagreement, clash, conflict, dispute: Chuck and his girl friend had a little misunderstanding, but she settled it by shooting him.

mix vb. combine, blend, mingle: When you mix the chemicals together, be careful that they not explode. n. combination, blend, mixture: The people on that island are an unusual mix of natives and immigrants. Use a prepared mix to make this chocolate cake. ant. vb. separate, divide.

mixture n. 1. mix, confusion, jumble, hodgepodge; mess: Your jacket and your trousers are a curious mixture of styles. 2. blend, combination: I made up this mixture so that we could dip bread in it for French toast.

moan n., vb. groan, wail, lament, cry: I thought I heard someone in the next room give a loud moan. When I went to see what it was, it turned out to be the wind moaning in the chimney.

mob n. swarm, crowd, rabble, throng, horde: There was a mob of people gathered near the ice-cream vendor. vb. swarm, crowd, throng; riot: The rock star was mobbed when he left the theater by people seeking his autograph.

mobile adj. movable; free; portable: The TV station covered the events from a mobile unit. ant. immobile, stationary, fixed.

mock vb. scorn, deride, ridicule, tease, jeer: When the singer came out on stage, the audience mocked him, and he wept. adj. imitation, fake; fraudulent, sham: Mock turtle soup doesn't taste like the real thing. ant. vb. praise, honor, applaud. adj. real, genuine, authentic.

mockery n. 1. ridicule, scorn, derision: Bernard's painting was held up to the mockery of the other students. 2. travesty, sham, pretext, pretense: You have made a mockery of a very serious matter by ridiculing it. ant. praise, admiration.

mode n. manner, method, style, technique, practice, way, fashion: This mode of working while standing at the fireplace is strange to me.

model n. 1. example, pattern, mold, ideal: I tried to make a vase, using the one over there as a model. 2. copy, imitation, facsimile: This airplane is an actual, working model of the real thing. 3. version, style, design: This car is a late model. 4. mannequin, sitter: I'd very much like to have you sit as a model for my next painting. vb. 1. form, shape, mold, fashion, pattern, design: Dick has modeled a figure out of clay. Sandra tries to model herself after her aunt. 2. sit, pose: Cordelia models for that high-fashion boutique downtown.

moderate¹ adj. 1. reasonable, average, medium, fair: The doctor said that a moderate amount of coffee would do me no harm. 2. conservative, middle-of-the-road, cautious: The senators' plans for economic recovery were moderate, not extreme. ant. 1. immoderate, excessive, heavy.

moderate² vb. 1. arbitrate, referee, judge, umpire: The head of the department moderated the debate between the two teams. 2. weaken, pacify, lessen, calm, sober, temper: As the sun sank toward the horizon, the scorching heat of the day was moderated by a cool breeze. ant. 2. intensify, increase, aggravate.

modern adj. present-day, up-to-date, recent, novel, new, fresh, modish, stylish: The Gordons just built a modern home down near the beach. ant. old-fashioned, antique, out-of-date, outmoded.

modernize vb. refurbish, refurnish, rebuild, improve, renovate, renew: We have modernized our kitchen with a refrigerator and electric stove.

modest adj. 1. demure, decent; prudish: The British school Diane was sent to was for "modest young ladies from good families." 2. humble, moderate, proper, unassuming, retiring: Harriet was wearing a modest black dress buttoned up to the high neck. 3. humble, simple, plain: Some of our greatest leaders have come from very modest backgrounds. ant. 1. immodest, libertine, loose. 2. gaudy, outlandish, tasteless, showy. 3. vain, proud, arrogant.

modesty n. humility, simplicity, decency, propriety: As Carolyn came into the room, we were all struck by her charming modesty. ant. vanity, conceit, pride.

modify vb. 1. change, alter, vary, adjust: If you expect to remain as a student in this school, Patrick, you'll have to modify your behavior. 2. moderate, temper, change, curb: Since she was elected, I think that the record will show that the congresswoman has modified her views on welfare.

moist adj. damp, dank, humid; muggy, clammy, wet: The basement is so moist and dark that mushrooms grow there. ant. dry, arid, parched.

moisten vb. dampen; wet: The laundress moistened the clothes before ironing them. ant. dry.

moisture n. dampness, wetness, condensation, mist: On these cold nights, the moisture on the insides of the windows freezes. ant. dryness, aridity.

moment n. 1. instant, jiffy, flash, twinkling: The receptionist asked me to sit down and wait a moment. 2. importance, gravity, seriousness, consequence: It is of no great moment to me whether you go tomorrow or tonight.

momentous adj. important, serious, consequential, essential: An event of momentous proportions prevented me from arriving on time. ant. unimportant, trivial, trifling.

monarch n. king, ruler, emperor, queen, empress, sovereign: We all bowed our heads with respect as the monarch entered the room with her retinue.

money n. 1. coin, cash, currency, bills, notes, specie: Can you lend me some money to go to the movies? 2. funds, capital: I doubt that the company has the money it needs for expansion.

monitor n. supervisor, director, adviser: Felix will be the lunchroom monitor for today and will try to keep the children in line. vb. watch, observe, control, supervise: We were able to monitor the actions of the robot from the control booth.

monotonous adj. boring, dull, tedious, humdrum, tiring, tiresome, wearisome: Watching a record turning on a phonograph is terribly monotonous. The politicians gave one monotonous speech after another. ant. interesting, fascinating, riveting.

monster n. beast, brute, fiend, villain, wretch, demon: That little monster pulls the wings off butterflies.

monstrous adj. 1. huge, tremendous, immense, gigantic, enormous: Arranged around the walls of the cave were monstrous statues of all kinds of imaginary beasts. 2. horrible, revolting, shocking, repulsive, hideous, dreadful, terrible: The guards were known for their monstrous tortures of the prisoners. ant. 1. tiny, diminutive, small, miniature.

monumental adj. 1. huge, enormous, immense, colossal, gigantic: At the top of the mountain stands a monumental cross. 2. significant, important: The invention of the wheel allowed man to make monumental progress. ant. 1. miniature, tiny. 2. insignificant, trivial.

mood n. temper, humor, disposition: Jerry seems to be in a very happy mood today.

moody adj. temperamental, changeable; short-tempered, irritable, testy, peevish, fretful, spiteful: I don't want to speak to you if you're so moody—we'll just have an argument. ant. calm, even-tempered, good-natured.

moral adj. upright, honest, ethical, just, good, honorable: Victoria is one of the most moral people I know—she'd never do anything wrong or questionable. ant. immoral, dishonest, sinful, corrupt.

morale n. spirit, confidence, assurance: It was decided to give the salesmen a pep talk to improve their morale.

moreover adv. also, further, furthermore, in addition, besides: Lenore won first prize in diving; moreover, she won a first in swimming, as well.

morsel n. bite, tidbit, bit, piece: The beggar shared his bread by giving a few morsels of it to his dog.

mortal adj. 1. human; temporary, perishable, momentary: Since all men are mortal, they must die someday. 2. lethal, deadly, fatal: The knight received a mortal wound from the sword and lay dying. ant. 1. immortal. 2. superficial.

mortified adj. humiliated, embarrassed, ashamed, abashed: Jeff was mortified to discover he had delivered his speech with his trousers unzipped.

mostly adv. generally, chiefly, mainly, for the most part, largely, principally: Sometimes our dog goes out for walks with us, but mostly he just lies around.

motherly adj. See maternal.

motion n. movement, change, action: Because of the breeze, the branches of the trees are constantly in motion. vb. gesture, signal, indicate: I was about to say something, but Vincent motioned to me to be quiet. ant. n. stillness, immobility.

motivate vb. stimulate, move, cause, prompt: What motivates Dennis to behave the way he does?

motive n. reason, purpose, idea, cause, ground: What do you suppose Ed's motive is in telling people I hate ice cream?

motto n. slogan, byword, catchword; proverb, saying: The mattress manufacturer's motto is, "We stand behind every product we sell."

mound n. hill, hillock, pile, heap: The picnickers left behind a mound of garbage that we cleaned up.

mount vb. 1. ascend, climb, go up: The cowboy mounted his horse and rode away. Frank had to mount a ladder to reach the light bulb. 2. rise, increase, ascend: As the costs of raw materials mounted, the manufacturers passed them on to the consumer. 3. prepare, make ready, ready, set up: The enemy was going to mount an attack at dawn. n. 1. horse, steed, charger: The comical knight rode an old nag as his mount. 2. mountain; hill: Mount Everest is the highest in the world. ant. vb. 1., 2. descend.

mountain n. mount, alp, peak; pike, height, ridge, range: The mountains seemed to rise from the plains in the distance.

mourn vb. lament, grieve, sorrow, bemoan: David mourned the loss of his pet rabbit. ant. rejoice, celebrate.

mournful adj. sad, sorrowful: We could hear the mournful cry of the wolf. ant. cheerful, joyful, happy.

move vb. 1. advance, proceed, progress, go on; stir, budge, travel, shift; retreat: As soon as anyone moved, the dogs would begin to growl. 2. push, propel, shift: Please move your chair closer to the table. 3. affect, touch, influence: I was deeply moved by the play. n. movement, motion, action: Hilary made a move as if to leave.

movement n. 1. move, motion, action, activity: I noticed a slight movement of the door and knew someone was behind it. 2. effort, action, crusade: There was a movement among the students to introduce tennis as a competitive sport.

muffle vb. deaden, soften, quiet, mute: The thickness of the wall muffled the voices of those in the other room. ant. amplify, louden.

multiply vb. 1. increase; double, triple, treble: The number of readers of the new magazine multiplied in the beginning. 2. reproduce, propagate: Rabbits multiply very rapidly. ant. decrease, lessen.

multitude n. throng, crowd, mass, horde, swarm, mob: Appearing at last on the balcony, the mayor spoke to the multitude assembled in the square below.

munificent adj. generous, bountiful, forthcoming: Throckmorton made a munificent gift to the library in his will.

murder n. killing, homicide, assassination; slaughter: The suspect was accused of the murder of three people whose bodies had been found in his basement. vb. kill, assassinate, slaughter, slay: It was found that the killer had murdered the people out of revenge.

murderer n. killer, slayer, assassin: Until just a few years ago, convicted murderers were executed in most states.

murmur n. mutter, mumble, grumble, complaint; whimper: A murmur of protest was heard from the audience when the new taxes were announced. vb. mutter, mumble, grumble; whimper: The trees murmured under the onslaught of the icy winds.

muse vb. meditate, ponder, think, brood, reflect, ruminate: Sir Isaac was musing about the laws of gravity when an apple fell on his head.

mutinous adj. rebellious, revolutionary, unruly: After three weeks in the harsh climate the crew of the whaler was growing mutinous. ant. obedient, dutiful, compliant.

mutiny n. rebellion, revolt, uprising: All of the men who took part in the mutiny were sent back to England in chains. vb. rebel, revolt, rise up: The crew of the Bounty mutinied against Captain Bligh and set him and a few men adrift in a boat.

mutual adj. 1. reciprocal, alternate: If you give our employees a discount in your shop, we'll give yours a mutual discount in ours. 2. common, shared: Albert is our mutual friend.

mysterious adj. secret; puzzling, strange: The mysterious disappearance of Judge Crater has never been resolved. ant. open, direct, obvious.

mystery n. strangeness; difficulty; riddle, puzzle: There is a mystery surrounding the woman who lives in the castle, and we may never know the solution.

myth n. 1. legend, tradition, fable: The ancient Greek and Roman myths have still a profound effect on our literature and language. 2. lie, prevarication, fiction: That whole story she told about being an heiress is just a myth.

nag vb. annoy, pester, irritate, torment, vex: Warren's mother is always nagging him about cleaning up his room. n. shrew, pest, nuisance: Phil's wife is an awful nag.

naked adj. 1. unclothed, undressed, bare, uncovered, nude: At night, when it was hot, we used to go swimming naked. 2. simple, plain, obvious, unadorned, undisguised: Jack finally told me that he had done the deed, and that's the naked truth. ant. 1. covered, clothed, garbed. 2. suppressed, concealed.

namby-pamby adj. insipid, wishy-washy, weak, colorless: Chauncy always complained that Percy was too namby-pamby to become a commando, but he was proved wrong.

name n. 1. title, tag, label, designation: Just because my first name is George, that doesn't mean my surname is Washington. 2. reputation; character: Rick has made a name for himself as an author of historical novels. vb. 1. call, title, term, christen, baptize: We named our first child Ebenezer. 2. designate, signify, mention, remark: By the time he was two, Dan could name all the days of the week and the months. 3. elect, nominate, appoint: We named Betty chairwoman of our committee.

nap n. snooze, forty winks, siesta, doze: I'm going to have a short nap before dinner.

narcissistic adj. egocentric, egotistical, egotistic, self-centered: Roberta may think herself modest, but I call her constantly looking at herself in the mirror plainly narcissistic.

narrate vb. tell, relate, describe, recount, report: As we sat close to the fire, the old man narrated a tale from long, long ago.

narrative n. story, tale, account, history, description: In the old days, before many people could read, history was passed on in the form of narratives recited by poets and storytellers.

narrow adj. 1. slender, thin, tapering, tapered, tight: The passageway at the end of the cave was too narrow for me to squeeze through. 2. close, precarious, perilous, dangerous: The driver leaped clear of the wreck just as it burst into flame—a narrow escape! ant. 1. wide, broad.

narrow-minded adj. intolerant, closed, bigoted, close-minded, prejudiced, biased: How can you ever learn anything at all if you're too narrow-minded to listen to others? ant. broad-minded, liberal, tolerant.

nasty adj. 1. disagreeable, unpleasant, foul: We sometimes get a spell of very nasty weather in February. 2. dirty, filthy, foul, disgusting, loathsome, polluted, offensive: There was a very nasty pool of sewage where the factory dumped its wastes. 3. dirty, foul, filthy, obscene, indecent, improper: How dare you use such nasty language in the classroom?! 4. disagreeable, cranky, unpleasant, vicious, ugly: Manuel has a very nasty temper. ant. 1. pleasant, fair, seasonable. 2. clean, pure. 3. proper, decent. 4. pleasant, even-tempered.

nation n. 1. country, state, realm, kingdom, republic, commonwealth: Forty nations agreed to sign the treaty. 2. people, race, stock, society, tribe: Most of the great Indian nations of America no longer exist.

native adj. 1. natural, innate, inborn, inbred, hereditary: What's the advantage of native intelligence if it isn't turned to practical use? 2. local, original: The cherry tree is not native to North America; it was imported from Japan. n. national, citizen, inhabitant, resident: I don't come from around here at all—I'm a native of Nebraska. ant. adj. 2. foreign, alien. n. stranger, foreigner, outsider.

natural adj. 1. inbred, inborn, innate, inherited, hereditary, original, basic, fundamental: It's natural for a frightened animal to attack when cornered. 2. normal, customary, typical, usual; characteristic: Instead of trying to act in a particular way, just do what is natural for you. ant. unnatural, alien, contrary.

naturally adv. 1. normally, usually, typically, ordinarily, customarily: Naturally I expect everyone to respect his parents. 2. freely, readily, simply, openly, sincerely: Please try to behave naturally when you go for the interview; don't put on an act. ant. 2. artificially.

nature n. 1. world, universe: It's against the laws of nature to expect things to fall upward. 2. character, quality, essence: What is the true nature of water that makes it expand when cooled and contract when warmed? 3. sort, kind, variety, character: I don't understand the nature of your question. 4. manner, disposition, personality, character: I didn't think it was in Mr. Robinson's nature to get upset over small matters.

naughty adj. 1. disobedient, unruly, unmanageable, insubordinate, mischievous: Don't be naughty; just do as you are told and behave yourself. 2. indecent, improper, rude: The boys told naughty stories in the locker room after the game.

ant. 1. good, well-behaved, obedient.

navigate vb. guide, steer, pilot: When we were in the Navy, we learned how to navigate by the stars.

near adj. close, nearby, neighboring, adjoining: Please sit in the chair nearest you. ant. far, distant, remote.

nearly adv. almost, practically: I'd forgotten that the party was supposed to be a secret and nearly told Bernie.

neat adj. 1. clean, orderly, tidy, trim; dapper, natty, smart, elegant: I want this room to be neat when I return or no dessert for a week! Victor is a very neat dresser. 2. orderly, well-organized: The filing cabinets were arranged in neat rows in the office. ant. 1. messy, sloppy, unkempt, disorganized.

nebulous adj. clouded, hazy, fuzzy, indistinct, indefinite: Gregory gave some nebulous reason for being an hour late. ant. distinct, clear, definite.

necessary adj. needed, required, important, essential: If you live in the country, a car is necessary, even to do the marketing. ant. unnecessary, dispensable, unneeded.

necessity n. requirement, essential, prerequisite: Many of the things we regarded as luxuries only a few years ago are necessities today.

need n. 1. want, lack, necessity: I feel the need for a vacation after working so hard for two years. 2. requirement, necessity: The need for energy is increasing all of the time in the industrialized nations. 3. poverty, pennilessness, want: Every Christmas we make a contribution to families that are in need. vb. want, lack, require, miss: The poor children needed shoes and clothing and food after the flood destroyed their home.

needle vb. prod, provoke, goad, nag: Why must you keep on needling me about going shopping?

needless adj. unnecessary; nonessential, superfluous: You caused your mother hours of needless worry by not phoning to say you weren't coming.

needy adj. poor, poverty-stricken, penniless, destitute: After so many people were put out of work, there were many needy families in the area. ant. wealthy, well-to-do, affluent, well-off, well-heeled.

neglect vb. 1. disregard, overlook, ignore: The judge ruled that he had to take better care of the family he had neglected. 2. omit, skip, miss: The speaker neglected mentioning all those who had helped elect him. n. disregard, negligence, inattention: The soldier was reprimanded by his commanding officer for neglect of duty. The house was suffering from neglect and needed painting and some repairs. ant. vb. 1. care, attend. n. attention, concern, regard.

negligible adj. trivial, trifling, unimportant, insignificant: There is only a negligible difference between these two editions of Shakespeare's plays. ant. important, vital, major.

negotiate vb. arrange, settle, transact: The bank negotiated a deal for the property so that we paid only a small fee.

neighborhood n. area, vicinity, section, district, locality, locale: The value of the property in this neighborhood has been increasing steadily.

nerve n. 1. courage, boldness, bravery, spirit: It took a lot of nerve for the American colonists to rebel against Britain. 2. effrontery, impudence, rudeness, impertinence: You have a lot of nerve walking into my home without knocking or ringing! ant. 1. cowardice, weakness, frailty.

nervous adj. 1. restless, excited, agitated: The threatening phone calls made everyone in town nervous. 2. timid, shy, fearful: Mona was very nervous about her job interview. ant. 1. calm, tranquil, placid. 2. bold, courageous, confident.

nettle vb. needle, irk, pester, irritate, vex: Janice was becoming nettled by Brian's incessant questions.

neurotic adj. psychoneurotic, disturbed: Considering Jeremy's neurotic condition, I cannot recommend him for a position of trust.

neutral adj. 1. uninvolved, inactive, nonpartisan: I am going to remain neutral in the argument between Cecile and Roger. 2. dull, drab: The car was a neutral color. ant. 1. partisan, biased.

new adj. 1. novel, fresh, unique, original, unusual. Ken announced that he'd discovered a new way to bake chicken. 2. recent, modern, current, latest: The new fashions aren't really very becoming to shorter people. ant. 1. old, ancient, usual. 2. outmoded.

news n. information, knowledge, data, report: What is the latest news from Washington?

nice adj. 1. pleasant, agreeable, pleasing: Maria certainly has a nice disposition. 2. kind, thoughtful, friendly, cordial: Be nice to your sister. 3. accurate, precise, exact: People should learn to make a nice distinction between the meanings of words. ant. 1. unpleasant, disagreeable, nasty. 2. thoughtless, unkind. 3. careless, inexact.

nickname n. sobriquet, cognomen, byname: My name is Percival but my nickname is "Animal."

- nil n. nothing, nought, zero, none: The score was 12 for the home team, nil for the visitors.
- nimble adj. agile, spry, lively, quick: With a nimble movement, Arthur ducked the arrow as it sped toward him. ant. clumsy, awkward, oafish.
- nincompoop n. fool, idiot, simpleton, ninny, nitwit, ninnyhammer: How could that nincompoop have been made head of a school?
- nitty-gritty n. meat, substance, essentials, nub, crux, essence, pith: Let's stop beating about the bush and get down to the nitty-gritty.
- nitwit n. See nincompoop.
- noble adj. 1. honorable, honest, upright, virtuous, dignified: It is more noble to give than to receive. 2. aristocratic, titled, high-born, well-born, blue-blooded: The man who will marry the princess comes from a noble family. ant. 1. ignoble, base, dishonest. 2. lowborn.
- noise n. tumult, uproar, clamor, din, racket, clatter, outcry: I heard a noise in the next room that sounded like a thousand glasses breaking. ant. quiet, silence, peace.
- noisome adj. obnoxious, revolting, repulsive, disgusting, nauseating: The noisome stench from the chemical plant penetrated the whole village.
- noisy adj. loud, clamorous, tumultuous: The neighbors next door had a noisy party last night, and I didn't sleep a wink. ant. quiet, silent, peaceful.
- nomad n. wanderer, rover, gypsy: Reginald roamed the desert for a decade, living the life of a nomad.
- nominate vb. name, select, choose, propose: Three people were nominated for the board, and the members are supposed to vote for two.
- nonbeliever n. atheist, skeptic; infidel, heathen: Some religions foster the belief that all nonbelievers should be killed.
- nondescript adj. indescribable, indefinite, unclassifiable: Benzonia wears such nondescript clothing yet considers herself a fashion plate.
- nonessential adj. unnecessary, needless: During wartime, we had to do without nonessentials, like nylon stockings and chocolate.
- nonplus vb. puzzle, confuse, confound, baffle, mystify, bewilder: Gormley was completely nonplussed when Frederica didn't show up at the church for their wedding.
- nonsense n. trash, rubbish, balderdash: Everyone knows that the moon being made of green cheese is just nonsense.

- nonsensical adj. ridiculous, absurd, silly, stupid, senseless: The idea of putting square wheels on the wagon is nonsensical.
- nonstop adj. endless, unceasing, constant, continuous: Ferdinand couldn't put up with Bessie's nonstop nagging so he shot her with a tranquilizer dart.
- normal adj. 1. healthy, sound, whole: The doctor assured me that my eyesight is normal. 2. regular, usual, customary, standard, routine: The normal way to fly from Chicago to New York is to go East. ant. 2. odd, irregular, peculiar.
- normally adv. usually, customarily, regularly, frequently: Normally, I stop in for a soda on my way home from school.
- nosy adj. prying, curious, snooping, inquisitive: Our nosy neighbors are never satisfied unless they know who our guests are.
- notable adj. noteworthy, remarkable, noted, unusual, uncommon, conspicuous, distinctive, distinguished: The union and management negotiators made notable progress at the bargaining table last night. n. celebrity, personality, stars: Notables of the stage, film, and television attended the gala dinner. ant. adj. ordinary, usual, commonplace.
- note n. 1. message, memorandum, memo, record: The secretary took notes of what the members of the council said. 2. notice, heed: I have taken note of what you said and will act as you suggest. 3. eminence, importance, distinction, repute, reputation: Many people of note wrote letters of congratulations to the President on his birthday. vb. 1. notice, attend, observe, heed, regard: The witness testified that he had noted that the back door of the bank was open. 2. write down, record, register: I noted in my diary all of the interesting things that happened to me and my friends.
- noted adj. famous, well-known, celebrated, distinguished, famed, notable: A noted artist was commissioned to paint the portrait. ant. unknown, anonymous.
- notice n. 1. sign, poster, announcement, advertisement: In addition to the notices we posted on the bulletin board, we also placed one in the newspaper. 2. observation, attention, heed, note: Please take notice of the No Smoking signs in the elevators. 3. warning, advice, admonition: The mechanic gave the garage operator one week's notice of his intention to quit. vb. observe, note, heed, regard, pay attention to: Notice how carefully the painter works on these miniatures. ant. vb. ignore, disregard, overlook.
- notify vb. inform, advise, announce, mention, reveal: We were notified that if we didn't pay the bill, our phone service would be discontinued.

- notion n. idea, fancy, impression, concept, conception: I had a notion that you might like a chocolate sundae for dessert.
- notorious adj. infamous, ill-famed: You get what you deserve if you play cards with that notorious cheat.
- nourish vb. sustain, support, feed, supply: Phoebe still nourishes the hope that her dream man will come and carry her away.
- nourishment n. sustenance, support, food, nutriment: This plant obtains nourishment from the soil and doesn't need sunlight. ant. deprivation, starvation.
- novel adj. new, unusual, different, odd, strange: He's so old-fashioned that he thinks the waltz is a novel dance.
- nuisance n. pest, irritation, annoyance, bother: You made such a nuisance of yourself last night asking every minute when we were going to open the Christmas gifts.
- number n. 1. total, sum, collection, quantity, amount: A large number of people visit the museum every year. 2. numeral, digit, figure: Pick a number from one to ten but don't tell me what it is. vb. count, total, add, enumerate, compute, calculate; estimate: Number the desks in this classroom.
- numerous adj. numberless, many; infinite: Numerous people have seen this motion picture. ant. few, scanty.
- numskull n. nitwit, blockhead, ninny, fool: Only a numskull like Oliver Peewit could come up with a scheme like that.
- nurse vb. take care of, tend, care for, attend: When you were sick, wasn't it your mother who nursed you back to health?
- nutrition n. food, nutriment, nourishment, sustenance: The school dietitian is an expert on nutrition and what is good for children.

- oaf n. clod, boor, yokel, hillbilly, bogtrotter: That oaf Olaf has the table manners of a retarded cannibal.
- oath n. 1. pledge, promise, vow: I have sworn an oath never to reveal the secret. 2. curse, profanity, swearword, curseword: When the hammer struck his finger the carpenter uttered an oath that I shall not repeat.
- obedience n. submission, docility: My dog went to a school where she was taught obedience. ant. disobedience, rebelliousness.
- obedient adj. docile, yielding, respectful, obliging: Until he was 12, Clark was a very obedient child and did as he was told. ant. rebellious, mutinous.
- obese adj. fat, overweight, plump, corpulent: For some reason, Rollo didn't mind being called obese, but he insisted he wasn't fat. ant. slender, thin, lanky.
- object vb. protest, disapprove of, complain. My mother objected when I said I wanted to climb the mountain alone. n. 1. objective, goal, target, aim: Our object in staging the rally was to get people to cheer for our football team. 2. thing, article, tangible: The object on the table was a golden statue. ant. vb. approve, agree, assent.
- objection n. protest, disapproval, doubt: My only objection to going to the movies was that I wouldn't be able to study for the examination. ant. agreement, assent, concurrence.
- objectionable adj. offensive, improper, unbecoming: Caroline found Eustace's behavior objectionable and refused to see him again.
- objective n. aim, goal, purpose: Our objective was to reach the border before dawn. adj. fair, just, impartial, unbiased: Since you are not involved and won't profit either way, perhaps you can give us an objective opinion. ant. subjective, biased.
- objectivity n. impartiality, disinterest, indifference, neutrality: I accept Solomon's objectivity and would accept him as a judge for the beauty contest. ant. bias.
- obligation n. 1. requirement, responsibility, duty: Anyone who is elected to an office should be prepared to assume its obligations. 2. contract, agreement: The company has taken on the obligation to supply clean towels to the school.

oblige vb. 1. require, force, compel: The arresting officer is obliged by law to read a captive his rights. 2. please, serve, favor: I am very much obliged to you for your kindness.
ant. disoblige, free.

obscure adj. 1. unknown, inconspicuous: The best play of the year was written by an obscure playwright. 2. hidden, dim, unclear, indistinct: The sign was too obscure for me to read what it said. 3. dark, dim, murky, dusky: The attic was too obscure for reading. vb. screen, veil, hide, conceal, cover: The car was completely obscured by the bushes. ant. adj. 1. famous, noted, distinguished. 2. clear, lucid, illumined. 3. bright.

obsequious adj. flattering, fawning, ingratiating, (slang) boot-licking, (slang) brown-nosing: Because she's so obsequious, Deirdre has been able to worm her way into the councilman's confidence.

observance n. honoring, keeping; attention: The observance of Mother's Day in America is now imitated in other countries.
ant. omission.

observant adj. watchful, alert, keen, vigilant, attentive: It was observant of Miranda to notice the car parked across the street with the two detectives in it. ant. unobservant, inattentive.

observation n. 1. watching, attention: Our observation of the cave was rewarded when we saw the bears emerge. 2. comment, remark, opinion: Wendy made the observation that she considered the book very boring.

observe vb. 1. see, notice, look at, regard, witness, watch: Observe the way the amoeba surrounds its food, then absorbs it with its body. 2. honor, keep, celebrate: The pilgrims observed all religious holidays. 3. obey, follow, abide by: Please observe the No Parking signs. ant. 1., 2. ignore, disregard.

obsolete adj. old-fashioned, outdated, outmoded, antiquated: "Olde" is an obsolete spelling for "old." ant. new, modern, up-to-date, fashionable.

obstacle n. block, stop, barrier, interference, obstruction: The supervisor of the department continually put obstacles in the way of my promotion. ant. aid, support.

obstinate adj. stubborn, opinionated, willful, pig-headed, inflexible: Even when she knows she's wrong, Hope is too obstinate to admit it. ant. pliable, pliant, yielding.

obstruct vb. block, stop, hinder, prevent, interfere: There was a metal box obstructing the chimney, and we found it was full of gold coins. ant. help, further.

obstruction n. obstacle, block, blockage, interference, barrier: There was an obstruction in the road that we couldn't drive around.

obtain vb. get, acquire, gain, procure, secure, attain: People who had sugar and meat during the war obtained it on the black market. ant. lose, forgo.

obviate vb. forestall, prevent, preclude, obstruct: The bad weather obviated our going to the beach.

obvious adj. clear, unquestionable, transparent, plain, unmistakable: Jimmy's thoughts as he stood looking into the candy-store window were obvious. ant. subtle, hidden, unobtrusive.

obviously adv. clearly, plainly, certainly, surely, evidently: Obviously, if Clara isn't here, she must be somewhere else.

occasion n. 1. time, occurrence, happening: The family gave Dad a gold watch on the occasion of his fiftieth birthday. 2. opportunity, chance, excuse: Should the occasion arise, please bring some firewood in from the shed.

occasional adj. irregular, random, sporadic: The weather report called for occasional rain this weekend. ant. regular, chronic, constant.

occasionally adv. now and then, infrequently, seldom, irregularly: I still visit my grammar-school teacher occasionally. ant. often, regularly.

occupant n. resident, tenant, inhabitant: The firemen evacuated the occupants of the building in less than ten minutes.

occupation n. 1. trade, profession, business, job, employment: For many years, my uncle's occupation was as architect for the city. 2. seizure, capture: When the soldiers defending the castle surrendered, the enemy's occupation of the mountain was complete.

occupy vb. 1. take up, use, fill, hold: The parents occupied the back half of the seats at the school play. 2. obtain, seize, capture: The invading army soon occupied the city and its suburbs. 3. engage, employ, busy, absorb: Worries about the coming exams occupied Nellie's mind.

occur vb. happen, take place, befall: What has occurred between last week and this to make you change your mind?

occurrence n. event, happening; incident: Our family picnic is an annual occurrence.

ocean n. sea, deep, briny, main, Davy Jones's locker: The oceans cover more than two-thirds of the surface of the earth.

odd adj. strange, unusual, peculiar, queer, weird, extraordi- nary: Sylvia's new boyfriend is certainly an odd fellow. ant. ordinary, regular, unexceptional, straightforward.

- odor n. smell, aroma, scent, fragrance, bouquet, perfume: The odor of orange blossoms filled the warm evening air.
- off-color adj. risqué, improper, rude, salty, suggestive, earthy: The professor got into trouble because he told off-color jokes in class.
- offend vb. 1. irritate, annoy, vex, anger, provoke, displease: Marie was offended at Paul's suggestion that she burn her new hat. 2. outrage, insult: The sight of the concentration camp offended all of us. ant. 1. please, flatter, delight.
- offender n. culprit, miscreant, criminal, lawbreaker: The lawyers had no pity for the three-time offender.
- offense n. 1. sin, wrong, transgression, trespass, crime, wrongdoing, misdemeanor: The policeman said that my offense was smoking in the subway. 2. attack, onslaught, assault: After being on the defense for so long, we finally went on the offense. 3. resentment, indignation, anger: Brodie took offense when we suggested he was too cowardly to ask Alexa for a dance.
- offensive adj. 1. aggressive, attacking: Our football team then made a number of offensive maneuvers that gained some ground. 2. unpleasant, disagreeable, revolting, nauseous, sickening, nauseating, disgusting: Certainly, most people find the smell of rotten eggs offensive. n. attack: Our team took the offensive and we won. ant. adj. 1. defensive, defending. 2. pleasing, pleasant, agreeable, attractive.
- offer vb. 1. present, tender, proffer, submit: The plan that Bill offered was to be voted on the next day. 2. volunteer: Manuel offered to help with the collection at the school. n. suggestion, proposal; presentation: We have received three offers to buy the car. ant. vb. refuse, deny. n. refusal, denial.
- offhand adj. casual, informal, impromptu, unprepared: My offhand guess at the number of pennies in the jar is 3,185. ant. planned, considered, calculated, thought-out.
- office n. 1. suite, offices, office building: I will be working late at the office tonight. 2. position, post, situation; occupation: Janet was planning to run for a political office at the next election.
- officer n. 1. executive, manager, director, administrator: Rick's father is an officer in the company, and that's how Rick got the job. 2. policeman, lawman; sheriff: During the parade, there was an officer directing traffic at every road.

- offset vb. balance, counterbalance, set off, compensate for: The losses in one department were offset by the profits in another.
- offshoot n. branch, by-product: The factory in our town is just an offshoot of the main company out West.
- offspring n. children, descendants, issue, progeny: The male offspring of the crowned heads of England have always gone to that school.
- off-the-record adj. unofficial, restricted, confidential: After the speech, the governor made some off-the-record remarks that couldn't be reported.
- often adv. frequently, oftentimes, regularly, usually: All of us often went to the soda shop after school. ant. rarely, seldom, hardly.
- okay, O.K. adj. correct, fine, all right: If that's the way you want it, it's okay with me. vb. approve, allow, authorize: I had to get the principal's office to okay my absence last week. n. approval, permission: May I have your okay on this order before I send it out?
- old adj. 1. aged, elderly: My parents aren't very old. 2. used, worn, dilapidated, ragged, faded, broken-down: There was an old shack in the woods where the boys would meet secretly. 3. former, ancient, olden, old-fashioned, antique: My aunt collects old cigar boxes. ant. 1. young, youthful. 2. fresh, brand-new.
- old-fashioned adj. old, antiquated, outmoded, passé: Bella was wearing one of her enormous, old-fashioned hats. ant. new, up-to-date, fashionable, current, modern.
- old-timer n. oldster; veteran, master: The old-timers in town really knew how to herd cattle. ant. newcomer.
- omit vb. 1. leave out, exclude, except, bar: It was decided to omit from consideration in the honor society all those with less than a B average. 2. ignore, neglect, overlook: By mistake, your name was omitted from the list of members. ant. include.
- one-sided adj. partial, biased, prejudiced, unfair: If you ask Frank what happened, you will get a very one-sided story. ant. impartial, just.
- onlooker n. observer, witness, bystander, spectator: Although she insisted that she was merely an innocent onlooker, Nina was arrested and charged as an accomplice to the robbery.
- only adj. sole, single, lone, solitary: When you have no brothers or sisters, you are called an only child. adv. merely, just, but, not more than: It took me only three hours to walk the 12 miles.

onset n. beginning, opening, start, commencement: The icy winds came down from the north, signaling the onset of winter. ant. end, conclusion, finale.

onus n. burden; load, weight: I'm afraid that the onus is on you to prove you weren't driving the car when the accident took place.

onward adv. forward, ahead: She stumbled onward a few feet, then fell, an arrow in her back. ant. backward.

ooze vb. seep, exude, drip: The oil oozed from the ground. n. slime, mire, mud: Many fossils have been found in the ooze at the bottom of the sea.

open adj. 1. unclosed, uncovered, accessible: The door was open all night—anyone could have walked in. The jar of jam was left open and became moldy. 2. public, free, unrestricted, permitted: The museum is open to the public on Mondays. 3. free, easy, candid; sincere, honest: Donald was very open about his plans for the next week. 4. unoccupied, vacant, unfilled: The job advertised last week is still open. vb. 1. start, begin, commence: The chairman opened the meeting with a short speech of welcome. 2. expand, spread, extend: When Roger opened his fist, I saw the stain on his fingers, proving that he was the culprit. ant. adj. 1., 2. closed, shut, sealed. 3. private, secretive. 4. filled, taken. vb. 1. finish, end, stop. 2. close, clench.

open-handed adj. generous, kind, charitable: Although the old man gave nothing to the organized charities, he was very open-handed when it came to friends. ant. tight-fisted, stingy, mean.

open-hearted adj. honest, frank, candid. It isn't often when a politician will be so open-hearted with his supporters. ant. devious, insincere.

opening n. 1. gap, hole: The dog escaped from our yard through an opening in the fence. 2. beginning, start, commencement: At the opening of the ceremonies, a huge limousine arrived. 3. vacancy, opportunity, chance: We have an opening for a skilled typist.

open-minded adj. fair, tolerant, liberal, just: The judge was very open-minded to listen to both sides before commenting. ant. bigoted, intolerant, prejudiced.

operate vb. 1. run, work, use, manage: Do you know how to operate a printing press? 2. run, work, function, perform: After leaving the service station, the car operated very smoothly.

operation n. 1. performance, function, action: The operation of this motor is poor and irregular. 2. administration, direction, supervision, handling: A new executive was brought in to take charge of the operation of the factory. 3. surgery: The operation on my toe will be tomorrow.

opinion n. belief, view, sentiment, idea, viewpoint: My opinion of that restaurant is that the food is good but the service bad.

opinionated adj. prejudiced, biased, partisan; unfair: Robert is so opinionated that there's no point in trying to persuade him that the earth isn't flat.

opponent n. rival, competitor, contestant, antagonist: My opponent in the chess finals is a Life Master. ant. ally, colleague, teammate.

opportune adj. appropriate, suitable, fitting, proper: Today, when the company announced its biggest loss in history, is not an opportune time to request an increase in salary.

opportunity n. chance, time, occasion: Jed explained that he had not had the opportunity to phone to say he'd be late.

oppose vb. resist, battle, combat, withstand, thwart: The club had opposed admitting only minority-group applicants as members. ant. support.

opposite adj. 1. contrary, reverse, different: Ken turned the car around and drove off in the opposite direction. 2. facing: I walked in and took my place on the opposite side of the courtroom. ant. 1. same, like, similar.

opposition n. 1. antagonism, resistance, defiance, counteraction: The committee refused to tolerate any opposition to its plans. 2. foe, enemy, contestant, adversary, antagonist, competition: The opposition was led by the congressman from our district. ant. 1. support, help, cooperation.

oppress vb. 1. burden, suppress, crush; persecute: The people were sorely oppressed under the dictatorship. 2. burden, worry, depress: The father of a large family can often find his responsibilities oppressing.

oppression n. tyranny, injustice, cruelty, persecution: The oppression of the minorities in that country was so severe that he moved to England. ant. freedom, liberty.

oppressive adj. burdensome, difficult, hard; stifling: The people could no longer stand the oppressive practices of the government, and they revolted. The atmosphere in this room is oppressive without any windows open.

optimism n. hopefulness, confidence: Thea's father expressed optimism in the outcome of her final examinations. ant. pessimism, doubtfulness, cynicism.

- opulent adj. rich, wealthy, prosperous, affluent, well-off, well-to-do: The opulent can well afford to pay higher taxes.
- oral adj. spoken, uttered, verbal, said, vocal, voiced: We were asked to give oral, not written, reports. ant. written, printed.
- oration n. speech, address, sermon, lecture: The major prepared an oration to be delivered at the dedication of the war memorial.
- orbit n. course, path, circuit, lap, revolution: The planets move in elliptical orbits around the sun. vb. circle, revolve: The moon orbits around the earth, which orbits around the sun.
- ordain vb. decree, declare, command: The mayor ordained that schools would remain open all summer long.
- order n. 1. command, direction, instruction, rule: The sergeant received the order to move the company into the front line area. 2. requisition, purchase order; contract: The shop acknowledged receiving our order for two boxes of stationery. 3. goods, merchandise, shipment: Two weeks afterward, our order arrived in the mail. 4. arrangement, classification, system, sequence: The words in this book are in alphabetical order. vb. 1. command, direct, instruct: The police were ordered to investigate a report of a prowler in the neighborhood. 2. buy, obtain, request: That is not the stationery we ordered.
- orderly adj. 1. neat, well-organized, regulated: In contrast to Mary's room, which is a mess, Anita's is very orderly. 2. disciplined, well-organized, well-behaved: I want everyone to line up and to go into the corridor in orderly fashion during the fire drill. ant. 1. messy, sloppy, undisciplined. 2. disorganized, haphazard.
- ordinarily adv. usually, commonly, generally: Ordinarily, I'd ask you to do the letter over again, but this time I'll let it go.
- ordinary adj. 1. usual, common, customary, regular, normal: Just do everything in the ordinary way and try to pretend nobody is watching you. 2. average, mediocre, everyday, undistinguished: Although Annette wears fancy clothes for her job in the hotel, she dresses in ordinary clothes during the day. ant. 2. extraordinary, unusual, special.
- organization n. 1. formulation, plan, classification: The experts disagreed on the organization of the information for the files. 2. group, association, federation, society, confederation, institute, league, guild, fellowship, brotherhood, syndicate: The members of the teacher's organization agreed to meet with the school-board officials.

- organize vb. 1. arrange, compose, coordinate, shape, regulate, order, classify: The office manager asked Ronnie to organize the files. 2. establish, found, form, mold: Ten of us decided to organize a swimming and tennis club.
- organized adj. orderly, planned, neat, arranged: An organized person is not apt to forget things.
- origin n. beginning, source, root, cradle, birthplace, rise, start: Scientists have not been able to pinpoint exactly the origin of man. ant. end, termination.
- original adj. 1. first, primary, beginning: The original settlers of this section of the country were Indians. 2. unique, new, fresh, novel, creative: The invention of the steam engine, by James Watt, was an original idea. ant. 1. secondary. 2. outmoded, old-fashioned.
- originate vb. 1. arise, begin, start: The idea of coining money originated many centuries ago. 2. invent, create, begin: I wonder who originated the umbrella.
- originator n. inventor, creator; discoverer: The originator of the first sewing machine must have been a genius. ant. imitator, follower.
- ornament n. decoration, adornment, ornamentation, embellishment: The old lady was wearing a curious gold ornament on a chain around her neck. vb. decorate, adorn, embellish: At Christmas, we ornamented the cakes with red and green icing.
- ornamental adj. decorative, ornate: The grating at each window was not for protection, it was purely ornamental.
- outcome n. result, end, consequence, upshot: I had to leave before it was over, so I didn't know the outcome of the game. ant. cause.
- outdo vb. surpass, excel, beat: Nancy outdoes all her competitors in gymnastics.
- outfit n. gear, clothing, get-up, garb; kit, equipment: Stephanie arrived at the dance wearing a new outfit of gold lamé. My father was given a whole new fishing outfit for his birthday by the family. vb. equip, supply, provide: Tim went to a special shop that outfitted him with everything he needed for the hunting trip.
- outgoing adj. 1. departing, leaving: The outgoing president spoke at a dinner given in his honor. 2. open, easy, amicable, friendly, congenial: Arthur is quite outgoing and likable, and I think he would make a good salesman. ant. 1. incoming. 2. unfriendly.
- outgrowth n. development, result, effect, product: Many of our modern laws are an outgrowth of the legal system of ancient Rome.

outlandish adj. strange, weird, odd, peculiar, curious, exotic, unconventional: Yes, I agree that waders, a wing collar, and a tam o'shanter make for pretty outlandish garb at dinner. ant. common, ordinary.

outlaw n. criminal, badman, bandit; fugitive: The sheriff cornered the outlaws in the barn and then captured them. vb. prohibit, ban: The sale of guns may be outlawed in some states next year.

outline n. 1. edge, border, contour, frame: If you see it against the sky, you will be able to make out the outline of the jagged cliff in the distance. Draw an outline of the map of the United States. 2. plan, sketch, rough, framework: Nick handed in an outline of the paper he was going to write. vb. draft, sketch, plan, draw: The playwright outlined the plot of his new musical.

outlook n. 1. view, viewpoint: Because Tessie comes from a family that has money, her outlook on saving it is different from mine. 2. future, prospect, chance, opportunity: The outlook for people with a diploma is better than that for those who quit school.

outmoded adj. old-fashioned, passé, dated, unfashionable: Someone ought to tell Frobisher that doublet and hose are outmoded attire, especially for tennis. ant. modern, up-to-date.

output n. production; productivity, yield: The average American farm of today has more than double the output that the average farm of a hundred years ago had.

outrage n. affront, offense, insult: In wartime, soldiers commit outrages on the people whose land they capture. vb. shock, injure, offend: I was outraged when I learned that Jim had borrowed the car after I had told him not to.

outrageous adj. shocking, offensive, disgraceful, shameful, shameless, gross, contemptible: If he says that I was with him last night, he's telling the most outrageous lie. ant. reasonable, sensible, prudent.

outset n. beginning, start, commencement: At the outset, I want to declare my innocence of any wrongdoing. ant. end, climax.

outside n. 1. exterior, surface, covering: The outside of the tin box never hinted that it contained gold and precious stones. 2. limit, bounds: I would guess that, at the outside, 300 students live in that dormitory. ant. 1. inside, interior.

outsider n. stranger, alien, foreigner; nonmember: We never allowed outsiders to attend meetings of our secret club. ant. insider, intimate.

outsmart vb. outwit, outmaneuver: If it's any consolation, you've been outsmarted by the best-known swindler in the business.

outstanding adj. 1. important, well-known, famous, prominent, conspicuous, leading: Alan's mother was one of the most outstanding violinists of her time. 2. unpaid, overdue, due, owing: I keep all the paid bills in this drawer and all of the outstanding ones in the other. ant. 1. ordinary, average.

outwit vb. confuse, bewilder, trick, baffle: Doubling back on his trail, the clever old fox outwitted the hounds, which soon lost the scent.

overall adj. general, complete, comprehensive: The overall length of the boat is 38 feet.

overcast adj. cloudy, clouded, dark: Photographs taken on overcast days do not show sharp shadows, as on sunny days. ant. clear, sunny.

overcome vb. 1. conquer, defeat, beat, subdue: The heavyweight boxer easily overcame any challenger. 2. overpower, weaken, overwhelm: The firemen were nearly overcome by the smoke. ant. submit, yield.

overhaul vb. revamp, rebuild, recondition: The engine on my yacht has just been overhauled but there's still something wrong with it.

overlook vb. ignore, disregard, neglect, miss: The judge said that he was going to overlook the criminal's past record if he'd promise to stay out of trouble. ant. notice.

overpower vb. overwhelm, vanquish, overcome, conquer, subdue, defeat, beat: The snake easily overpowered the rabbit, which was no match for its speed and strength. ant. surrender.

overrule vb. repeal, revoke, disallow, override, nullify, cancel: The Supreme Court overruled the finding of the lower court and found the defendant not guilty.

oversee vb. supervise, manage, direct, run, operate: Quill, here, will oversee the manufacture of carpeting for the new mousetraps.

overseer n. supervisor, manager, superintendent, foreman: The plant hired a new overseer today.

oversight n. error, overlooking, omission, blunder, neglect, fault: Through an oversight, the report cards weren't sent out on time.

overtake vb. catch, reach; pass: Although the horse had had a poor start, before the finish line it had overtaken every other horse and won the race.

overthrow vb. overpower, defeat, conquer; upset, overturn; The army succeeded in overthrowing the government so quickly that no one was hurt. n. defeat, collapse, fall: The overthrow of the king was being plotted by spies in another country.

overwhelm vb. 1. defeat, overcome, crush, overpower: The tiny force defending the palace was quickly overwhelmed by the army. 2. bury, cover: When the dikes broke, the waters flooded through the streets, overwhelming the town.

own vb. possess, have, hold: Everything that I own in the world could fit into a large suitcase.

pace n. 1. step: Take three paces to the right, then one to the left, and dig there for the buried treasure. 2. gait, rate; velocity: Anne was typing only three letters an hour and was asked to increase her pace.

pacific adj. peaceful, calm, peaceable, tranquil, quiet; gentle: Jan has a very pacific disposition and rarely seems upset. If you had ever seen the Pacific Ocean during a typhoon, you would wonder why it was named "pacific." ant. turbulent, excited, roiled.

pacify vb. calm, quiet, tranquilize, smooth, lull: Although Ben was furious at being insulted, we succeeded in pacifying him after a few minutes. ant. upset, excite, disturb.

pack vb. 1. stow; prepare: Pack your suitcase right away—we're off for a vacation this afternoon. 2. cram, ram, crowd, stuff, compress: Those sardines are packed in the can almost as tightly as people on a subway train during rush hour. n. 1. bundle, package, parcel, load: Each hiker carried a pack on his back. 2. crowd, herd, gang, mob, group: A pack of people was huddled around the speaker in the park. The pack of wolves had attacked the sheep during the night.

package n. bundle, parcel, pack, packet, load: The package was weighed at the post office and insured for $50. vb. containerize, crate, box, bottle: The perfume comes packaged in a leakproof container.

packet n. package, bundle: The mailman delivered a small packet of letters this morning.

pact n. agreement, contract, compact, arrangement, deal, settlement, treaty, bargain: There is a trade pact between our two countries.

pad n. 1. cushion, wadding; stuffing, filling, padding: If you keep this pad under your sprained knee, it will make you more comfortable. 2. block; bundle: The detective made notes on a small pad of paper. vb. cushion: This fragile vase should be carefully padded for shipping.

paddle n. sweep, scull; oar: The first thing you did wrong was to lose the canoe paddle overboard.

pageant n. spectacle, exhibition, show, display, extravaganza: Every year at Christmas our school puts on a pageant.

- pain n. 1. distress, suffering, misery, ache, pang, torment, agony: Harold kept on running in spite of the pain of his sprained ankle. 2. anguish, misery: Betty's decision to live away from home caused her parents much pain. vb. hurt, harm, distress, ache: My mother's arthritis pained her a great deal. ant. n. 1. comfort, ease. 2. delight, joy.
- painful adj. agonizing, aching, inflamed, sore, throbbing: That punch in the nose must have been very painful. ant. soothing.
- painstaking adj. careful, exacting, scrupulous: The miniature model of the car was made with painstaking attention to detail. ant. careless, slipshod.
- pair n. couple; brace, team: A pair of horses drew the carriage. vb. match, mate, couple, join: The teacher paired us off and we marched out of the room two abreast.
- pal n. buddy, chum, friend, sidekick: I went bowling last night with a couple of pals of mine.
- palatial adj. luxurious, sumptuous, majestic, magnificent, grand: Gumbo, the rock star, now lives in a palatial home in Beverly Hills.
- pale adj. 1. white, ashen, colorless, wan, pallid: Before it becomes warm enough to go sunbathing and get tan, everyone looks pale. 2. dim, faint: The bedroom is being painted pale blue. vb. whiten, blanch: Grover paled when he was told he'd been seen taking the book from the shelf. ant. adj. 1. ruddy, flushed. 2. dark, bright.
- paltry adj. meager, petty, trivial, trifling, insignificant: With all his wealth, I expected a contribution bigger than a paltry thousand.
- pamper vb. baby, coddle, spoil: Parents sometimes pamper a child so much that he thinks he can have anything he asks for.
- pamphlet n. brochure, booklet, leaflet: Many political pamphlets were published in England during the eighteenth century.
- pang n. pain, hurt, throb: I got a sudden pang in my leg, as if from a muscle cramp.
- panic n. alarm, fear, dread, fright, terror: When they saw and smelled the fire, the horses' panic was so great they stampeded. vb. terrify, frighten, alarm: The civilians were panicked by the scream of the bombs dropping nearby. ant. vb. calm, soothe, tranquilize.
- pant vb. puff, gasp, wheeze: Jack came panting up the hill with Jill.
- pantry n. storeroom, larder, cupboard, scullery: We went from the kitchen into the pantry to make the sandwiches.

- paper n. 1. newspaper, journal: Have you read the paper today? 2. document, record, proof: When you apply for a job, you should bring all the necessary papers with you. 3. article, report, essay: Only invited scholars read their papers at the international meeting.
- parade n. march, procession, review; pageant: Today is the annual St. Patrick's Day parade. vb. march, walk, strut: The pretty girls were always parading on the boardwalk along the beach.
- paradise n. 1. heaven: Many people believe that if they're good, they'll end up in paradise when they die. 2. utopia: We spent our holiday on what was promised in the travel brochure would be a tropical paradise.
- parallel adj. similar, corresponding, like, resembling: Our thinking has been parallel on the subject of liberty for many years. n. 1. equal, match, counterpart: As a scientist, George has no parallel in this country. 2. similarity, likeness, resemblance, correspondence: It isn't accurate to draw a parallel between twentieth-century rulers and those of the sixteenth-century. vb. resemble, correspond to, match, equal: My experience parallels yours when it comes to service in the army. ant. adj. divergent.
- paralyze vb. deaden, benumb, numb: When it saw the snake, the rat was paralyzed with fear.
- paraphernalia n. equipment, gear, belongings, effects: Sophronia arrived with her SCUBA paraphernalia because she heard we were going to a dive for drinks.
- parcel n. package, bundle, packet: The department stores deliver parcels free of charge within a certain area.
- pardon n. excuse, forgiveness; amnesty, acquittal, exoneration: The governor refused to give pardons to the criminals convicted of major crimes. vb. excuse, forgive, acquit, exonerate: On his birthday the king pardoned all his political opponents still in jail. ant. vb. condemn, sentence.
- pare vb. 1. peel, skin: I know how to pare an apple so that the skin comes off in one long, curly piece. 2. diminish, reduce, cut, trim, crop, shave: The finance committee is meeting to see if the operating budget can be pared down a bit.
- part n. 1. portion, piece, section, fraction, fragment: Since I helped to pay for it, part of that apple pie should go to me. 2. share, allotment, participation, interest: If everyone does his part, we shall be finished much sooner. 3. role, character: Philip played the part of Macbeth. vb. 1. divide, split, break up, disconnect: The curtains parted to reveal a strik- ing stage set. We had to part at the gate because only passengers were allowed beyond it. 2. depart, go, leave, quit: It is late, and I must part from this house to go home. ant. n. 1. whole, entirely.

partial adj. 1. incomplete, unfinished, undone: I made a partial payment toward the car. 2. prejudiced, biased, one-sided, unfair, unjust: The umpires and referees in sports should not be partial to one team or the other. ant. 1. entire, complete, comprehensive.

participant n. shareholder, partner; associate, colleague: I don't know if I want to be a participant in a scheme to sell beach toys in the Kalahari Desert.

participate vb. share, partake, join; engage in: The coach planned that everyone should participate in sports.

particle n. bit, spot, grain, speck, shred, scrap: A particle of sand or grit flew into my eye. There's not a particle of truth in that story.

particular adj. 1. special, specific, distinct: This particular bed was slept in by George Washington. 2. careful, especial, special, finicky, finical: Suzanne is very particular about the people she associates with. 3. notable, exceptional, remarkable, unusual: This is a very particular painting and should fetch a great sum at the auction. n. detail, point, item, feature: The report on the condition of the playground was correct in every particular.

particularly adv. especially, specially, specifically, explicitly: The mysterious stranger seemed particularly interested in the doorknob of No. 15, River Avenue.

partisan n. follower, disciple, supporter, backer: After the government was overthrown, its partisans continued to fight. adj. partial, biased, prejudiced: The senator was known to play partisan politics on issues involving national defense.

partition n. 1. division, separation, distribution: The allies agreed to the partition of Germany after the war. 2. divider, screen, separator, barrier, wall: A new partition was installed dividing the office in half. vb. divide, separate, apportion: The ranch was partitioned among the heirs of the cattle baron. We ought to partition off a section of the cellar for a workshop. ant. n. 1. joining, unification.

partly adv. partially, somewhat; comparatively: You are only partly right about who stole the Queen of Hearts' tarts.

partner n. associate, colleague, participant: My partner in the new business is an expert engineer.

party n. 1. group, gathering, company, crowd: Every Wednes- day a party of theatergoers would travel into town in a chartered bus. 2. block, faction, body, organization: You don't have to join a political party to vote in the election, unless it's a primary.

pass vb. 1. go, move, proceed, continue: Have you seen an orange kitten pass this way? 2. disregard, bypass, ignore: The manager passed over George when it was time to consider promotions. 3. circulate, spend: The counterfeiter succeeded in passing some phony $20 bills in town. 4. go by or away, end, terminate, cease, expire: The day of the horse and buggy has passed. 5. enact, legislate, establish, approve, okay: The Senate passed the new tax bill. 6. exceed, surpass: California has passed New York in population. 7. spend, while away, fill: I passed the time waiting for the train in reading a book. n. 1. gorge, ravine, canyon, gap, defile: The army reached the mountain pass before dawn and launched an attack immediately. 2. permit, admission, permission, ticket: You will need an official pass to visit the rocket factory. 3. toss, throw, hurl: Fresser threw a forward pass that was caught by a teammate. ant. vb. 2. consider, notice, note.

passable adj. acceptable, satisfactory, adequate, tolerable, fair: I would call Jordan a passable executive. ant. exceptional, extraordinary, superior.

passage n. 1. paragraph, section, text: The speaker read a passage from Moby Dick and then discussed its meaning. 2. passing, transition, movement: The passage of time seems so slow when you are waiting for someone. 3. passageway, corridor, hall: The Congresswomen were interviewed by the press in the passage outside the conference room. 4. journey, voyage, trip, crossing, tour: When he was just a boy, my grandfather worked for his passage from England to America as a cabin boy.

passé adj. old-fashioned, old hat, outmoded, out-of-date, dated: I'm sorry to tell you this, darling, but as a nightclub, Sebastian's is definitely passé. ant. modern, up-to-date, à la mode.

passenger n. rider, commuter, traveler; tourist, voyager, traveler: The New York subways carry millions of passengers daily. When he retired, Captain Williams sailed around the world just to see what it was like to be a passenger.

passion n. 1. emotion, feeling, zeal, rapture, excitement: The passion Victoria had for the women's lib movement sometimes made her say things she didn't mean. 2. love, desire, affection, liking, fondness, enthusiasm: My mother has a strong passion for all of her nine children. ant. indifference, apathy, coolness.

passionate adj. emotional, excited, impulsive, zealous, enthusiastic, earnest, sincere: The political leader gave a passionate speech, trying to win labor to his cause.

password n. shibboleth, watchword: If you don't give the proper password, you might be shot.

past adj. 1. gone, over, finished, done, done with: The days when you could buy a hot dog for a nickel are past. 2. former, preceding, prior: The past president of the class is still a member of the student council. 3. recent, preceding: In the past few days nobody has seen Joan at school. n. 1. antiquity, old times, the (good) old days, days of yore, yesterday: It always seems as though everything was better in the past. 2. experiences, former life, secret life: She may be old now, but that author had quite an exciting past. ant. adj. 1. ahead. 2. present, future. n. 1. present, future.

pastime n. amusement, recreation, entertainment; hobby: David collects stamps as a pastime, not professionally.

patch n., vb. mend, repair: My jacket has a patch over each elbow. Do you think that the tailor can patch my torn trousers?

patent n. protection, copyright, control, permit: Dick's mother has a patent on a new kind of rocket fuel. vb. license, limit, copyright: Some of the strangest devices you have ever seen have been patented in America.

path n. walk, way, trail, track, footpath, lane, pathway, walkway: The path leading from the street to our front door is bordered by flower beds.

pathetic adj. pitiable, pitiful, moving, touching: The half-drowned kitten looked so pathetic that we had to take it home and care for it.

patience n. 1. calmness, composure, passiveness, serenity, courage: Our teacher's patience came to an end when Evelyn started to giggle again. 2. endurance, perseverance, persistence: It takes a great deal of patience to stand in line for four hours to buy a ticket to a concert. ant. 1. impatience, restlessness, impetuosity.

patient adj. 1. persistent, untiring, persevering: If you'll be patient, the dentist will be with you in a few more moments. 2. resigned, submissive: As Tom grew older, he became more patient with other people's faults. 3. calm, serene, quiet, unexcited, unexcitable, self-controlled, unruffled, unshaken: The old pony was very patient when children wanted to ride him. After years of patient research, the scientists finally perfected the medicine. n. invalid, case, inmate: Danny was a patient in the hospital for a week after he broke his leg.

patrol vb. guard, watch; inspect: Three armed sentries are assigned to patrol the factory at night.

patron n. 1. customer, client, purchaser, buyer: The first patrons arrive at the restaurant at 6:30 for breakfast. 2. supporter, benefactor, backer, philanthropist: The patrons of the arts center have contributed millions of dollars to its support.

patronize vb. 1. buy at, support: We always patronize our local shops. 2. condescend, stoop, talk down to: The department head didn't like the new clerk because he spoke to her in a patronizing way.

pattern n. 1. model, guide, template, example, original: Penny was building a model car, using a Rolls-Royce as a pattern. 2. design, decoration, figure: The dress has a beautiful pattern but I don't like the way it fits. vb. model, copy, follow, imitate: The capital buildings of many states are patterned after the capitol in Washington.

pause n. hesitation, rest, wait, interruption, delay, break, intermission, recess: After a short pause for a sip of water, the speaker went on to discuss the habits of lions in the wild. vb. hesitate, rest, wait, interrupt, break, delay, recess: You ought to pause to think before replying to that question. ant. n. continuity, perpetuity. vb. continue, perpetuate.

pawn n. tool, cat's paw, puppet, (slang) stooge: As Cumberland could not afford to pay the blackmail, he became a pawn in the spy's plans for treachery.

pay vb. 1. settle, remit, discharge: I have very few bills to pay this month. 2. compensate, recompense, reward, return: Phil's new job paid him $2.50 an hour. n. payment, salary, wage, wages, fee, income: How much is your pay per month?

payable adj. due, owed, owing; unpaid: This bill is payable on the fourth of next month.

peace n. 1. quiet, serenity, calm, peacefulness, tranquillity: Every time I spend a day in a big city, I yearn for the peace of the countryside. 2. pact, treaty, truce, accord, armistice: Do you remember the date of the Peace of Westphalia? A peace agreement was signed in Geneva this week. ant. agitation, upheaval, disturbance.

peaceable adj. peaceful, gentle, mild, calm, friendly, amiable, pacific: The neighboring Indian tribes had always been peaceable until the white man came along. ant. hostile, warlike, aggressive.

peaceful adj. peaceable, quiet, calm, serene, tranquil: It's very peaceful to spend a week fishing in a mountain stream. ant. disrupted, agitated, riotous.

peak n. 1. top, summit, point, crest: We could see the peaks of the Rocky Mountains from our hotel room in Denver. 2. top, maximum, pinnacle: Prices on the stock market reached their peak for the year today. ant. 2. base, bottom.

peculiar adj. 1. unusual, odd, strange, unfamiliar, uncommon, queer, outlandish, curious: The camel is a very peculiar animal. 2. characteristic, special, unique, exclusive: A love of eucalyptus leaves is peculiar to the koala, which looks like a teddy bear. ant. 1. ordinary, regular, unspecial.

peculiarity n. characteristic, distinctiveness: We noticed the peculiarities of Oscar's behavior but didn't think they were serious enough to comment on.

peddle vb. hawk, vend, sell: The beggar was peddling shoe-laces and pencils outside the theater.

pedestrian n. walker, stroller: Pedestrians should cross streets only at the corners. adj. ordinary, common, everyday, dull, commonplace: The comedian told some very pedestrian jokes that weren't funny at all. ant. adj. unusual, fascinating, extraordinary, special.

pedigree n. family, descent, ancestry, parentage, line, lineage: The pedigree of this prize collie goes back through eight generations of champions.

peek n., vb. peep, peer, glimpse, look: We got a peek at what they were doing without their seeing us. Close your eyes and count to 20—and no peeking!

peel n. skin, rind, peeling: I slipped on a banana peel and everyone laughed when I fell down. vb. skin, strip, pare: My uncle can peel an orange so that the skin comes off in one piece.

peep vb., n. cheep, chirp, squeak: The baby chicks peeped constantly when they were awake. I don't want to hear a peep out of you after you get into bed.

peer n. 1. equal, parallel, match, rival: As a high-jumper, Kim has no peer. 2. nobleman, lord: The peers of the British realm are listed in this book.

peer² vb. peek, peep, glimpse; scrutinize, examine: The old lady peered at me closely, trying to see if I was someone she knew.

peeve vb. irritate, annoy, vex, irk, nettle: Flabard was quite peeved at being awakened at 3 A.M.

pen n. enclosure, cage, coop, sty: Domestic animals like chickens and pigs are often kept in pens.

penalize vb. punish; dock: In the wrestling match, Dick was penalized points for claspings his hands around his opponent.

penalty n. punishment; forfeit; fine: The penalty in England for stealing bread was once death by hanging. In basketball, the penalty for holding is two free shots for the other team.

penetrate vb. 1. pierce, enter, bore, hole: The bullet penetrated the wall just an inch away from my head. 2. permeate, spread, seep: The smoke from the fire penetrated all the rooms, and we had to have everything cleaned.

penetrating adj. 1. piercing, boring, puncturing, sharp, acute: We were quite surprised that such a young person could have such a penetrating mind. 2. keen, shrewd, sharp, acute, intelligent, sharp-witted: Sadie has a penetrating observation to offer concerning the course in physics.

peninsula n. point, neck, spit, headland: At high tide, much of the peninsula is under water.

penniless adj. poor, poverty-stricken, needy, destitute: The old miser wouldn't have anything to do with the penniless beggars who followed him, asking for money. ant. rich, wealthy, well-off, prosperous.

people n. 1. human beings, humans, persons, beings: Many people have moved from the country to the cities. 2. race, nation, tribe, clan, family: How many people live in America today? A primitive people was found recently, living in the Philippine Islands. vb. populate: Australia was originally peopled by the Aborigines, long before the white man came.

perceive vb. 1. see, discern, notice, observe, distinguish, make out: It is very difficult to perceive the differences between the monarch and the viceroy butterflies. 2. understand, comprehend, grasp: I cannot perceive the purpose in your trying to swim across the channel.

perception n. understanding, apprehension, comprehension: Everyone's perception of the events leading up to the fight was different.

perceptive adj. discerning, sharp, acute, observant: It was very perceptive of Alexa to note that the man's coat was buttoned the wrong way in the photo.

perfect adj. 1. faultless, excellent, flawless, pure, ideal: The acrobat's style was perfect. 2. complete, finished, whole: The Preamble to the Constitution says that one of its main purposes is to "form a more perfect union" among the states. 3. complete, utter, total: He might have told you he was my brother, but he was a perfect stranger to me. 4. exact, precise, sharp, correct: The two pieces of ancient sculpture turned out to be a perfect match. vb. complete, achieve, finish, accomplish: No one has yet been able to perfect a perpetual-motion machine. ant. adj. 1. imperfect, flawed, second-rate.

perfectionist n. purist, pedant, precisionist: There's no pleasing Hortense—she's too much of a perfectionist.

perform vb. 1. do, carry out, accomplish, achieve, complete: With a little coaxing, Harry would perform the trick of walking on his hands. 2. present, act out, give, produce: The children performed the play on an outdoor platform in the park.

performance n. presentation, offering, exhibition, appearance: There will be two performances of the play on Wednesdays and Saturdays and none on Sundays.

performer n. actor/actress, entertainer: Stan was understudy to some of the leading performers in the theatrical company.

perfume n. 1. scent, essence; toilet water, cologne: Every Mother's Day I give my mother a bottle of perfume. 2. odor, scent, fragrance, smell, aroma: The perfume of the orange blossoms filled the night air.

perhaps adv. maybe, possibly, conceivably: If the children will be home for Christmas, perhaps we can have a big party. ant. definitely, absolutely.

peril n. danger, hazard, risk: This insurance policy will cover you against such perils as falling apples, finding sharp bones in bananas, and heat waves in winter. ant. security, safety.

perilous adj. dangerous, risky, hazardous, unsafe: The climbers were making a perilous descent down the face of the cliff. ant. safe, secure.

period n. 1. time, interval, term; era, age, epoch: My uncle spent a brief period in the navy. The fifteenth to seventeenth centuries were a period of exploration and migration. 2. course, cycle; timing: The period of the day is marked by the revolution of the earth on its axis.

perish vb. die, expire; pass away, depart: More than 100 animals perished in the circus fire.

perishable adj. decayable, biodegradable, decomposable: You must keep perishable foods in the refrigerator.

permanent adj. 1. enduring, lasting, stable, continuing, long-lived, persisting, persistent; perpetual, everlasting: Dick's father was given a permanent appointment to the school board. Stainless steel is a more permanent material than aluminum for building. 2. unchanging, unaltered, unchanged, constant, unvarying, invariable: Because of the accident, Tim has a permanent scar on his arm. ant. passing, temporary, inconstant, fluctuating.

permission n. consent, leave; freedom, liberty: Please ask the teacher's permission to leave the room. Permission to speak freely is given by the Constitution—but that does not mean you can say anything you like.

permissive adj. lenient, tolerant, easy, unrestrictive, open-minded: In today's permissive society, people feel that they can do just about anything they wish. ant. restrictive.

permit vb. allow, let, tolerate, suffer: No one is permitted to talk during class. n. license, permission, authorization: Only members of the faculty have permits to park in that area. ant. vb. forbid, prohibit, disallow.

perpendicular adj. vertical, upright, standing: Three perpendicular posts won't be enough to support the fence in the wind. ant. horizontal.

perpetual adj. unceasing, continuing, continuous, continual, everlasting, permanent, constant, eternal, ceaseless, undying: Jim's perpetual whistling is very annoying. This perpetual clock never needs winding. ant. intermittent, inconstant, fluctuating.

perplex vb. confuse, puzzle, mystify, bewilder: Donna was completely perplexed by the algebra problem. The controls of a modern jet plane are a perplexing array of buttons, switches, levers, and knobs.

persecute vb. oppress, torment, ill-treat, maltreat, victimize, abuse: Minorities in many countries suffer persecution for no reason.

persevere vb. endure, persist, last, continue: If you work hard and persevere, you have an excellent chance of succeeding in anything you undertake. ant. lapse, desist, discontinue, stop.

persist vb. persevere, continue, remain, endure: Jane persisted in her claim that she had done nothing wrong by borrowing the book without permission. ant. stop, desist.

person n. human, human being, individual, personage, someone, somebody: Three unknown persons broke into the office at night and stole the typewriter.

personal adj. 1. private, secret: Linda revealed many personal things about herself that I wouldn't repeat to anyone. 2. individual, special, particular: My personal opinion is that each one of us ought to do what he does best. ant. 1. public, general.

personality n. character, nature, makeup, disposition: Nicole's easy-going personality makes her a popular addition to any group.

persuade vb. 1. influence, induce, convince: Peter persuaded me to try to get a job for the summer vacation. 2. urge, coax, prompt: You don't have to persuade Anne to eat everything on her plate. ant. 1. dissuade, discourage.

persuasive adj. convincing, influential, winning, alluring, compelling, stimulating: I must admit that your arguments for finishing my schoolwork are very persuasive. ant. unconvincing, dubious.

perturbed adj. upset, flustered, disturbed, agitated: You needn't get so perturbed—I only asked you for the time.

pest n. nuisance, irritation, irritant, annoyance, tease, bother: Why must you be such a pest about my keeping my room neat?

pester vb. annoy, irritate, vex, trouble, harass, torment, tease, bother, worry: Please don't pester me while I'm trying to study.

pet n. favorite, darling: Eunice is the teacher's pet. vb. fondle, caress, baby: Phoebe had great fun at her aunt's house where she petted the new kittens.

petition n. request, application, appeal, solicitation, entreaty: Most of the neighbors signed the petition for saving the trees along the streets. vb. request, apply, appeal, solicit, entreat: The students got together to petition the teachers to give them less homework.

petty adj. 1. unimportant, trivial, insignificant, paltry, trifling: The young man arrested last night had committed a large number of petty crimes, like shoplifting. 2. stingy, mean, miserly: Some people are very generous to themselves but very petty when it comes to others. ant. 1. grand, vital, significant. 2. generous, bighearted.

phantom n. specter, ghost, apparition: The old man swore that he had seen a phantom who haunted the ghost town. adj. unreal; imaginary: He insisted that the ghost was a phantom cowboy who had been killed in a gunfight.

phase n. 1. stage, period, state: The Neanderthal was thought to be an early phase in the development of modern man. 2. aspect, side, view, condition: Each phase of the project should be handled by the person who knows most about it.

phenomenon n. 1. happening, occurrence, fact, incident: The fish that climbs trees in Borneo is a very strange phenomenon. 2. marvel, wonder: Anyone who can balance himself on only one finger is truly a phenomenon.

phlegmatic adj. lethargic, listless, sluggish, slow, lazy: Joan is too casual and phlegmatic about many important issues. ant. energetic.

phony adj. fake, counterfeit, false, bogus, forged: Hedwig's sincerity is as phony as a three-dollar bill. ant. genuine, real.

physical adj. 1. bodily, corporeal, corporal: I get a complete physical examination once a year. 2. real, material, natural: Man cannot fly—it's a physical impossibility. ant. 1. mental, spiritual.

pick vb. 1. choose, select: I was picked to represent our class at the annual spelling bee. 2. gather, harvest, reap, collect, pluck: Every autumn our family goes to an orchard where for a small fee you can pick all the apples you want. 3. steal, rob: My pocket was picked while I was in the bus. n. choice, selection; best, choicest: When Josie's dog had puppies, we were allowed the pick of the litter.

picture n. 1. painting, drawing, photograph, illustration: I love the pictures in my family album. 2. image, likeness, representation: Jean is the picture of health. 3. description, account: Try to give us a picture of the events of last Saturday. 4. movie, motion picture, film: We used to go to the pictures every Wednesday evening. vb. 1. describe, represent: In his story, the writer pictured a world where there was no evil. 2. imagine, conceive of: Can you picture yourself winning the Miss America contest?

piece n. quantity, unit, section, portion, part: How many pieces of candy did Betty eat last night?

piecemeal adv. partially, gradually: Instead of telling us the whole story at once, we had to drag the details out of George piecemeal. ant. entire, whole, complete.

pierce vb. 1. stab, perforate, puncture: Once you pierce the skin of the sausage with a fork, all the juices and fat run out. 2. affect, rouse, touch, move, excite, thrill: Cory's sad story about the death of her cat pierced our hearts.

pigheaded adj. stubborn, obstinate, inflexible: Fimkin refuses to negotiate a new contract, and I don't know why he's being so pigheaded.

pile n. heap, collection, accumulation: There's a pile of dirty clothes in the corner of your room and I want it taken away. vb. heap (up), collect, accumulate, amass, assemble: Please ask the men to pile that firewood near the woodshed. How could you have piled up so many traffic tickets in one day?

pilgrim n. traveler, wanderer: The knights met many pilgrims who were on their way to the holy land.

pilgrimage n. tour, journey, trip, expedition: I make an annual pilgrimage to the small town in Maine where I was born.

pillar n. column, shaft, support, prop: The roof of the ancient temple is held up by 24 marble pillars.

pillow n. cushion, pad, bolster: Sometimes, if your back is sore, it helps to sleep without a pillow.

pilot n. aviator; steersman, helmsman: My uncle was a fighter pilot in the Air Force. That's nothing; my father is a pilot on a transatlantic 747. vb. steer, guide: A man who knows the harbor waters was brought aboard to pilot the ocean liner up to the pier.

pin n. 1. fastening, fastener, clip, peg: A wooden pin was used to hold the door shut. 2. brooch, tiepin, stickpin, tie tack: Sandy's mother wore a diamond pin to the opera last night. vb. fasten, fix: After we finished the ice cream, we all played Pin the Tail on the Donkey.

pinch vb., n. nip, squeeze: Why do grownups all like to pinch children's cheeks? The pinch of these tight new shoes is more than I can stand.

pioneer n. pathfinder, explorer, guide; pilgrim, homesteader: The spread westward of American civilization was due chiefly to the early adventurous pioneers.

pious adj. devout, religious, reverent: A pious man, the farmer never overlooked his morning and evening prayers. ant. impious, irreligious, profane.

pirate n. buccaneer, corsair, privateer, freebooter, plunderer: Some books make pirates seem romantic, when in fact they were killers and thieves. vb. steal, rob, plagiarize: The novel sold very well in America, and soon it was pirated for publication in Taiwan.

pistol n. gun, handgun, automatic, revolver, six-gun, six-shooter; weapon: In England, the police do not carry pistols except under special conditions.

pit n. hole, cavity, hollow, well, excavation: In India they used to catch tigers alive by digging a huge, deep pit and covering it with leaves so that the animal would fall into it without seeing it.

pitch vb. 1. set up, establish: We pitched camp near the river. 2. throw, toss, fling, hurl: It was John's turn to pitch and he knew how to throw a curve. 3. plunge, rock: The huge ship was pitching like a matchbox in the typhoon. n. 1. throw, toss, hurl, cast: At the carnival we paid ten cents a pitch to see if we could get the rings around the bottles. 2. slant, angle, incline, grade: In countries where it snows a lot, the roofs of the houses have a very steep pitch.

pitcher n. jug, ewer: Mother put a pitcher of milk on the table.

pitfall n. trap, deadfall, snare: There are many pitfalls on the road to happiness.

pitiful adj. pitiable, pathetic, distressing, heart-rending: The vicious crocodile, now caught in the trap, gave out with a pitiful cry.

pitiless adj. un pitying, merciless, unmerciful, ruthless, mean, cruel, hard-hearted, stony-hearted: The pitiless headmasters of many schools in Victorian England beat their students regularly. ant. kind, kindly, gentle.

pity n. sympathy, compassion, charity, mercy, tenderheartedness, softheartedness: I feel so much pity for the animals in zoos that I want to set them free. vb. feel for, sympathize (with), commiserate (with): Pity the poor children elsewhere in the world, many of whom have nothing to eat. ant. n. cruelty, pitilessness, vindictiveness.

pivotal adj. central, focal, crucial, critical, essential: Pensions are a pivotal issue in the strike. ant. unimportant, peripheral, side.

place n. 1. space, plot, region, location, area, spot: There's a place I know where the sun always shines and the swimming is marvelous. 2. job, situation, duty, employment, position: Bill got a new place in another company as manager of the personnel department. 3. residence, home, house, dwelling: I love your new place, Anna! Too bad you can't afford to furnish it! vb. 1. put, set, arrange, locate: Place your hands on top of the table, palms up. 2. hire, engage, appoint: We placed three new people in the advertising department this month. 3. identify, connect: I know that face, but I just can't place it.

plague n. 1. pestilence, Black Death, epidemic: The plague in Europe in the Dark Ages killed about one quarter of the population. 2. trouble, vexation, nuisance, irritation: A plague of locusts destroyed almost the entire crop. vb. trouble, vex, annoy, irritate, pester: Financial troubles always plagued this family.

plain adj. 1. simple, undecorated, unembellished, ordinary, unadorned: Sophie was wearing a plain black dress with a shocking pink collar and cuffs. 2. homely, unattractive, Zeke married a plain girl whom he'd met in Oklahoma, but she soon became a movie star. 3. clear, understandable, unmistakable, obvious: I made it quite plain that Sue would not go out with anyone who drank or smoked. 4. candid, blunt, outspoken, frank, open, honest, sincere: If you don't mind some plain speaking, I'd like to know why you arrived home so late. n. plateau, mesa, prairie, steppe, savanna, tundra: The central plains of the United States are extensive farming areas. ant. adj. 1. fancy, elaborate, ornamented. 2. pretty, beautiful, comely. 3. disguised, hidden, unclear.

plan n. 1. plot, procedure, scheme, design, method: Donald outlined his plan for selling the school yearbook to local merchants. 2. drawing, floor plan, rendering, map, chart, diagram: When I checked the plan of the building I found the hidden passageways. vb. plot scheme, design, arrange, contrive: The engineers planned to build the plant near the river. If it's sunny on Saturday, we plan a picnic in the park.

plane n. 1. level: If you are going to be rude, then the plane of this conversation is too low for me. 2. airplane, aircraft, airliner: Tony just got off the plane from London.

plastic adj. 1. pliant, supple, moldable, pliable, flexible: Clay is a plastic substance that can be shaped into many forms. 2. synthetic: Plastic surfaces may not be as attractive as natural ones but they're easier to clean.

platform n. 1. dais, stage, pulpit: The primitive theater was nothing more than a raised platform on which the actors stood. 2. policies, principles: The politicians met to work out the party platform for the coming elections.

play n. 1. show, drama, performance, theatrical: Each year at Christmas our class put on a play for the rest of the school. 2. amusement, sport, entertainment, recreation, game, pastime: There is a time for work and a time for play, and play comes after work. 3. fun, frolic, jest: A pun is a play on words. vb. 1. act, perform, present, represent, impersonate: Randy played the part of the grandfather in our melodrama. 2. sport, frisk, romp, caper, frolic: After school was over, we all went out to play on the beach. 3. compete, participate, contend: My brother taught me how to play chess.

4. perform (on): I have a piano, in case anyone knows how to play. Can you play the harmonica? vb. phr. play ball collaborate, cooperate: If we can get the teacher to play ball, maybe we'll have shorter homework assignments. play down de-emphasize, minimize, belittle: If I were you, I would play down my experience as a pickpocket. play up emphasize; stress: You ought to play up your good points, like your ability to draw.

playful adj. frolicsome, frisky, sportive: John didn't mean to blacken your eye, he was just being playful.

plaything n. toy, game, gadget, trinket: Put away your playthings and straighten out your room. Philip didn't realize it, but they were using him as their plaything and taking advantage of his good nature.

playwright n. dramatist, dramaturge; scenarist; scriptwriter: G. B. Shaw was one of the great playwrights of this century.

plea n. 1. appeal, request, entreaty: Ted's plea for fair treatment by his teammates was sincere. 2. excuse, apology, answer, reply: My only plea for having given George the rifle was ignorance. 3. defense, pleading, case: The lawyer entered a plea of not guilty for his client.

plead vb. 1. beg, entreat, appeal: Sonia pleaded with her captors to let her go. 2. answer, declare, present: The man pleaded guilty to driving on the wrong side of the road.

pleasant adj. 1. enjoyable, nice, agreeable, pleasurable, satisfying, satisfactory, adequate, acceptable: We had a pleasant visit with my cousin, but it could have been much more fun. 2. affable, agreeable, charming, mild, amiable, friendly, personable, courteous: Fred's a pleasant enough fellow, but he's not my best friend. ant. horrid, disagreeable, sour, nasty, difficult.

please vb. 1. gratify, satisfy: It pleases me to think of my parents' getting a good rest from work. 2. desire, choose, wish: You may do as you please about going to the concert. ant. 1. displease, annoy, vex.

pleasing adj. pleasant, agreeable, charming, delightful, engaging: Doris has a pleasing manner that everyone likes. ant. irritating, annoying.

pleasure n. 1. delight, satisfaction, enjoyment, gladness, happiness, joy, well-being, gratification: Stefan gets a great deal of pleasure out of spending a day with his grandchildren. 2. luxury, indulgence: His pleasures are his greatest weakness. ant. 1. pain, discomfort, torment. 2. obligation, duty, responsibility.

pledge n. promise, agreement, commitment, oath: Ronnie gave his pledge to abide by the rules of the club if he became a member. vb. promise, agree; swear, vow: Timothy has pledged to help out at home after school.

plentiful adj. abundant, bountiful, fullness, fruitful, copious: The pioneers thanked God for a plentiful harvest during the first year. ant. scarce, rare, scanty.

plenty n. abundance, fullness, fruitfulness, bounty, plentifulness: If you examine what those in other countries have, America is the land of plenty. ant. need, want, scarcity.

plight n. difficulty, predicament, dilemma, situation, state, condition: Consider the plight of the orphan, who has no family to love him.

plot n. 1. plan, scheme, design, intrigue, conspiracy: Some think that the oil shortage is the result of an international plot. 2. story, theme, outline, thread: The acting in the movie was marvelous, but there was very little plot. vb. plan, scheme, design, contrive, conspire: The prisoners spent six months plotting their escape.

pluck vb. snatch, pull, jerk, yank: You have to pluck the feathers out of a chicken before cooking it, not after. n. courage, bravery, nerve, boldness, determination, spirit: It takes pluck to admit it when you've done something wrong.

plug n. stopper, cork, bung: She pulled out the plug and let all the water out of the bathtub. vb. stop (up), obstruct: The rust inside the pipes plugged up the whole system.

plump adj. chubby, fat, stout, portly, fleshy: Esmeralda has become quite plump from eating candy and drinking soda. ant. slim, thin, skinny.

plunder vb. rob, pillage, sack, ravage, strip, raid, loot: The conquering armies plundered the city till nothing of value remained. n. 1. booty, loot, spoils: The soldiers needed many wagons to carry off their plunder. 2. pillage, robbery, sacking, sack: The plunder of Troy lasted two months.

plunge vb. 1. submerge, dip, immerse: I plunged my burnt finger into the cool water. 2. dive, jump, rush: Davey plunged into the river to try to save the drowning girl. n. leap, dive, jump: We all took a plunge into the swimming pool before dinner.

pocketbook n. handbag, bag, purse; wallet: The thief who stole Maizie's pocketbook was caught by the floorwalker.

poem n. verse, poetry, lyric: "Evangeline" is one of the longest poems in the English language.

poetry n. verse; meter; rhyme: My brother-in-law writes poetry that doesn't rhyme.

point n. 1. locality, position, location, spot: Don has reached a point in his life where he doesn't want to waste time anymore. 2. aim, object, intent, purpose, idea: The point of my story is to show that you cannot afford to be dishonest. 3. meaning, import, drift: You don't get the point of the joke, do you? 4. cape, ness, promontory: We stood out on the point, near the lighthouse, watching the boats sail past. vb. 1. indicate, show, designate: The boy pointed to the place in the wall where the man had disappeared. 2. direct, guide, head, lead, steer; aim: I pointed the canoe homeward to arrive before sundown. Don't ever point a gun at anyone!

point-blank adv. directly, bluntly, explicitly, plainly: She told me point-blank that she didn't think it right for us to go on meeting in telephone booths. ant. indirectly, vaguely.

pointless adj. purposeless, vain: Jack's argument that starvation was a good way to lose weight was pointless.

poise n. 1. self-control, control, assurance, composure, dignity, carriage: Suzanne, although she's only 14, has the poise of a 21-year-old. 2. balance, steadiness, equilibrium: That acrobat on the high wire has unbelievable strength and poise. vb. balance; hesitate: The diver poised on the edge of the high platform before diving into the pool. ant. n. 1. indelicacy, coarseness, boorishness, ineptitude. 2. awkwardness, instability, uncertainty.

poison n. venom, virus, toxin, bane: Children should never be allowed to touch or use poison of any kind. The spitting cobra can project its poison more than 20 feet. vb. infect, contaminate, pollute: Exhaust fumes from cars poison the atmosphere in large cities.

poke n., vb. stab, thrust, jab, punch: When I teased Peter, he gave me a poke in the ribs. Don't poke that broom handle into the hornets' nest.

policy n. tactic, strategy, procedure, approach: system, rule, management: The government followed a policy that allowed employees to retire as early as 55 years of age.

polish vb. 1. shine, brighten: When you've finished making the beds, you may polish the silver. 2. refine, finish: The president polished his speech while he was on his way to the meeting. n. 1. gloss, shine, sheen, luster, brightness: The furniture has such a high polish that you can see yourself in it. 2. refinement, finish, elegance: The lady has excellent taste and polish. ant. vb. 1. dull, tarnish.

polite adj. courteous, thoughtful, mannerly, considerate, cordial, respectful: One should always be polite to his elders.
ant. rude, discourteous, uncivil.

pollute vb. contaminate, dirty, befoul, taint: The waters near large cities are usually polluted by sewage wastes. ant. clean, purify, clarify.

pompous adj. vain, arrogant, stuffy, pretentious, self-important: Ever since old Copperhead was elected to the club, he's been behaving like a pompous fool. ant. humble.

ponder vb. weigh, consider, study, reflect, deliberate, think, contemplate: I have spent many hours pondering over the best way to bring up children.

ponderous adj. heavy, weighty: Everyone was so light-hearted at the party till Postlethwaite arrived with his ponderous political arguments. ant. light.

poor adj. 1. impoverished, poverty-stricken, needy, indigent, destitute, penniless, hard up: There are many more poor people in India than in all the western countries combined. 2. bad, substandard, faulty, inferior, worthless: The machinery made in this factory is of such poor quality that no one wants it. 3. unfortunate, unlucky, doomed, luckless, unhappy, miserable, pitiful, pitiable: After the man's wife went away, the poor fellow just didn't know what to do. ant. 1. rich, wealthy, well-heeled, prosperous. 2. good, excellent. 3. lucky, fortunate.

popycock n. nonsense, twaddle, gibberish, rubbish, babble: Surely, you don't believe Jennifer's popycock about sailing round the world single-handed!

popular adj. 1. well-liked, well-thought-of, approved, accepted, favorite, celebrated, admired, famous: Jack Benny was once one of the most popular comedians in America. 2. common, general, familiar, ordinary, current, prevailing: The popular view of the scholar is of someone out of touch with the world, buried in books.

populous adj. thronged, crowded, teeming, dense: Tokyo is one of the most populous cities in the world.

porch n. veranda, patio: On warm summer evenings, the family used to sit out on the porch, greeting friends who came to visit.

port n. harbor, haven, anchorage, refuge: As all sailors know, any port is welcome in a storm.

portable adj. movable, transportable; handy: Putting a handle on top of this TV set isn't enough to make it portable—I can't even lift it!

portend vb. foretoken, presage, foreshadow: The dark clouds gathering on the horizon portended a storm.

portentous adj. momentous, significant, critical: The cabinet is about to make a portentous decision regarding the conduct of the war. ant. trivial.

portion n. 1. share, part, allotment, quota, section, segment: The city receives only a portion of the taxes paid to the state by its residents. 2. serving: Tom ate three portions of apple pie with ice cream after that big dinner. vb. apportion, allot, distribute, deal out: The profits from the sale were portioned out to us.

portly adj. 1. dignified, grand, impressive, majestic: The countess was a portly dowager in her seventies who was crazy about hot dogs. 2. corpulent, stout, fat, heavy, obese: The man buying that green suit ought to choose a darker color because he's so portly. ant. 2. slim, thin, slender.

portrait n. picture, likeness, representation; painting: A portrait of Alexander Hamilton hangs in the National Gallery.

portray vb. represent, depict, picture: The painting portrayed a man riding a horse. Penelope portrays a very old lady in the school play.

pose vb. 1. model, sit: When Janet was a student, she made money posing for fashion ads. 2. pretend, feign, act: Donald posed as an expert on computers, but he'd never even seen one. 3. assert, state, set forth: Getting an elephant for a pet poses the problem of how to feed it. n. posture, position, attitude: If you take a pose so that your face is in the light, I can get a much better photograph.

position n. 1. location, place, station, spot, locality, site: The position of that building causes it to block our sunlight during the summer. 2. condition, situation, state, status: What is the postmaster's position in a small community compared with that in a large city? 3. job, employment, place, situation, office, occupation: Raquel just got a very good position in the printing company. 4. posture, pose, deportment, bearing: Your telling my wife about that party we attended has put me in an awkward position. For how long can you maintain that position of standing on one leg? 5. belief, view, attitude, opinion: My position is that the teachers ought to be paid as much as the government can afford. vb. place, situate, put, locate: The painting must be carefully positioned in the frame for the best effect.

positive adj. 1. clear, definite, sure, certain, direct, unmistakable: We gave the tourists positive directions on how to get there, but they got lost. 2. sure, certain, definite, obstinate: Betty was positive that Jim had said to meet him at 8:00 o'clock. 3. practical, real, beneficial: I want to see some positive effects before I approve another test of this plane. ant. 1., 2. unsure, dubious, mixed-up, confused. 3. negative, adverse.

positively adv. absolutely, certainly, unquestionably, surely: The witness testified that Wayne was positively the last man to leave the theater that evening.

possess vb. 1. have, own, hold: Everything Tim possesses can fit into his one small knapsack. 2. occupy, control, hold: This small country possessed many colonies rich in natural resources. Dave was possessed by a fit of laughter.

possessed adj. haunted, enchanted, entranced, obsessed; consumed: Knoedelwasser attacked the eggplant like a man possessed.

possession n. 1. ownership, occupancy, custody: The sheriff disputed our possession of the vacant house in the woods. 2. property: That fountain pen is one of my prized possessions.

possible adj. practical, practicable, doable, feasible: It's possible that Sonja won the Olympic gold medal for pole vaulting, but it isn't very probable.

possibly adv. maybe, perhaps, perchance: If Grumble can run the mile in 3.34 minutes, he is possibly the fastest man on earth.

post n. 1. shaft, column, pole, pillar: We built a birdhouse and put it on top of a tall post in the garden. 2. job, position, office: Donna's father was appointed to an important post in the embassy. 3. position, station, location: The sentry didn't leave his post to investigate the eerie noises. 4. fort, camp, base: The soldiers from the nearby post came into town on Saturday nights to have a good time. vb. 1. mail: The letter I posted last evening in New York arrived in Dubuque this morning. 2. assign, station, position: There were two guards posted at the gate.

postpone vb. delay, defer, put off: The coach's decision about who was going to play in the big game was postponed till after exam week.

pot n. saucepan, kettle, vessel: That pot won't be big enough for cooking all the spaghetti.

potent adj. powerful, strong, mighty; influential, convincing, effective: Penicillin is a potent medicine. The President gave some potent arguments for higher taxes in his speech. ant. impotent, weak, powerless, feeble.

potential adj. 1. possible; likely: Ken is a potential member of the varsity swimming team. 2. latent, hidden, dormant: The potential energy of the hydrogen atom is unbelievably great. n. potentiality, capacity, ability: Renee has good potential as a soprano.

pouch n. sack, bag; container: Johnny Appleseed always carried with him a pouch filled with apple seeds.

pound vb. beat, strike, hit: The senator kept pounding on his desk with his shoe.

pour vb. flow: The water pours from that spout into the barrel every time it rains.

pout vb. sulk, brood, mope: Oh, stop pouting in the corner and come join the fun!

poverty n. 1. need, want, indigence, destitution, distress, pennilessness: Many of Dickens' characters lived in the worst of poverty in nineteenth-century England. 2. scarcity, lack, scantiness, scarceness: Comic books may be fun to read sometimes, but they suffer from a poverty of expression. ant. 1. wealth, richness, comfort. 2. abundance, fruitfulness.

power n. 1. ability, capability: It isn't within my power to grant you permission to stay home from school. 2. force, energy, strength, might, vigor: It takes a lot of power to hit a baseball over the fence for a home run. 3. authority, command, control, rule, sovereignty: When the Democrats came into power, they passed many laws dealing with restoring a healthy environment.

powerful adj. 1. strong, mighty, potent: The blacksmith was a huge, powerful man who could lift an anvil with one hand. 2. influential, effective, convincing: The FBI is a powerful arm of law enforcement of the U.S. government. ant. 1. weak, powerless. 2. ineffectual.

practical adj. possible, workable, doable, achievable, attainable: The most practical way to get the job done is to hire qualified people to do it. ant. impractical, visionary.

practically adv. nearly, almost: I was practically there when the cable broke, and the chasm yawned below, ready to swallow me up.

practice n. 1. habit, custom, usage, tradition: Breaking a bottle over the bow of a ship at its launching is a well-established practice. 2. operation, action, performance: Your theory sounds fine, but how can it be reduced to practice? 3. exercise, drill, repetition: Practice makes perfect. vb. 1. exercise, drill, repeat: If you practice, they may let you play the piano in the school orchestra instead of the kazoo. 2. observe, follow, pursue: You should practice what you preach. 3. do, exercise, work at; function: My uncle practices medicine in Kalamazoo.

practiced adj. skilled, adept, expert, able: Sophie is a practiced violinist. ant. inept.

prairie n. grassland, plain, steppe, savanna: It took the pioneers many days to cross the prairie in covered wagons, which were also called "prairie schooners."

praise vb. commend, laud, applaud, admire, celebrate: Fran's dog was very pleased when she praised him for doing a trick correctly. n. commendation, compliment, approval, kudos: Praise from one's friends is often more valued than praise from one's parents. ant. vb. disapprove, condemn, criticize. n. criticism, negation.

pray vb. beseech, beg, entreat, supplicate, importune: It makes no difference how hard you pray or whom you pray to, only studying hard will help you pass that examination.

prayer n. request, appeal, entreaty: Do you say your prayers before going to bed each night?

preach vb. moralize, lecture, teach; urge: Tony's grandfather preached in the Midwest, trying to make sinners reform.

precaution n. forethought, care, foresight, prudence: As a precaution, you should always close the cover of a matchbook before striking a match.

precedence n. priority, preference: What others wish should sometimes take precedence over what you wish to do.

precedent n. example, criterion, model: Allowing Cory to go home early may set a precedent that will prove hard to follow.

precious adj. 1. valuable, costly, priceless, expensive, dear: Jewelers today have only fake jewelry in their shop windows: the precious jewelry is kept in the safe. 2. beloved, dear, cherished, favorite: The memory of the masked ball is so precious to Phoebe that she'll never forget it.

precipice n. cliff, bluff, crag: The car hung, balanced at the edge of the precipice above the valley below.

precipitate adj. sudden, swift, hasty, speedy: We had to make a precipitate decision, for the tree was about to fall. ant. considered, gradual.

precipitous adj. steep, abrupt, sharp: At the end of the trail, the explorers came to a precipitous wall of rock, 1,000 feet high.

precise adj. 1. definite, exact, well-defined: The pirates gave me a precise description of where I could find the buried treasure. 2. rigid, stiff, inflexible, careful, severe: Only precise adherence to the rules is tolerated in this school.

precisely adv. exactly, specifically: From her tone of voice, we could tell that the teacher meant precisely what she said.

precision n. exactness, accuracy, correctness: The navy flyers kept the fighter planes in formation with amazing precision.

predicament n. quandary, dilemma: Here was a predicament: If I wanted a hot dog, I had to give up my ice cream.

predict vb. foretell, prophesy, forecast: No one can predict the future.

prediction n. prophecy, forecast: Have you heard the weather prediction for tomorrow?

predominant adj. prevalent, dominant, prevailing: The predominant majority has voted that all children should get free passes to the movies. ant. secondary, accessory.

predominate vb. outweigh, prevail, rule: The votes in favor of taking a vacation in the mountains predominated over those favoring a beach holiday.

preface n. introduction, foreword, prelude, preliminary, preamble, prologue: To find out what an author has in mind, it's a good idea to read the prefaces of books. vb. precede, introduce, begin: The speaker prefaced his remarks with some jokes that put everyone at ease.

prefer vb. favor, select, elect, fancy: I prefer chocolate ice cream to vanilla.

preference n. choice, selection, option, election, decision, pick: If I were to have a preference, I should like to move second at checkers.

prejudice n. favoritism, bias, partiality, unfairness: He has a strong prejudice against people who make up their minds without weighing both sides of the question. vb. influence, convince, bias, warp: If everyone claims to be prejudiced in favor of peace, why do we have wars?

preliminary adj. preparatory, introductory: Before you start recording the program, I'd like to make some preliminary remarks. n. introduction, preface, prelude: Now that the preliminaries are over, let's get down to business.

premature adj. untimely, early, unexpected: Because of my premature return home from the theater, I surprised a burglar in the cellar. ant. timely.

preoccupied adj. distracted, absorbed, inattentive, meditative: Irene was too preoccupied to notice that the train had already passed her stop. ant. alert, aware, conscious.

- prepare vb. ready, arrange, plan (for): The two brothers had prepared dinner as a surprise for their mother.
- prerequisite n. requirement, essential, necessity; demand, condition: The only prerequisites for membership in my club are an IQ of over 150, red hair, ability to play the zither, and knowledge by heart of the Koran.
- prescribe vb. direct, designate, order: The doctor prescribed two of these tablets every four hours.
- presence n. 1. attendance: Samuel's presence at the meeting will be important to its success. 2. nearness, vicinity, closeness: Please don't use such language in my presence. 3. bearing, personality, appearance: The king of Madagascar was a man of tremendous presence. ant. 1. absence.
- present¹ adj. 1. existing, current; being: The present membership of the club is 25. 2. here, attending; near, nearby: If you hear your name called, please answer "Present."
- present² vb. 1. give, donate, grant: The retiring employee was presented with a gold watch. 2. introduce, acquaint: May I present my cousin, Ebenezer Gluck? 3. show, display, exhibit, offer, furnish: Please present your tickets to the person at the door to the theater. n. gift, donation, gratuity, tip, largess: Toby received more presents for his birthday than anyone I know.
- presentable adj. well-bred, polite, well-mannered, respectable: Vinnie is presentable enough, but I don't think my daughter ought to marry him.
- presently adv. soon, shortly, right away, directly, immediately: The doctor will see you presently.
- preserve vb. 1. keep, maintain, conserve, save: Preserve your energy for the next race. 2. can, conserve, cure, salt, pickle: All of the vegetables we don't eat fresh we preserve and eat during the winter. ant. 1. squander, waste, use.
- preside vb. direct, officiate, administrate: Elena was asked to preside at the conference on terrorism.
- press vb. 1. push: Press the button and the elevator will come. 2. squeeze, compress: After the grapes have been pressed, the skins and pulp are used to make brandy. 3. embrace, hug, clasp: Suzie pressed the shivering kitten to her bosom. 4. iron, smooth, finish, mangle: Do you think you can press this skirt for me? 5. urge, insist on: If I press you, would you be able to buy something for me if you go to the city? 6. push, crush, crowd: So many people pressed into the subway car that I could hardly breathe. n. 1. pressure, urgency: The press of business is so great that I cannot plan a

- vacation from the city.* 2. the Fourth Estate; journalists, reporters, newsreporters: The President gave a full briefing to the press before going into the meeting.
- prestige n. reputation, importance, influence, weight, distinction; renown, fame: Sandra's father and mother have a great deal of prestige in the community.
- presume vb. suppose, assume, believe, take for granted: Since you're wearing your bathing suit, I presume you are going swimming.
- presumption n. supposition, assumption, guess: Your presumption that I am going out just because you see me wearing a hat happens to be false.
- presumptuous adj. impertinent, bold, impudent, fresh, rude, arrogant, forward: It was very presumptuous of you to comment on the teacher's hairdo.
- pretend vb. 1. imagine, make believe: Let's pretend that you are a knight and I a damsel in distress. 2. falsify, fake, simulate, feign: Don't try to pretend that you didn't know you were absent from school yesterday.
- pretense n. 1. deceit, falsification, fabrication. Tom made a pretense of trying to appear innocent. 2. lie, falsehood, deception: Your story about going to the movies was nothing but pretense.
- pretentious adj. ostentatious, show-off, gaudy: I still say that wearing an academic cap and gown to his daughter's grammar-school commencement was very pretentious. ant. humble, simple.
- pretty adj. attractive, comely, fair; lovely, beautiful: Willie used to be such a pretty child. ant. plain, homely, ugly.
- prevail vb. 1. predominate: The minimum wage that now prevails is $2.50 per hour for most workers. 2. succeed, win, triumph: Even though the forces of evil may seem to have the upper hand, in the end good will prevail. ant. 2. lose, yield.
- prevailing adj. current, common, habitual, general, regular, steady, universal: The prevailing opinion among the strikers was to accept the company's offer. In the Caribbean, the prevailing winds are from the east.
- prevalent adj. common, prevailing, widespread, extensive: After the earthquake, looting of shops was prevalent in the city. ant. rare, infrequent.
- prevent vb. block, stop, thwart, halt, check, interrupt, obstruct, retard, hinder, slow, deter, inhibit: I was prevented from entering the building by the police. ant. help, abet, allow.

previous adj. prior, earlier, former: The colonel's previous order was to attack, but he has now decided to retreat. ant. later, following, subsequent.

prey n. victim: The rabbit was easy prey for the bobcat. vb. prey on, victimize; seize, raid: There was a band of thugs in the hills that preyed on the villages for food.

price n. cost, charge, expense, value: The price of food in Britain has risen almost 25 percent in the past months. vb. value, rate: We shall have to price all these goods before putting them out for sale.

pride n. 1. conceit, vanity, arrogance, self-importance, egotism, pretension: John is so swelled up with pride over his new job that I think he'll burst. 2. self-respect, satisfaction: Stephanie has too much pride to ask her family for money, so she works. 3. enjoyment, fulfillment, satisfaction: Dick takes so much pride in his vegetable garden each summer. ant. 1. humility, humbleness.

prim adj. strait-laced, formal, priggish, puritanical, prudish: Gordon was so prim that he never allowed anyone to say "Golly" in his presence.

primarily adv. chiefly, mainly, essentially, firstly, originally: This book is intended primarily for young people. ant. secondarily.

primary adj. 1. chief, main, principal: My primary purpose in being here is to help you learn. 2. first, earliest, prime, original: Our primary consideration should be the safety of the participants in the race. 3. elementary, basic, fundamental, beginning; grammar: Primary-school education usually lasts for six years. ant. 1., 2. secondary.

prime adj. 1. primary; first; chief: The prime effect of education is to teach understanding rather than just knowledge. 2. best, top-grade, superior, excellent: I wish I could bite into a prime sirloin steak, medium-rare, right this minute. vb. ready, prepare: I wasn't primed to leave tonight and need a day or so to get my things together.

primitive adj. 1. prehistoric, primeval: In primitive societies, the men went out to hunt and the women stayed home. 2. uncivilized, uncultured, unsophisticated, simple, rough, rude, brutish: Why is it that so many children today have such primitive table manners? ant. 2. cultured, sophisticated, cultivated.

principal adj. chief, main, leading, prime, first, essential, primary: The principal problem lies in selecting the right people to do the job. n. chief, head, leader; headmaster, dean: The board of education appointed a new principal to the high school. ant. adj. secondary, accessory.

principle n. 1. rule, standard, law: The cafeteria operates on the principle of first come, first served. 2. theorem, law, axiom, proposition: Democratic government was founded on the principle that all men have equal rights. 3. honesty, uprightness, virtue, goodness: My father was a man of very high principles.

print vb. 1. issue, publish; reissue, reprint: We printed 2000 copies of the yearbook. 2. letter, block-print: Please print your name legibly at the top of the sheet of paper. 3. develop; enlarge: I had the pictures printed on glossy paper. n. 1. mark, fingerprint, sign: The detectives found three identifiable prints on the door leading to the bedroom. 2. type, letters, printing: Make sure you read the fine print at the end of the contract before signing it. 3. copy, lithograph, picture, photograph, etching, engraving: The New York Public Library has a fine collection of prints by famous artists.

prior adj. earlier, sooner, preceding: I'm sorry I can't come to your party, but I have a prior engagement. ant. subsequent, later.

prison n. jail, penitentiary, stockade, brig: The convicted criminal was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

private adj. 1. personal, individual; special, particular: What I have in my bank account is my own private business. 2. secret, confidential, hidden: The congressman made his views known in a private communication to this reporter. ant. 1. public, general.

privilege n. freedom, liberty, permission, right, advantage: What gives Manny the privilege to turn in his homework late every week?

prize n. reward, award, premium, bounty, bonus: The company gives a yearly prize for the best suggestion made by an employee. vb. value, esteem; estimate, rate: Don's judgment is highly prized by the directors of the company. ant. vb. undervalue, disregard.

probable adj. likely, presumable: It's very probable that Ken will receive the mathematics award this year.

probe vb. examine, investigate, inquire, scrutinize, explore: The committee was established to probe campaign donations. n. examination, investigation, inquiry, scrutiny, exploration: The probe of senators' bank accounts revealed nothing of an illegal nature.

problem n. 1. difficulty, predicament, dilemma: A problem has arisen in connection with my tax refund, causing a month's delay. 2. question; puzzle, riddle: I couldn't do the last problem on the math exam.

procedure n. operation, conduct, management, process, method, system: What procedure should I follow to apply for an income tax refund?

proceed vb. 1. move ahead or on, go on, progress, continue: Let us now proceed to the next house and interview the people there. 2. result, issue, spring, emanate: The next step in the operation will proceed from the last one. ant. 1. withdraw, retreat.

proceedings n. pl. record, account, annal, document: The proceedings of the annual meeting were published in a large volume.

proceeds n. pl. income, reward, intake, profit, return, yield: Tom puts the proceeds from his investments into a savings bank.

process n. course; procedure, method, system, operation: In the process of saving the puppy, I lost my glasses. The scientist developed a new process for refining iron ore. vb. treat, prepare: George's father is the man who invented the technique for processing wood into paper.

procession n. parade, cavalcade, train: I sat in the doctor's waiting room, watching a procession of people go in ahead of me.

proclaim vb. announce, advertise, declare, publish: The President has proclaimed the week beginning June 9 as National Prune Week.

proclamation n. announcement, declaration; promulgation: The dictator issued a proclamation saying that everyone must be off the streets by 9:00 P.M.

procrastinate vb. vacillate, hesitate, waver, (informal) stall, delay; defer, postpone: You must stop procrastinating—either cross on the green or wait till the next light.

procure vb. get, obtain, win, secure, gain, acquire: You should be able to procure that book at your local public library.

prod vb. nudge, goad, push, jab: The cattle move a lot faster when prodded by a jolt of electricity.

produce vb. 1. bear, bring forth, yield, supply, give: A ewe rarely produces twin lambs. 2. create, make, originate, generate, occasion, bring about, give rise to, cause: The utility company produces energy from an atomic reactor. 3. show, exhibit, present, display, demonstrate: The judge said that we had to produce proof of damages in order to have a valid suit. n. product, production, fruits, crops, harvest: We buy all the produce for the restaurant directly from the farmers to ensure freshness.

product n. 1. result, outcome, output, produce: The product of all that hard work is my not worrying about earning a living in my old age. 2. goods, stock, commodity, merchandise: American stores once refused to sell any products manufactured in Germany.

productive adj. fertile, fruitful, rich; creative: The soil on our farm is no longer productive. Patrick's productive imagination is always yielding new ideas for projects. ant. wasteful, useless.

profess vb. declare, state, avow: Ricky professes to know more about chemistry than the teacher.

profession n. occupation, calling, vocation, employment: Medicine, law, and teaching are professions but carpentry, plumbing, and boatbuilding are trades. ant. avocation, hobby, pastime.

profit n. 1. gain, return, earnings: If I buy something for $10, sell it for $20, and have expenses of $5, my profit is $5. 2. advantage, benefit, gain, improvement: I can't see any profit in continuing this dispute. vb. gain, benefit, improve, better: It doesn't profit you to say bad things about others. ant. n. 1. loss, debit. vb. lose.

profitable adj. gainful, beneficial, favorable, productive, useful, lucrative: Even a fool knows that buying dear and selling cheap is not profitable. The corner grocery store was profitable enough to support the entire family.

profound adj. deep, solemn, serious; wise, knowing, knowledgeable, intelligent, learned: There is a profound difference between effort and success. The professor gave such a profound speech that no one understood it. ant. shallow, superficial.

program n. schedule, record, plan, calendar, agenda: There was a full program of activities for the three-day meeting.

progress n. advance, advancement, movement, improvement, development: The doctor was pleased to see that I was making considerable progress toward recovery. vb. advance, improve, proceed, develop: If Frank continues to progress in his studies, he may graduate early. ant. n. regression. vb. regress, backslide.

prohibit vb. 1. forbid, disallow, ban: The fire laws prohibit smoking in elevators. 2. prevent, obstruct, stop, hinder: A sprained ankle prohibits Jane from walking any faster. ant.

1. allow, permit. 2. help, encourage.

prohibition n. ban, prevention, restriction, embargo: The authorities issued a prohibition on the import of cigarettes. ant. permission, allowance.

prohibitive adj. restrictive, forbidding: The price on this dress is prohibitive.

project n. 1. plan, proposal, outline, scheme, design: Your project for the new shopping center must pass the zoning board for approval. 2. activity, homework: The children are going to construct a model Indian village as a home-room project. vb. 1. propose, plan, outline, design, scheme: How much time do you project will be required to clear the land for the building? 2. cast, throw: The image from the film was projected onto the screen. 3. protrude, bulge, extend: The corner of the table projects too far to allow the door to be closed.

prolific adj. fruitful, fertile, productive: This university has always been a prolific source of engineers. ant. sterile.

prolong vb. lengthen, extend, increase: If you prolong the schedule one more day we shall miss the plane.

prominent adj. 1. well-known, famous, noted, notable, noteworthy, important, eminent, distinguished, leading, celebrated: A prominent scientist had been invited to give our commencement address. 2. noticeable, obvious, conspicuous: The error in the statistics was too prominent to be ignored. ant. insignificant, unimportant.

promise n. assurance, pledge, oath, vow, word: The manager gave his promise that our new dishwasher would be repaired. vb. pledge, vow, assure, swear: You promised that we could go to the movies if we finished all our homework.

promote vb. 1. advance, further, support, help, aid, assist: To promote the sale of the vacuum cleaners, the store offered a week's free trial. 2. raise, elevate, advance: Vickie was so proud when her father was promoted to foreman of the whole factory.

prompt adj. timely, punctual: The fireman's prompt action saved the lives of three elderly ladies. Please try to be more prompt at the dinner table. vb. 1. urge, arouse, incite: Your reminder prompted me to phone to ask if you could come to dinner. 2. hint, suggest, propose, mention: I don't need you to prompt me about buying flowers for my mother's birthday. ant. adj. laggardly, tardy, late.

prone adj. inclined, apt, likely, disposed, predisposed: Jacques is not prone to giving his opinion unless asked. ant. unlikely.

pronounce vb. 1. utter, proclaim, announce: The minister said, "I now pronounce you man and wife." 2. articulate, utter, enunciate: When he was about nine, Eugene had difficulty pronouncing the letter "L."

pronounced adj. definite, clear, noticeable: There is a pronounced difference between parsnips and turnips. ant. indistinguishable, minor, unnoticeable.

proof n. 1. evidence, demonstration, testimony, confirmation: The man accused of the crime offered proof that he was 1,000 miles away when it was committed. 2. test, trial: The proof of the pudding is in the eating. adj. protected, impenetrable, impervious: This thick plastic is proof against bullets.

proper adj. 1. suitable, correct, fitting, just: I think that making children who write on walls clean them off is proper punishment. 2. polite, well-mannered, decent: When she's around grown-ups, Natalie is always very proper.

property n. 1. belongings, possession, possessions, effects: Please remove all personal property from your lockers at the end of the school term. 2. land, real estate, acreage, tract: My uncle just bought a large piece of property in Kansas.

prophecy n. prediction, augury: Your prophecy that I would fail my Latin course didn't come true—I got an A.

prophesy vb. predict, foretell, divine, augur: The fortuneteller prophesied that we would be wealthy by Christmas.

prophet n. oracle, fortuneteller, forecaster, seer, clairvoyant, soothsayer: If you predict sunshine and we have a hurricane, I'd say you're a pretty poor prophet.

propitious adj. advantageous, opportune, favorable, promising: Your call is most propitious at this moment, Carbotte, for we have a job we'd like you to take care of. ant. inopportune, inappropriate.

proportion n. 1. relation, comparison, balance: You must be careful to mix the ingredients in the correct proportion or you won't get an edible cake. 2. part, section, share, piece: What proportion of the interest in the company do you think the investors have? vb. adjust, balance, arrange: The club members proportioned the work among themselves.

proposal n. 1. offer, suggestion: I think we ought to accept Ted's proposal and let him donate space for the sale. 2. program, scheme, plan: The company accepted our proposal, and we'll soon have the contract to build the ship.

propose vb. 1. present, offer, tender, recommend, suggest: The union proposed a settlement that would give each employee a 20 percent raise. 2. plan, intend, expect, mean: How do you propose to climb up the face of a sheer cliff 500 feet high?

proprietor n. owner, manager; businesswoman, businessman: I shall speak to the proprietor about the poor service in this shop.

prosaic adj. common, commonplace, ordinary, everyday, routine: Fleabury leads a prosaic existence now that he has retired from being a spy for Spivonia. ant. different, exciting, extraordinary.

proscribe vb. ban, forbid, disallow, prohibit: Smoking cigars and pipes is proscribed on airplanes, but they say nothing about hookahs. ant. allow, permit.

prospect n. 1. expectation, anticipation: Your job prospects won't be very good if you don't complete your education. 2. buyer, candidate: Dan's father will be entertaining two business prospects at dinner tonight. vb. search, explore, dig: Last summer we went prospecting for gold, but we didn't find any.

prospective adj. proposed, planned, hoped-for: Susan's prospective employer phoned to say that the job had been filled.

prosper vb. succeed, thrive, rise, flourish: During the summer, George's business prospered, and he was able to buy a new truck. ant. wane, fail.

prosperous adj. wealthy, well-off, rich, thriving, flourishing, well-to-do: There are many prosperous business people who live in our community. ant. poor, impoverished.

prostrate adj. supine, prone, recumbent; overcome, overwhelmed, crushed: Kitty was prostrate with grief over the escape of her pet mouse, Minnie.

protect vb. shield, guard, defend: If you want to live alone in a city apartment, you should get a dog to protect yourself.

protection n. 1. guard, security, shield, safety: The shed provided protection against the rain. That small dog won't give you much protection against burglars. 2. assurance, safeguard: You don't carry enough insurance to provide protection in case of illness.

protest n. objection, complaint; opposition, disagreement: Our protest against the way children were treated had no effect on our parents. vb. object, complain: If you didn't protest about the conditions here, no one would do anything to improve them. ant. n. approval, assent. vb. approve, assent.

protuberance n. projection, prominence, bulge, swelling, protrusion: Jimmy Durante had a protuberance at the front of his head that could not properly be called a nose.

proud adj. 1. prideful, egotistical, conceited, vain: Vickie is too proud to admit that she sometimes gets help with her homework. 2. arrogant, haughty, self-important, snooty: The people next door are too proud to have anything to do with us. 3. honorable, high-minded, dignified: We respect the proud heritage of America.

prove vb. 1. show, demonstrate, confirm, verify, affirm: If that ring is pure gold, you'll have to prove it to me. 2. test, examine, try: Now that you have the answer, prove it by substituting that value in the formula.

proverb n. saying, adage, maxim, byword: "A penny saved is a penny earned" is a good proverb, in spite of inflation.

proverbial adj. well-known, common, general: Scrooge's stinginess is proverbial.

provide vb. supply, furnish, equip, give, bestow: The army provides you with a uniform when you join—you don't have to buy one.

provision n. arrangement, condition: Provision was made in our agreement in case one of us failed to keep the bargain.

provisions n. pl. store, supplies, stock: We have enough provisions to last us only till the end of the week.

provoke vb. 1. bother, vex, irritate, annoy, irk, anger, enrage: Don't provoke me any more or I won't let you go to the game on Saturday. 2. cause, occasion, bring about: The articles in the newspaper provoked many senators to vote for the antipollution bill.

prowl vb. slink, sneak, lurk: The police caught a man prowling around behind our house last night.

proximity n. nearness; vicinity, neighborhood: Its proximity to the airport makes this a very noisy house.

prudence n. 1. carefulness, care, caution, tact: By remaining silent on the war issue, Tom exercised good judgment and prudence. 2. wisdom, judgment, foresight, common sense: Don showed prudence in not asking the teacher a lot of silly questions. ant. rashness, recklessness, foolishness.

prudent adj. 1. wise, discreet, careful, sensible: You should be more prudent in what you say to others lest you hurt their feelings. 2. provident, reasonable: When I want advice on prudent investments, I ask someone who knows. ant. 1. rash, reckless, foolish, foolhardy.

prudish n. See prim.

- pry vb. peep, peer, peek, meddle: You're always prying into other people's affairs.
- public n. society, people: The public has a right to know about the workings of government. adj. 1. common; governmental, municipal, civil, federal: This is a public park and I have every right to be in it. 2. free: I went to a public high school. ant. adj. private.
- publish vb. 1. issue, distribute, bring out: During his career, Alfred published many worthwhile works of literature. 2. announce, declare, proclaim, disclose, reveal, publicize: The state lottery commission publishes the winners' names each week.
- pull vb. drag, draw: You seldom see a horse pulling a wagon anymore. vb. phr. pull apart separate, divide: The referee couldn't pull the wrestlers apart. pull away leave, depart: Just as I arrived, I saw the train pulling away. pull down wreck, destroy, raze: The company is going to pull down the old factory. pull off remove: I pulled off my burning clothes and dived into the water. pull out leave, depart: The bus pulls out at midnight. pull through survive, recover: James has had a serious illness, but the doctor said he'll pull through all right. pull up stop: I pulled up at the traffic light, waiting for it to change to green. n. 1. wrench, jerk; haul, tow: I gave a hard pull and the handle came off. 2. informal. influence, weight: David's father has a lot of pull in this town.
- punctual adj. prompt, timely, on time: Please try to be punctual in arriving for work in the morning. ant. tardy, late, laggardly.
- punish vb. discipline, chasten, castigate, reprove, lecture, scold: The worst feeling is being punished for something you didn't do. ant. reward.
- puny adj. weak, feeble, frail; unimportant, trivial: Filbert is far too puny to fight Morris. Humbert's argument in favor of pollution was so puny that it was easily defeated in the council.
- pupil n. student, learner; undergraduate: My Latin class has only three pupils in it.
- purchase vb. buy, obtain, get, acquire, procure: We drove into the village once a week to purchase groceries and other supplies. n. buying, shopping, acquisition: Ernest made two purchases in the hardware store.
- pure adj. 1. unmixed, genuine, simple, undiluted: This sweater is made of pure wool. 2. spotless, untainted, clean, uncon-

- taminated, unpolluted: The spring gave abundant pure water. 3. innocent, good, chaste, virtuous: The priest led a completely pure existence. ant. 1. adulterated, mixed. 2. dirty, foul, tainted. 3. immoral, licentious.
- purely adv. completely, entirely, totally: Fred's comment was purely intended to be complimentary, not sarcastic.
- puritanical adj. strait-laced, stiff, prim: The puritanical members of the legislature would never pass a bill lowering the drinking age below 21. ant. permissive.
- purpose n. 1. intention, intent, object, end, aim, objective, goal: My purpose in life is to help people learn as much as possible about the English language. 2. use, application: What is the purpose of this device? n. phr. on purpose intentionally, deliberately: You stepped on my toe on purpose!
- pursue vb. follow, chase, hound, track: The police pursued the fugitive through three states.
- pursuit n. chase, hunt: The pursuit of the fox led us deep into the forest.
- push vb. 1. force, shove, thrust: Kim pushed a pencil through the hole in the wall. 2. press, shove: The crowd pushed me right back onto the train I had just left.
- put vb. 1. place, set: Please put the tray down on the table. 2. attach, establish, assign: Don't put too much emphasis on how much money your friends have. 3. express, state, say: It wasn't so much what George said as how he put it that was so clever. vb. phr. put aside save, keep: My mother always put a little money aside for a rainy day. put away 1. save, set aside, store: I had a little bit put away for your birthday. 2. commit: That crazy old man ought to be put away. put down defeat, repress: You really put that fellow down when he tried to insult you. put off 1. delay, postpone: Don't put off till tomorrow what you can do today. 2. disconcert: Stanley was put off by the rude way the hotel manager spoke to him. put on 1. don; dress, attire: Please don't put on your purple shirt with the green trousers. 2. pretend, fake, feign: Don't put on airs with me, young man. 3. stage, produce, present: The Royal Shakespeare Company is putting on Macbeth. put out 1. extinguish, douse: Put out that match! 2. discomfort, inconvenience: I hope it won't put you out if I stay for tea. 3. extend, offer: Sam put out his hand and I shook it warmly. 4. eject; discard: Don't forget to put out the garbage after dinner. put through effect, achieve, do: The lawmakers put through the new tax bill. put up 1. preserve; can, smoke, pickle: We put up tomatoes and beans every year. 2. erect, build, construct: I hope they put up a new movie theater nearby. put up with endure, stand, tolerate, suffer: I can't understand how you can put up with Deirdre's constant complaining.

putrid adj. rotten, decayed, decomposed, moldy: Gabriella ages steaks so long that they become putrid and inedible.

puzzle n. confusion, question, riddle, problem: It's a puzzle to me how your cousin, who is so lazy, can keep his job. vb. confuse, perplex, bewilder, mystify: I was puzzled by your comment, but now I understand what you meant.

puzzling adj. baffling, enigmatic, perplexing: Muffin and Terry, married and divorced (to and from each other), certainly have a puzzling relationship.

quack n. fake, faker, charlatan, fraud, impostor: Any doctor who would prescribe surgery for a headache has to be a quack.

quaint adj. 1. strange, unusual, odd, curious, uncommon: Tourists often commented on the quaint customs of the people in town. 2. old-fashioned, antiquated, antique, picturesque: My aunt still makes quilts using those quaint old stitches. ant. 1. common, commonplace, ordinary.

quake vb. tremble, shake, quiver, shudder: The leaves of the aspen tree quake in the slightest breeze. n. earthquake, temblor: The mild quake yesterday rattled the doors and windows in my neighborhood.

qualified adj. capable, efficient, competent, fit, suited, suitable: With his background in accounting, Henry is well qualified for the job of treasurer.

qualify vb. 1. suit, fit, befit: The interviewer told Rosette that she didn't qualify for the job. 2. limit, restrict, change: Instead of making a general statement, you ought to qualify your remarks.

quality n. 1. attribute, property, characteristic, character, trait, feature: Good doctors have the quality of sympathy in their basic nature. 2. grade, rank, status, condition: What is the quality of a European education?

quandary n. dilemma, predicament: Betty was in a quandary as to whether she ought to risk taking a vacation on the Riviera when her job was in jeopardy.

quantity n. amount, extent, mass, bulk, measure, number: Can you estimate the quantity of pennies in the jar and win the prize?

quarrel n. argument, dispute, disagreement, difference, spat, tiff, fight: The quarrel between my brother and me arose because he wanted me to stay home while he went to the movies. vb. argue, dispute, disagree, differ, squabble, bicker, spar, fight: Our children seldom quarrel about anything.

quarrelsome adj. edgy, testy, irritable, peevish, snappish, disagreeable: Stewart has a tendency to be quarrelsome, which gets him into many unnecessary arguments. ant. even-tempered, genial.

queer adj. odd, peculiar, unusual, extraordinary, uncommon:

People sometimes do the queerest things, like flagpole sitting. ant. ordinary, conventional, usual.

quench vb. satisfy, slake: That sweet soda can't really quench your thirst.

query n. inquiry, question: If you have a query about the assignment, please ask your teacher. vb. inquire, question, ask: Don't query me about physics and chemistry, I'm the Spanish teacher.

quest n. search, journey, hunt: The quest for the Holy Grail was the source of many medieval romances.

question n. 1. query, inquiry: Timmy, if you have a question, please raise your hand. 2. doubt, uncertainty: There has been some question about whether John could visit us. vb. 1. query, ask, inquire, interview: The police questioned the man closely. 2. doubt, suspect: How dare you question my honesty! ant. n. 1. answer, solution. vb. 1. answer, reply, respond.

quick adj. 1. rapid, swift, fast, speedy: Walter plays a lot of tennis and is very quick on his feet. 2. impatient, abrupt, hasty, curt: You must learn not to be so quick with people who aren't as intelligent as you. 3. prompt, ready, immediate: The quick answer to your question is "No," but I should explain that more fully. ant. 1. slow, sluggish. 2. patient.

quick-witted adj. shrewd, astute, clever, acute: Keith's question was why people took an instant dislike to him, and Janet's quick-witted reply was that they probably didn't want to waste time.

quiet adj. 1. silent, still, soundless, mute: Please be quiet in the library. 2. tranquil, peaceful, calm, restful: The patient was finally quiet after a restless night. vb. 1. silence, still, hush, mute, soften: You'd better quiet down or the neighbors will complain. 2. calm, cool, relax, pacify, subdue: Though Father was extremely angry at first, we quieted him with our explanation of how the fender had been scraped. n. silence, stillness, peace, peacefulness, calm, calmness: You could hear a pin drop in the quiet. ant. adj. 1. noisy, loud, boisterous. 2. perturbed, anxious, fitful.

quit vb. 1. leave, depart, vacate: You should seriously reconsider before deciding to quit school. 2. stop, cease, discontinue: Quit teasing Anne about having red hair. 3. resign, leave: After 25 years without a promotion, Bill quit.

quite adv. 1. rather, somewhat: I was quite annoyed when the boys hit a baseball through my window. 2. completely, entirely, wholly: If you have quite finished talking, I should like to say something.

quiver vb. shake, quake, tremble, shudder, shiver, vibrate: Every time a truck goes by, I feel the house quiver.

quota n. portion, share, allotment, apportionment: Umbriago has had more than his quota of brandy, I think.

- rabble n. mob, throng, crowd, horde: The king climbed to the top of the tower and looked down on the teeming rabble below.
- rabid adj. frenzied, frantic, violent, raging, raving: Ferncliffe is a rabid fan of chamber music.
- race¹ n. 1. contest, competition, run, meet, match: When Mel entered the race, he had no idea he would win. 2. stream, course: The race under the mill was strong enough to turn the paddle wheel. vb. 1. run, compete, contend: Phil wasn't allowed to race on Saturday because of his sore ankle. 2. hurry, run, speed, dash, hasten: We raced to finish our homework before the noon deadline. ant. vb. 2. dawdle, linger, dwell.
- race² n. family, kind, strain, breed, people, nation, tribe, stock: The Mongolian race developed in Asia.
- racist adj. bigoted, prejudiced, intolerant: After listening to his racist remarks for years, Bigglesworth's friends finally had nothing to do with him.
- rack n. framework, frame, bracket: Hang your clothes on the rack alongside the door.
- racket n. noise, hubbub, disturbance, fuss, uproar, din, tumult: The chickens in my neighbor's yard make a terrible racket every morning.
- racketeer n. gangster, mobster, mafioso, crook: Ravelli was already a racketeer when he was nine, having cornered the lemonade stand business in his neighborhood.
- radiant adj. bright, shining, beaming, brilliant: In my dream, a radiant halo surrounded the head of the angel. ant. dim, lusterless, dark.
- radiate vb. emit, spread, shed, diffuse, irradiate: Peter radiates good will everywhere he goes. The sun radiates light and warmth.
- radical adj. 1. basic, fundamental, essential: We shall have to make radical changes in our plans if we can't use the hall. 2. extreme, thorough, revolutionary: The radical element in the organization has been warned about the disturbances.
- rag n. dishrag, dishcloth, wiper, remnant, cloth: Polish the silverware with a clean rag.
- rage n. 1. anger, fury, wrath: The director's rage at the news

- that his screen credit had been omitted was huge.* 2. fad, fashion, craze, vogue, mania: Except for a few diehards, the hula-hoop rage has passed. vb. 1. fume, rant, rave, storm: When he found that the dog had eaten his dinner, Father raged about the house for an hour. 2. storm, overflow; burn: The hurricane raged all about us. The fire raged out of control for three hours.
- ragged adj. torn, tattered, shredded, worn: I wish you wouldn't wear that ragged sweater when you visit your aunt.
- raid n. 1. attack, assault, invasion: The commandos planned a raid on the submarine base. 2. arrest; seizure: Aunt Martha was caught in the police raid of the gambling casino. vb. attack, assault, invade, maraud: The ammunition dump was raided last night.
- rail n. fence, railing, bar: They raised the rail a notch higher and the horse couldn't jump over it.
- rain n. drizzle, sprinkle, shower, rainstorm, deluge: I hope the rain keeps up—up in the sky, that is!
- raise vb. 1. lift, elevate, hoist: Please raise your hand if you wish to speak in class. 2. rear, bring up; cultivate: My mother raised 12 children. Mr. Green raises corn on his farm. 3. rouse, awaken, excite: Our hopes were raised when we spied a sail. 4. increase; enlarge: Your salary will be raised by 10 percent next week. n. increase, rise: A raise in salary might not cover my expenses. ant. vb. 1. lower. 4. decrease, lessen, reduce. n. decrease, reduction, cut.
- rakish adj. dashing, dapper, debonair, smart: Derek tilted his hat at a rakish angle and approached the beautiful girl at the bar.
- ramble vb. amble, stroll, saunter, wander, walk: We rambled through the meadow looking for wildflowers to pick. n. stroll, walk: Let's take a ramble along the beach.
- rambling adj. incoherent, disjointed, erratic: Bertha gave a long, rambling account of her holiday adventures that bored everyone to tears. ant. coherent, straightforward.
- random adj. chance, haphazard, unplanned, unscheduled, irregular, casual: Frank picked one random number and won $250 in the lottery. ant. particular, specific, special.
- range n. 1. extent, expanse, area, limit: Shelly was interested in a very narrow range of subjects. 2. pasture, grassland, plain: The cattle were turned loose to feed on the range. vb. 1. vary, change: The weather in our area ranges from bad to awful. 2. wander, travel, roam, rove, stray: The prince ranged far and wide, through many lands, seeking adventure.

rank n. grade, level, order, class, standing, degree: Morris achieved a high rank among the officers in the company. vb. arrange, order, sort, classify: Eugene ranks at the top of his group. adj. 1. wild, dense, luxuriant, lush, vigorous, abundant: The vegetation was so rank we could barely make our way through it. 2. smelly, putrid, offensive, foul, rotten: A rank odor emanated from the sewer.

ransom n. deliverance, release; compensation: The child's ransom was earned when the family swore not to pursue the kidnaper; $50,000 is what they wanted for ransom. vb. redeem: I ransomed my car from the garage by paying the repair bill.

rant vb. rave, fume, harangue: Munson kept ranting on about the injustice of giving a ticket for parking in front of a firehouse.

rap n. knock, blow, thump: Every time he played a wrong note, the piano teacher gave him a rap on the knuckles. vb. 1. knock, cuff, thump, whack: When you get there, rap three times and ask for Joe. 2. (slang) discuss, talk (over): We were rapping about sports all evening.

rapid adj. quick, swift, speedy, fast: Lenore gave a rapid response to the question. ant. slow, sluggish, halting.

rapture n. joy, bliss, ecstasy, delight: Marie experienced such rapture whenever she saw an Elvis Presley movie!

rare adj. 1. unusual, uncommon, scarce, infrequent: Good diamonds are expensive because they are rare. 2. excellent, fine, choice, matchless: The museum has a collection of rare paintings by sixteenth-century artists. 3. underdone, undercooked, red: I enjoy eating a rare steak. ant. 1. common, ordinary, usual, everyday.

rascal n. 1. villain, scoundrel, rogue, trickster, swindler, scamp: The rascal told me one story and you another about how much money he needed. 2. imp, mischief-maker: That little rascal ate all the cookies.

rash¹ adj. thoughtless, hasty, hotheaded, foolhardy, reckless: If you think before you act, you can avoid doing many rash things. ant. considered, thoughtful, prudent.

rash² n. eruption, eczema, dermatitis: You know you have measles when you see a red rash on your chest.

rate n. 1. pace, speed, velocity: Alexa worked at a fast rate and finished everything in one day. 2. price: What is the long-distance telephone rate on weekends from here to London? 3. proportion, ratio: The rate of increase in school dropouts was disappointing. vb. 1. price, value: The dresses in this shop are rated too much over their cost. 2. rank, grade, evaluate: Jeannette is rated as one of the top students in the school.

ration n. allowance, portion: During the Second World War, everyone was entitled to his ration of meat, butter, sugar, and other foods. vb. apportion, parcel out, distribute: The food was rationed out carefully among the marooned sailors.

rational adj. 1. sensible, reasonable: The only rational way for us to find a new leader is to elect one. 2. sane, clearheaded, normal: People who really believe that the moon is made of green cheese are not rational. ant. 2. irrational, insane, crazy.

rave vb. 1. rant, rage, storm: The king raved on about how his generals were plotting against him. 2. praise, laud: Mrs. Johnston was raving about the new hairdresser in town.

ravine n. gorge, chasm, canyon, crevasse, abyss: With a blood-curdling scream, Forsyth lunged at me, missed, and plunged over the side into the ravine.

ravishing adj. captivating, enchanting, bewitching: Truly a ravishing beauty, Corinne won every beauty contest in Yakutsk. ant. ugly, repulsive.

raw adj. 1. uncooked, undone: I love to eat raw carrots. 2. unprocessed, untreated, rough, unrefined: The factory takes raw materials and converts them into finished products.

ray n. beam: The sun's rays penetrated the dusty windows of the old house.

raze vb. demolish, destroy, wreck, flatten: The workmen razed three ancient landmarks to make room for a new shopping center. ant. erect, build, construct.

reach vb. 1. arrive at, get to, come to: We didn't reach home till after dark. 2. stretch, extend: I could just reach up to the top of the door. n. extent, distance, range, scope: The criminals fled to Brazil, beyond the reach of the law.

react vb. respond, reply, answer: When Harriet was rude, her mother reacted by cutting off her allowance.

reaction n. response, result, reception: My reaction to higher taxes is to give up my job and move to the country.

readily adv. promptly, quickly, easily: The newspaper editor responded readily to my letter.

ready adj. 1. prepared, done, arranged, completed: The roast will be ready in an hour. 2. quick, prompt, skillful: Whenever anyone said anything, the comedian was able to provide a ready wisecrack. vb. prepare, arrange: He readied himself to go out to dinner.

real adj. true, actual, genuine, authentic: Some people believe that Shakespeare's real name was Bacon. ant. false, counterfeit, sham, bogus.

realize vb. 1. actualize; perfect: We realized a profit of $3 on the sale of the chair. 2. understand, be aware of, appreciate, recognize: Do you fully realize whom you are speaking to?

really adv. actually, truly, honestly: Do you really think you'll be able to come to the party?

realm n. 1. kingdom, domain: The queen's realm extended from one sea to the other. 2. area, domain, sphere, province, department: In the realm of surgery, Dr. Franklin has no equal.

reap vb. harvest, cut, gather, mow, pick: The men were reaping the melon crop. ant. sow, plant, seed.

rear¹ n. back; rump, posterior: At the rear of the house stood an old car. Hugo was struck in the rear with the paddle. adj. back: The rear window of the car was all fogged up. ant. n. front.

rear² vb. 1. raise, bring up: The little girl had been reared in a convent. 2. lift, raise, elevate; rise: The horse reared on its hind legs. 3. build, construct, erect: The shed could be reared by two men in one afternoon.

reason n. 1. purpose, motive, cause, object, objective, aim: What was your reason for phoning me at midnight? 2. explanation, excuse: I have already given you two good reasons why you should study hard. 3. judgment, understanding, intelligence, common sense: The decision is a matter of reason, not of opinion. 4. sanity: The poor fellow painting the grass green seems to have lost his reason. vb. 1. argue, justify: You cannot reason with an angry man. 2. conclude, suppose, assume, gather, infer: I reasoned that the team that came in first won the race.

reasonable adj. 1. sensible, rational, logical: As a reasonable person, you must know that no family can survive on $20 a week. 2. moderate, bearable: I think that $500 is a very reasonable price for that car, considering its condition. ant. 1. irrational, insane. 2. outrageous.

rebel n. revolutionary, mutineer, traitor: The rebels attacked the president's mansion last night. vb. revolt, defy, overthrow: The peasants rebelled when told that there wouldn't be enough to eat.

rebirth n. renaissance, renascence, revival: Norton is pouring a lot of money into his plan for the rebirth of the minuet.

rebut vb. upbraid, chide, reproach, scold: The teacher rebuked Peter for talking during an examination. n. reprimand, reproach, scolding: After the first rebuke from their parents, the children never again went near the cliff. ant. vb., n. praise.

recall vb. 1. remember, recollect: I recall having met you at last year's party. 2. retract, withdraw: The auto company recalled all cars of the model that had faulty brakes. n. memory, recollection, remembrance: Vincent has total recall and can remember everything that ever happened.

recede vb. retreat, retire: When Sophronia became a successful banjo player, her husband's career as a taxi driver receded into the background.

receive vb. 1. accept, get, acquire, come by, obtain: I received my copy of the magazine today. 2. entertain; greet, welcome: The ambassador is receiving guests in the front hall. ant. 1. give, offer.

recent adj. late, up-to-date, new, novel: A recent article in the newspaper gave a lot of information about Ghana. ant. old, out-of-date, dated.

reception n. party, gathering: We went from the ceremony at the church directly to the wedding reception.

recess¹ n. hollow, niche, dent, opening, cranny, nook: The golden idol was concealed in a narrow recess in the cave. vb. hollow, indent: I carefully recessed a shallow pocket in the floor where I hid the jewel.

recess² n. respite, rest period, rest, pause, break: The children were allowed to buy milk and cookies during the recess. vb. break, rest, pause: The legislature has recessed for the Easter holiday. ant. vb. convene, gather.

recession n. depression, slump, downturn, slowdown: The financial wizards predicted a boom followed by a brief recession.

recipe n. formula, instructions: Have you tried that new recipe for chocolate cake?

recite vb. repeat; report, list: Each student was asked to memorize a poem to recite in class the next week. Abner was able to recite the names of all of the U.S. presidents in chronological order.

reckless adj. thoughtless, careless, rash, wild: Ned's uncle was arrested for reckless driving.

recluse n. hermit, eremite, anchorite; loner: After Guvnova came in last in the beauty contest, she became a recluse, and I haven't seen her for years.

- recognize vb. 1. recollect, recall, know: I recognized the bank teller as the man I had seen in the movie theater. 2. acknowledge, admit: I recognize your authority to order me about, but I don't like it.
- recollect vb. remember, recall: I recollect seeing you in Ohio last summer, now that you mention it. ant. forget.
- recommend vb. 1. commend, praise, approve: I recommended Brad for the job. 2. advise, counsel, suggest: The board has recommended that a new school be built on the hill. ant. 1. disapprove, veto.
- reconcile vb. 1. unite, bring together, mediate: The couple were reconciled after the misunderstanding. 2. adjust, adapt, settle: Leon and Debbie have reconciled their differences and are friends again.
- recondition vb. overhaul, rebuild, service, restore: Farber's new business is reconditioning horse-drawn plows, but he hasn't had much work lately.
- record vb. write, enter, register: The clerk recorded every transaction in the ledger. n. 1. history, chronicle, account: The record shows exactly how each member of Congress voted on every issue. 2. disk, recording: I bought a lot of new records yesterday. 3. document, archive, register, annal: The records of births and deaths were destroyed in the fire.
- recoup vb. recover, regain, retrieve; repay: It seems doubtful that Petronella will ever recoup her investment in electronic needle-threaders.
- recover vb. 1. regain, retrieve, redeem, salvage, recapture: I recovered my balance after I tripped. 2. improve, better; heal, mend, convalesce: The economic situation is bound to recover by the end of the year. Father has recovered completely from his illness.
- recreation n. amusement, entertainment, diversion, enjoyment, fun: After studying all day, what do you do for recreation on weekends?
- recruit n. beginner, trainee; draftee, volunteer: The new recruits were issued uniforms that didn't fit. vb. draft, select, induct, enlist: We were able to recruit seven people to join the navy last week.
- recuperate vb. recover, rally, convalesce, improve: Why should it take Throgmorton six weeks to recuperate from a broken thumbnail?
- reduce vb. 1. lessen, diminish, decrease: I wish they would reduce the price on that dress I saw in the window. 2. lower, degrade, downgrade: Since Al's father lost his job,

- the family has been in reduced circumstances.* ant. 1. increase, enlarge, swell. 2. elevate, raise.
- reek vb. smell, stink: Capricola might do better with the ladies if he didn't reek so of garlic.
- refer vb. 1. direct; recommend, commend: At the town hall I was referred to the motor vehicle office for my new license. 2. concern, regard, deal with, relate: The word "energy" refers to any kind of power. 3. mention, suggest, touch on, hint at: What do you suppose the doctor was referring to when he suggested I lose some weight?
- referee n. umpire, arbitrator, arbiter, judge: The boxing referee took a very long time counting up to ten. vb. umpire, arbitrate, judge: On Saturdays, my father enjoys refereeing soccer games.
- reference n. 1. direction; allusion, mention: Your mother made reference to my dirty shirt, so I'd better change for dinner. 2. regard, concern, relation, respect: You'd better not say anything in reference to Anne's going out with Morton.
- refine vb. 1. improve, clarify: My summer job certainly refined my ideas on how restaurants are run. 2. clean, purify: Refined gold is almost 100 percent pure.
- refined adj. cultivated, polite, courteous, well-bred, civilized: Bob's parents are such refined people. ant. rude, coarse, brutish.
- reflect vb. 1. mirror; reproduce: The strange face was reflected in the window of the shop. 2. think, ponder, cogitate, consider, deliberate, contemplate: If you reflect on your experience a little, you'll realize that you are responsible for your own actions.
- reflection n. 1. image, appearance, likeness: I could see my reflection in the highly polished table top. 2. deliberation, consideration, study, meditation: After some reflection, Len decided that he'd better go to the library after all.
- reform n. change, betterment, correction, improvement: The new candidates campaigned on the promise to bring about governmental reforms. vb. change, improve, better, correct: The criminal promised to reform, so he was released on parole. We must reform the way we are mailing our magazine.
- refrain vb. stop, cease: You should refrain from eating candy before dinner or you'll kill your appetite.
- refresh vb. renew, exhilarate, invigorate: I felt completely refreshed after a cold shower. ant. tire, exhaust.
- refreshment n. snack; food, drink: How about some kind of refreshment while waiting for me to change my clothes?

refuge n. safety, shelter, protection: We sought refuge from the storm in a cave that was close by.

refuse¹ vb. turn down, deny, disallow, decline: The teacher refused us permission to be a day late turning in our assignments. ant. accept, allow.

refuse² n. garbage, waste, rubbish, trash: The town used to dump refuse into the river, but that's against the law now.

regal adj. majestic, royal: Judy observed that it is difficult to maintain a regal bearing when you're only three feet tall.

regard vb. 1. look at or upon, consider, estimate: Philip always regarded his brother as a better tennis player. 2. attend, respect, honor, value: I regard very highly your ability to get along well with so many people. n. 1. reference, relation, concern: With regard to your summer cottage, would you rent it to us this year? 2. respect, concern, estimation, esteem: I hold the English professor in very high regard. 3. concern, thought, care: Toby has no regard at all for his mother's feelings.

regardless adj. despite, notwithstanding, aside (from); besides: Regardless of your own feelings, don't you think we ought to bring a gift? I think we ought to invite Oscar, regardless.

regime n. government, management, direction, administration: Under the new regime, foreign visitors must register at the police station.

regimented adj. orderly, ordered, rigid, controlled, disciplined: The routine in some military academies is very regimented. ant. free, loose, unstructured.

region n. area, place, locale, territory: The northern region fell under the control of the invaders in a few weeks.

register n. 1. record; catalog: All transactions were entered in the register daily. 2. list, book, record, roll: Every hotel guest must sign the register. vb. enroll, record; enter, list, catalog: Please register for your classes before the beginning of the school year.

regret vb. lament, bemoan, feel sorry about, be sorry for: I sincerely regret having hurt your feelings, but I didn't do it on purpose. n. sorrow, remorse, concern, qualm, scruple, misgiving, contrition: My regret at having to leave before the end of the summer was heartfelt.

regrettable adj. unfortunate, lamentable, deplorable: It is, indeed, regrettable that you lost the goldfish-swallowing contest.

regular adj. 1. usual, customary, habitual, normal: My regular routine gets me to the office at about 8:30 in the morning. 2. steady, uniform, even, systematic, orderly: I could hear his regular breathing from the room next door. ant. 1. irregular, odd, unusual.

regulate vb. 1. govern, control, direct, manage, legislate: The government doesn't regulate prices in a free economy like ours. 2. adjust, set: Please regulate the heat in this room so that we don't freeze and boil alternately.

regulation n. 1. law, rule, statute: There's a city regulation against parking in a bus stop. 2. management, direction, supervision, rule, order, control: The Customs Service in the U.S. comes under the regulation of the Department of the Treasury.

rehearse vb. practice, repeat; train: Our class has to rehearse the play we're presenting to the rest of the school.

reign n. rule, dominion, sovereignty; power: How long was the reign of Henry VIII? vb. rule, govern: Queen Elizabeth II is the reigning monarch of the United Kingdom.

reject vb. 1. refuse, deny; renounce: I don't know why my application was rejected, unless I misspelled something. 2. discard, expel, throw out or away: The inspector rejected the radio as faulty. ant. accept.

rejoice vb. delight; celebrate, enjoy: When we heard that our team had won, we rejoiced. The people rejoiced in their newly found leader.

relate vb. 1. tell, report, narrate, recount, describe: I shall relate to you everything that took place at the haunted house. 2. connect, associate, compare: How do the angles of a triangle relate to one another?

relation n. 1. connection, association, relationship, similarity: The relation between cause and effect is sometimes difficult to understand. 2. relative, kinsman: I spent last week visiting some relations in Arkansas.

relative adj. 1. proportional; dependent: The people in that house live in relative luxury compared with us. 2. in regard to, about: Relative to your request for permission to go to the movies, the answer is still no. n. kinsman, relation: The orphan had no living relatives.

relax vb. 1. loosen, slacken, let go: The shark relaxed its hold on the raft, allowing it to drift away. 2. repose, recline, unwind, rest: When my father comes home from work, he likes to relax for a while, reading the newspaper. ant. 1. tighten, increase, intensify.

relaxation n. ease, comfort, rest: Many people recommend the kind of relaxation you get sleeping on a waterbed.

release vb. 1. let go, relinquish, set loose, free, liberate, set free: Stefanie released me from the promise I made not to tell anyone. I found a knife and cut through the ropes, releasing the prisoner. 2. let out, publish, proclaim, announce: The company finally released the story about the president's award. n. 1. freedom, liberation: After his release from prison, the ex-convict was able to find a decent job through the help of some friends. 2. publicity, announcement, proclamation: The release was distributed to every major newspaper in the state.

relent vb. yield, give, bend, relax: I hope that Father will relent and allow Pavlova to go to the dance.

reliable adj. trustworthy, dependable: I need a reliable car that won't break down every week. Tom is completely reliable and has shown up for work every day without fail. ant. unreliable, erratic, eccentric.

relief n. 1. ease, comfort: The new medicine brought me some relief from the leg pains. 2. aid, assistance, support, help: The relief plans for the poor have not yet been approved.

relieve vb. 1. ease, comfort, soothe, lessen: That massage relieved the tension I felt. 2. spell, replace: The new watchman relieved Bill at midnight so that he could go home early.

religion n. faith, belief; persuasion: Mohammedanism is a religion chiefly of the Middle East.

religious adj. 1. pious, devout, devoted, reverent, holy, faithful, godly: Porter's family is very religious and goes to church every Sunday. 2. strict, rigid, exacting, conscientious: Religious observance of the rules will keep you out of trouble. ant. 1. irreligious, impious. 2. lax, slack, indifferent.

relish n. 1. satisfaction, enjoyment, delight, appreciation, gusto: Nicole ate the vegetables with such relish—yet, I thought she didn't like them. 2. condiment: I like relish on my hot dogs. vb. enjoy, like, appreciate: Vincent relishes the idea of baking his own bread. ant. n. 1. distaste, disfavor.

reluctant adj. unwilling, hesitant, disinclined, loath: Harold was reluctant to go to the party because he didn't know any of the other guests. ant. ready, eager.

remain vb. stay, continue, linger: Sally remained after everyone else had left. ant. depart, leave, go.

remainder n. residue, leftover, rest: After the best part of the lumber is used for furniture, the remainder is sold as scrap.

remark vb. say, mention, comment, state, note, observe: Imogene remarked that she liked Sophie's new dress. n. comment, statement, observation: Your remark about Teddy's nose was really very unkind.

remarkable adj. unusual, special, extraordinary, noteworthy, uncommon: Don's recovery from his operation has been truly remarkable. ant. average, ordinary, commonplace.

remedy n. cure, medicine, relief, medication: In the old days, people thought that snake oil was a good remedy for almost any ailment. vb. cure, correct, improve: The town tried to remedy its budget problem by raising taxes.

remember vb. 1. recall, recollect: I never can remember my cousin's telephone number. 2. memorize, retain, know by heart, keep or bear in mind: I remember every word of a poem I learned when I was three years old. ant. forget.

remembrance n. 1. recollection, recall, memory: My remembrance of the incident is nothing like yours. 2. keepsake, souvenir, memento: I keep the remembrances of my visit to Canada in a small brass box.

remit vb. 1. pay; send, forward: Please remit $2 with your order. 2. pardon, forgive, excuse, overlook: The governor remitted the convict's sentence, and he was released.

remittance n. payment: Your remittance of $9.52 was received in yesterday's mail.

remnant n. remainder, remains, residue, rest: After the pattern had been cut from the fabric, the remnants were given to the children for making dolls' clothes.

remodel vb. reshape, remake, rebuild, renovate, redecorate; change, modify: We remodeled our kitchen last year and installed new appliances.

remote adj. 1. distant, far off or away: Stanley went to a remote island off Maine in order to complete his book. 2. slight, unlikely, inconsiderable: You don't have even a remote chance of winning the lottery. ant. 1. near, nearby, close.

remove vb. 1. doff, take off: Please remove your hat when you enter a building. 2. transfer, dislodge, displace, take away, eliminate: The rotten stump was removed from the garden, leaving a big hole. 3. eliminate, kill, murder, assassinate: The gang leader had removed all those who opposed him.

removed adj. distant, aloof, standoffish, cool, remote: Chauncy is too far removed from it all to be concerned about us. ant. involved.

remuneration n. payment, wages, salary, pay, compensation: Arturo complained that remuneration for an acrobat was very meager.

render vb. 1. make, cause to be or become: Thirty families were rendered homeless by the flood. 2. do, perform; supply, offer: Norbert rendered us a great service by fetching the groceries from the market. 3. present, offer, give, deliver: The electric company renders a bill at the end of each month.

rendition n. version, interpretation: The school orchestra's rendition of the symphony was almost professional.

renounce vb. 1. give up, abandon, leave, abdicate, forsake, forgo: The hermit renounced all worldly goods and went to live in a cave. 2. disown, reject, deny: When my aunt married a man her father didn't like, he renounced her.

renown n. fame, repute, reputation, glory, distinction, prestige: Reggie's mother is a poet of great renown. ant. anonymity, obscurity.

rent n. rental, payment: How much rent do they pay for the shop? vb. lease, let, hire: We don't rent our house, we own it. Let's rent a car for the weekend.

repair vb. mend, patch, restore, renew, adjust: The painting was repaired so that you couldn't see the damage at all. n. 1. patch: I can see where the repair was made in this glass. 2. reconstruction, rehabilitation, rebuilding: This old house is in need of repair.

repartee n. banter, badinage: All the guests at the party hovered around Alexa to enjoy the repartee between her and Pengo.

repeal vb. cancel, abolish, end: The higher court repealed the action of the lower court. n. cancellation, abolition, end: The repeal of prohibition put all of the bootleggers out of business.

repeat vb. 1. reiterate, iterate, restate: I've already told you three times, and I shall not repeat it again. 2. redo, remake, reproduce: Don't repeat your performance of last week—it was awful. n. repetition, redo, remake: All the TV programs during the summer are repeats.

repeated adj. frequent, continuous, continual, recurrent: Despite our repeated demands, that customer hasn't paid her bill.

repel vb. 1. repulse, check, rebuff: The small force at the fort repelled the attacks all day long. 2. refuse, reject, decline, discourage: Frances repelled all friendly advances when she first came to town. 3. revolt, revulse, offend, nauseate: The smell of the marigold repels insects. ant. 3. attract, lure.

repent vb. regret, atone for, do penance for: It is not too late to repent your sins.

reporter n. journalist, news(wo)man, newspaper(wo)man: The reporters interviewed the victims of the robbery.

repose n. sleep, rest, slumber: There I was, in sweet repose, dreaming of a sandy beach, when the alarm clock yanked me into the reality of a snowy February morning.

representative n. agent, delegate; substitute, surrogate: We have a representative in Katmandu for the sale of roller skates.

repulsive adj. repellent, offensive, horrid: The war movie had a number of repulsive scenes that made me sick.

reputable adj. upstanding, honest, straightforward, trustworthy, reliable: Are you sure that this fellow Luciano is reputable enough to be our agent in Italy? ant. disreputable.

reputation n. 1. repute, name, standing: Your reputation as an expert on fossils is excellent. If you are unfriendly, you may get a bad reputation. 2. fame, renown, distinction, prominence, prestige: The doctor's reputation for success in treating arthritis has spread far and wide.

request n. petition, question, appeal, entreaty: Your request for a leave of absence has been approved. vb. ask, appeal, petition, entreat, beseech: We requested 500 towels for the gym, and they sent us 500 trowels!

require vb. 1. need, want, demand, order: Each student is required to bring his book to class. 2. call for, demand, need: You will require diesel fuel to run the boat engine.

requirement n. 1. need, demand, necessity: What requirements should you provide for when you go camping? 2. condition, prerequisite, provision: There is no requirement that an applicant have experience for the job.

rescue vb. save, set free, liberate, release, ransom, deliver: The firemen rescued eight children from the burning building. The knight rescued the beautiful princess from the castle dungeon. n. liberation, release, ransom, deliverance, recovery: The mountain climbers survived the rescue. ant. vb. abandon.

research n. study, scrutiny, investigation: Research has shown that women live longer than men. vb. study, scrutinize, investigate, examine: Scientists are constantly researching the causes of major diseases.

resemblance n. similarity, likeness: Any resemblance to real persons, living or dead, is a coincidence.

resemble vb. take after, look like: David doesn't resemble his father at all.

resentment n. bitterness, displeasure, indignation: Charley's feeling of resentment came from the unfair way he had been treated.

reserve vb. save, keep, hold, maintain: I reserve some of my money for a rainy day. Please ask the restaurant to reserve a table for four at 8 o'clock. ant. squander, waste.

reserved adj. restrained, strait-laced, proper: The ambassador, usually quite reserved, suddenly took off his clothes at the meeting of the General Assembly. ant. abandoned, wild, uninhibited.

reside vb. 1. abide, dwell, live, stay: Where are you residing now? 2. lie, abide: Early scientists believed that the key to a person's health and personality resided in the fluids of the body.

residence n. 1. home, abode, dwelling: The 25-room residence down the street was sold last week to a young couple. 2. stay, sojourn: Because of my residence abroad, I don't pay taxes in America.

residue n. remainder, balance, rest: After removing the yellow parts, take the residue, dry it, and grind it up.

resign vb. quit, abdicate, leave, abandon: I resigned from my job last week.

resigned adj. forbearing, accepting, tolerant, reconciled: Flamsteed was resigned to a life of ease in Cooch Behar.

resolute adj. resolved, firm, determined, set, decided: Dan was resolute in his decision about letting the children come home after dark. ant. wavering, irresolute, vacillating.

resolution n. 1. resolve, determination: I thought that Alexa had shown remarkable resolution in the performance of her work. 2. statement, decision, recommendation, verdict, judgment: The committee has approved the resolution that we allow women to join the club.

resolve vb. 1. determine, settle, conclude, decide, confirm: The students finally resolved to plan a picnic for the following Saturday. 2. solve; explain: Politicians have been unable to resolve the energy problem. n. intention, purpose, resolution, determination: Our firm resolve to return kept up our spirits.

resort n. 1. hotel, lodge, motel, vacation spot: There are many winter resorts in the Caribbean. 2. relief, recourse, refuge: Leaping across the chasm was the fugitive's only resort to avoid his pursuers. vb. turn to, apply to, go to, use, employ: Food was so scarce that the shipwrecked crew resorted to eating leaves and berries.

resource n. reserve, store, supply, source: The building of the Alaska pipeline was believed to destroy many natural resources.

resourceful adj. ingenious, inventive, creative: Sheldrake is resourceful enough to escape from any prison where they may put him.

respect n. 1. admiration, regard, honor, esteem, approval: I have the greatest respect for your abilities. 2. particular, regard, detail, point, feature: In many respects, I find John the most suitable person for the job. 3. reference, connection: With respect to your wanting to go to the movies, you have our permission. 4. concern, consideration: You should have more respect for your elders. vb. honor, esteem, revere: I respect your opinion, even though I disagree with you. ant. n. 4. disrespect, disregard.

respectable adj. 1. acceptable, proper, decent, respected: The president of the bank ought to be a respectable citizen. 2. fair, passable, presentable: I think that coming in second is a pretty respectable showing in a national contest. ant. 1. disreputable, unsavory.

respectful adj. polite, courteous, well-bred, well-behaved, well-mannered: Violet is a sweet, respectful child. ant. rude, impertinent, flippant.

respond vb. reply, answer; acknowledge: I wrote to Betty six weeks ago, but she hasn't yet responded.

response n. reply, answer, acknowledgment: I have had no response to my advertisement in the Sunday paper.

responsible adj. 1. accountable, answerable: Who is responsible for writing this on the blackboard? 2. chargeable, culpable: The man responsible for the accident has been identified. 3. able, reliable, capable, trustworthy, upstanding, honest: Do you consider yourself a responsible member of the community?

rest¹ n. 1. repose, relaxation, inactivity, quiet, ease: The doctor told my mother that she needed a rest after all that hard work this winter. 2. immobility, motionlessness, standstill: The wheel came to rest on the number 17, and I had won $25. vb. 1. relax, lounge: I have a cousin who does everything backwards: he works for two weeks, then rests up for the other 50. 2. lie, lean, depend, hang: Our decision for the picnic schedule will rest on the weather report.

rest² n. remainder, residue, surplus, excess: After I have eaten everything I want, the rest goes to my dog.

restful adj. quiet, peaceful, calm, tranquil: Our cottage near the lake is the most restful place I know. ant. disturbed, upsetting, tumultuous, agitated.

restless adj. nervous, jumpy, fidgety, unquiet, restive: I'm so used to getting a lot of exercise that I get restless when I have to sit at a desk all day. ant. calm, tranquil, peaceful.

restore vb. 1. return, replace: Please restore that book to the shelf where you found it. 2. renew, repair, renovate, mend: The antique clock has been restored to its original condition. 3. reinstate, reestablish, reinstall: After his military service, Len was restored to his old job at the press.

restrain vb. control, check, hold, curb: I just couldn't restrain my enthusiasm and leaped up, applauding.

restraint n. control, self-control, reserve, constraint: Even though you may get angry and feel like shouting, you should exercise restraint.

restrict vb. limit, confine, restrain: The manager's authority is restricted to the advertising department.

result n. effect, outcome, consequence: As a result of your misbehavior, the entire class will have to remain after school. vb. arise, happen, follow, issue: The return of the watch resulted from the ad in the paper. ant. n. cause.

resume vb. continue, restart, reassume, recommence: After each interruption, the speaker patiently tried to resume his talk.

resuscitate vb. revive, restore; resurrect: The firemen resuscitated three people overcome by the smoke. Are you going to resuscitate that plan we abandoned last year?

retain vb. 1. hold, keep: Retain the ticket stub when you enter the theater. 2. remember, recall: Do you retain any of the poems you memorized as a child? 3. hire, employ, engage: We retained a lawyer to look after our interests. ant. 1. free, release.

retaliate vb. revenge, repay, return, avenge: After I ate all of my brother's candy, he retaliated by hiding my shoes.

retard vb. delay, hold back, slow, hinder, check, obstruct: The strike retarded production of the new passenger planes. ant. advance, speed.

retarded adj. backward, slow, behindhand; slow-witted, dull, stupid: Every community should have classes or a school for retarded children who can learn at their own speed. ant. advanced, quick.

reticent adj. reserved, quiet, silent, close-mouthed, taciturn: Adolf is somewhat reticent about his activities during the war. ant. forthcoming; talkative.

retire vb. 1. leave, part, withdraw, retreat: The knights retired from the battlefield in order to regroup their forces. 2. resign, leave: In our company, anyone who reaches the age of 70 must retire. ant. 1. advance, attack.

retiring adj. shy, withdrawn, modest, reserved: Because Minnie has a retiring personality, she seldom runs for election to the Student Council. ant. bold, impudent, forceful.

retort vb. reply, respond, snap back, answer, rejoin: "You know what you can do with your baseball bat!" Tom retorted angrily. n. reply, response, answer, rejoinder: Don't be so rude and don't give me any of your nasty retorts!

retreat vb. retire, leave, withdraw, depart: Soundly defeated, the regiment retreated to the safety of the fort. n. 1. departure, retirement, withdrawal: In the face of the huge numbers of the enemy, the battalion's retreat was expected. 2. shelter, hideaway, refuge: I bought a small retreat up in the hills. ant. vb. advance.

retrieve vb. recover, regain, recapture: Once they are past, you can never again retrieve those happy days of your youth.

return vb. 1. go back, come back: I returned home at midnight. 2. bring or take back: When will you return the lawnmower you borrowed last summer? n. restoration, restoring; deliverance: The return of their lands to the American Indians is long overdue.

reveal vb. disclose, communicate, tell, divulge, publish, announce, publicize, broadcast: Rick and Norma revealed that they had been secretly married for a year. ant. conceal, hide.

revel in vb. delight in, rejoice in, enjoy: Buccagrande revels in the praise he receives from his mother for finishing everything on his plate. ant. despise, detest, hate.

revenge n. vengeance, reprisal, repayment, retaliation: Steve would get his revenge for Don's taking his bike by flattening the tires. vb. avenge, repay, retaliate: We'll revenge the insults to our team by beating them in the championship.

revenue n. income, take, profit, receipts, proceeds, return: The manager explained that his store had the greatest revenues of any in the chain.

revere vb. venerate, respect, admire: The mayor of our town is much revered for his fairness on all issues. ant. despise.

reverence n. respect, homage, veneration: I regard successful men and women with great reverence.

reverent adj. respectful, honoring: When you enter a place of worship, you should have a properly reverent attitude. ant. disrespectful, impious.

reverse adj. opposite, contrary: Why are the handlebars of your bicycle in reverse position? n. 1. opposite, contrary:

Bill said he would disapprove the action, but he did the reverse. 2. back, rear: The coin has Washington on the front and an eagle on the reverse. 3. defeat, misfortune, catastrophe: The army suffered one reverse after another when fighting the partisans. vb. 1. invert, transpose, turn: The middle letters of the sign were reversed, so it read "LAIDES," which means "ugly people" in French. 2. repeal, revoke, overthrow: The Supreme Court reversed the lower court ruling.

review vb. 1. reexamine, restudy, study: I reviewed the plans for the new theater and made a few changes. 2. criticize, survey, inspect: The new novel was reviewed in last Sunday's newspaper. n. 1. examination, study: The review of the city's budget is scheduled for next week. 2. criticism, critique, judgment, opinion: The movie at the local theater received a very bad review in the press.

revise vb. alter, change, improve, amend, correct, update: Please revise this paper and hand it in again next Monday. A revised edition of the dictionary contains many new words.

revive vb. 1. renew, refresh, reanimate, rejuvenate, reawaken: The book about the war revived people's interest in the Civil War period. 2. recover, awake: That 15-minute nap before dinner revived me completely. ant. 2. tire, exhaust, enervate.

revolt vb. 1. rebel, mutiny, rise up: The peasants revolted in England in the fourteenth century. 2. disgust, nauseate, repel, sicken: The sight of the injured at the train wreck revolted me and I was unable to help. n. 1. revolution, rebellion, mutiny, uprising: The revolt of the masses in Russia took place in 1917. 2. disgust, revulsion, aversion, loathing: What a feeling of revolt the sight of a dead animal gives me!

revolution n. 1. revolt, rebellion, uprising, overthrow, mutiny: The French Revolution followed soon after that in America. 2. turn, cycle, rotation, spin, orbit: The earth makes one revolution about the sun each year, and one revolution on its axis each 24 hours.

revolve vb. turn, rotate, spin, cycle, circle: Above the center of the dance floor, a mirrored ball revolved, glittering like a jewel as the spotlights reflected from it.

revolver n. pistol, six-shooter, six-gun, gun. The policeman fired his revolver into the air as a warning.

reward n. prize, award, recompense, pay: As a reward for saving the dog from the river, Dirk received a medal from the humane society. vb. compensate, pay: If you are good to people, you will be rewarded by their being good to you.

rhyme n. 1. verse, poem, poetry: Putting the lesson in rhymes made it easier to learn. 2. similarity in sound: Children are fascinated by stories told in rhyme, whether by Mother Goose or Dr. Seuss.

ribald adj. off-color, risqué, suggestive: We kept telling Father Murphy that it wasn't right for a priest to be telling ribald stories.

rich adj. 1. wealthy, well-off, well-to-do, affluent: The big house on the hill is owned by the richest man in town. 2. abundant, bountiful, plentiful, fruitful, fertile: The farmers will have a rich harvest this year. ant. 1. impoverished, poor. 2. scarce, unproductive, scanty.

rickety adj. unsteady, unsound, unstable, flimsy, shaky: You will break your neck using that rickety ladder. ant. solid, steady, sturdy.

rid vb. clear, free, shed, eliminate: It was the Pied Piper who rid the town of Hamelin of its rats. adj. clear, free, delivered: I'm happy to be rid of that awful cold I had last week.

riddle n. problem, puzzle, question, mystery: How he managed to escape from that locked room is a riddle to me.

ride vb. 1. journey, tour, motor, drive: We rode through the jungle on the back of the elephant. 2. drive, manage, guide, control: Don't ride your bicycle on the wrong side of the road. 3. drift, float, go: There was no opposing it, so I just rode along with the crowd during the election.

ridicule vb. mock, deride, taunt, tease: Don't ever ridicule anyone because he's different—he may be much better, too. n. mockery, derision, burlesque, satire: The writers held the politicians up to ridicule until they resigned. ant. n. respect, praise.

ridiculous adj. nonsensical, farcical, absurd, laughable, ludicrous, comic, preposterous: Painting that elephant pink is the most ridiculous prank you've ever done. The beautiful girl looked ridiculous wearing a false beard and mustache. ant. sensible, sound.

right adj. 1. correct, factual, accurate, true: The calculation is right, but you have the wrong answer. 2. good, just, honest, upright, lawful, moral: I know that you want to do what is right. 3. proper, suitable, apt, correct: Phoebe knows which is the right fork to use for her salad. 4. dexter, (nautical) starboard. n. 1. justice, virtue, morality, goodness: The right shall prevail and evil will be conquered. 2. title, claim, privilege, You have the right to think whatever you like. adv. 1. properly, correctly, legally, honorably, fairly: I believe that the reporter didn't get the story right. 2. directly, straight, straightaway: I went right home after school. ant. adj. 1. wrong, incorrect, fallacious.

rigid adj. 1. stiff, unbending, unbendable, unyielding, inflexible: The leather belt was so rigid that I had to oil it in order to bend it. 2. severe, strict, stern, inflexible, harsh: Why must the principal be so rigid about the rules?

rim n. edge, lip, border, brim: The rim of that glass is chipped on one side, so be careful with it.

ring¹ n. band, fillet, circlet, loop, circle: The ring of mushrooms in the forest meant that fairies and elves had been dancing there. Why don't you wear your diamond ring tonight? Because I don't have one. vb. circle, surround, encircle: The cliffs ringed us round, and escape seemed impossible, until I noticed something.

ring² vb. 1. peal, resound, sound, tinkle, jingle: The doorbell just rang and I am in the bathtub. 2. summon; announce, proclaim: Please ring this bell for service. Ring out the old year, ring in the new at midnight. n. tinkle, jangle, peal, jingle: To this day I can recall the ring of the old school bell.

riot n. disorder, disturbance, tumult, uproar, confusion: When the police prevented the people from buying flour, there was a riot in which 200 were injured. vb. rebel, revolt: The prisoners rioted because there wasn't enough food and clean clothing.

rip vb. n. cut, tear, slit, slash: The sword ripped through the drapery like a hot knife through butter. Nancy was embarrassed because there was a big rip in her dress.

ripe adj. ready, mature, developed, grown, aged. If it isn't fairly soft, that avocado is ripe enough to eat. ant. immature, ungrown.

ripen vb. mature, age, develop, mellow: These watermelons are best when they have ripened on the vine.

ripple vb. ruffle, wave: A light breeze rippled the surface of the pond. n. wavelet, wave: Tim threw a pebble in the lake and watched the ripples spread from the center.

rise vb. 1. arise, get up; wake, awaken: We rose at dawn to watch the animals drink at the watering hole. 2. ascend, mount, arise, climb: The string broke, and Dottie's balloon rose up into the summer sky. 3. prosper, flourish, advance, thrive, succeed, progress: After marrying the boss's daughter, Bill rose rapidly in the company. n. 1. increase, addition, enlargement: A rise in the cost of labor is soon followed by a rise in the cost of living. 2. ascent, climb: The rocket's rise from the launching pad was noisy and swift.

risk n. peril, danger, hazard, chance. I don't think that the glory of having climbed the mountain is worth the risk of getting killed trying. vb. chance, hazard, imperil, endanger: Would you risk your life to run into a burning house to rescue a dog?

risky adj. dangerous, chancy, perilous, hazardous, unsafe: Investing all your money in a company that makes buggy whips is risky to say the least. ant. safe, secure.

risqué adj. See ribald.

rival n. competitor, contestant, antagonist, opponent: My rival in the boxing match is about 50 pounds heavier than I. vb. compete, contest, oppose: Your beauty rivals that of the rose. adj. competing, opposing, opposed, competitive: A rival suitor won the hand of the fair maiden.

river n. stream, brook, creek, tributary: This river has some of the biggest salmon in the northwestern United States.

road n. way, roadway, street, avenue, highway, thoroughfare, boulevard, drive, turnpike, pike, parkway: Take this road until you come to a traffic light; then turn left and go up the hill.

roam vb. wander, ramble, rove, range. With an hour to wait before the movie started, we just roamed around the neighborhood.

roar vb. bellow, cry, shout, yell, bawl: When the tiger became caught in the net, it roared until the jungle seemed to shake.

rob vb. steal, pilfer, rifle, sack, pillage, plunder: When I returned home, I found that someone had robbed my stereo.

robbery n. theft, pillage, plundering, burglary, thievery: The police caught the burglar and he was sent to jail for robbery.

rod n. pole, bar, wand, staff, pike, stick, baton, billy: A steel rod from the truck's cargo was driven right through the wall in the accident.

rogue n. rascal, criminal, outlaw, scamp, scoundrel, villain: My grandfather had a reputation along the Mississippi as a gambler and a rogue.

role n. part, character; task, function: Theodora was selected for the leading role in the play. What role do temperature and dampness play in catching cold?

roll vb. 1. turn, revolve, spin, rotate, whirl: A huge rock came rolling down the hill. 2. wind, tie, wrap: Please roll up that cord so we can use it again. 3. flatten, press, level, smooth: The baker rolled out the dough before cutting it to make cookies. n. 1. bun; bread: After eating two buttered rolls, I was no longer hungry. 2. list, register, roster: Please read the roll so we can tell if everyone is here.

romance n. 1. love affair, affair, enchantment: The entire court knew that the queen was carrying on a romance with the butler. 2. novel, story, tale: Romances were always very popular reading.

romantic adj. impractical, extravagant, exaggerated, fantastic, wild: Penny dreamed she would someday meet a romantic lover who would sweep her off her feet. ant. realistic, down-to-earth.

room n. 1. chamber, enclosure: We have an extra room if you'd like to stay over a few days. 2. space: There was room for one more person in the elevator. vb. lodge, stay, reside: Dave rooms with a nice family who have a large house right near the college.

roomy adj. spacious, capacious, commodious: The closet in the basement ought to be roomy enough for all your belongings.

root n. cause, origin, basis, reason: Some people think that money is the root of all evil.

rooted adj. steadfast, fixed, firm, fast, stationary, immovable: Grabulovich was rooted to the spot when he saw Katinka approaching from across the room.

rosy adj. 1. pink, reddish: At dawn, the sky became all rosy just before the sun came up. 2. fresh, healthy, ruddy: After a week at the seashore, we all returned home in rosy condition. 3. cheerful, happy, bright, promising, optimistic: Everything is beginning to look rosy again.

rot vb. spoil, decompose, decay, mold, putrefy: The fruit will begin to rot on the trees if it isn't picked soon. n. decay, mold: There was some rot in one of the planks of the boat, and we had to replace it.

rotate vb. 1. turn, revolve, spin, orbit: The lazy Susan rotates in the center of the table and everyone can help himself to pickles and relishes. 2. alternate, take turns: Instead of your dealing the cards all evening, why don't we rotate?

rotten adj. 1. moldy, decayed, spoiled, decomposed, putrid, tainted: Food kept without refrigeration soon becomes rotten. 2. corrupt, immoral, dishonest, deceitful: The government of the town had become rotten through bribery and greed. ant. 1. fresh.

rough adj. 1. uneven, unpolished, irregular, bumpy: The rough surface of the furniture would have to be sandpapered before painting. 2. coarse, impolite, unpolished, rude, crude, unrefined: The farmer's rough manners made no difference to us because he was so kind. 3. stormy, wild, violent, disorderly, turbulent: The sea was beginning to get very rough, and we knew a storm was coming. 4. uncomfortable, inconvenient: Life among the pioneers was very rough. 5. unfinished, hasty, crude, vague: I saw a rough draft of the article before it was rewritten. ant. 1. smooth, sleek. 2. suave, sophisticated.

roughly adv. about, approximately, nearly: There were roughly 212 million people in America 200 years after its independence.

round adj. 1. circular, curved, spherical: That serving platter isn't round, it's oval. 2. arched, bowed, rounded: The top of the tree is round now that it has been trimmed. 3. approximate, rough: In round figures, I'd say 50 people came. adv. circularly, around: The merry-go-round went round and round. prep. enclosing, encircling, circling: The costume called for her to wear a heavy steel collar round her neck. n. routine, series, succession, cycle, course: The doctor makes rounds in the hospital every day, visiting each patient in turn.

roundabout adj. indirect, devious: Why don't you come right out and say what you mean instead of talking in a roundabout way? ant. direct, straightforward.

rouse vb. 1. awaken, waken, wake up: I was roused at 4 o'clock in the morning to stand watch on the ship. 2. stir up, excite, stimulate: The band played a rousing march.

rout vb. scatter, defeat, conquer, overcome: The enemy was completely routed by the attack from all sides. n. flight, defeat, retreat: When reinforcements arrived from the fort, the attackers were put to rout.

route n. track, way, course, road, path: The route across the fields is safer than the one through the forest.

routine n. way, method, system, habit: I generally follow the same routine every day, arising at seven and retiring by eleven. adj. habitual, customary, usual: The routine technique for frying an egg calls for melting the butter first. ant. adj. uncommon, rare, unusual.

rover n. wanderer, adventurer, traveler, voyager: Till he finally settled down at ninety, Swandive had been a rover all his adult life.

row¹ n. series, rank, file, array, order: The commanding officer marched past a long row of soldiers who stood at attention.

row² n. quarrel, spat, squabble, disturbance: Whenever my cousin threatened to move out of the house, there would be a big family row.

rowdy adj. brawling, disorderly, unruly: The lifeguard scolded the boys for their rowdy behavior at the pool. n. ruffian, tough, brawler: The police arrested three rowdies who were trying to break up the meeting.

royal adj. regal, majestic, noble, sovereign, ruling, imperial; kingly, queenly, princely: The royal scepter is carried in all of the processions.

rub vb. scour, scrape; shine, polish: Rub the table surface with sandpaper till it's smooth.

rubbish n. 1. waste, garbage, litter, debris, trash: Please take the rubbish out when you leave. 2. nonsense, drivel, balderdash: If she thought before speaking, maybe Mabel wouldn't talk such rubbish.

rude adj. impolite, crude, unmannerly, uncivil, ill-mannered, coarse, impudent, impertinent: I don't want anyone in my house who is so rude as to spit on the floor. ant. courteous, polished, cultivated ruffian n. See rowdy.

ruffle vb. disturb, disarrange, disorder, rumple: The pages of the book were ruffled by so many children's having read it. n. frill, trimming: There was an old-fashioned dress in the museum with white lace ruffles at the collar and cuffs.

rug n. carpet, floor-covering: Please vacuum the rug after you've dusted the room.

rugged adj. rough, harsh, severe, tough: Are you rugged enough to become a mountain climber? The trail through the bush was rugged.

ruin vb. 1. spoil, destroy, demolish, wreck: Barbie's hairdo was ruined in the rain. 2. bankrupt, beggar, impoverish: My grandfather was ruined when the company in which he had invested went broke. n. 1. rubble, wreck: The grass grew among the few walls of the ruin that still stood. 2. destruction, devastation, decay, disintegration, dilapidation: The ruin of the beautiful ancient Greek temples has deprived us of much architectural knowledge.

rule n. 1. order, ruling, law, regulation, guide. If you want to get along with a minimum of trouble, follow the rules.

2. control, government, dominion, domination: The islands off the coast don't come under the rule of the king. vb.

1. govern, control, manage, lead, conduct, direct: The king ruled the country with an iron hand. 2. decree, decide, judge: The magistrate ruled that the defendant should receive a trial by jury.

ruler n. 1. leader, governor, commander, chief: The ruler of the tribe wore a feathered costume and had a bone through his nose. 2. foot rule, yardstick: Put the ruler alongside this edge of the cabinet and tell me how long it is.

ruling n. decision, decree, judgment: The ruling was handed down by the Supreme Court that everyone must be given equal opportunity for education.

rumor n. gossip, hearsay: That news about your winning an Oscar was just a rumor, I guess.

run vb. 1. speed, hurry, hasten, race: The man just snatched my purse and ran away. 2. compete, contest, oppose: We all knew that the mayor was going to be a candidate for senator if his wife would allow him to run. 3. operate, function, work, go: My car hasn't run properly since the accident. 4. pass; ferry: The train runs only once a day. The boat runs between here and the island all the time. 5. stretch, lie, extend, reach: This railway line runs from here right up the river to the state line. 6. flow, stream, pour: The tears came running down Anne's cheeks. n. 1. sprint, dash, rush: After a ten-minute run, I finally caught the train. 2. series, sequence; spell, period: I've had a run of bad luck at cards lately. vb. phr. 1. run away escape, elope, flee: The children ran away after breaking a window. 2. run down hunt, seize, catch: The bloodhounds ran down the escaped convicts in a nearby swamp. 3. run into a. crash, collide: The two bicyclists ran into each other head on. b. meet, encounter: Guess whom I ran into at the movies last night. 4. run out lose, dissipate: I ran out of money while on vacation and had to borrow from friends. 5. run up incur: I ran up a large phone bill last month.

run-down adj. 1. dilapidated, tumbledown, ramshackle: I can't imagine why they allow that beautiful house to get into such run-down condition. 2. unhealthy, weakened, debilitated: After three weeks without any food, the survivors were in a run-down state and required a special diet.

run-of-the-mill adj. ordinary, everyday, common, average: There was nothing extraordinary about the painting—just a run-of-the-mill watercolor, I thought.

rural adj. rustic, pastoral, backwoods, country, farm, agricultural: The rural parts of the nation were just beginning to be electrified. ant. urban, citified.

ruse n. trick, stratagem, device, subterfuge: You crafty fellow—you just used the offer of chocolates as a ruse to get me to come look at your etchings!

rush vb. run, hasten, speed, hurry, dash: I rushed to the phone but the person who called hung up. n. haste, hurry: Dick came into the house in a rush—he'd forgotten his keys. ant. vb. linger, tarry.

sabotage n. treason, treachery, subversion: The police found evidence of sabotage at the airplane plant during the war. vb. subvert, impair, damage, disable: Jonathan Flews was caught trying to sabotage our plans for escape from the prison.

sack n. bag, sac, pouch: We used to carry the coal in an old potato sack.

sacred adj. holy, hallowed, divine, consecrated: Everyone should treat a church as a sacred place. ant. blasphemous, profane.

sad adj. 1. unhappy, downhearted, sorrowful, depressed, dejected, melancholy, glum, downcast, gloomy, cheerless: Mimi's kitten is lost—that's why she looks so sad. 2. saddening, discouraging, dismal, tragic: I was just sitting down to dinner when they phoned with the sad news about Grandpa. ant. happy, joyous.

safe adj. 1. protected, secure: I ran down the street and didn't feel safe till I'd locked the house door behind me. 2. reliable, trustworthy, dependable: Do you think that a hamburger stand might be a safe investment? n. vault, strong-box, safety deposit box: We don't keep important papers around the house but in the safe down at the bank. ant. adj. 1. dangerous.

safeguard n. protection, guard, shield: That new lock on the door should be an excellent safeguard against a thief's breaking in.

sag vb. droop, fail, weaken: I could feel myself sag under the weight of the couch and asked the movers for help.

sagacious adj. See sage.

sage adj. wise, sagacious, judicious, rational, logical. The old-timer gave me some sage advice about gambling. n. wise man, scholar, savant, expert.

saintly adj. devout, holy; good, virtuous, moral, righteous: Krumbel was the most charitable and saintly man I ever knew.

sake n. 1. reason, purpose, motive: The lieutenant said he would carry the flag for the sake of the regiment. 2. benefit, welfare, advantage: For whose sake are you wearing that flannel shirt on such a hot day?

salary n. wage, pay, compensation, payment: Dave found he could earn a higher salary if he changed jobs and worked for the boatyard.

saloon n. bar, cocktail lounge, pub: In the good old days, you could tell it was summer when the saloons went on half doors.

salute vb. greet, welcome, receive: When Lord Flimsy went to his club, his friends all saluted him with much respect.

salvage vb. recover, save, rescue, retrieve: The shipwrecked sailors salvaged what useful items they could from the vessel.

salvation n. rescue, deliverance; release: Grasping that root as I fell off the cliff proved to be my salvation.

same adj. identical, equivalent: Susan was very unhappy that another girl was wearing the same dress as she.

sample n. example, specimen, token: The company was giving away free samples of soap and cologne. vb. test, taste; examine, inspect: Would you care to sample some of this ham I just baked?

sanction n. 1. permission, authority, authorization, support, approval: You have the principal's sanction for putting on a musical festival at Christmas. 2. ban, embargo, penalty, punishment: The Arab nations made sanctions against the countries that supported their enemies. vb. approve, authorize, allow, permit, support: Does your mother sanction that kind of behavior in public?

sanctuary n. asylum, refuge, shelter: The murderer sought sanctuary in the church.

sane adj. rational, sound, normal, balanced, reasonable: The criminal was found to be sane and had to stand trial for robbing the old man. ant. insane, irrational, crazy.

sanguinary adj. gory, sanguineous, bloody, bloodstained: It turned out to be the most sanguinary battle in history.

sanguine adj. optimistic, confident: Rubirosa was quite sanguine about the outcome of the tennis match.

sanitary adj. clean, disinfected, hygienic, purified: The gas stations along the road have sanitary washrooms that are safe to use. ant. dirty, unclean, fouled, soiled.

sap vb. exhaust, weaken, drain, undermine: That bout I had with a virus last month sapped my strength completely, and I felt as weak as a kitten.

satanic adj. diabolical, diabolic, devilish, demonic, fiendish: Miss Pebbles watched with satanic delight as the children drowned, one by one.

satisfaction n. 1. pleasure, contentment, gratification, enjoyment: My father got considerable satisfaction from my having made the varsity football team. 2. payment, repayment, amends: The refugees demanded satisfaction from the Germans after the war, and many of them got it in the form of pensions.

satisfactory adj. sufficient, okay, all right, adequate: Victor seems to be making satisfactory progress in school. ant. unsatisfactory, poor.

satisfy vb. 1. fulfill, meet, gratify: Will you be able to satisfy the camp's requirements for a swimming instructor? 2. cheer, comfort, please: Jane's mother wasn't satisfied till she heard that the children had arrived safely.

saucy adj. impudent, impertinent, bold, insolent: That barmaid is a saucy lass, isn't she? ant. demure, shy.

saunter vb. amble, wander, stroll, walk: A well-dressed young man sauntered up to me and asked for $10 to have dinner.

savage adj. 1. wild, uncivilized, uncultivated, rough, rugged, crude, natural: Before the pioneers moved westward the savage wilderness had never seen man's footprint. 2. cruel, heartless, fierce, ferocious: The man was the victim of a savage attack on his way home that evening. n. aborigine, cannibal, native, barbarian: The painted savages had begun their dance at the fire. ant. adj. 1. tame, cultivated.

savant n. See sage.

save vb. 1. rescue, free, liberate; preserve, salvage: The fireman saved three people from the burning building. 2. preserve, keep, reserve; hoard: I managed to save $2 a week from the money I earned mowing lawns.

say vb. speak, utter, remark, state, declare: I don't think your mother heard what you said.

saying n. proverb, adage, saw, maxim, aphorism: As the old saying goes, All's well that ends well.

scale n. 1. balance, steelyard: Our bathroom scale makes you think you're five pounds lighter than you are. 2. gradation, range; ratio, proportion: The people who do hard physical work are seldom paid on the same scale as office workers. vb. climb, mount: The two men scaled the wall and ran away.

scamp n. rascal, (informal) scalawag, rogue, troublemaker: Raffles—isn't he that handsome scamp who stole my jewels in Monte Carlo?

scan vb. 1. glance at or over: I only scanned the material and I don't remember what it says. 2. examine, study: After scanning the data carefully, the analyst was ready with his report.

scandal n. disgrace, disrepute, shame, dishonor: The political scandal was so embarrassing that the mayor resigned and moved to another city.

scanty adj. sparse, scarce, meager, inadequate, insufficient: The food was becoming scanty as the family became poorer and the prices increased. ant. plentiful, abundant.

scarce adj. rare, sparse, scanty, insufficient: The high price of certain items, like gold and platinum, comes from their being scarce. ant. common, usual.

scarcely adv. hardly, barely: I had scarcely walked in the door when it began to pour outside.

scarcity n. lack, dearth, insufficiency, want, need: There is a scarcity of good craftsmen about these days. ant. abundance.

scare vb. frighten, shock, startle: You certainly scared me when you jumped out from behind that door!

scarf n. kerchief, babushka: In this cold weather you ought to wear a scarf on your head.

scatter vb. spread, sprinkle, disperse: The farmer scattered seeds along the furrows dug in the earth. ant. gather, collect, assemble.

scene n. view, display, exhibition, spectacle: The scene that lay before us as we stood at the top of the mountain will never be forgotten.

scent n. 1. odor, smell, fragrance, aroma, perfume: The scent of roses filled the morning air. 2. trail, spoor, track: A bloodhound's sense of smell is so strong that he can follow a week-old scent.

schedule n. timetable, program, plan, calendar: According to the schedule, the train from Chicago should have been here ten minutes ago. vb. plan, program, list: My English class is scheduled for ten o'clock every morning.

scheme n. 1. plan, plot, design, program: I have worked out a scheme that will allow me to have a library study period before my history class. 2. plot, intrigue, conspiracy: The secret service discovered a scheme to assassinate the President. vb. plan, plot, intrigue, contrive: The town government was so corrupt that every politician was scheming against every other politician.

scholar n. student; savant, wise man, sage; teacher, professor: As a scholar in the humanities, the professor had written many famous books on English literature.

scoff vb. mock, belittle, deride, ridicule: They scoff at scars who never felt a wound. The children scoffed at my story about finding a monster in the school basement.

scold vb. reprove, berate, reprimand, criticize, censure, blame: Dad scolded me for coming home late for dinner.

scope n. range, reach, extent: The broad scope of the study of the population included everyone.

scorch vb. char, burn, singe: The laundry scorched the sleeve of my shirt when they ironed it.

score n. 1. record, tally, reckoning. According to the score, the home team is winning. The coach asked me to keep score. 2. rating, mark: Dick received the highest score in the class. 3. account: I have a score to settle with Dorothy because of what she has been telling people about me. vb. record, tabulate, count: Brenda scored the highest of all the students in the math test.

scorn n. contempt: Betty turned up her nose to show her scorn for anyone who cheated on an exam. vb. 1. despise, hate: All our friends scorned people who were dishonest. 2. refuse, ignore, spurn, reject: I scorned his offer to behave because I knew he'd do the same thing again.

scornful adj. contemptuous, disdainful: You wouldn't be so scornful of success if you had ever enjoyed any.

scoundrel n. cad, villain, knave, rogue: This scoundrel, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, robbed old ladies at gunpoint.

scour vb. scrub, clean, wash: Diane used powder to scour the baking pan.

scourge n. 1. affliction, plague: Lack of adequate food is the scourge of many countries. 2. whip, lash: The slave driver lay about him with a leather scourge, beating all within his reach. vb. punish, chastise, afflict; torment: In the old days, criminals were scourged in public by beating with a cat o' nine tails.

scowl vb., n. glare, frown, glower: The teacher scowled at anyone who gave a wrong answer. The old man looked unpleasant because of the scowl on his face.

scramble vb. 1. mix, blend, combine: I had scrambled eggs for breakfast. 2. hasten, scurry; clamber, climb: When the announcement came to abandon ship, the passengers scrambled into the lifeboats.

scrap n. 1. piece, part, fragment, crumb, rag: Please pick up every scrap of paper you can find. 2. junk, waste, trash: Vincent's uncle is a dealer in metal scrap. vb. junk, discard, abandon: I should have scrapped that car months ago—it's not safe to drive anymore.

scrape vb. scour, rub; scratch: Every spring we scrape the paint off the bottom of our boat and put on a fresh coat.

scratch vb., n. scar, scrape: I scratched my finger with that saw, so I'll put some iodine on it. My mother was angry when she saw the scratch on the table. n. phr. from scratch from the beginning, from the outset: You'll have to start from scratch if you want that paint job to turn out well.

scrawny adj. skinny, thin, spindly, gaunt: Are you telling me that this scrawny little kid trounced the town bully?! ant. burly, husky.

scream vb., n. shriek, cry, yell, screech: We heard a woman scream so we called the police. When she saw that someone had walked in her flowerbed, my aunt let out a scream.

screech vb., n. scream, shriek, yell, cry The owl screeched in the darkness, and we huddled together. When Anne saw us get off the plane, she gave a screech of joy and ran toward us.

screen n. cover, protection, separation, partition: An ornate screen divided the room in two. vb. shield, conceal, hide; separate, partition: The bookcase screened the other side of the room from my view.

scrimp vb. save, conserve, economize, skimp: That old washerwoman scrimped for 50 years, and she now owns most of the downtown real estate.

script n. 1. handwriting, hand, penmanship, writing: The old man wrote his letters in a beautiful, ornate script. 2. book, scenario, lines, text: Maureen didn't know her part because, she said, she'd lost her script on the bus.

scrounge vb. borrow, cadge, (informal) sponge: Felix scrounged drink money from everyone he knew. n. parasite, leech, (informal) sponge: Don't lend any money to that scrounge Cuthbert.

scrub vb. scour, wash, cleanse, clean: Don't scrub my clothes so hard—you're wearing them out.

scrupulous adj. painstaking, critical, exacting, careful, fastidious: Allen is known for his scrupulous scholarship. ant. careless.

scrutinize vb. examine, study: The detectives scrutinized every inch of the room, looking for a clue to the murderer.

scurrilous adj. outrageous, abusive, insulting: The Sunday Blare has launched a scurrilous attack on the government.

scurry vb. scramble, hustle, hurry, hasten, scamper: The rabbit scurried around the hedge and into its burrow.

scuttle vb. sink, ditch, swamp: We scuttled the ship rather than let it fall into enemy hands.

seal n. symbol, signet, insigne, mark, emblem, stamp, crest: I at once recognized the seal as that of the Brennensollich family. vb. approve, endorse, sign, stamp: Now that we've agreed to the bargain, let's seal it with a kiss.

search vb. explore, examine, investigate, scrutinize, inspect: We searched everywhere but couldn't find a trace of the stolen tarts. n. exploration, examination, investigation; quest, hunt: The search for the kidnapped heir goes on.

seasoned adj. experienced, skilled, veteran: Desmond served with the navy and is a seasoned sailor.

secede vb. withdraw, resign, quit: Do you know how many states seceded from the Union in 1861?

secluded adj. separate, isolated, sheltered, hidden, secret: We held our meeting in a secluded copse in the Bois de Boulogne.

secret adj. hidden, concealed, unknown: My brother and I used to talk a secret language. n. confidence; mystery: If you can keep a secret, I'll tell you where Ma has hidden the chocolate. ant. adj. open, public.

sect n. denomination, group, segment, faction: Which sect of the Protestant church does your family belong to?

section n. sector, part, segment, division, subdivision; share: I had two sections of an orange for breakfast. What section of town does Blanche live in?

secure adj. 1. firm, tight, fast, fastened, stable, fixed: "The lifeboats are all secure, Captain," reported the seaman. 2. safe, protected, defended: We felt secure, huddled in the warm cabin around the fire. 3. assured, self-assured, confident, resolute: I envy Barbie when she applies for a job—she always seems so secure. vb. 1. fasten, fix, tighten: Please secure the door when you go out. 2. obtain, procure, acquire: The officer ordered the seamen to secure a supply of diesel fuel for the launch. 3. protect, defend guard: The fort will be secured from attack when the cavalry arrives. ant. adj. 1. loose, free. 2. endangered.

sedate adj. 1. calm, unruffled, serene, composed, controlled: A sedate, matronly woman sat on the judge's bench. 2. proper, prim, dignified: Charley is too sedate to do the twist or even try it. vb. drug, tranquilize, narcotize: The doctor sedated Paul, who soon drifted off into sleep.

sediment n. dregs, lees, grounds, residue: I hate drinking coffee that has sediment at the bottom of the cup.

see vb. 1. observe, perceive, look at, descry, behold, regard, examine, study, view, eye, notice: I can see a small red barn or boathouse across the river, but it's too far to see if anyone is near it. 2. understand, comprehend, recognize, appreciate: Yes, I see what you mean about Louis. 3. learn, determine, find out, ascertain: Please see who's at the door. 4. experience, undergo, suffer: I've seen a lot of life in just a few years. 5. escort, attend, accompany: I'll see you to your limousine, madam. 6. think, deliberate, ponder: I'll see about that matter at another time.

seedy adj. run-down, shabby, mean, squalid: Beppo was holed up in a seedy hotel on the other side of town.

seek vb. search for, look for: The dog came sniffing up to us, seeking his master.

seem vb. appear, look: That man seems to be lost; perhaps you can help him.

segment n. section, division, part, portion: If you start hiccuping again, chew slowly on a segment of lemon with the rind, sprinkled with sugar and Angostura bitters.

segregate vb. separate; ostracize, exclude: I want you to segregate the goats from that herd of animals over there. ant. combine; include.

seize vb. 1. grab, grasp, clutch: The thief tried to seize the woman's handbag, but she held it tight and he ran off. 2. capture, take: After a siege of 40 days, the attackers finally seized the castle. ant. 1. release, loosen.

seldom adv. rarely, not often, infrequently, scarcely: We seldom see Harvey anymore.

select vb. choose, pick, prefer: In a supermarket you can select the fruit you want by yourself. adj. special, chosen, choice, preferred, selected, picked, elite: The select troops became the king's personal bodyguard.

self-important adj. conceited, egocentric, egotistical, proud: That self-important little man comes into my shoe-shine parlor and orders everyone about.

selfish adj. self-centered, greedy, stingy, mean, miserly: Selfish people seldom have really good friends.

self-satisfied adj. complacent, smug: She is so self-satisfied at having found my error, she looks like the cat that swallowed the canary.

sell vb. vend, trade, barter, market, retail, merchandise: She sells seashells by the seashore; the seashells that she sells are seashore shells.

send vb. dispatch, transmit, forward, convey, ship, mail: The manufacturer wrote that he had sent the goods by truck.

senior adj. older, elder; superior: The senior senator from Montana made a four-hour speech about sheep. ant. junior, minor.

sensation n. 1. sense, feeling, sensibility, perception, sensitivity: The dentist gave me a shot when he filled the cavity, and I have no sensation in my lower lip. 2. excitement, thrill, stimulation: The new rock group was an overnight sensation.

sensational adj. thrilling, startling, exciting, marvelous, superb, spectacular: My closest friend has just written what will probably be a sensational bestseller.

sense n. 1. sensation, feeling, perception: The doctor asked me if I had any sense in my left leg. 2. understanding, reasoning, intellect, judgment, wit, common sense, brains: I don't know what's the matter with Sadie, but she hasn't the sense she was born with! 3. insight, awareness, consciousness: Have you no sense of honor or of loyalty? vb. perceive, feel, discern, appreciate: I sensed someone near me, even though I had heard nothing and couldn't see in the darkness.

sensible adj. reasonable, rational, commonsensical; responsive; responsible: I am pleased that Don is sensible enough to want to complete school. ant. foolish.

sensitive adj. 1. sore, tender, delicate: The end of my finger is still sensitive where I burned it yesterday. 2. touchy, tense, nervous: Donald is very sensitive on the subject of the marks he got in school last year. 3. perceptive, keen, receptive: Bob has very sensitive hearing.

sensual adj. 1. erotic, sexual, lustful, carnal: Testapiccola has to learn to curb his sensual nature if he is going to be a schoolteacher. 2. lewd, lascivious, indecent: Flemburg's sensual appetites have got him into a lot of trouble lately.

sentiment n. 1. feeling, attitude, opinion: Roger never let his sentiments be known about the loss of his aunt. 2. tenderness, emotion: The movie was so full of sentiment that even the adults cried.

separate vb. 1. divide, disconnect, split, break up: We finally separated the two fighting dogs. 2. isolate, segregate: The boys and the girls are separated in our school. adj. 1. separated, apart, divided, detached: We were able to keep the dogs and the cats separate. 2. distinct, different: Please sort the nuts and the bolts into separate containers. 3. independent: Victor's mother and father have decided to lead separate lives.

sequence n. order, succession, series, arrangement: Please put these words into alphabetic sequence.

serene adj. peaceful, quiet, calm, tranquil: The lake was again serene after the storm had passed. ant. agitated, turbulent, stormy.

series n. order, sequence, succession: Fourteen cars were damaged in a series of rear-end collisions on the freeway last night.

serious adj. 1. grave, earnest, sober, solemn: I think you ought to have more fun and try to be less serious. 2. important, critical: Disobeying the school rules is a serious matter.
ant. 1. frivolous, jocular, light.

servant n. domestic, attendant, retainer, butler, valet, manservant, footman; maidservant, maid: Many of the large houses are now closed down because people no longer wish to work as servants.

serve vb. 1. attend, wait on: The waitress came over to our table and asked, "May I serve you?" 2. assist, help, aid: The soldier reenlisted in order to serve his country.

session n. meeting, sitting, gathering: 1975 marked the 93rd Session of the Congress of the United States.

set vb. 1. put, place, position, pose, station: You can set the table down near the window. 2. assign, appoint, fix, settle, establish, determine: If you will set a time when we are to meet, I shall be there. 3. harden, solidify, thicken, congeal, jell: The cement will set overnight. 4. rate, price, value: The discount at the sale was set at 20 percent. vb. phr. set apart separate, segregate: The children who refused to behave were set apart from the others. set aside save, reserve: The man in the shop has set aside a transistor radio for me till I have the money to pay for it. set back slow, retard, hinder, delay: Our original schedule was set back six weeks by a fire at the factory. set down write, record: Each student should set down his own ideas for where we have the picnic. set forth begin, start: The Pilgrims set forth on their journey from Plymouth. set free liberate, release, free: We took the fawn into the forest and set it free. set off 1. detonate, touch off, explode: The children are not allowed to set off the fireworks by themselves. 2. embark, start out: I like to set off on a car trip early in the morning. 3. contrast, offset: The red necktie sets off the pale pink shirt very well. set out begin, start, commence: There were ten people at the inn who had set out from London that morning. set up establish, found: The children set up a business to sell lemonade during the hot summer. set upon or set on attack: The stagecoach was set upon by robbers as soon as it left town. n. 1. collection, assortment; kit: The stamp collector has a complete set of first-day covers. Do you have a chemistry set? 2. group, company, clique, circle: I don't like the set that Margie is going with these days. adj. 1. stubborn, obstinate, determined: The old man was dead set against any new ideas. 2. settled, firm, unchanging: Agnes's father is very set in his ways, isn't he?

settle vb. 1. agree upon, establish, decide: I think we ought to be able to settle who is going to clean the erasers. 2. pay, satisfy: The insurance company settled the claim in two weeks. 3. locate, lodge, reside, abide: The Mormons settled in Salt Lake City. 4. sink, subside: The ground under the new house settled, creating cracks in the walls.

sever vb. cut; divide; split: Before cutting the log for firewood, Tim severed the branches from it. ant. join, connect.

several adj. a few, some, a couple, a handful: Several people have asked me if I know you.

severe adj. 1. cruel, strict, harsh, rigid, firm, unyielding: The principal of our school is a severe disciplinarian. 2. difficult, harsh, unpleasant: An especially severe winter has made our fuel bill much higher. 3. violent, dangerous: The severe storm knocked down power lines all over the state.
ant. 1. lenient, easygoing. 2. mild.

sew vb. stitch; mend: Mother sewed up a hole in my sock.

shabby adj. ragged, worn, threadbare: Van's uncle loved to wear a shabby old raincoat to the office.

shack n. hut, hovel, shed, shanty: The hunter lived alone in a shack in the woods.

shackle n. fetter, manacle, chain, handcuff: They put shackles on old Mrs. Corbett before bringing her in for that parking offense.

shade n. 1. shadow, darkness, gloom, dusk: In the shade, I was unable to see who it was. 2. tint, color, hue: That shade of blue goes with your eyes very well. vb. 1. darken, blacken: If you shade that part of the drawing, it will look more natural. 2. screen, conceal, cover, block: I shaded the sun from my eyes with my hand.

shadowy adj. dim, indistinct, vague, undefined, indefinite: A shadowy figure approached me in the dark alley, raised one arm with what seemed to be a weapon, and— ant. clear, distinct.

shady adj. 1. shaded: Let's walk on the shady side, out of the hot sun. 2. doubtful, questionable, shifty, devious: Gabriela didn't like my spending so much time with those shady characters at the library.

shaggy adj. woolly, hairy, uncombed, unkempt: Tom received a shaggy dog for Christmas from his parents.

shake vb. quiver, tremble, quake, shiver, shudder: The tiny kitten was shaking with the cold on our doorstep, so we took it inside.

shaky adj. uncertain, (informal) iffy, questionable, faltering, unsteady: I thought we had a deal, but with the news of the buyout, it seems very shaky now. ant. definite, sure, certain, positive.

shame n. 1. embarrassment, humiliation: A feeling of shame came over me when I realized that Suzie had overheard me talking about her sister. 2. disgrace, dishonor: The soldier's court-martial brought shame to the entire platoon. vb. 1. humiliate, humble, abash, mortify: Tony was shamed into admitting that she had taken all the cookies out of the jar. 2. disgrace, dishonor, humble: Should a teacher be shamed by a student who misbehaves? ant. n. 2. pride, honor.

shameful adj. disgraceful, humiliating, dishonorable, scandalous: I think it shameful the way your aunt gossips with everyone about everyone else's personal affairs.

shameless adj. unashamed, unembarrassed; bold, brazen, insolent, impudent: The girls who pose for the photos in that magazine are absolutely shameless. ant. modest, demure.

shape n. 1. form, figure, outline; appearance: That swimming pool is in the shape of a question mark. 2. mold, frame, form, pattern, cast: The clay hardened into the shape of the container where it is kept. vb. form, fashion, model; mold, cast: Try to shape this block of wood to resemble an apple.

shapeless adj. amorphous, rough, vague: When I hit him with the crucifix, the "ghost" collapsed in a shapeless mass on the floor.

shapely adj. well-formed, attractive, alluring, curvy, (slang) built: Figly liked the dress business because of the shapely models he associated with. ant. shapeless.

share n. portion, part, ration, allotment: You have already eaten your share of the pie. vb. 1. participate, partake: Everyone who does his work can share in the rewards. 2. divide, distribute, apportion: I think you ought to share the candy among you equally.

sharp adj. keen, acute, cutting, fine: The guide's hunting knife has such a sharp edge that he can shave with it. ant. blunt, dull.

sharpen vb. hone, whet, strop: The man in the van visits the restaurants weekly to sharpen their chefs' knives.

shatter vb. shiver, break, burst: The baseball went through Mrs. Maloney's window and shattered it.

shawl n. scarf, stole: The old lady bundled the woolen shawl around her shoulders to keep warm.

sheer adj. 1. transparent, thin, see-through; clear: The model was wearing sheer stockings. 2. utter, simple, absolute: Your story about the frog turning into a prince is sheer nonsense. 3. steep, abrupt: We were faced with a sheer rocky cliff that no one could climb.

sheet n. layer, leaf; film, coating. Put a sheet of paper over the top of the jar before sealing it. There's a sheet of ice on the roads tonight, so be careful.

shelter n. protection, haven, sanctuary: We sought shelter from the storm by crouching in a cave. vb. protect, shield, harbor, guard: The farmer sheltered many fugitives who escaped from the chain gang.

shield n. guard, defense, protection, shelter: We had to plant a row of trees alongside the house as a shield from the icy winds. vb. guard, defend, protect, shelter: The magician gave Bobby a coat that would shield him from the harmful rays of the villain's raygun.

shift vb. move, change, transfer: The foreman shifted three men from the factory to the warehouse. The wind, which had been from the south, shifted to the north. n. 1. move, change, transfer: My shift to another job in the company meant I would earn more money. 2. turn, spell, period: I work the day shift but I used to work nights.

shiftless adj. lazy, indolent, idle, slothful: Mario Farniente is so shiftless that he goes into the intensive care unit at the hospital for his vacations. ant. energetic.

shifty adj. crafty, shrewd, cunning, tricky, sly: It was pretty shifty of you to sneak out of the hotel without paying.

shilly-shally vb. waver, vacillate, fluctuate, hesitate: Stay here or go with me, but stop shilly-shallying.

shimmer vb. shine, glimmer, glisten, gleam: The moonlight was shimmering on the lake as we finally put out the campfire and went to sleep.

shine vb. 1. gleam, beam, glisten, glimmer, shimmer, glow, radiate: The sun shone every day of our holiday. 2. polish, brush, buff: I shined my riding boots in preparation for the horse show competition. n. gloss, luster, radiance, polish: My face was reflected in the shine of the chrome on the car.

shiny adj. glossy, polished, bright, glistening: The furniture is shiny because someone waxes it once a week. ant. dull, lusterless shipshape adj. neat, clean, Bristol-fashion: The chief petty officer told the seamen to put everything into shipshape order. ant. messy, sloppy.

shiver vb. 1. quake, tremble, quiver, quaver, shudder, shake: We stood on the corner, shivering in the cold, waiting for the school bus. 2. shatter, break, burst: The mirror shivered into a thousand splinters when the bullet struck it. n. shudder, tremble: A shiver ran down my spine when I thought of the way the kitten had been killed.

shock n. 1. blow, clash, collision, impact: The shock of the huge truck striking the wall broke all the windows in the house. 2. disturbance, upset, agitation: The shock at the news of her son's death was too much for the mother to bear. vb. 1. surprise, stagger, astound, stun, startle, bewilder: The parents were shocked when they saw the X-rated film. 2. horrify, outrage, offend, revolt, appall: The world was shocked to discover what had been going on in the Nazi death camps.

shore n. beach, coast, seaside, seacoast: When the boat neared the shore, two of the three men in it jumped out and waded in to meet us.

short adj. 1. brief, concise, abbreviated, condensed, curtailed, terse, abridged: The movie is short—it lasts only 20 minutes. 2. slight, little, undersized, scanty: The string is too short to go around the package even once. ant. 1. long, lengthy. 2. tall.

shortage n. deficit, deficiency, shortfall: There is a shortage in the accounts and you will have to make up the difference. ant. surplus.

shortcoming n. weakness, failing, frailty: Yes, I must admit that dishonesty could be a shortcoming in a bank teller. ant. strength.

shorten vb. 1. cut, curtail, abbreviate, abridge: The article is good, but it has to be shortened to fit into the space in our magazine. 2. take in, lessen, reduce: The dressmaker had to shorten my sister's skirt by three inches. ant. lengthen.

short-handed adj. understaffed: During the summer, with many people away on vacation, we are often short-handed.

shortly adv. soon, anon, presently, directly: I'll be with you shortly, as soon as I have found my glasses.

shortsighted adj. 1. nearsighted, myopic: The optometrist said that I was shortsighted and needed glasses. 2. thoughtless, unthinking, unimaginative: It was quite shortsighted of you not to have foreseen your mother's displeasure at the ink on the carpet.

shout n., vb. yell, roar, bellow: Jimmy gave a shout when I stepped on his toe. "Ouch!" he shouted.

shove vb., n. push, jostle: The conductor shoved a few more people into the subway car. If you give the wagon a good shove, it will roll down the hill by itself.

shovel n. spade: Tom picked up the coal shovel and started to stoke the furnace.

show vb. 1. display, present, exhibit, I have already shown you all the books I have on the subject of gardening. 2. indicate, note, point: Show me the way to go home. 3. explain, reveal, tell: I wish you would show me how to do that trick with the disappearing mouse. 4. prove, demonstrate: If you expect me to believe your story about the purple banana, you'll have to show me. 5. guide, usher, lead: The man in the green uniform will show you to your seats. vb. phr. show in conduct, lead, direct: Please show Mr. Gilbert in. show off brag, boast: Every time the teacher looks at him, Oscar shows off. show up 1. arrive, appear, turn up, surface: Ten o'clock is no time to show up for school! 2. expose, belittle, discredit: The experienced pianist did not like being shown up by his own pupil. n. 1. presentation, exhibit, exhibition, display: Mother and I went to a flower show yesterday. 2. drama, play, musical: Where are we to meet after the show?

shred n., vb. tatter, mince: After the fight, Moran's shirt was in shreds. I like shredded carrots in my salad.

shrewd adj. 1. cunning, sly, crafty, tricky: Putting a tack on the teacher's chair was not a very shrewd move: Moriarty. 2. clever, ingenious, intelligent: My father is a very shrewd investor, and many seek his advice.

shriek vb., n. scream, screech, yell, howl: Mother shrieked when she saw the bloody bandage on my arm. We were very frightened when we heard a piercing shriek at midnight.

shrill adj. sharp, piercing: The train whistle was so shrill that it hurt my ears. ant. muted, muffled.

shrink vb. 1. contract, diminish, dwindle, shrivel: If you wash that shirt in hot water, it will shrink two sizes. 2. recoil, withdraw, flinch, retreat: Dick shrinks from any responsibility you try to give him. ant. 1. swell.

shudder vb., n. shiver, tremble, shake, quiver: I shuddered at the thought of going out into the bitter cold. The dog gave a violent shudder, making the rain from his coat fly everywhere.

shun vb. avoid, evade, elude: I can't help the feeling I have that George is shunning me.

- shut vb. close; lock, seal: Please shut the door when you leave. ant. open.
- shy adj. timid, bashful: Liza used to be very shy, but now she talks freely to everyone. ant. bold, self-confident, brazen.
- sick adj. ill, unwell, ailing, unhealthy, infirm: Irena was sick in bed for only one day in the past ten years.
- side n. 1. face, surface: A cube has six sides. 2. opponent, foe, rival: Which side are you for, the one with the green helmets or the one in the white? adj. secondary, indirect; unimportant: The main issue is the kind of postal service we are getting; the cost of a stamp is a side issue.
- siege n. blockade: The castle was under siege for six months before it finally gave up.
- sieve n. strainer, colander, screen, riddle: After the mixture is passed through a sieve to separate out the coarser parts, you cook the remainder for two hours.
- sight n. 1. vision, eyesight: Bill's sight requires him to wear eyeglasses. 2. view, spectacle, scene, display: The trained porpoises leaping through the air together are quite a sight. 3. eyesore: My mother told me that my room was a sight and that I must clean it up at once.
- sign n. 1. symbol, token, indication, suggestion, hint: Those black clouds on the horizon are the sign of a coming storm. 2. signal, clue: The dog gave no sign that it would bite. vb. authorize, approve, confirm: Please sign the contract on the dotted line.
- signal n. sign, beacon, flag: What kind of signal did Paul Revere receive from the Old North Church tower?
- significance n. importance, weight, moment: I didn't understand the significance of the teacher's remarks until many years later.
- significant adj. important, meaningful, vital, crucial, critical: The significant part of the speech by the principal was applauded by the audience. ant. unimportant, insignificant, trivial.
- signify vb. 1. indicate, show, signal, communicate: The policeman signified his permission to cross the street by a smile and a nod. 2. mean: What do you suppose those strange hand movements signify?
- silence n. 1. quiet, stillness, noiselessness, soundlessness, hush: After the noise and bustle of the city, I really enjoy the silence and serenity of the country. 2. muteness, speechlessness: Silence is golden, but speech is silver. ant. 1. noisiness, clamor, racket.

- silent adj. 1. quiet, noiseless, soundless, still, hushed: I dived down into the lake, down into its silent depths. 2. mute, speechless, uncommunicative: My father was silent on the subject of where we were going for our vacation. ant. 1. noisy, clamorous. 2. talkative, communicative.
- silly adj. senseless, foolish, stupid, ridiculous, witless, thimble-witted: I want to be serious and you keep on acting in that silly way, giggling all the time.
- similar adj. like, resembling, alike: A teaspoon and a soup spoon are similar, but not identical. Your shirt is similar to mine. ant. different, dissimilar.
- similarity n. likeness, resemblance: I see the similarity between our ideas, but there are still many differences.
- simple adj. 1. uncomplicated: Addition and subtraction are parts of simple arithmetic. 2. clear, understandable, plain: I cannot give you a simple explanation of why plants are green. 3. easy: That was a simple history exam. ant. 1. complicated, complex. 2. difficult, abstruse. 3. demanding.
- simpleton n. fool, idiot, imbecile, ignoramus, (slang) jerk: Dumbovsky is such a simpleton that he can't walk and chew gum at the same time.
- sin n. trespass, transgression, wickedness: The seven deadly sins are pride, anger, covetousness, lust, gluttony, envy, and sloth. vb. trespass, transgress: Daisy sinned by wishing she had a dress like Margo's.
- sincere adj. 1. honest, open, candid, faithful, trustworthy: Don is a sincere friend. 2. genuine, real, true: Mabel shed sincere tears for her lost puppy.
- sincerity n. honesty, openness, candor, frankness: I believed everything you told me because you spoke with such sincerity.
- sinful adj. evil, wicked: It's absolutely sinful the way that magazine publishes pictures of nude animals!
- single adj. 1. one, lone, sole, solitary: A single man stood on the beach, looking out toward the horizon. 2. unmarried, unwed, unattached: The party at the club next week will be for single people only. 3. individual, private: I reserved a single room at the hotel.
- singular adj. 1. remarkable, unusual, extraordinary, rare, uncommon, exceptional: Shooting the rapids in a two-man canoe is a singular experience. 2. strange, odd, peculiar, queer, eccentric, curious: The mating dance of certain birds is very singular.
- sink vb. descend, fall, drop: He let go the life preserver and sank like a stone in the deep water.

- sip vb. taste, drink: You should sip the hot lemonade slowly. n. taste, swallow, drink: May I have a sip of your ginger ale?
- site n. location, place, position: We selected a flat, grassy site to pitch our tent.
- situation n. 1. location, site, locale, placement, position: The situation of the house gives it magnificent views in three directions. 2. condition, state, circumstances: In the present situation, it may not be easy to find a job after school.
- size n. dimension, extent, measurement: If the size of the desk is greater than the space where you want to put it, it won't fit.
- sketch n. drawing, picture: Here is a rough sketch of my home. vb. draw, outline, represent: In art class, the students were asked to sketch a model of a monkey.
- sketchy adj. vague, indefinite, indistinct, incomplete: The woman could give only a sketchy description of her attacker. ant. detailed, definite, complete.
- skill n. ability, talent: Richard plays the piano with great skill.
- skillful adj. skilled, accomplished, expert, adept, proficient: It takes a skillful artist to capture a person's character in a portrait. ant. inept, clumsy, awkward.
- skimpy adj. meager, scanty; cheap, stingy: A dime is a pretty skimpy contribution to the cancer fund. ant. generous, abundant.
- skin n. covering, outside, peel, shell, rind: This lemon has a thick skin. vb. peel, pare; flay: Skin these grapes for me, would you? The cruel pirate gave the man twenty lashes, almost skinning him alive.
- skinny adj. thin, scrawny, gaunt, raw-boned: Would you believe that this beautiful movie star was once a skinny little girl? ant. heavy, hefty, fat.
- slack adj. 1. loose, lax, limp: Let the jump rope hang slack, so that it touches the ground at the center. 2. lazy: Tim is very slack about getting his work done. 3. slow, inactive, sluggish: Summer is the slack period in our business. ant. 1. taut, stiff, rigid. 3. active, busy.
- slang n. dialect, jargon: "Shavetail" was American army slang for a second lieutenant.
- slant vb. lean, incline, slope, tilt: The roof slants down on this side to let the snow slide off easily. n. 1. incline, slope, pitch: We came to a steep slant in the road, and the car would go no farther. 2. angle, approach: I got a new slant on you when I heard you give a speech in the assembly.
- slash vb. 1. slit, cut, gash: The recipe says to slash the roast in

- several places with a sharp knife and to insert garlic in the slits.* 2. reduce, lower, cut: Prices on clothing were slashed after Christmas. n. slit, cut, gash: There were three slashes in my car tire.
- slaughter vb. kill, butcher, massacre, slay: The buffalo were rounded up in the Old West and slaughtered by the millions. n. killing, butchery, butchering, massacre: We must do something to prevent the continued slaughter of wildlife.
- slave n. serf, bondsman, bondservant: The ancient Greeks used to make slaves of the people they conquered in war.
- slavery n. bondage, captivity, enslavement, thralldom: The soldiers captured the natives and sold them into slavery in Morocco.
- slay vb. kill, assassinate, murder: She was paid $50,000 in gold to slay the minister.
- sleep n., vb. rest, repose, slumber, nap, snooze, doze: I had only five hours' sleep last night. If you sleep too little, you're tired the entire next day.
- sleepy adj. drowsy, tired, nodding, somnolent: I am so sleepy that I can scarcely sit up any longer.
- slender adj. slim, trim, slight, thin: We keep slender in our family by getting plenty of exercise, plenty of sleep, and by not overeating. ant. heavy, fat, overweight.
- slide vb. slip, glide, skid, skim: We used to have fun sliding down the snowy hills on an old board if we had no sled.
- slight adj. 1. small, sparse, scanty, spare: It takes only a very slight amount of insecticide to kill a fly. 2. insignificant, unimportant, trivial: Irena has a terrible temper and gets angry at the slightest thing. vb. ignore, disregard, snub, scorn: I felt slighted because I wasn't invited to the dance. ant. adj. 1. large, enormous, huge. 2. major, significant. vb. flatter, compliment.
- slim adj. 1. slender, thin, slight; lank: Sophie looks quite slim now that she has lost 20 pounds. 2. small, unimportant, insignificant, weak, scanty, slight: Ben stands a very slim chance of winning if he has to play chess with Ed.
- slip vb. 1. slide, glide; shift: I was about to slip off the edge of the cliff when a strong hand caught me and hauled me to safety. 2. err, blunder: I slipped when I gave away your secret. n. error, mistake, blunder: Your telling my father about where we went yesterday was an unfortunate slip.
- slippery adj. See shifty.
- slipshod adj. careless, sloppy: The dentist did a slipshod job on the repair of that filling. ant. careful.

slit vb. cut, slash: With one stroke, I slit open the fish. n. cut, slash, slot, tear: The slit in the evening dress started at the hem and went up above the knee.

slogan n. motto, catchword: "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too!" was the slogan of John Tyler's presidential campaign.

slope vb., n. incline, slant: The lawn behind my house slopes down to the river. The trees on that slope are all bent by the wind.

slovenly adj. 1. messy, unkempt, sloppy, bedraggled: He was dressed in such a slovenly manner—how could I tell he was a prince? 2. sloppy, slipshod, careless, slapdash: That's the last time I hire such a slovenly maid to clean my house! ant. 1. neat. 2. meticulous.

slow adj. 1. unhurried, gradual, leisurely: The slow pace of life in the country is more to my liking than the hectic activity of a big city. 2. late, delayed, behindhand: My watch is five minutes slow. 3. dull, boring, tedious: The play was very slow—I fell asleep. vb. retard, hinder, obstruct, slacken: We slowed down when we came to the curve. ant. 1. fast, quick. 2. fast, ahead.

sluggish adj. slow, lethargic, phlegmatic: Sergei is very sluggish when he is paid by the hour, but he works like lightning when paid by the job. ant. energetic, vivacious.

slumber n., vb. sleep, rest, doze; rest, repose: Nothing can disturb Della's slumber. My father slumbered on, despite the noise of the firemen, ambulances, and police.

slump n. decline, descent, drop, fall; depression: Prices were in a slump at the Stock Exchange this week. vb. sink, decline, descend: George slumped in his chair when Bob told him he couldn't go to the movies with him.

sly adj. cunning, crafty, secretive, wily, foxy: Harvey pulled a sly trick on me when he listened in on my phone conversation.

small adj. 1. little, tiny, miniature: The watch was so small I could hardly see the face. 2. unimportant, insignificant, minor, trivial: Whether you go to the theater or not is a small matter to me. ant. 1. large, big, enormous.

smart adj. clever, intelligent, bright: Donald was smart enough to get straight A's in school. vb. sting, hurt, burn: That iodine smarts when you put it on an open cut. ant. adj. stupid, slow, dumb.

smash vb. break, crash, crush, demolish: The car was badly smashed in the accident. n. crash, shattering: I heard the smash of a pane of glass and thought it was a burglar.

smear vb. 1. rub, spread, wipe: Please wash up before dinner:

your hands are smeared with grease. 2. slander, libel, defame: After he was smeared for his connection with the building scandal, the mayor could not win reelection.

smell vb. scent, sniff, detect: I can smell turkey roasting, and it's making me hungry. n. 1. scent, odor, aroma, bouquet: The smell of orange blossoms filled the air. 2. odor, stench, stink: I can't stand the smell of dead fish.

smile n. grin: I can see the smile on your face when you think about an ice cream sundae. vb. grin, beam: Uncle Bill smiled when I handed him his birthday gift. ant. n., vb. scowl, frown.

smooth adj. even, level, flat, unwrinkled: There was no wind, and the lake was as smooth as glass. After he shaves, my father's cheek is so smooth! vb. level, even, flatten, iron: Doris smoothed down the sheets on the bed before putting on the blankets. ant. adj. rough, uneven.

smother vb. stifle, asphyxiate, suffocate: We were almost smothered by the thick blanket of smoke from the fire.

snappy adj. 1. quick, in a jiffy: Get off the top of my car and make it snappy. 2. chic, stylish, modish, à la mode, fashionable: Pierre is such a snappy dresser, with that yellow vest and spats to match!

snare n. trap, net: We set snares for the fox that was eating our chickens. vb. trap, catch, capture: Dave built a large cage in which he hoped to snare a raccoon.

snarl vb. growl: The dog snarled at the letter carrier.

snatch vb. seize, grab, grasp: Dorothy just snatched the apple out of my hand and ran away with it.

sneak vb. slink, skulk, steal: Roger sneaked in when no one was looking and stole a pie.

sneer vb. scorn, scoff, mock, jeer, taunt: Don't sneer at my swimming records unless you can do better. n. jeer; disdain: With a sneer, Victor dismissed my attempt at drawing a plan for our new clubhouse.

sniveling adj. weepy, whining, whimpering, sniffing, blubbering: You are well rid of that sniveling toady, Snidebank.

snobbish adj. conceited, snobby, snotty, uppity, snooty: She's so snobbish that she talks only to people with a title—and that doesn't include the title "Janitor."

snub vb. slight, insult; rebuke: Mary was upset when her friends snubbed her at the party just because she had a shabby dress. n. slight, insult, humiliation: We all felt the snub when we weren't invited to dinner at the country club.

snug adj. 1. cozy, sheltered, comfortable: We built a snug den in our house, with a fireplace and comfortable chairs. 2. close-fitting, trim, tight: Don't you think that those trousers are a little snug around the hips?

soak vb. drench, wet, steep, saturate: You'll have to soak that cloth in bleach overnight to remove the stain.

soar vb. fly, glide: High above us, the hawk soared in circles, his wings motionless.

sob vb. lament, cry, weep: The little boy was sobbing because some bigger boys had taken away his ball.

sober adj. 1. clear-headed, moderate: Whenever my grandfather has to drive a car, he doesn't drink and stays sober. 2. serious, solemn, grave: The funeral service for the comedian was the only sober occasion he had ever been associated with. ant. 1. drunk, inebriated, fuddled. 2. frivolous.

sociable adj. social, friendly: All of the people at the party were very sociable.

social adj. 1. group, human, common: The social problems in the city included welfare, unemployment, and other important matters. 2. friendly, sociable, genial, polite: All of our neighbors are very social, and we see one another quite often.

society n. 1. community, civilization, nation: Society's problems, like having enough food for everyone, cannot be solved easily or quickly. 2. club, organization, association, circle, fraternity: My mother is a member of two professional medical societies. 3. association, companionship, company: I enjoy the society of other people and spend a lot of time with my friends.

soft adj. 1. flexible, pliable, pliant; elastic: This clay is soft enough now for you to mold a figure out of it. 2. smooth, velvety, satiny: My kitten's fur is so soft! 3. quiet, low, gentle: The girl was singing in a soft voice. ant. 1. hard, rigid.

soil n. earth, loam, dirt: You'll need more soil to plant that flower in such a large pot. vb. dirty, stain, spot: Badly soiled clothes should be allowed to soak for a while before washing.

sole adj. alone, single, only, solitary: The only person who came to hear the concert was a sole woman who sat in the balcony.

solemn adj. 1. serious, sober, grave: The graduation ceremony was a solemn occasion for all of the students. 2. formal, serious, dignified: The President gave a solemn speech about the state of the nation. ant. 1. cheerful, happy, gay.

solicit vb. request, seek, pray, beg, beseech: The candidate visited many homes, soliciting votes in the coming election.

solicitous adj. concerned, anxious: Aunt Matilda was always very solicitous about my health and offered to care for me when I had the barcoo rot.

solid adj. 1. firm, compact, hard, dense: The handball was made out of solid rubber. 2. three-dimensional: A solid piece of wood was used as a lever to open the door. 3. unmixed, plain: My new shirt is solid red. ant. 1. loose.

solitary adj. isolated, lonely, deserted; sole, only, single: A solitary tree was outlined at the top of the hill.

solution n. answer, explanation: I was the only one with the correct solution to the daily math problem.

solve vb. answer, unravel, explain: The detectives found the clues and fingerprints and were able to solve the crime.

somber adj. 1. serious, sober, grave, gloomy, dismal: The sun hasn't shone for so many days that I am in a very somber mood. 2. dismal, mournful, sad, melancholy: The funeral was a somber event. ant. 1. happy, cheerful, gay.

sometimes adv. occasionally, now and then: Sometimes I like to drink ice-cream sodas and sometimes I don't. ant. always, invariably.

soothe vb. calm, pacify, comfort, quiet: I really prefer soothing music to rock 'n' roll. ant. disquiet, upset, unnerve.

sophisticated adj. 1. urbane, suave, cosmopolitan, worldly: Lady Sara was sophisticated enough to know that Glebe was pulling her leg. 2. complex, intricate, advanced: This computer is quite sophisticated.

sordid adj. foul, dirty, filthy, unclean: The poorer people in the town live in the most sordid surroundings.

sore adj. aching, painful, hurting, tender, sensitive: My finger is still sore where I caught it in the door yesterday. n. cut, bruise, burn, wound, injury: I have a sore on my knee where I scraped it playing baseball.

sorrow n. sadness, gloom, depression, grief, misery, anguish: One of my great sorrows is that I never studied to be a doctor. vb. mourn, grieve, lament: Sonia tried to console the sorrowing family.

sorrowful adj. sad, aggrieved, unhappy, melancholy, depressed, mournful: The teacher gave us the most sorrowful news this morning: the school mascot had run away.

sorry adj. regretful, apologetic: I'm sorry if I hurt your feelings, for I didn't mean to. ant. happy, glad.

sort n. kind, variety, type: What sort of a dog did you get for your birthday? a poodle? a spaniel? vb. separate, classify, arrange, order: Please sort these words into alphabetical order.

so-so adj. mediocre, fair, comme ci, comme ça, middling: Szczywyecz felt only so-so after the six-hour heart transplant, but the patient felt fine.

sound¹ n. noise; din, racket. The silence was so great that we could hear the sound of a pin drop. vb. echo, resound: The fire alarm sounded throughout the building.

sound² adj. 1. secure, safe, uninjured, unharmed, whole, healthy, hardy: We returned home during the storm, safe and sound. 2. trustworthy, reliable; sensible: I think we can rely on Philip's judgment to be sound.

sour adj. 1. acid, tart: Those lemon candies are so sour they make my mouth pucker up. 2. bad-tempered, unpleasant, touchy, cross, cranky: That old man certainly has a sour disposition—he doesn't like anyone or anything. ant. 1. sweet. 2. good-natured, sunny, benevolent.

source n. origin, beginning: The source of this stream is a spring high in the mountains.

sovereign n. ruler, lord; monarch, king, queen, emperor, empress: Queen Elizabeth II is the sovereign of Great Britain. adj. supreme, chief, principal: Freedom of speech is a sovereign right of the American people.

space n. area, location, room: Please put the desk into the open space against that wall.

spacious adj. roomy, large: The children were given a spacious bedroom in the new house. ant. cramped, small, narrow, confined.

span n. extent, spread: This history book covers a span of four centuries. vb. extend, reach, cross: The bridge spans the river about a mile north of here.

spare vb. 1. save, set aside or apart, reserve. The bank president was able to spare just 15 minutes to talk with our class. 2. save; forgive; show mercy to: Because the robber was a great musician, the king spared his life. adj. extra, additional, unoccupied. I think we can find a spare tennis racket that you can borrow for today.

sparing adj. frugal, thrifty, economical; parsimonious: If you are poor, no one minds your being sparing in feeding guests—it's the sentiment that counts. ant. lavish.

sparkle vb. 1. shine, glisten, glitter, twinkle: The sea sparkled in the bright sunlight. 2. bubble, effervesce: I like sparkling water with my dinner. n. 1. shine, glitter, twinkle: The sparkle of the glasses caught my eye. 2. spirit, liveliness, brilliance: Valerie's personality lent sparkle to the party.

speak vb. say, utter: You should never speak evil of a person behind his back.

special adj. 1. exceptional, unusual, extraordinary, different, particular: We have reserved this jewelry for our special customers only. 2. distinct, certain, unusual: I have made special plans to spend this weekend in the country. ant. 1. average, ordinary.

specialist n. expert, authority: We hired a specialist to examine our horse because the regular veterinarian wasn't sure what was wrong with him.

species n. class, sort, kind, type, variety: There are eight species of fish in this pond.

specific adj. definite, particular, distinct, precise: Is there any specific reason why you want me to wear my red socks to your party? ant. general, nonspecific.

specify vb. designate, name, define: The teacher specified which children were to be assigned to do extra work.

specimen n. sample, example, model, type, pattern: The doctor took a blood specimen from my finger in order to test it for a corpuscle count.

speck n. bit, spot, mite: There's a speck of dust on your white shirt.

spectator n. watcher, viewer, observer, onlooker: At the tournament, one of the golf balls struck a spectator on the arm. ant. participant.

speculate vb. guess, consider, surmise, view, suppose, theorize: You can't speculate about the date of the signing of the Declaration of Independence—you either know it or you don't.

speech n. 1. talk, address, oration, lecture, sermon: The senator gave a speech on the steps of the town hall. 2. utterance, articulation, diction, accent, pronunciation, enunciation: From your speech I can tell that you come from Texas.

speed n. 1. rapidity, swiftness, haste: I could see that the girl hadn't eaten for several days by the speed with which she gulped her food. 2. velocity: Light travels at a speed of 186,000 miles per second.

spellbound adj. entranced, fascinated, mesmerized, hypnotized, rapt: The speaker at the graduation ceremonies was so enthralling that he kept the audience spellbound for all of two minutes.

spend vb. 1. pay, expend, disburse: I spent much too much for that necktie. 2. use up, consume: I wish you wouldn't spend so much time watching television. ant. 1. save, hoard.

spendthrift n. squanderer, wastrel, profligate: Jean-Paul will never have any money if he continues being a spendthrift.

sphere n. 1. ball, orb, globe: In nature, many objects have the form of a sphere. 2. area, environment, domain: In my sphere of work, one must study for many years to become an expert.

spicy adj. off-color, risqué, indecent, suggestive, indelicate: There are ladies present, so please don't tell any of your spicy stories.

spin vb. 1. turn, revolve, whirl, rotate, twirl: Every spring we used to spin our tops and try to do tricks with them. 2. narrate, tell, relate: At night, the old men would get together around the fire to spin tales of long ago.

spine n. backbone, vertebrae: When the chalk squeaks on the blackboard, it sends shivers up my spine.

spineless adj. weak, feeble, limp; cowardly: I don't want to name the spineless fellow who has been frightening the little girls in school. ant. strong, brave, courageous.

spirit n. 1. mood, attitude, outlook, feeling: I've been in very low spirits since my older brother went away to college. 2. vitality, liveliness, energy: It takes a lot of spirit for an invalid like Betsy to remain cheerful. 3. angel, fairy, devil, elf, sprite, goblin, demon: In the old days, many people believed in evil spirits and blamed them for their own mistakes. 4. ghost, phantom, specter: That house—the deserted one—is inhabited by spirits. 5. meaning, intention, intent: There is often a difference between the letter of the law and the spirit of the law.

spirited adj. animated, excited, active, lively, energetic, vigorous: We were having a spirited argument about politics when my mother joined in. ant. lazy, indolent, sleepy.

splendid adj. 1. magnificent, brilliant, gorgeous, sumptuous, elegant, luxurious: The king ordered the craftsmen to create splendid furnishings for the palace. 2. excellent, superb, superior: That's a splendid painting of the Grand Canal in Venice.

splendor n. magnificence, grandeur, display, brilliance: The splendor of the civilization of ancient Greece may never be seen again.

splinter n. sliver, chip, piece, fragment: Be careful with that board or you'll get a splinter in your finger. vb. split, shiver: The glass splintered into a thousand pieces when it dropped on the floor.

split vb. divide, break, cleave: Let's split the candy bar among the three of us. If you hammer a wedge into the crack in that log, it will split easily. n. crack, opening: The split in my skirt is right along the seam.

spoil vb. 1. damage, ruin, destroy: I left my painting out in the rain and it's completely spoiled. You have spoiled your chances for a good mark in the course by failing the exam. 2. rot, mold, molder, ruin: If you leave milk out of the refrigerator too long, it will spoil.

spoken adj. oral, articulated, pronounced, uttered, vocal: These tapes contain a record of the spoken testimony at the trial, but you have to go to the library for the documents.

spokesman n. representative, agent: A spokesman was asked to act for the company because the president was out of town.

spontaneous adj. natural, voluntary, unconscious, unplanned: Lending Jimmy your skates was a spontaneous act of friendship. ant. studied, cautious.

sport n. 1. entertainment, pastime, game, athletics, play, recreation: I play chess for sport, not for money. 2. mockery, jest, joke, ridicule: You are making sport of me when you say I'm the greatest singer you've ever heard.

sporting adj. fair, considerate, sportsmanlike. Big game hunters seldom give their quarry a sporting chance.

spot n. 1. mark, blemish, blot, stain, flaw, speck: I wouldn't go near Peter—he has spots all over his face. 2. place, location, site: We have built our new home in a beautiful spot right near the lake. vb. 1. mark, stain, blot, spatter: You've splashed the tomato juice everywhere and have spotted the clean tablecloth. 2. locate, find: I spotted you in the school photograph even though it was taken years ago.

spotty adj. uneven, inconsistent, erratic, irregular: Eric's performance has been spotty, and he'll have to shape up if he's to win the decathlon. ant. even, regular.

spout vb. squirt, spurt: The lava could be seen spouting out of the volcano from 20 miles away. n. nozzle, tube: The water comes out of the green spout and the milk out of the white one.

spray n. spatter; splash: There was a fine spray of cologne from the top of the bottle. vb. sprinkle, spatter, splash: I sprayed the roses with a fluid that would keep off the bugs.

spread vb. 1. distribute; disperse: The icing must be spread evenly over the top of the cake before serving. 2. open, unfurl, unroll, unfold: I helped to spread the sails on the lawn so they could dry in the sun. 3. scatter: The news about the fire spread throughout the town. n. jam, jelly, preserve, conserve: I like to put a spread on hot toast after it has been buttered.

sprightly adj. spry, nimble, vivacious, lively: That sprightly old lady of 92 is a weight lifter?

spring vb. 1. leap, bound, jump: I sprang to my feet when the teacher entered the room. 2. start, begin, arise, originate: Rick's eagerness to help with the cooking springs from his wish to be closer to the food. n. 1. leap, jump, bound: With one leap the cat was out of the door and scurrying down the hall. 2. fountain; origin, source: This stream is fed by a spring in the mountains.

sprinkle vb. scatter, spread, strew: Sprinkle the pancake lightly with powdered sugar. n. scattering, rain: We were getting wet in the sprinkle that came from the garden hose.

spry adj. lively, nimble, quick, alert, agile, energetic: Mrs. Robinson is very spry for someone of 75. ant. inactive, lethargic.

spur n. goad; stimulus: The will to win is a spur to athletes to do their very best in competitive sports. vb. goad, stimulate, urge: The thought of a good meal and a warm fire spurred Nicholas on through the snow toward home.

squabble vb. quarrel, argue, bicker, row: Stop squabbling about whose hair is longer! n. quarrel, wrangle, argument, row: For 40 years she's been having a squabble with her neighbor about who owns that tree.

stab vb. pierce, gore, stick, spear; knife, bayonet: I stabbed the marshmallow with a pointed branch and toasted it over the fire. Caesar was stabbed by Brutus' dagger.

stable adj. steady, firm, sturdy, steadfast, solid: The platform wasn't very stable, and I thought it might give way at any moment. ant. unstable, shaky.

stack n. pile, mound, heap, mass: There's a big stack of firewood out in back if you want to make a fire. vb. pile, heap, accumulate: Please try to stack those stones more neatly the next time.

staff n. 1. stick, pole, club: Little John always carried his staff with him and used it as a weapon. 2. employees, personnel, crew: The company has a skilled staff of 35 people at the main office.

stage n. 1. platform, scaffold, frame: The masons were standing on a stage 40 feet off the ground to finish the wall. 2.

theater, boards: When I was younger, I wanted to go on the stage, but I couldn't act well enough, so now I'm a star on television. 3. phase, step, period: The project has reached a stage where we need more people right away. vb. produce, direct; present, put on: Our school staged the musical comedy The Boy Friend this year.

stagger vb. 1. sway, totter, reel, falter: Here comes Freddie, staggering down the street as if he'd been hit on the head. 2. vary, alternate; zigzag: If you could stagger your working days and your days off, you could get some rest.

stain n. 1. spot, blemish, blot, mark: There's a big stain on your collar—it looks like blood. 2. disgrace, dishonor, smirch, blot: It will take many weeks of very good behavior, Roberto, to clear up that stain on your record. vb. 1. spot, blot, mark: You've stained the tablecloth with ketchup! 2. tint, dye, color: The cabinetmaker stained the wood a very dark mahogany.

stair n. stairway, flight of stairs, staircase, steps: The guest closet is under the stairs.

stake n. 1. post, stick, pole, pale, picket, rod: The hunters tied the goat to a stake in the clearing to act as bait for the tiger. 2. wager, bet: The stakes are too high for me to play poker with those men. 3. interest, concern: I bought a stake in that silver mine in Colorado, but I lost everything.

stale adj. 1. old, spoiled, dry; inedible: We break up any stale bread we have and feed it to the birds. 2. uninteresting, flat, dull, trite: We had to sit through dinner listening politely and laughing whenever Bill told another of his stale jokes. ant. 1. fresh, new.

stalk vb. follow, dog, pursue, shadow, track, hunt: Have you ever stalked a tiger in the jungles of India?

stall vb. stop; hesitate, postpone, delay: My car keeps stalling in the middle of traffic. Stop stalling about coming to a decision!

stammer vb. stutter, falter, hem and haw: Stop stammering and tell me where you've hidden the key!

stamp vb. 1. trample, crush: Our guests stamped all over our newly seeded lawn and ruined it completely. 2. brand, mark, imprint: Ellie stamped her name all over my shirt and I can't wash it out. n. die, block, seal: My father gave me a rubber stamp with my name and address on it.

stand vb. 1. rise, arise, stand up: Please stand when the band plays the national anthem. 2. remain, stay: My original instructions still stand. 3. tolerate, endure, abide, bear: I can't stand listening to rock 'n' roll all day long. n. 1. position, attitude, opinion: Your stand on the issue is that anyone who goes out on strike ought to be fired. 2. table, platform: The vase was knocked off that wooden stand in the corner. ant. vb. 1. lie, recline, repose.

standard n. 1. measure, gauge, example, model, criterion: The problem is that no one knows the standard for judging right from wrong because it depends on each situation. 2. banner, pennant, flag, emblem, symbol: In the ancient Roman army, the man who carried the legion's standard was very important. adj. basic, typical, approved, official, regular: Light bulbs are manufactured in a few standard sizes to fit sockets. ant. adj. unusual, irregular, special.

standing n. position, rank, status, station: Because of his standing in the community, nobody suspected François Bonan of being a drug dealer.

standpoint n. viewpoint, position, attitude: From the standpoint of the British, the American Revolution was a skirmish started by a few revolting colonists.

staple adj. principal, main, chief, necessary, essential: Bread and butter are staple foods in most diets.

stare vb. gaze: It's very uncomfortable to have someone just staring at you for no reason.

stark adj. 1. absolute, utter, complete, sheer: The stark truth is that your son did chop down the cherry tree, Mrs. Washington. 2. harsh, severe, rough, grim: The stark countryside was uninviting during the winter, especially.

start vb. 1. begin, commence, initiate: I wish you hadn't started Grandpa off on his storytelling—now he'll never stop. 2. jump, jerk, twitch: Oh! You made me start! I didn't know anyone was here. n. 1. beginning, commencement, initiation, outset, onset: Just before the official start of the baseball season, Thomas was always the first one to take out his ball and mitt. 2. shock, surprise: You gave me quite a start, peering in the window wearing that spooky mask! 3. lead, head start, advantage: I have a start on the rest of the class because I've already read this book.

startle vb. surprise, shock, agitate, alarm: I was startled to learn that although Columbus, an Italian, is credited with discovering America, it was the Spanish queen, Isabella, who financed the voyage.

state n. 1. nation, country: What were once colonies in Africa have mostly all now become independent states. 2. condition, status; situation: The doctor told us that the state of the family's health is excellent. vb. declare, say, assert, express; tell: For the second time in one hour, Mornie stated why she had come to see the show. adj. public; governmental; federal, national: We often go camping in a state park.

stately adj. grand, dignified, imposing, elegant, impressive, majestic, magnificent: Mrs. Thistlebottom was a stately woman who lived in a stately mansion. ant. mean, base, squalid.

statement n. announcement, declaration, assertion: The senator has already made a statement to the press that he is innocent of accepting a bribe.

station n. depot, post; terminal. The police station is open 24 hours a day. I got on at the bus station in Cleveland. vb. place, position, put, locate: The colonel stationed eight men to stand guard duty last night.

statuesque adj. stately, imposing, majestic, regal, dignified: The audience applauded when the statuesque figure of the soprano appeared on stage.

status n. 1. state, condition: What is the status of your report? Do you expect to complete it soon? 2. rank, position, standing: The social status of a teacher is much higher in Europe than in America.

statute n. law, rule, ruling, ordinance: There is a statute in this state against operating a retail store on Sundays.

stay vb. 1. remain, rest, tarry, linger: Please stay where you are for a moment. 2. remain, continue: When I was in the Army, I stayed a Private the entire 18 months. 3. delay, check, hinder, halt, hold: The governor stayed the execution of the convicted murderer because new evidence had been discovered. n. 1. stop, hindrance, check, halt, delay: On Christmas Eve, a stay of execution saved six men who were to die the following week. 2. brace, support; rope, line, shroud: When the stay snapped, the mast broke in two and we radioed for help. ant. vb. 1. go, leave, depart.

stead n. place: In whose stead will you go to the party?

steady adj. 1. even, regular, stable, unremitting: A steady rain fell all evening and till noon the following day. 2. firm, steadfast, reliable: We need a steady hand at the helm if this boat is to sail across the Atlantic. 3. firm, solid, stable: That little table—the wobbly one—isn't steady enough for the typewriter.

steal vb. 1. pilfer, rob, shoplift, embezzle: Binks stole a dog biscuit and ran out into the yard to eat it. 2. sneak, prowl:

Dressed in black from head to toe, the thief silently stole down the hall toward the strong room.

stealthy adj. secret, sly, furtive: The robber gave a stealthy signal to his accomplice, who quickly subdued the guard.
ant. open, direct, obvious.

steep adj. sheer, perpendicular: The expert mountain climbers were moving up the face of a steep cliff. ant. gradual.

steer vb. guide, navigate, direct, drive: The pirate steered the ship so that it was headed straight for the reef.

stem n. trunk; stalk: The stems of the plants were so thick I couldn't cut through them with my ax. vb. 1. arise, originate: The smog stems from the car exhausts. 2. stop, check, hinder, halt: We must do something to stem the tide of crime in the area.

stench n. stink, fetor; smell: The stench from the unwashed beggar was overpowering.

step n. 1. pace, stride: All those who want to go to the movies should take one step forward. 2. action, move, measure: It was essential that we take steps to make certain the house was locked up. 3. stage: What's the next step in the process? vb. walk, move, come, go: Please step this way if you want to watch the sea lions being fed.

stern adj. strict, severe, harsh, hard, rigid, unyielding: Our English teacher was very stern toward students who didn't do their homework. ant. lenient, forgiving.

stew n. goulash, ragout: Mother made lamb stew for dinner. vb. simmer, seethe, boil: You have to stew this kind of meat for three hours before you can chew it. You may say that Donald's not upset, but he's stewing about something.

stick n. twig, stalk, branch, staff, rod, pole: I poked a wooden stick through a hole in the fence and something grabbed the other end of it. vb. 1. stab, pierce, puncture, spear, gore: Get some iodine—Gary has a splinter stuck in his finger. 2. catch, adhere, hold, cling: Chewing gum was stuck to the bottom of my shoe. 3. remain, abide, stay, persist: No matter what you say, I'll stick by you.

stickler n. perfectionist, nitpicker; disciplinarian: The colonel is a stickler for the rules, so you'd best stop coming back late to the base.

sticky adj. ticklish, tricky, awkward, delicate: It was a bit sticky when Froggie and his girl friend ran into his wife at the hotel.

stiff adj. 1. rigid, unbendable, inflexible, firm, solid, hard: My mittens were frozen stiff, and I couldn't get them off. 2.

cool, cold, unfriendly: Anne's mother gave me a very stiff reception when I visited her. 3. severe, harsh, strong: Ten years is a very stiff sentence. ant. 1. limp, lax. 2. warm, hospitable. 3. lenient.

stifle vb. smother, suffocate, strangle, choke: It's so hot in here that I'm about to stifle. The children stifled their laughter when the teacher's toupee fell off.

stigma n. mark, stain, blot, blemish: The soldier's capture for desertion left a permanent stigma on his record.

still adj. 1. motionless, stationary: Please be still while I try to bandage your finger. 2. tranquil, peaceful, calm, serene: The room was so still you could hear a pin drop. conj. but, nevertheless, however; besides: I realize that you have a job; still, you ought to continue your studies. vb. 1. silence, quiet, hush: The crowd had to be stilled so that we could hear the speaker. 2. calm, soothe, pacify: My fears for Ruth's safety weren't stilled until I learned that she'd arrived at her home. n. stillness, quiet, calm, hush: Only a dog's barking broke the still of the night.

stimulate vb. arouse, activate, excite, urge, animate; invigorate: Jan is stimulated by an icy cold shower every morning.

stingy adj. miserly, mean, tightfisted, penny-pinching, cheap, selfish: Mr. Scrooge was so stingy that he wouldn't give water to a man dying of thirst. ant. generous, openhanded, giving.

stipulate vb. demand, require: The kidnappers stipulated that the child would not be returned till they had the money and were on the plane to Brazil.

stir vb. 1. mix, agitate: Adele puts five teaspoons of sugar into her coffee and then doesn't stir it. 2. arouse, rouse, stimulate; move: The President's patriotic speech really stirred his listeners.

stock n. supply, store: The shop bought an ample stock of decorations for sale before Christmas. vb. store, supply, keep, carry: The salesman told me that they don't stock every size of shoe in that style.

stony adj. unsentimental, insensitive, cold: The ogre's stony heart melted when he saw the little girl with her kitten. ant. warm.

stoop vb. bend, lean, bow, crouch: The beggar stooped and picked up the coins thrown to him.

stop vb. 1. cease, discontinue, conclude, end, finish, quit: I wish you'd stop calling me Bill: my name happens to be George. 2. halt, stay, pause: When I heard footsteps behind me, I started running and didn't stop till I was safe at home. 3. obstruct, hinder, hold: Stop that man! He stole my purse! n. 1. halt, end: You must put a stop to copying your homework from others. 2. stay, delay, halt: The train makes a stop at Essex to let off passengers.

store n. 1. shop, market: If you go to the store, please bring back a quart of milk. 2. supply, reserve, stock, deposit: There is a large store of food in the company's warehouse. vb. stock, save, bank: If you store eggs too long, they'll spoil.

storm n. tempest; gale, thunderstorm, tornado, hurricane: In the middle of the storm, all of the lights went out when the house was struck by lightning. vb. 1. rage, rant: Father went storming about the house because he couldn't find his slippers. 2. attack, besiege, assault: The army of the black knight stormed the castle for six weeks.

story¹ n. 1. tale, narrative, anecdote: Grandpa used to tell us funny stories at bedtime. 2. lie, fabrication, fib: You have to learn not to tell such stories or no one will believe you when you tell the truth.

story² n. level, floor: The house we live in has three stories, including the attic.

stout adj. 1. fat, obese, overweight, plump, heavy, portly: If you make fun of someone who is stout, you might hurt his feelings. 2. strong, sturdy: They tied up the prisoners with some stout twine and then called the police. ant. 1. slim, thin, skinny, lean. 2. flimsy.

straight adj. 1. direct, uncurving: The straight part of this road continues for about a mile. 2. honest, upright, honorable, moral: The mayor is one of the straightest people I know. 3. orderly, correct: Please try to keep your room straight. adv. directly: You must come straight home from school today for your piano lesson. ant. adj. 1. crooked, twisted.

straightforward adj. direct, forthright, candid, open, above-board: I shall be completely straightforward with you and tell you that I don't trust Cartwright with the million dollars. ant. devious.

strain vb. 1. stretch, tighten: We strained the rope trying to pull the car out of the ditch. 2. injure, harm, sprain: Bend at the knees to lift something heavy or you'll strain your back. 3. filter, screen, sift: Strain the tea before serving it.

strainer n. sieve, colander, filter: Pour the soup through the strainer to remove any small chicken bones.

strait n. 1. channel, passage: Do you know where the Strait of Magellan is? I don't. 2. difficulty, trouble, distress, crisis: The family has been in dire straits since Pinky's father lost his job.

strange adj. 1. odd, peculiar, unusual, curious, extraordinary, queer, bizarre: A small man, wearing strange, silvery clothes, stepped out of the washing machine. 2. foreign, unfamiliar, exotic: A strange odor lingered in the room after our mysterious visitor left.

stranger n. foreigner, alien, outsider, outlander: Whenever we see a stranger in our town, we try to make him feel right at home. ant. friend, acquaintance.

strap n. belt, strip, band, thong: The leather strap around my suitcase broke, so I now use a piece of rope.

stratagem n. ruse, subterfuge, wile, trick: By a neat stratagem, she lured me up to her room and coaxed me to tell her the secret plan.

strategy n. management; technique, approach, tactics: We must think up a proper strategy for persuading the teacher to let us out of class early.

stray vb. wander, rove, roam: The horse broke its tether and strayed off into the woods. adj. lost, strayed: The dog was trained to find and return stray sheep to the farm.

stream n. 1. brook, run, creek, rivulet, river: In the winter, the stream near our house froze over. 2. flow, rush, torrent: A stream of abuse from the audience greeted the dishonest politician when he rose to speak. vb. flow, rush, pour, gush: Tears streamed down the girl's face.

street n. road, way; avenue, boulevard: The street in front of our house in the city is paved with cobblestones.

strength n. 1. power, vigor, might: Sally's father showed off his strength by crushing a brick with his bare hands. 2. durability, soundness: For its weight, aluminum has remarkable strength. ant. 1. weakness, frailty.

strenuous adj. energetic, forceful, vigorous, active, determined: The boys made a strenuous effort to move the fallen tree from the road.

stress vb. emphasize, accent, accentuate: The minister said that he couldn't stress the importance of honesty enough. n. 1. emphasis, accent, weight, importance: In my day, the stress was on a classical and literary education. 2. pressure, strain: The stress on the cable was too great, and it gave way.

stretch vb. 1. extend, elongate, lengthen: The rope cannot be stretched to go around the package twice. 2. expand, spread, extend: I can't wear that sweater because it's stretched out of shape. ant. contract, shrink.

strict adj. stern, unbending, inflexible, stiff, harsh: There are strict laws about parking in the city during the day. ant. lenient, easygoing.

strife n. conflict, disagreement, discord, difference, quarrel, unrest: There have been few travelers to that part of the world because of the strife among the countries. ant. peace, tranquillity, concord.

strike vb. 1. hit, smite, beat: The detective knocked the man down by striking him on the jaw with his fist. 2. attack, assault: The commandos strike at dawn. 3. impress, affect, overwhelm: I was struck by the similarity between the two books. n. walkout, sit-down; slowdown: The entire staff went out on strike for longer hours and less pay.

striking adj. impressive, awesome, awe-inspiring: She certainly looked striking in the tight black dress and with her shaven head.

strip vb. 1. undress, disrobe: The doctor's nurse told me to strip for the examination. 2. uncover, peel, remove: That test was as easy as stripping the skin from a banana. n. band, piece, ribbon: I cut a strip of cloth 2 inches wide and 10 inches long to use as a bandage.

strive vb. try, attempt, endeavor: I was striving to reach the man in the quicksand with a branch.

stroke n. 1. blow, knock, tap, rap: The huge man knocked down the tree with one stroke of his ax. 2. achievement, accomplishment, feat: Starting a restaurant in the country was a stroke of genius. vb. caress, pet: The vet stroked the dog to calm it.

stroll vb., n. walk, amble, ramble, saunter: The robber casually strolled into the bank. We went for a stroll along the river before dinner.

strong adj. 1. powerful, mighty, brawny, muscular: The man in the circus is strong enough to pick up an elephant. 2. solid, resistant, unbreakable: The glass in the windshield is almost strong enough to resist the blow of a hammer. 3. sharp, spicy, hot; aromatic: The flavor of this dish is strong enough—don't add any more pepper. ant. 1. feeble, weak. 2. fragile. 3. bland, tasteless.

structure n. framework, construction, arrangement. The structure as designed by the engineers will be strong enough to withstand an earthquake.

struggle vb. fight, strive, oppose: The two men struggled for possession of the gun. n. 1. fight, encounter, clash, battle, conflict: At the end of the struggle thousands lay wounded on the battlefield. 2. effort, exertion: It's a struggle getting up on time every day.

stubborn adj. obstinate, unyielding, inflexible, rigid, unbending, stiff, pigheaded: If you're going to be stubborn about doing everything yourself, you may never learn a better way.

student n. pupil; scholar: The students in our school have great respect for the teachers.

studio n. workshop, workroom: Have you ever visited an artist's studio?

study n. attention, examination, research: The committee decided that much study must be given to the question of where the new library was to be built. vb. examine, investigate; consider, weigh: I have to study for the test tomorrow. We ought to study the problem before giving a reply.

stuff n. 1. substance, material: What kind of stuff do they make plastic out of? 2. cloth, fabric, textile: The king's throne room was hung with gold-embroidered stuffs. vb. ram, fill, pack, cram: I stuffed rags in the cracks to keep out the cold.

stumble vb. trip; lurch: I stumbled going down the steps and almost fell down.

stun vb. 1. knock out: I was temporarily stunned when the baseball struck me on the head. 2. astonish, surprise, shock, amaze, astound: Ike was stunned when they told him that he'd won the gold medal.

stunning adj. dazzling, brilliant, ravishing, exquisite: He told her that she looked stunning in her apron and then tried to borrow some money from her, so she threw him out. ant. ugly, drab.

stunt vb. dwarf, check, hinder, restrict: "I never believed it when my mother said that smoking would stunt my growth," said the midget.

stupid adj. dumb, dull, half-witted, thimble-witted, witless, simple-minded, idiotic: Crossing the road without watching for traffic is a stupid thing to do. ant. intelligent, smart, bright, quick.

sturdy adj. rugged, strong, well-built, stout: Although the flagpole bent in the wind it was sturdy enough not to break. ant. frail, flimsy.

style n. 1. kind, sort, type: What style of shoe were you looking for? 2. elegance, chic, smartness: Alexa's mother has a great deal of style, no matter what she does or wears.

subdue vb. 1. defeat, conquer, beat, overcome: The people, without arms for defense, were quickly subdued by the advancing army. 2. lower, reduce, soften, tone down: The mourners talked in subdued voices at the funeral.

subject n. 1. topic, theme: On what subject should I write the essay for the English class? 2. subordinate, dependent: The people were considered subjects of the queen. adj. 1. depending, dependent: Subject to your approval, we'd like to plan a picnic for the class. 2. subordinate, inferior: The subject people of the world have come a long way toward independence. vb. 1. dominate, influence, control, tame, subdue, suppress: Because of you, we were caught and subjected to punishment. 2. expose: Why must I be subjected to constant abuse just because I have red hair?

submerge vb. dip, sink, submerge: The submarine submerged to avoid being spotted by the planes. ant. rise, surface.

submit vb. 1. yield, surrender: The few soldiers remaining finally submitted when the fort was bombed. 2. offer, tender: Our class submitted a plan to the principal for cleaning up the grounds. ant. 1. resist, fight.

subordinate adj. inferior, lower: Ken was able to get only a job subordinate to the department head. n. worker, assistant, inferior: Beth is a subordinate of Mrs. White's in the company. vb. lower, demean, reduce: You ought to learn to subordinate your desires to those of the entire group. ant. adj., n. superior.

subsequent adj. following, later, succeeding: A subsequent ruling by the zoning commission denied the permit for a restaurant on the lakefront. ant. previous, preceding.

subside vb. sink, lower, diminish: The land subsided and the foundation of the house was destroyed. My eagerness to see the boy punished subsided with each passing day. ant. erupt, arise.

subsidy n. grant, support, aid: The foundation could not carry out the research without subsidies from wealthy citizens.

substance n. 1. material, matter, stuff: This dress is made out of some strange synthetic substance. 2. essence: Tom presented the substance of his argument but no one agreed with him.

substantial adj. 1. considerable, large, sizable: The lawyer received a substantial fee for defending the rich man's son. 2. real, actual, tangible: The police have substantial reason to believe that the fire was not accidental. 3. wealthy, influential: My uncle is a substantial member of this community, I'll have you know. ant. 1. trivial, unimportant.

substitute n. replacement, surrogate, stand-in: I'm not good enough to be a regular player, but I'm a substitute. vb. replace, exchange, displace: Rick was sent in to substitute for Bill when Bill broke his leg.

subtle adj. indirect; suggestive: There are subtle differences between the totalitarianisms of communism and of fascism. ant. obvious, overt.

subtract vb. reduce, diminish, deduct, lessen: When you subtract 13 from 26, you get 13. ant. add.

succeed vb. 1. thrive, prosper, flourish: Fred has succeeded very well in business. 2. follow, ensue; replace: We were having such a wonderful time that the succeeding days meant nothing. Mr. Kensington succeeded Mr. Kew as chairman of the garden committee. ant. 1. fail, flop. 2. precede.

success n. prosperity, advance, luck: The principal of the school wished each student every success in the future. ant. failure.

successful adj. lucky fortunate, prosperous, triumphant, victorious, favorable: Mr. Rodgers had a very successful business trip to Europe.

succession n. series, course, sequence: Let me describe for you the succession of events that led up to our leaving town with the police after us.

successive adj. consecutive, sequential, serial: The successive earthquakes did more damage than the original shock.

sudden adj. unexpected, swift, abrupt, unforeseen: The sudden blizzard found us without snow-removal equipment.

suffer vb. 1. undergo, experience, endure: You must have suffered terrible pain from the burns. 2. allow, permit, let: Why should I suffer these people to come to me with their complaints?

sufficient adj. enough, adequate: I think we have a sufficient amount of air to last us for one hour.

suffix n. ending: One meaning of the -ed suffix in English is to indicate the past tense. ant. prefix.

suggest vb. offer, propose, recommend, hint: I suggested that they might try putting out the fire with sand, since water was unavailable in the desert.

suggestion n. hint, proposal, advice: The teacher liked my suggestion that everyone in the class start his own project.

suitable adj. fitting, apt, becoming, proper: I don't think that blue jeans and a T-shirt are suitable attire for this French restaurant. ant. inappropriate.

sullen adj. 1. silent, moody, bitter, sulky: Try to say something to cheer up Bob this morning—he seems so sullen. 2. dismal, sad, gloomy, somber: These sullen winter days are very depressing. ant. 1. cheerful, cheery, jovial.

sultry adj. hot, oppressive, close, stifling: It was another one of those sultry, 90-degree days, so we all went swimming.

sum n. amount: There is no need for you to keep on giving such small sums of money to me.

summary n. outline, digest, synopsis, abstract, précis: Please let me have a summary of the book in just 250 words. adj. brief, concise, short, compact, condensed: A summary report of what happened at the meeting should be on my desk now.

summit n. top, peak, crown: After three hours of climbing, we stood at the summit of the mountain. ant. base, bottom.

summon vb. call, invoke, convoke, invite: We were summoned to the director's office at 9 AM. the next day. ant. dismiss.

sundry adj. various, several: We found sundry items of interest in the dresser drawers in the attic.

sunny adj. cheerful, cheery, happy, joyful: Kathleen Fogarty has such a sunny disposition that you just can't help liking her.

superb adj. wonderful, splendid, marvelous, extraordinary, superior, excellent, magnificent, fine: The turtle soup at this restaurant is superb.

supercilious adj. haughty, contemptuous, snobbish: I can't tell Sonia how I feel because I find her supercilious attitude so unfriendly.

superintendent n. supervisor, manager, director, overseer, administrator: After 20 years, my uncle was made superintendent of the factory.

superior adj. better, greater, finer: One can easily see that this painting is of superior workmanship. n. boss, employer, supervisor: Each worker must have his time sheet signed by his superior. ant. adj., n. inferior.

supervise vb. oversee, direct, manage: If the children had been properly supervised, the accident wouldn't have happened.

supervisor n. foreman, manager, boss, director: Buford fell in love with his supervisor at the factory because he liked being ordered about.

supple adj. flexible, pliable, limber, lithe: Only if you do the right kinds of exercises will you develop a supple body like mine.

supplement n. addition; complement; extension: The Sunday newspaper costs more because of all the supplements. vb. add, extend, complement: Tim supplements his allowance by working in a shop after school.

supply vb. provide, furnish, stock: The dealer who supplies our grocer with vegetables raised his prices again. n. store, stock, inventory, quantity: Our supply of pencils is running low, so please order some more.

support vb. 1. bear, hold up, sustain, prop: That flimsy chair cannot support the weight of an adult. 2. maintain, sustain, finance: How can Oscar support his family on so little money? 3. back, assist, aid, promote: I shall support your candidate in the next election. 4. strengthen, corroborate, verify, substantiate: The confession of the thief was supported by the evidence of his fingerprints at the scene. n. 1. brace, prop, stay: I hope that these supports will hold in a windstorm. 2. help, aid, assistance: We need all the support we can get in the fight against disease. 3. provider, breadwinner, backer: Tessie is the sole support of her mother.

suppose vb. 1. assume, presume: Suppose you are walking down a lonely street in the middle of the night: would you be scared? 2. believe, think, judge: I suppose you're right about not trusting Philip to get here on time.

suppress vb. subdue, overpower: The suppressed minorities are making their voices heard more and more.

supreme adj. best, highest, greatest: The supreme achievement of his life was having chewed an oyster instead of swallowing it whole.

sure adj. 1. certain, positive, confident, convinced: Are you sure that Marcy said to meet her in the middle of the highway at rush hour? 2. reliable, steady, trustworthy, unfailing: A sure way to make someone angry with you is to punch him in the nose. 3. firm, stable, solid, safe: My footing on the icy steps was far from sure, and I soon slipped and fell. 4. fated, destined, unavoidable, inevitable: If you insult her again, she's sure to slap your face.

surface n. exterior, outside, covering, cover: The surface of the sun has a temperature of millions of degrees.

surge vb. swell, heave, grow: The tidal wave surged upward on the land, destroying everything in its path. ant. ebb, wane, diminish.

surly adj. unfriendly, hostile, antagonistic: He seemed friendly enough at first but turned surly when I told him I'd run into his car.

surmise vb. think, judge, suppose, assume, believe, presume, suspect: I surmised, from seeing your red face and from your jumping up and down, that you are excited about something. n. guess, thought: It was your surmise that the sun would rise.

surpass vb. exceed, pass, outdo, outstrip, excel: In speed, Robbie surpassed all of the competitors; but his style was poor.

surplus n. excess, remainder: There will be a surplus of wheat in this year's harvest. adj. extra: All surplus money will be added to the picnic fund.

surprise vb. 1. amaze, astound, astonish, startle: I was surprised to see George wearing a green dress—he looks so much better in blue. 2. catch, startle: The teacher surprised three students hiding in the supply closet. n. amazement, shock: The enemy took us by surprise and we surrendered.

surrender vb. yield, submit, give up: Twenty thousand soldiers surrendered at the end of the battle. ant. resist.

surreptitious adj. sneaking, sneaky, sly, underhand, furtive: There is a surreptitious movement to oust the head of the union so that Joe can take over. ant. open, open-handed, straightforward.

surround vb. encircle, circle, girdle: The trunk of the tree was surrounded by a yellow ribbon.

survey vb. examine, scan, view, inspect: Before moving into the territory, we carefully surveyed every inch of it. n. 1. examination, inspection: A survey of the area yielded no information. 2. poll: In a recent survey, more people were found to be parents than anybody else.

survive vb. remain, persist, live, continue: Despite lack of food and water, the castaways survived for almost a week. ant. fail, die, succumb.

suspect vb. 1. doubt, mistrust, distrust, disbelieve: The police suspect the three men who were seen loitering near the bank. 2. suppose, presume, assume: I suspect that Bob may be late because his car won't start. n. defendant: The suspect was seen leaving the scene of the crime. adj. suspicious, suspected, questionable, doubtful: Spending large amounts of money after a robbery makes certain people suspect. ant. vb. 1. know, believe, trust.

suspend vb. 1. hang; dangle: The flag was suspended from the rafters in the gymnasium. 2. postpone, defer, withhold, delay, interrupt: The trial was temporarily suspended when a juror became ill with the flu.

suspicious adj. 1. distrustful, suspecting, doubting, doubtful, dubious, suspect, questioning, skeptical: I was suspicious of Anne when she said she had memorized the entire telephone directory. 2. questionable, suspect, irregular, unusual: There was a suspicious-looking person lurking near the back door.

sustain vb. 1. support, bear, carry, uphold: That flimsy pole cannot sustain the weight of the entire roof. 2. support, maintain, keep: Our hopes were sustained by the sounds of digging from the other side of the cave-in. 3. undergo, endure, suffer, bear: The injuries sustained in the accident were all minor, and everyone was sent home. 4. support, ratify, approve: The findings of the lower court were sustained by the Supreme Court.

swallow vb. eat, gulp, gorge: It wasn't easy to swallow 23 hot dogs in the contest. n. gulp, mouthful: Take a swallow of water to help you to stop coughing.

swamp n. bog, quagmire, fen, marsh, morass: Keep away from the swamp if you want to avoid a dangerous area. vb. deluge, overcome, flood: After Sadie's singing debut, she was swamped with requests to sing out of town (by the neighbors).

swarm n. horde, throng, mass, host: A swarm of insects hovered over the picnic table. vb. throng, crowd: The fans swarmed around the football players after the game.

sway vb. 1. wave, bend, swing: The palm trees swayed gently in the tropical breeze. 2. influence, persuade, impress: The judge refused to be swayed by appeals to sympathy.

swear vb. 1. vow, declare, state, assert, vouch, vouchsafe: The prisoner swore that he had never eaten a raw egg in his life. 2. curse, blaspheme: We don't allow students to swear in this school.

sweat vb. perspire: Physical labor under that hot sun makes you sweat. n. perspiration: The sweat ran down from my forehead into my eyes, stinging them.

sweeping adj. general, comprehensive, broad, all-embracing, all-inclusive: I'd say that your comment that all teenagers are naughty is too sweeping to be true.

sweet adj. 1. sugary, honeyed: That Turkish candy is too sweet for me. 2. fresh, clean, pure, unsalted: We got sweet water from the well. 3. pleasant, melodious, tuneful, musical, harmonious, mellow: Nicole has a very sweet singing voice. 4. charming, agreeable, pleasant, attractive: Our parrot has a sweet disposition and would never bite anyone. ant. 1. sour, bitter. 3. discordant, harsh. 4. irritable, nasty, irascible.

View Page 190

- swell vb. grow, increase, enlarge, expand: The balloon swelled as we continued to pump air into it. ant. shrink, diminish.
- swift adj. fast, quick, rapid, speedy, fleet: "I am a swift runner," said Tom slowly. ant. slow, sluggish, laggardly.
- swindle vb. cheat, bilk, cozen, defraud, trick, deceive, con: I was once swindled out of $100 in the Spanish handkerchief game. n. fraud, deception, trickery: The company's guarantee is nothing more than a swindle to sell you the tiger.
- swing vb. sway, rock, wave: There was Tarzan, swinging from a vine, with Cheetah jabbering away on the ground.
- switch vb. change, shift, turn: I am switching my support to the Democratic party in the next election.
- swoon vb., n. faint: When they learned of Valentino's death, three ladies swooned.
- sympathetic adj. compassionate, considerate, tender, kind: You must learn to be more sympathetic to the feelings of other people. ant. unsympathetic, intolerant, indifferent.
- sympathy n. feeling, sentiment, compassion, understanding: Your sympathy for our problems is sincerely appreciated.
- symptom n. sign, indication, mark: Red spots on your chest are not a symptom of dandruff.
- synopsis n. digest, summary, outline: A book review is not the same as a synopsis of the plot.
- system n. procedure, arrangement, plan, order, scheme: It is important that you devise a system for disposing of the ashes from the furnace.
- systematic adj. organized, orderly, regular, methodical: The most common systematic way for arranging information is alphabetical order. ant. random, irregular.

- taboo adj. prohibited, banned, forbidden: In some primitive societies, it is taboo for a woman to speak her husband's name.
- tackle n. gear, equipment, rigging, apparatus: What kind of tackle would be used to raise a car from a dock onto a ship? vb. 1. seize, grab, down, catch, throw: The runner was tackled near the center of the field. 2. undertake, try: If they pay him enough, Jack will tackle any assignment they give him.
- tact n. judgment, sense, diplomacy, prudence: Telling someone that he has bad breath requires a lot of tact.
- tactful adj. diplomatic, considerate, sensitive, skillful: Try to be more tactful when talking to employees about something they've done that's wrong. ant. tactless, unfeeling.
- tactics n. pl. strategy, plan, approach: What will be the most successful tactics to make the enemy surrender?
- tag n. label, sticker: According to the tag on this dress, it is two sizes too small for you. vb. mark, label: All the tagged items are reduced in price for our annual sale.
- tailor n. couturier, couturière, modiste: I shall have to ask the tailor to design me a new dress for the dance.
- take vb. 1. grasp, hold, catch, seize: They took the puppy from us because we couldn't keep it in the passenger section. 2. win, capture, seize, acquire: After a two-hour battle, the pirates took the treasure ship. You take first prize. 3. pick, choose, select; prefer: Take a number from one to ten; double it; then add the original number. 4. guide, conduct, lead, escort, bring: Who is going to take the children to school today? 5. remove, steal, lift, shoplift, rob: Somebody took my left shoe. 6. record, note, write, register: Have you hired a secretary who can take shorthand? 7. require, need, demand: But it doesn't take two hours to wash your hair! 8. charm, attract, engage, bewitch: I must admit that I am very much taken with Fiona. 9. purchase, buy, pay for: I'd like to take one dozen of the red ones and two dozen of the blue. vb. phr. take after resemble: You certainly take after your mother, Sophie. take away deduct, subtract: Take 6 away from 11 and you're left with 5. take back 1. reclaim, recover, regain: The French took back all the conquered land after the war. 2. retract, recall, deny: You had better take back those things you said! take down lower, remove: The teachers made us take down the poster for the cookie sale. take in 1. include, embrace: When you say "mam-mal," that doesn't take in birds and snakes. 2. deceive, dupe, fool: You certainly were taken in by that fellow who sold you a comb without teeth. 3. welcome, shelter, receive, accept: My ma won't let me take in every stray dog or cat. 4. shorten, reduce, lessen: The tailor took in all my clothes when I lost 25 pounds. 5. understand, comprehend: Marcia took in everything I said but didn't even smile. take it 1. assume, understand, accept: I take it that you don't like eating raw eggs. 2. endure, survive: I guess that Merrill just can't take it. take off 1. doff, remove: You'll have to take off all your clothes if you expect to take a bath. 2. deduct, subtract, take away: The owner offered to take off another 10 percent if I pay the freight. 3. leave, depart, go: The bus driver just took off and left us standing in the street. take on 1. employ, hire, engage: We took on 23 more people at the plant last month. 2. undertake, assume: I think that with his job after school and on weekends, Peter has taken on more than he can handle. 3. assume, acquire: After not having seen another person for so long, Jim took on a lean, mean look. take out 1. extract, remove: The dentist said he had to take out my last baby tooth. 2. entertain, escort, date: Are you old enough to take out girls? take over seize, capture: A gang from the other side of town took over our clubhouse. take to enjoy, like, favor: My new watchdog takes to strangers in the friendliest way. take up 1. start, begin, commence: Don't you think that it's a little late to take up hang gliding at the age of 83? 2. occupy, consume: All of my days are taken up with going to school or working afterward.

taking adj. captivating, charming, attractive, winning: When I said that Ida has taking ways, I had no idea she was under arrest for shoplifting.

tale n. story, anecdote: My father always tells the same old tale when we get together at Christmas.

talent n. skill, ability, gift, aptitude: Bob has great talent for playing the kazoo.

talk vb. 1. speak; communicate: Betty says she doesn't want to talk with you. 2. confer, discuss, consult: I think you ought to talk it over with someone before making a decision. n. 1. speech, communication: I admire your capacity for talk.

2. gossip, rumor: There's talk around town that you were seen with lemon meringue pie on your face the night before the pie-eating contest. Just practicing, I guess.

talkative adj. garrulous, loquacious, voluble, glib: Your choice seems to be between someone who is talkative and someone who never opens his mouth except to eat. ant. silent.

tall adj. high, big: As the value of the land increases, we tend to build taller buildings. ant. short, low.

tame adj. 1. domesticated, docile, mild, broken: Civilization began when man learned how to make animals tame. 2. dull, uninteresting, unexciting, flat, empty, boring: Life must be pretty tame for you now that the war is over. vb. domesticate, break: It takes a lot of patience to tame a wild animal. ant. adj. 1. wild.

tangle vb. knot, twist, confuse, snarl: You've tangled the kite string in the branches of the tree.

tantalize vb. tempt, tease, entice: The monkey was tantalized by the bananas hanging outside its cage, just out of reach.

tap vb. rap, pat, strike, hit: If you tap the ball gently, it will roll into the hole and you'll win. n. 1. rap, pat, blow: A slight tap on the door or window and the dog will start barking. 2. faucet, spigot: Turn off the tap when you finish washing.

tape n. strip, ribbon: Please let me have a piece of tape from that roll. vb. 1. bind, tie, fasten; bandage: It was only a sprain, so the doctor taped my wrist. 2. record: Brad taped the entire show and now can play it back any time he wants to hear it.

taper n. candle: We lit a taper and the room sprang into light. vb. decrease, narrow, lessen: A cone has a circular base and a side that tapers to a point.

tardy adj. late, overdue, unpunctual: If you are tardy again, Richard, I shall have to talk with your mother. ant. prompt, punctual, timely.

target n. goal, objective, object, aim: Our target is to raise $100 for the team uniform fund.

tariff n. tax, levy, duty, rate: There is a tariff of 10 percent on all important items.

tarry vb. linger, dawdle, dally, loiter: Students are not allowed to tarry in the classroom after 3:30.

tart adj. acid, sour; sharp, biting, cutting: Lemons are very tart. Victoria's tart comment about my hat was not at all welcome. ant. sweet, sugary.

task n. job, duty, chore: Ben must do some tasks before he may go out to the movies.

- taste vb. 1. sip, try, savor, sample: Have you tasted Mrs. O'Neill's apple pie? 2. experience, undergo: Only someone who has never tasted war could want to go into battle. n. 1. flavor, savor: I don't like the taste of prune juice in my milk. 2. appreciation, discernment, discrimination, judgment: That sign is in very bad taste.
- tasteless adj. 1. insipid, flavorless, unpalatable: The hotel served a tasteless mess they called pudding. 2. unrefined, rude, boorish, uncultivated: When Mrs. Bramble told you she was ill, it was tasteless of you to remark, "You're telling me!"
- tattle vb. reveal, blab, inform on: I begged you not to say who had taken the tarts, but you tattled.
- taunt vb. tease, annoy, bother, pester; mock, jeer, ridicule, make fun of: Why must you continue to taunt me just because I wear short pants?
- tavern n. bar, cocktail lounge, café, pub: During the winter, we used to meet at the tavern to trade sailing stories and have a beer or two.
- tax n. tariff, levy, duty, rate: Connecticut has a 7 percent sales tax on everything except food. vb. 1. assess: A government should not tax its citizens without giving them a voice in running the country. 2. strain, burden, encumber, load, overload: The work taxed her so much she fell ill.
- taxi n. taxicab, cab: "Please call me a taxi." "All right. You're a taxi!"
- teach vb. instruct, train, educate, inform, tutor: Schools ought to teach students English before they reach college.
- teacher n. instructor, tutor, lecturer, professor: The teachers in our school are very kind and helpful to students who don't understand everything easily.
- teamwork n. cooperation, collaboration: If we apply teamwork, we'll finish the job much sooner.
- tear¹ vb. rip, split, rend, divide: My father is so strong that he can tear a telephone book in half. n. rip, split, rent: There's a tear in my coat that I have to sew up.
- tear² n. drop, teardrop: A tear ran down Penny's cheek when she peeled the onion. vb. water: The pollution in the city air makes my eyes tear.
- tease vb. irritate, annoy, pester, bother, vex, harass, harry: Do not tease the animals.
- technical adj. technological, industrial, mechanical; specialized: Operating a typewriter is simple, but repairing one is a technical skill.
- technique n. method, system, approach, routine, procedure:

- Scientists have developed a new technique for treating certain diseases.*
- tedious adj. tiring, tiresome, dull, boring, wearisome: Driving two hours a day to and from school can become very tedious. ant. interesting, engaging, exciting.
- teem vb. swarm, abound: The teeming mass of people in the downtown area is surprising to someone from the country.
- tell vb. 1. relate, narrate: Please tell us a bedtime story. 2. inform, advise, explain: Can't you tell me where you live? 3. reveal, disclose, divulge, declare: Doesn't Philip ever tell the truth? 4. determine, discern, discover: I can't tell whether the car is blue or green in this dim light. 5. command, order, bid: You tell Harvey that he'd better get to work on time or he won't have a job.
- telling adj. convincing, persuasive, forceful, effective: The threat of punishment is not always a telling argument against crime.
- temper n. 1. mood, disposition, temperament, nature, humor: Ellie seems to be in a bad temper this morning. 2. self-control, patience: Edward loses his temper over very unimportant things. vb. 1. moderate, soothe, soften, pacify: If you want to get along with people, you must learn to temper your outbursts. 2. anneal: The first swords were made from tempered steel in Toledo, Spain.
- temperament n. disposition, nature, temper: The miser in the castle had a very unpleasant temperament.
- temperamental adj. moody, irritable, touchy, testy, sensitive: Just because you sing opera, that doesn't mean you have to be so temperamental. ant. serene, unruffled.
- temperate adj. moderate, controlled, restrained, cool, calm: If you are not involved personally, you can regard the problem in a much more temperate manner.
- tempest n. storm; tumult, commotion, turmoil: As the tempest raged outside, we stayed near the fire, nice and snug.
- tempo n. beat, rhythm, cadence, measure: The orchestra switched from a fox trot to a cha-cha tempo.
- temporal adj. worldly, earthly, terrestrial: Temporal possessions mean nothing—it is the spiritual considerations that matter.
- temporary adj. passing, short-lived, short, fleeting, momentary: We made a temporary stop for repairs and then drove on. ant. permanent, everlasting, fixed.
- tempt vb. lure, allure, entice, seduce, attract, invite: I certainly am tempted to go to the dance when you say that Carol will be there.

tenacious adj. determined, persistent, unchanging, unyielding: Gerber refused to relinquish his tenacious hold on the office of club treasurer, and we began to suspect that all was not proper.

tenant n. lessee, leaseholder, renter, lodger: The tenants in that house have sued the landlord for failing to provide water.

tend vb. guard, look after, care for, take care of: Who was left at home to tend Grandma?

tendency n. inclination, trend, leaning, disposition: Sharon has always shown a tendency toward fat.

tender¹ adj. 1. delicate, soft; fragile: That's the most tender steak I've ever eaten. 2. loving, gentle, affectionate, sympathetic: I received a very tender note from a friend when I became ill. 3. sensitive, sore, painful: My arm is still tender where I banged it last week. ant. 1. tough, chewy. 2. unfeeling, cruel.

tender² vb. offer, proffer, present, propose: The company tendered a bid of $10,342 to complete the road work. n. offer, proposal: A tender of $15,000 has already been rejected.

tenderfoot n. beginner, novice, amateur, apprentice: The other fellows laughed to see the tenderfoot trying to mount the horse over its tail.

tenderhearted adj. sympathetic, softhearted, kind, merciful: Mandy is so tenderhearted she would care for a sick mosquito! ant. hardhearted, cruel.

tense adj. stretched, strained, tight; excited, nervous: My arm was tense from carrying so many books. Bill was tense from lack of sleep. ant. relaxed, lax.

term n. 1. word, expression, phrase, name: "What is the term for someone who is too lazy to do any homework?" "Dummy." 2. period, interval; semester, session: What is the term of your agreement? Will you be returning to school next term?

terminal adj. fatal, deadly, mortal: Thirty years ago the doctors told me I had terminal cancer, but here I am.

terminate vb. end, stop, cease, close, finish, conclude: The school year terminates with final examinations. ant. begin, commence, start.

terrible adj. horrible, awful, horrifying, dreadful, terrifying: The earthquake has done terrible damage in Guatemala.

terrify vb. frighten, scare, terrorize, petrify: I have seen the terrifying results of an atom bomb explosion.

territory n. area, region, province, section: The salesmen each covered his own territory within the state.

terror n. horror, dread, fear, fright, panic, alarm: Until the mad killer was caught, everyone in town was living in terror.

test n. trial, examination, exam, quiz: We are going to have a math test tomorrow. vb. quiz, examine: Are we going to be tested on what was taught today?

testify vb. warrant, depose, state, witness: Patrick testified that he had been robbed at knifepoint by the defendant.

testy adj. irritable, touchy, petulant: You needn't be so testy—I only asked you for a glass of water.

text n. book, textbook, manual: We have to buy a new text next year.

thankful adj. grateful, obliged, appreciative: Gerry was thankful that Sarah had cooked dinner for him.

thaw vb. melt, liquefy, dissolve: The ice thawed in the warm weather. You have to thaw out the frozen food before eating it. ant. freeze, solidify.

theft n. robbery, thievery, stealing, larceny, burglary; pillage, plunder: The theft yielded the criminals only sixty-two cents.

theme n. 1. subject, topic, thesis, argument, point: The main theme that ran through the speech was that we must be good to each other. 2. composition, paper, essay, report: I have to write a theme for English class, and I don't know what to write on.

theory n. hypothesis, guess, assumption, explanation: I have a theory that the earth is really a cube, but no one agrees.

therefore adv. consequently, hence, so, then, accordingly: I am breathing; therefore, I must be alive.

thick adj. 1. dense, solid: The crowd was so thick that I was unable to get through. 2. heavy, compact, syrupy, viscous: The oil was quite thick and coated everything with a black goo. ant. 1. thin, slim. 3. watery.

thief n. robber, burglar, criminal: A thief stole the knocker off our front door.

thin adj. 1. narrow, slim, lean, slender; sparse, meager, scanty: Carolyn looks thin after losing 20 pounds. That's a pretty thin excuse for being late—you couldn't find a sock? 2. water, weak, light: The soup is so thin here that they seem to make it by boiling a pot of water with only one noodle in it for flavor.

think vb. 1. consider, contemplate, reflect, meditate: I have been thinking about going on vacation, but I cannot decide where. 2. judge, deem: Don't you think that Mr. Carson is an excellent teacher? 3. suppose, assume, believe: I think that you'll want to go to the movies when you find out View Page 88 playing.

thirst n. desire, appetite, craving, longing: The students in this class have an unusual thirst for knowledge.

thorn n. barb, nettle, spine, prickle, bramble: These roses have very sharp thorns, so be careful when handling them.

thorough adj. complete, careful, thoroughgoing; completed: Jim did a very thorough job of cleaning the leaves off the lawn. ant. careless, haphazard, slapdash.

thoroughfare n. street, highway, avenue, boulevard, parkway: The main thoroughfare in our town is called New Street. ant. byway.

thought n. 1. meditation, deliberation, contemplation, reasoning, cogitation: I didn't want to disturb Irena because she was deep in thought. 2. concept, idea, belief: It was Patrick's thought that taking a holiday in Chichicastenango might help him get a good rest.

thoughtful adj. 1. kind, considerate, attentive, courteous, friendly: Gerry is so thoughtful—he always brings wine when invited to dinner. 2. absorbed, pensive, reflective: When he heard about how difficult it was for uneducated people to get a job, Tom became very thoughtful. ant. 1. thoughtless.

thrash vb. beat, whip, flog, punish, defeat: Until quite recently, students who misbehaved were thrashed by their teachers.

threat n. warning; menace: You cannot scare me with your threats about tattling to my mother. The rocks at the mouth of the harbor are a threat to safety for ships.

threaten vb. 1. warn, menace, caution, forewarn, intimidate: The bully threatened Percy with a beating if he didn't give him the ball. 2. loom: The black clouds threatened from the west.

threshold n. 1. doorsill: It was formerly customary for a husband to carry his bride over the threshold of their new home. 2. edge, verge; beginning, start: I was on the threshold of telling the secret when they stopped torturing me.

thrift n. economy, saving: Not eating in order to save money is false thrift.

thrifty adj. frugal, sparing, parsimonious, economical, saving: My grandmother was so thrifty that she saved up every bit of string she could find. ant. spendthrift, prodigal.

thrill n. excitement, stimulation, tingle: We all got a great thrill out of watching our team win the gold medal for swimming. vb. excite, stimulate, rouse, arouse: The star said that she was thrilled to receive an Academy Award.

thrive vb. prosper, succeed, grow, flourish: The family business thrived after we moved to Chicago. These plants will thrive only if you don't water them too much. ant. languish, expire, die.

throng n. crowd, multitude, swarm, mass, horde: A throng of people crowded round the plane to welcome the visitor from Yakutsk. vb. crowd, swarm, teem: Spurred on by favorable reviews, people thronged the theaters to see the film.

through adj. done, completed, over, finished: In June, school will be through for a few months. Are you through using the sugar?

throughout prep. 1. everywhere, all through, all over: We searched throughout the house but couldn't find the cat. 2. during: Throughout the last three days you were begging to go to the movies.

throw vb. toss, hurl, pitch, cast, fling, send: Throw the ball to me and I'll run with it. n. toss, pitch: That was a great throw from the outfield to home plate.

thrust vb. push, shove; force: You don't have to thrust the thing right into my face just because I didn't see it at first. n. push, shove, drive: With a single, powerful thrust, the native's spear had killed the wild boar.

thwart vb. frustrate, obstruct, stop: Bill Jackson was thwarted in his plan to run for election by not being able to raise the necessary funds.

ticklish adj. delicate, fragile; difficult, tough: At the end of the war, handling the displaced persons was a ticklish problem.

tidings n. pl. news, information, word, report: The messenger brought tidings of a huge sea battle being fought down the coast.

tie vb. 1. bind, secure, fasten: June is a little early to be tying up Christmas packages, isn't it? 2. join, connect, knot, link, fasten: The captive was tied to a stake and the natives danced about him, singing. If you tie these two pieces together, then the cord will be long enough to go round. n. 1. cord, string, rope, strap, band, fastener: I need some kind of a tie to keep these two bundles together. 2. cravat, four-in-hand, necktie: You must wear a tie and jacket to eat in the main dining room of the hotel.

tiff n. See squabble.

tight adj. 1. firm, taut, secure, strong, fast, fixed: This knot was tied so tight that no one can open it. 2. sealed, airtight, watertight, locked, fastened, I can't open this jar because the cover was screwed on too tight. 3. tipsy, high, drunk, intoxicated, inebriated: Mother got a little tight from drinking champagne at her anniversary party. 4. stingy, miserly, niggardly: Old man Phoebelfinger is too tight to donate any money to charity. ant. 1. loose, slack. 3. sober.

tilt vb. slope, incline, slant, lean, tip: You tilted the table when you leaned on it, spilling my milk and cookies onto the floor.

time n. 1. period, interval, span, space, term: The time between spring and autumn is called summer. Don't spend so much time talking on the phone, Mabel. 2. rhythm, tempo, beat, measure: The orchestra then played Beethoven's Eighth Symphony in ragtime. vb. regulate, gauge, adjust, measure: The engineers are trying to time the number of pulses per second.

timetable n. schedule: The print on this timetable is so small that by the time I make it out I shall have missed my train.

timid adj. shy, bashful, retiring, coy, fainthearted, diffident, fearful: Anne-Marie is so timid that she refused to dance with anyone at the school prom. ant. bold, forward, self-confident.

tinge vb., n. tint, color, dye, stain: We tinged our T-shirts a pale shade of blue. There's a slight tinge of pink in the sky at sunset.

tinker vb. putter, potter, fiddle with: Henry tinkered with the engine and finally got it to start.

tint n., vb. tinge, color, dye, stain: These walls need a warm tint in order to set off the color of the carpet. Some older people with white hair tint it bluish.

tiny adj. small, wee, little, miniature: Just as I said that, a tiny figure leaped out of the box and granted me three wishes. ant. large, huge, enormous.

tip¹ n. end, point, peak, top: That huge mountain is just the tip of the iceberg—most of it is under water.

tip² vb. tilt, upset, knock over: The canoe tipped, and we both fell into the raging rapids.

tip³ n. 1. gratuity, gift, reward: My father gave the waiter a good tip because the service had been so good. 2. hint, clue, inkling, suggestion: The man in the loud checkered suit just gave me a tip on which horse would win the race.

tire¹ vb. 1. weary, weaken, exhaust: Since my illness, I tire easily. 2. weary, weaken, fatigue, exhaust: All that exercise tired me. ant. exhilarate.

tire² n. wheel, casing: My bicycle had a flat tire on the way to school today.

tired adj. exhausted, weary, run-down, fatigued, sleepy: I am so tired from walking around the museum that I could go to sleep standing up.

tireless adj. energetic, active, strenuous, enthusiastic: Walter was a tireless campaigner for the Republican nominee.

tiresome adj. boring, dull, tedious, monotonous: McCoogan found it tiresome to stand guard duty, and he soon fell asleep. ant. interesting.

title n. 1. name, heading, designation: What is the title of that book? 2. ownership, deed, right, claim: The title to that property is held jointly by my mother and father. vb. name, designate, entitle, call: I have titled my latest movie, Murder Done with a Cream Puff.

toil vb. work, labor, slave, sweat: Think about all those people toiling in the fields to harvest the food that you take for granted. n. work, labor, drudgery, effort, exertion: After ten hours of toil, I just want to eat and go to sleep. ant. vb. relax, loll.

token n. sign, mark, sample: Ben gave Betty a bracelet as a token of his feeling for her.

tolerant adj. considerate, patient, liberal, impartial: Our teacher is sometimes too tolerant of our misbehavior in class. ant. intolerant, biased, bigoted, prejudiced.

tolerate vb. permit, allow, authorize, stand, condone: The school will not tolerate students' smoking anywhere on the grounds or in the buildings.

tone n. 1. sound, noise: At the tone, the time will be exactly noon. 2. manner, mood, expression: Sheldon's voice reflected the angry tone of the argument.

tool n. utensil, implement, instrument, device: I'd like to repair this watch, but I haven't the proper tools for doing so.

top n. 1. peak, summit, tip, pinnacle: From the top of that mountain you can see for many miles. 2. cap, cover, lid: I've lost the top of the toothpaste tube. vb. excel, surpass, outdo, exceed, beat, better: Ted topped his earlier performance in this week's swimming meet by five seconds. ant. n. 1. bottom, base.

topic n. subject, issue, theme: The topic we shall discuss today is, "Should children under ten be allowed to stay up till midnight?"

torment vb. annoy, vex, pester, harass, harry, torture, distress: Peter was tormented by the worry that he'd miss the train if he waited for Letitia. n. torture, agony, anguish, misery: I can't describe the torment I went through until I learned you were safe.

torrent n. downpour, flood, deluge: When the dam cracked, a torrent of water was let loose onto the town below.

torrid adj. hot, sultry, tropical, sweltering: It was a torrid 96° today, so I decided it was time to take off my long woolen underwear. ant. frigid.

torture n. torment, anguish, misery, pain, cruelty: The soldiers used torture to make the captive tell where the guns were hidden. vb. torment, hector, abuse: Stop torturing me by talking about water here in the middle of the desert.

toss vb. 1. throw, pitch, hurl, cast: Larry easily tossed the paper into the wastebasket across the room. 2. pitch, turn, stir, move, tumble: I tossed all night and couldn't have slept more than one hour.

total adj. entire, whole, complete, full: The total number of students who volunteered to help clean up was six. n. sum; entirety: What is the total of this column of figures? vb. add: Would you please total the number of times you were late or absent?

totter vb. reel, stagger, falter: There goes old Mrs. Grundy, tottering down the street.

touch vb. 1. feel, handle, finger: Please do not touch the paintings. 2. affect, move, concern: We were all touched by the story of the orphan who had found a home. 3. mention, refer to, treat, discuss: The speaker touched on the subject of cheating on exams and Zeke looked nervous. n. 1. contact: The very touch of her hand makes me tingle all over. 2. hint, trace, suggestion: This soup needs a touch more pepper. 3. skill, knack, ability, talent: That clock cabinet shows the touch of a master craftsman.

touch-and-go adj. risky, perilous, dangerous, hazardous: After the rope broke, it was touch-and-go whether the mountain climbers could be rescued.

touching adj. moving, effective, tender: Seeing Billy hugging his puppy was a touching scene.

touchy adj. sensitive, jumpy, nervous, testy, short-tempered, irritable: Women's rights is a touchy question in some countries. You needn't be so touchy, just because I dropped your lunch on the floor! ant. calm, collected.

tough adj. 1. strong, hard: This shoeleather is so tough it will last forever. 2. leathery, inedible, sinewy: This steak is as tough as shoeleather. ant. 1. weak, vulnerable. 2. tender.

tour vb. travel, visit: Our whole family will be touring the country this summer in our new car. n. trip, excursion, voyage, journey: I once took a tour of all the monuments in Washington, D.C. Are you going on a tour of the Colorado River?

tournament n. contest, tourney, match, competition: Boris is likely to win the chess tournament again this year.

tow vb. pull, drag, draw, haul: Isn't it amazing how that small tugboat can tow that enormous string of barges?

town n. village, hamlet, municipality, community: We live in the country, where the nearest town is 20 miles away.

toxic adj. poisonous, deadly, lethal; fatal: The toxic fumes from the chemical plant killed thousands of people. ant. beneficial.

toy n. plaything, game: It's time to put away your toys and come in to have dinner. vb. play, trifle: Sadie was just toying with my emotions: she really loved Arthur.

trace n. sign, mark, hint, suggestion, vestige: You can taste just a trace of rust in this water. I couldn't find the slightest trace of her in the entire building. vb. track, hunt, pursue, follow: The detective traced the thief's movements the night of the robbery.

track n. 1. mark, sign, trail, trace, spoor: The tracks of the raccoon were plainly visible in the snow. 2. trail, path, road, route, way: We went far from the beaten track to find these blueberries. vb. 1. trail, pursue, trace, hunt, follow, dog: The police tracked the fugitive through the wilderness till they caught him. 2. trail, carry, drag: Now you've tracked mud all over the clean floor!

tract n. region, area, district, territory: A huge tract of land has been set aside for wildlife conservation.

trade n. 1. commerce, business, dealing, traffic; enterprise: Trade between the countries has become competitive. 2. occupation, livelihood, craft, profession: Where do you think Phil learned the harness-making trade? 3. barter, swap, exchange: What do you want in trade for that baseball? vb. barter, exchange, swap: I'll trade my bat for your baseball.

tragedy n. misfortune, unhappiness, misery: The tragedy of Ophelia's sickness is that she would improve if she could afford to buy the medicine.

tragic adj. sad, unfortunate, miserable, depressing, mournful, melancholy: You've heard about the tragic death of Moira's kitten, haven't you? ant. comic.

trail vb. 1. drag, draw: Phoebe came in, trailing her fur coat on the floor just to show off. 2. pursue, track, trace, follow:

The dogs trailed the fox to the woods and then lost the scent. n. 1. path, track: Here comes Peter cottontail, hopping down the bunny trail. 2. scent, spoor: The bloodhounds picked up the trail of the escaped convict and began to howl.

train vb. teach, drill, prepare, tutor, educate: My uncle trained me to dive from a 50-foot tower when I was nine.

trait n. feature, quality, characteristic: Edwin has all the traits one looks for in someone who wants to study medicine.

traitor n. betrayer, turncoat, spy: The traitor was caught selling secrets to the enemy.

tramp vb. march, stamp, trample, stomp: Vickie came into the house quite angry and tramped up the stairs to her room. n. vagabond, vagrant, hobo, bum, gypsy: Three tramps jumped off the freight train just as it entered the city.

trample vb. stomp, crush, squash: The children had trampled down all the newly seeded grass.

tranquil adj. peaceful, calm, undisturbed, quiet: Only the harsh cry of the jackal broke the tranquil silence. ant. disturbed, upset, agitated.

transaction n. negotiation, deal, settlement: The government has approved the transaction for buying oil from Kuwait.

transfer vb. 1. shift, move, transport: All of these boxes must be transferred to another warehouse today. 2. assign, reassign, change: The author has transferred all his rights to the book to his wife. n. change, move, shift: The transfer of ownership of the boat will be completed when we receive payment.

transform vb. change, convert: In a wink, the prince was transformed into a green frog.

transmit vb. send, dispatch, transfer, pass: The information has been transmitted to every office, all over the world, by cable.

transparent adj. 1. clear, limpid: If you can see everything through it, it's transparent, but if it's frosted, we call that translucent. 2. clear, obvious, evident, plain: Billy told so many transparent falsehoods that they call him Billy Liar. ant. 1. opaque.

transport vb. carry, transfer, move, shift: The ore is transported from the mine to the processing plant by ship.

trap n. snare, pitfall, net, deadfall: We set a trap to catch the animal that has been stealing our corn. vb. ensnare, entrap, net, bag: Hunters used to trap beavers for their fur, but that's illegal now in most places.

trash n. rubbish, refuse, waste, garbage: The woman comes to collect the trash every Monday.

trashy adj. worthless, insignificant, slight: I thought that Kukarochki's latest play was trashy, and I can't understand who would back it.

travel vb. journey, voyage, cruise, roam: After traveling all over Europe, we finally returned home, exhausted. n. traveling, touring: Travel to foreign countries can be very educational.

treachery n. betrayal, disloyalty, treason: Assassination of the king was an act of treachery that deserves capital punishment. ant. loyalty, steadfastness.

tread vb. walk, step; trample, tramp: Tread lightly over this broken glass. Some inconsiderate fellow has trod all over our flower garden. n. step, walk: We sneaked along with catlike tread.

treason n. treachery, betrayal, disloyalty, sedition: Selling atomic secrets to a foreign government is an example of treason.

treasure n. riches, wealth, abundance: The pirates were said to have buried their treasure on this beach, but no one has yet found it. vb. guard, prize, value: Manuel told me that he treasures our friendship above anything else.

treat vb. 1. handle, act, deal, manage, negotiate: How do you plan to treat the problem of increased student absences? 2. administer, attend, tend, heal: A doctor knows best how to treat the condition you complain of. 3. approach, discuss, process, regard: The scientists treat UFO sightings with very little respect. 4. indulge, entertain, pay for, host: May I treat you to an ice cream cone? n. present, gift: Dinner tonight will be my treat.

treaty n. pact, agreement, compact, bargain, covenant: The treaty between the countries called for one to supply the coffee and the other the sugar and cream.

tremble vb. quiver, shake, quake, shiver, shudder: The leaves of the aspen tremble in the slightest breath of air.

tremendous adj. huge, enormous, gigantic, colossal, great, large: Looming above us, disappearing into the clouds, was a tremendous beanstalk.

trench n. ditch, gully, moat, arroyo, gorge, gulch: A deep trench surrounded the castle and we soon filled it with water for added protection.

trend n. tendency, inclination, course, drift: The trend a few years ago was to very short skirts, but that has changed.

- trendy adj. (informal) faddish, modish, stylish, in vogue: That's a very trendy outfit. How does it stay up?
- trespasser n. intruder, invader, encroacher: There was a sign on the fence. "Trespassers will be prosecuted."
- trial n. 1. test, examination, proof, analysis: The race that was run yesterday was just a trial to see which cars would qualify. 2. suit, lawsuit, litigation, hearing, case, contest: The defendant is on trial for murder. The trial was moved to another city because of the bad publicity here. 3. ordeal, suffering, difficulty: Since her husband died, Mrs. Corvallis has been through a terrible trial.
- tribe n. clan, race: Most of the Indian tribes that once lived in America are now gone.
- trick n. 1. deception, trickery, stratagem, wile, deceit: Throwing that pebble against the window was just a trick to make the teacher look the other way. 2. joke, jest, prank: The children's putting oatmeal in the coffee was just a trick—they meant no harm. vb. dupe, fool, bamboozle, cheat, swindle, defraud: Using the old Spanish handkerchief game, they tricked me out of $1,000.
- trickle vb. dribble, drop, drip, seep, leak: The water trickled through the hole in the tank and ran into the ground.
- trifling adj. unimportant, trivial, insignificant, petty: Whether you wear a green scarf or a red one is a trifling matter.
- trim vb. 1. clip, prune, shave, cut, shear: The gardener trims the hedge about three times a year. 2. decorate, adorn, ornament: Let's trim the Christmas tree tonight. adj. neat, compact, tidy: Susan does not have what I would call a trim figure.
- trip¹ vb. 1. stumble: Maria tripped over the rug and sprawled on the floor. 2. err, bungle, blunder, slip: I tripped on the last five questions and failed the exam.
- trip² n. voyage, cruise, excursion, journey, tour: The fortune-teller told me that I would soon take a long trip.
- triumph n. conquest, victory, success: After winning the golf tourney, the champion had another triumph to add to his list. vb. win, prevail, succeed: Justice and goodness always triumph over evil in the end, but I can't always wait till the end. ant. n. defeat, failure.
- trivial adj. trifling, unimportant, insignificant, petty, paltry: Whether you go or not is a trivial matter to me.
- trophy n. prize: Can you believe that Bob won a silver trophy for playing the piano and a gold one for stopping?
- trouble vb. 1. distress, disturb, worry, concern, upset, con-

- fuse: As you can imagine, my mother was a little troubled to learn that I had failed my exam. 2. bother, inconvenience: You needn't trouble to go to the door: I can let myself out.
- n. 1. misfortune, difficulty, concern: Sometimes I think that our watchdog is more trouble than he's worth. 2. pains, inconvenience, exertion, effort: Please don't go to any trouble to make anything special—steak, baked potato, salad, and pie à la mode will be fine.
- troublesome adj. annoying, irritating: The new car is just as troublesome as the old one.
- true adj. 1. correct, accurate, valid: That is a true account of what happened. 2. genuine, real, actual, valid, legitimate: Can you prove that you are the true and rightful heir to the fortune? 3. faithful, trusty, steady, staunch, loyal, dependable, sincere: If you were a true friend of mine, you would come to the rescue at once.
- trust n. 1. confidence, reliance, dependence, faith: I have always put my trust in my equipment, which is why I haven't had an accident yet. 2. hope, faith: I shall accept your story on trust. vb. rely on, have confidence in, depend on: Whenever someone says to me, earnestly, "You can trust me," I don't.
- trusted adj. reliable, trustworthy, dependable, true, loyal, devoted, staunch: You are one of my most trusted friends, Judas. ant. untrustworthy.
- try vb. 1. attempt, endeavor, strive, essay: I am trying to tell you, but you keep interrupting. 2. test, examine, analyze, investigate, prove: Let's try this new kind of laundry soap. n. attempt, endeavor, effort: If you give it the old college try, I'm sure you'll succeed.
- trying adj. difficult, annoying, troublesome, bothersome: My father had a very trying day at the office.
- tug vb. yank, pull, jerk: I tugged hard at his beard, it came off in my hand, and there stood Patrick!
- tumble vb. fall; trip, stumble: When we opened the closet door, the contents came tumbling out. James tumbled down the stairs and fell in a heap.
- tumbledown adj. decrepit, ramshackle, dilapidated, broken-down, rickety: There's a tumbledown shack by the railroad track.
- tumult n. to-do, ado, confusion, disturbance, commotion, disorder, uproar: The tumult in the restaurant was caused by a mouse that a customer saw run across the floor. ant. peacefulness, tranquillity.

tune n. melody, song, air, strain: That's the same tune that they played at our wedding.

turmoil n. tumult, uproar, pandemonium: The news that every depositor in the bank had lost everything threw the financial market into a turmoil.

turn vb. 1. spin, revolve, rotate: The wheel continued to turn long after the motor had stopped. 2. reverse, change: Turn to face the wall. 3. become, change, transform: The bitter cold turned the pond to ice overnight. 4. send, drive: They turned me away at the door, saying I was too young. 5. sour, spoil, ferment: The milk has turned, so you'll have to drink your coffee black. vb. phr. turn aside divert, deflect: The heavy armor turned aside the spears and arrows. turn down 1. lower, decrease: Please turn down the volume of that stereo. 2. refuse, deny, reject: They turned down my application for a promotion. turn in 1. deliver, offer, give: I turned in my report early this week. 2. retire, rest: I think I'll turn in, it's past my bedtime. turn into change, become: You can't make a frog turn into a prince by kissing it, you fool! turn loose free, liberate, unchain, release: I don't want to be around when they turn loose that leopard. turn off stop; close: Please turn off the machine before you leave. Turn off the cold water. turn on start; open: Turn on the lights. Turn on the faucet and champagne comes out. turn out 1. turn off. 2. dismiss, discharge, evict: The landlord turned us out for not paying the rent. turn up 1. appear, arrive, surface: When did you turn up in this town? 2. find, discover, uncover, learn, disclose: The newspaper turned up three people who had seen the crime. 3. increase, raise: Don't turn that radio up any further; I can hear it perfectly well. n. 1. revolution, rotation, cycle, round: Let's watch the merry-go-round do one more complete turn. 2. change, alteration, turning: Make a right turn at the corner. 3. opportunity, stint: Why can't I have a turn at shooting the gun?

turncoat n. traitor: When the evidence was all in, it developed that the general himself was the turncoat. ant. loyalist.

tutor n. teacher, instructor: Fred was doing badly in math, so his parents hired a tutor to help him. vb. teach, instruct, coach, train, guide: I used to tutor French students when I was in college.

twilight n. dusk, nightfall: I'll meet you at twilight behind the rosebushes.

twinge n. pang, pain; smart: I admitted to feeling a twinge of sorrow at the news of the death of Abernathy, Jacquelyn's pet spider.

twinkle vb. scintillate, sparkle, shine: The stars were twinkling in the sky.

twirl vb. spin, rotate, whirl: Twirling a baton is a lot harder than it looks.

twist vb. 1. intertwine, interweave, braid: These wires are so twisted I'll never get them apart. 2. contort, distort, warp: The steel girders of the bridge were all twisted out of shape by the fire. Why do you always twist everything that I say? n. curve, bend, turn: The road had too many twists and turns for safety.

twitch vb., n. jerk, shudder: The dying snake lay there twitching in the sand. With a sudden twitch, the dog had released himself from the collar.

two-faced adj. hypocritical, deceitful, false, insincere: That two-faced Philip promised us the contract, then signed it with our competitor. ant. honest, straightforward.

type n. 1. kind, sort, variety: What type of person would want to kill birds? 2. sample, example, model: Is this the type of plum you like to eat?

typical adj. representative, characteristic: Here, on your left, you see a typical prefabricated home. ant. atypical, odd.

tyrant n. dictator, despot: Many of the czars of Russia were terrible tyrants who had people slain for no reason.

- ugly adj. 1. unsightly, hideous, plain, homely: If you want to see something really ugly, take a look at a Gila monster in the zoo. 2. unpleasant, nasty, vicious, wicked, evil: There's an ugly rumor going around that Penny was seen going out with Charlie.
- ultimate adj. final, last, decisive, extreme: The ultimate insult was when the skunk let go with that awful smell and I couldn't see anyone for days.
- umpire n. referee, arbitrator, judge: After playing in the big leagues for 20 years, Roger got a job as an umpire. vb. referee, arbitrate, judge: Can we get your father to umpire the Little League game this Saturday?
- unanimity n. agreement, unity, accord: There was unanimity when the votes were finally counted: 93 to 0 against having a picnic in the rain.
- unassuming adj. modest, humble, retiring: Sharon has the most unassuming manner. ant. vain, showy, pompous, arrogant.
- unattached adj. separate, apart; single, unmarried: There is a new social club downtown for unattached men and women.
- unawares adv. suddenly, abruptly, unexpectedly: They caught Whipsteed unawares and he hadn't time to hide the money.
- unbalanced adj. insane, mad, crazy, deranged: I don't care if Postle Creek is a nudist—anyone jogging nude in the park must be unbalanced.
- unbearable adj. intolerable, insufferable: The pain from the bee sting was unbearable.
- unbending adj. determined, inflexible, resolute, firm, decided, obstinate: The union was unbending in the requirement for a 40-hour work week. ant. flexible.
- unbroken adj. continuous, complete, whole, uninterrupted: We marched for an unbroken six-hour period to evade the enemy.
- uncanny adj. remarkable, amazing, extraordinary: Lady Flab-cheek bears an uncanny resemblance to her bloodhound.
- uncertain adj. unsure, doubtful, dubious, questionable, indefinite, vague: It was plain that the man giving us directions was uncertain as to where the house was. ant. certain, positive, unmistakable.

- uncivil adj. rude, impolite, discourteous: I complained to the manager about the uncivil treatment I received when returning the moldy toothpaste. ant. polite.
- uncommon adj. rare, unusual, scarce, odd, peculiar, strange, queer, remarkable, exceptional: This is an uncommon variety of orchid, according to the botany teacher. ant. usual, ordinary.
- uncouth adj. vulgar, rude, ill-mannered, discourteous, impolite: That boy has a very uncouth way of speaking to his elders. ant. civilized, cultivated, cultured.
- under prep. 1. beneath, below, underneath: We crawled under the ledge of rock and were safe till the avalanche stopped. 2. following, below, in accordance with: Under this law, you must always walk on the side of the road facing traffic. ant. 1. above, over.
- undercover adj. secret, hidden: Bill's uncle was an undercover agent for the FBI.
- undergo vb. experience, endure, tolerate, suffer: Prisoners of war sometimes undergo terrible hardships, and some never live through them.
- underhand adj. secret, sly, crafty, sneaky, stealthy, secretive: Tattling on a classmate is a very underhand way to get even. ant. open, honest, direct.
- underscore vb. stress, emphasize: I cannot underscore enough the importance of wearing a seat belt.
- understand vb. 1. see, comprehend, grasp, realize: I understand what you're saying but I can't see why you'd want to squeeze oranges for a living. 2. hear, learn: I understand that some students have been playing with firecrackers.
- understanding n. agreement, bargain, covenant, arrangement: I thought we had an understanding that if I walked your dog, you would feed my pet python.
- undertake vb. try, attempt, venture: The teacher asked which students would undertake the collection of old clothes for the poor.
- undoing n. downfall, ruin, destruction: Admitting that she had bought the gun that was used to shoot Boris proved to be Natasha's undoing.
- unearthly adj. strange, foreign, weird, supernatural, ghostly: We heard an unearthly scream at midnight and ran for our lives.
- unemployed adj. jobless, idle, inactive, unoccupied: In that year, the number of unemployed factory workers was almost 5 percent.

unexpected adj. surprising, sudden, abrupt, startling, unforeseen: The rainstorm was entirely unexpected, for the weather man had predicted sunshine. ant. expected, predicted, anticipated.

unfaithful adj. disloyal, treacherous: The idea of Leslie's being unfaithful to our cause never crossed my mind.

unfeeling adj. callous, hard, numb, unsympathetic: Those who are cruel to animals are unfeeling wretches.

ungainly adj. awkward, clumsy, bungling: Don't be discouraged: Everyone looks ungainly on the first day in ballet class. ant. dexterous.

unhappy adj. miserable, sad, melancholy, wretched, distressed: Are you unhappy that vacation is over and you have to go back to school? ant. happy, joyful, joyous.

unhealthy adj. sick, sickly, infirm, diseased: When the flu was going around, there were many unhealthy people in town. ant. healthy, well, hale.

uniform adj. unvarying, regular, unchanging: The laws controlling firearms are not uniform from state to state.

unimportant adj. trivial, trifling, petty, paltry, insignificant: It's unimportant to me whether you pass or fail, but your parents might care, and so will you, later on.

uninteresting adj. dull, boring, tiresome, tedious, dreary, monotonous: That two-year course in furniture-polishing is the most uninteresting one I have ever taken.

unique adj. single, sole, solitary, incomparable: You have a unique opportunity if you take this job and work hard. ant. common, ordinary, commonplace.

unite vb. join, combine, connect, link, associate: The individual states agreed to unite and to form one central government. ant. divide, separate, sever.

universal adj. general, prevailing, prevalent, common: The universal feeling among the members is that you ought to resign from the club. ant. local, regional.

unkind adj. unsympathetic, unfeeling, cruel, unpleasant, harsh: The principal said some unkind things to the mischievous boys. The winter storms have been unkind to the trees.

unlawful adj. illegal, illegitimate, illicit: It is unlawful to shoot ducks out of the hunting season.

unlike adj. different, dissimilar: Unlike the American flag, the flag of Italy is red, white, and green.

unmerciful adj. merciless, cruel, brutal, heartless: The bully gave the small boy an unmerciful beating for no reason at all.

unnecessary adj. needless, purposeless, pointless, superfluous: It's unnecessary to tell me that I am wrong—I know it only too well.

unoccupied adj. vacant, empty, uninhabited: Since Rover ran away, our doghouse has been unoccupied.

unparalleled adj. unequalled, peerless, unique, rare, unmatched: In an unparalleled move, the senator from a southern state voted for racial desegregation.

unpleasant adj. disagreeable, offensive, obnoxious, repulsive, unpleasing: I noted an unpleasant odor when I entered the house.

unqualified adj. 1. unfit, inept, incompetent, incapable: Unless you can offer a year's experience, you would be unqualified for this job. 2. absolute, unquestioned, utter: After insulting me, you can expect an unqualified "No!" to your request for a good reference.

unruffled adj. smooth, unperturbed, calm, serene, cool: Thomas was unruffled by the crowd of fans who pressed toward him.

unruly adj. disorganized, unmanageable, disobedient, disorderly: An unruly group waited outside to shout at the speaker when he left. ant. orderly.

unsightly adj. unattractive, ugly, hideous: That's one of the most unsightly messes I have ever seen—clean up your room!

unsound adj. 1. weak, flimsy, feeble, fragile: The foundation of the house is unsound and will collapse in a few months. 2. diseased, sick, impaired, unhealthy: I am sorry to say that we consider your brother to be of unsound mind. 3. faulty, invalid, false: The reasoning in your argument is unsound if you think that people will eat insects.

untidy adj. sloppy, messy, slovenly, disorderly: It is dangerous to maintain a workshop in such untidy condition.

unusual adj. uncommon, exceptional, strange, remarkable, extraordinary, peculiar, queer, odd: That is the most unusual animal I have ever seen!

unwholesome adj. unhealthful, unhealthy, poisonous, dangerous: The air from the Pharaoh's tomb is said to be unwholesome; those who inhale it are supposed to die horribly.

unwieldy adj. bulky, awkward, clumsy: The couch isn't so heavy, but it's too unwieldy for one person to carry.

uphold vb. support, maintain, back: I uphold the right of any person to a fair trial.

upright adj. 1. erect, vertical, perpendicular: We gradually raised the flagpole till it was upright. 2. just, honest, honorable, true: Bill is one of the most upright members of our community. n. pole, support, prop, column: Slip that upright under the board to support it while I hold it up in the air.

uprising n. revolt, revolution, rebellion, mutiny: The prisoners at the jail staged an uprising that took three days to calm down.

uproar n. commotion, disturbance, tumult, disorder, noise: There was such an uproar from the crowd that I couldn't hear the speaker.

upset vb. 1. overturn, upend, topple, capsize: The rowboat was upset in the middle of the lake and we almost drowned. 2. disturb, agitate, fluster, bother: I was upset by the news that you were moving so far away. adj. disturbed, unsettled: My stomach was upset all morning from eating popcorn all last evening.

upshot n. result, outcome, conclusion: Sandy didn't come to work today, and the upshot was that I had to do all his work.

urge vb. 1. force, push, drive, press, prod: Unless you had urged me, I never should have run for office. 2. plead, persuade, beg, implore: I urge you to finish school first. 3. advise, recommend: The doctor urged that everyone stop smoking. n. impulse: I suddenly got the urge to phone my sister in South America. ant. vb. dissuade, discourage.

urgent adj. 1. pressing, immediate: There is urgent business that prevents my mother from leaving town this week. 2. insistent, persistent, demanding: The urgent ringing of the doorbell finally woke me, and I ran to see who it was.

usage n. 1. treatment; use: This puppy has been subjected to bad usage. 2. custom, habit, practice, convention, tradition: Usage has it that men hold open doors for women.

use vb. 1. employ, utilize: I use green nail polish only on Tuesdays. 2. exhaust, spend, expend, consume: Why use your energy to do housework? 3. exercise, work: I use my left hand less than my right. n. 1. employment, utilization: The use of certain dyes has been found unsafe for human consumption. 2. advantage, profit, point, benefit: It's no use trying to convince you that the earth is flat.

usher n., vb. guide: She works as an usher and gets to see all the plays for nothing. He uses a flashlight to usher people to their seats in the dark.

usual adj. customary, ordinary, normal, regular, habitual, accustomed, common: The usual way of communicating is by calling someone's name, not by throwing a pencil at him.

utensil n. tool, appliance, implement, instrument: What kind of utensil except a fork could you use to test a chicken to see if it's cooked?

utter¹ vb. say, speak, pronounce, express: Nicole uttered her first words at the age of nine months (and hasn't been quiet since).

utter² adj. absolute, complete, total, unqualified: Anyone who would cross the street against the light is an utter fool.

- vacant adj. 1. unoccupied, empty, uninhabited, untenanted: The apartment will not be vacant till the end of the month. 2. thoughtless, vapid, vacuous, stupid: In reply to my question, all I got was a vacant stare. ant. 1. full, filled, occupied. 2. bright, alert, intelligent.
- vacation n. holiday, break, rest, recess: This summer I shall take my vacation up north, where it is cool.
- vagabond n. vagrant, hobo, tramp: After college, Thwicker spent five years on the road as a vagabond.
- vague adj. uncertain, indefinite, unsure, obscure: When I asked him where he was going, I got only a vague reply. ant. specific, unequivocal.
- vain adj. 1. useless, worthless, idle, trivial, unfruitful, unsuccessful: I made a vain attempt to catch the paddle, but it had floated out of reach. 2. proud, conceited, self-important, arrogant: Tim is a vain man who will never admit to being wrong. ant. 2. humble.
- valiant adj. brave, bold, courageous, heroic, intrepid, dauntless, unafraid, fearless: Those were valiant soldiers who died for their Queen in distant lands.
- valid adj. 1. sound, logical, well-founded: Your argument is valid, but I just disagree with you. 2. genuine, real, true, actual, authentic, trustworthy: This painted bowl is a valid example of Etruscan art.
- valor n. bravery, boldness, courage, intrepidity, heroism, fearlessness: This gold medal was awarded to my brother for valor on the battlefield.
- valuable adj. 1. important, worthy: I have valuable information that I am ready to sell to the highest bidder. 2. costly, high-priced: This necklace is very valuable, even though you paid only $2 at auction. ant. 2. worthless.
- value n. 1. importance, worth, merit, benefit: Anyone who has had any experience has learned the value of an education. 2. cost, price: I asked the salesman about the value of the diamond necklace. vb. 1. rate, price, appraise, evaluate: This Persian carpet has been valued at more than $25,000. 2. esteem, prize, appreciate: I value your friendship much more highly than I do the winning of the contest.
- vanish vb. disappear, evaporate, dissolve: The little green man

- gave a quick nod of his head and vanished into thin air.* ant. appear.
- vanity n. pride, conceit, smugness: It's Ramona's vanity that makes her spend hours putting on makeup.
- vanquish vb. conquer, defeat, beat, overcome, subdue: The Indians succeeded in vanquishing the pioneers who had tried to kill them.
- vapor n. mist, fog, steam; haze, smog: The vapors rising from the swamp prevented us from seeing across it.
- variable adj. changeable, shifting, unsteady: The weather at this time of the year can be so variable that you'd better take an umbrella. ant. constant, unwavering.
- variety n. 1. change, diversity: For variety, why not have an egg for breakfast instead of just cereal? 2. sort, kind, form, class, type: I am not familiar with this variety of corn, but it's delicious.
- various adj. several, divers, sundry, different: We ought to examine the various ways in which the work can be done.
- vary vb. change, alter, diversify: Irena's mood varies from happy to miserable as often as the weather does. You ought to vary your approach in order to see which is the most successful.
- vast adj. extensive, huge, enormous, immense, measureless, unlimited: The distances between galaxies in outer space are vast.
- vault¹ vb. leap, jump, spring: The runner easily vaulted over the high wall and eluded his pursuers.
- vault² n. 1. tomb, sepulcher, crypt, grave, catacomb: The archaeologists unsealed the vault of the Pharaoh, who had died 3,000 years before. 2. safe, safety-deposit box: We keep our valuable papers in a vault at the bank.
- vehicle n. conveyance: What kind of vehicle besides a Jeep could go on this road?
- veil n. gauze, mask, film, web: The mysterious lady wore a dark veil and we couldn't see her features. vb. conceal, hide, cover: Your veiled threats don't frighten me.
- velocity n. speed, swiftness, quickness, rapidity: Light travels at a velocity of about 186,000 miles per second.
- vengeance n. revenge, retaliation: I shall get my vengeance for their having given me a hotfoot.
- venom n. 1. poison, toxin: The spitting cobra can shoot its venom into the eyes at a distance of more than 30 feet. 2. spite, bitterness, hate: The prisoner spoke of his accomplices with such venom that the police were afraid to release him on bail.

venture n. attempt, risk, chance, test: The investor wouldn't put his money in a venture like yours. vb. risk, dare, gamble, hazard: I'd venture to say that we ought to leave before the fight starts. Don't try to venture out in the storm.

verbal adj. spoken, oral, unwritten: We made a verbal agreement that you would leave town for a week. ant. written, printed.

verdict n. decision, judgment, opinion, finding: Whatever the jury may say, my own verdict is that the defendant is guilty of murder.

verge n. edge, rim, lip, margin, brim, brink: I was on the verge of telling the real story when Ellie and Bob walked in.

verify vb. confirm, affirm, corroborate: From the boy's statement, we verified that you couldn't have been at the scene of the crime.

version n. rendering, interpretation, rendition: Your version of the report doesn't seem to agree with the facts.

vertical adj. upright, perpendicular, erect: The side of the building isn't quite vertical. ant. horizontal.

very adv. extremely, greatly, exceedingly, considerably: Because you have been such a very good class, the teacher will treat you all to ice cream.

vessel n. 1. ship, boat, craft: How many vessels pass through the Panama Canal in a year? 2. container: Certain acids that attack glass are stored in wax vessels.

vestige n. trace, hint, suggestion, token: After we finished cleaning the floor, there wasn't a vestige left of the paint we'd spilled.

veto n. denial, refusal: The President's veto was overridden by a unanimous vote of the Senate. vb. deny, refuse, negate, prohibit, forbid: The school board voted an increase for the teachers, but the town council vetoed the measure. ant. n. approval. vb. approve.

vex vb. bother, pester, annoy, irritate, anger, plague: The entire class was vexed by Jim's behavior.

vibrate vb. tremble, shake, quake, quiver: The windows vibrated from the noise of the explosion 35 miles away.

vice n. evil, wickedness, sin, corruption, depravity: Of his many vices, drinking and smoking were so mild as to be like virtues.

vicinity n. neighborhood, area, proximity: I never slept well when we lived in the vicinity of the boiler factory.

vicious adj. 1. wicked, evil, bad, sinful, corrupt: Blackmail is a vicious crime. 2. savage, dangerous, cruel: There's a vicious killer on the loose in Cairo.

victimize vb. swindle, dupe, cheat, take advantage of, deceive: The confidence man often victimizes people who are greedy.

victor n. winner, champion, conqueror: The victor in the track and field events will be given an unusual prize. ant. loser.

victory n. conquest, success, triumph: Our victory at the polls was due to the will of the people. ant. defeat.

view n. 1. sight, vision: Suddenly the figure of a huge toad came into view up the road, and we ran. 2. vista, prospect, look: There's a lovely view of the town dump from this picture window. 3. thought, opinion, belief, judgment, impression: Please let me have your views on the subject before tomorrow noon. vb. see, look at, examine, regard, inspect: The entire class was invited to view the model of the city at the museum.

vigilant adj. watchful, alert, attentive, observant: The committee agreed that all citizens must be more vigilant if traffic accidents were to be reduced. ant. negligent, careless.

vigor n. energy, vitality, liveliness, strength: The new team captain attacked his responsibility with vigor.

vigorous adj. energetic, strong, active, forceful, powerful: With a vigorous effort, we managed to reach the top of the mountain.

vile adj. 1. wicked, sinful, base, bad, wretched, evil: How could you have done such a vile thing as to feed the goldfish to the cat? 2. offensive, objectionable, disgusting, revolting, obnoxious: Simon has some exceedingly vile habits of which failing to bathe is the least.

village n. town, municipality, hamlet: There's a pretty little village nestled at the foot of the mountain. ant. city, metropolis.

villain n. scoundrel, brute, rascal, cad, rogue, scamp, devil: The villain was just about to tie the heroine to the railroad tracks when the narcotics squad arrived.

violate vb. break, infringe: You are violating the law against pollution just by smoking.

violent adj. 1. powerful, forceful, strong, forcible: A violent wind tore the sail to shreds and we were at the mercy of the waves. 2. furious, angry, savage, fierce, passionate: My mother and father have never had a violent argument since they were married. ant. 1. gentle.

virgin n. maiden, maid: The young virgins danced around the maypole in the rites of spring. adj. untouched, pure, unused, chaste: That subject is virgin territory that remains to be explored.

virtue n. 1. goodness, morality, righteousness, honor: A person of virtue would never treat anyone badly. 2. merit, quality, advantage: This auto has the virtue of getting 36 miles per gallon.

virtuous adj. moral, upright, upstanding, ethical: Thea is a virtuous young lady, and it is hard to believe that she would do anything like that. ant. immoral.

vision n. 1. sight, eyesight: The optician told me that these glasses would improve my vision. 2. illusion, fantasy, apparition, specter, phantom, ghost, spook: Coming down the old, creaking, dusty stairs was a vision of ugliness that gave me nightmares for years. 3. farsightedness, imagination, foresight, keenness: The mayor had the vision, 20 years ago, to see this town as a great yachting center.

visit vb. call (on), see, attend: The lady in the gray uniform comes to visit the wounded soldiers every day. n. appointment; call: I had a visit with your aunt last night. Have you made your daily visit to the post office?

visitor n. guest, caller: Monica, you have two visitors who have come to see you.

vista n. scene, view, aspect, prospect: From the top floor there is a magnificent vista of the entire countryside.

vital adj. essential, life-and-death, critical: Getting the injured person to the hospital is a vital matter. It is vital that we move quickly.

vivacious adj. animated, lively, spirited: Coralie is so vivacious that she is in great demand as a guest at parties.

vivid adj. clear, strong, bright: I have a vivid recollection of having seen you somewhere, but I can't recall where.

vocal adj. 1. spoken, said, oral, uttered: A vocal insult isn't ever as deeply felt as one in writing. 2. outspoken, definite, specific: If Laura weren't so vocal in her criticism of others, she might be better liked.

vocation n. career, profession, occupation, calling, employment: For what vocation does studying postage stamps prepare you?

void adj. 1. meaningless, useless, invalid, worthless: This document is void unless both husband and wife sign it. 2. empty, vacant, unoccupied: The light snapped on and we saw that the room was completely void. n. space, emptiness: I haven't eaten since breakfast, and I feel a great void where my stomach is. vb. cancel, annul, invalidate: The bank manager voided the check and I wrote another.

voluble adj. See talkative.

volume n. 1. book, tome: The first volume of the encyclopedia is free. 2. capacity, dimensions: The volume of the truck was large enough to hold a car. 3. quantity, mass, bulk, amount: We received a huge volume of orders for these prune pits.

voluntary adj. spontaneous, optional, free: Voluntary gifts to the school fund are always welcome. ant. compulsory, required, forced.

voracious adj. ravenous, insatiable: Having had no lunch, by evening I had developed a voracious appetite.

vow n. pledge, promise, oath: I took a vow that I would get to school on time from now on. vb. pledge, promise, swear: Imogene vowed that she would never see Eustace after the way he behaved.

voyage n. journey, trip, tour, excursion: The tiny boat set out for its voyage to faraway lands.

vulgar adj. rude, crude, bad-mannered, unrefined, coarse: Anyone using vulgar language will be punished.

vulnerable adj. defenseless, unguarded, unprotected: The general sent all the soldiers out on maneuvers, leaving the fort vulnerable to attack.

- wage vb. carry on, pursue, conduct, make: The two countries waged continuous war for almost a century.
- wager n. bet: Guilfoyle placed a wager on Fleabite in the fifth race. vb. bet, gamble: I'll wager you won't see Roberta around here again after the way you insulted her.
- wages n. pl. pay, compensation, salary, rate, earnings: Your wages will be doubled because you saved the company so much money.
- wail vb. moan, cry; mourn, bewail, lament: Stop that wailing, here's your teddy bear back. n. moan, cry: I heard a low wail coming from the closet.
- wait vb. stay, remain, tarry, linger: Please wait a few minutes; the doctor will be right with you. n. delay, postponement, pause: There will be a 20-minute wait while they glue the airplane back together again.
- wake vb. 1. rouse, arouse, awaken, waken: Please wake me at six o'clock in the morning. I don't usually wake without being shaken hard. 2. activate, stimulate: Wake your sense of taste with this piece of cheese. ant. 1. sleep, doze.
- waken vb. See wake.
- walk vb. amble, stroll, saunter, step, march, hike: The bowlegged salesman told me, "Walk this way." "If I could walk that way," I said, "I wouldn't need the chafing powder!" n. 1. stroll, march, amble: We had a very nice walk in the garden with Grandpa. 2. path, lane, passage: We met on the walk in front of the house.
- wander vb. 1. rove, roam, ramble: This poor dog has been wandering all over the neighborhood looking for his master. 2. err, digress: Don't wander so much and try to keep to the point of what you're saying.
- want vb. desire, need, require, wish, crave: Don't you want to grow up to be a big, strong man? What do you want for dinner? Waste not, want not. n. need, requirement, desire: The fund has been set up for those wants that people cannot afford to fill.
- war n. hostilities, combat, battle: Now that we have won the war, let's see if we can win the peace. vb. battle, fight: The two warring families have hated one another for three generations.

- warden n. guardian, custodian, keeper, guard; jailer, turnkey: The air-raid wardens used to make sure that no lights were showing at night. That sheriff used to be the warden of the state prison at Pockeluma.
- warlike adj. belligerent, bellicose, combative, pugnacious: The warlike natives of Borneo would kill you as soon as look at you. ant. peaceful.
- warm adj. 1. heated, temperate, tepid, lukewarm: The water was warm but not hot enough for tea. 2. eager, enthusiastic, sympathetic: The teacher was not very warm to the suggestion that we go home early. vb. heat: Warm the milk before adding the chocolate. ant. adj. 1. cool, cold, brisk. 2. indifferent, cool.
- warmhearted adj. friendly, kind, loving, kindhearted: We have never received a more warmhearted welcome than in your home.
- warmth n. cordiality, friendliness, geniality: Though we were strangers, the townspeople treated us with great warmth.
- warn vb. caution, admonish, advise: The police officer warned the driver not to drive so fast in a congested area.
- warp vb. twist, turn, bend, distort: The top of the table warped badly in the dampness.
- warrant n. warranty, pledge, guarantee, assurance: The financial executive of the bank has given the broker warrants to purchase 10,000 shares of stock. vb. guarantee, authorize, approve: I warrant that with his record for lateness, no one will want to hire him.
- warrior n. fighter, soldier, combatant: The two warriors, one in silvery armor, the other in black, faced each other on the battlefield.
- wary adj. cautious, careful: You'd best be wary of investing your money in a company manufacturing wagon wheels. ant. careless.
- wash vb. 1. clean, cleanse, scrub, rub, launder: The clothes and the dishes are all washed, and now I need a bath. 2. touch, border, reach: The waves began to wash the bottom of the sea wall as the storm became more severe.
- waste vb. 1. squander, misspend, dissipate, spend, consume: Don't waste your money on gambling because you can't win in the long run. 2. decay, dwindle, decrease, wear, wither: Bob has wasted away to a shadow of his former self. n. 1. consumption, loss, dissipation: The waste of money last year will be difficult to make up for. 2. rubbish, garbage, trash, refuse; effluent: The waste from the factory is being dumped directly into the river, polluting it so that we can't swim in it. adj. unused, useless, extra: We take the waste clean paper and use it for memo pads.

watch vb. 1. observe, look (at), note, regard, notice: Watch the way that porpoise leaps out of the water! 2. guard, attend, tend, protect: Will you please watch the baby while I run out to buy some milk? n. 1. timepiece, chronometer: No, I don't have a watch that tells the time—I have to look at it. 2. vigil, patrol, shift, duty: When we sailed from Bermuda, each of us took turns standing three-hour watches. 3. guard, sentinel, sentry, watchman: The midnight watch approached us and demanded the password, which I had forgotten.

watchful adj. attentive, alert, vigilant, careful, cautious, wary: You have to be watchful at all times if you are a soldier on guard duty.

waterfall n. cataract, cascade: The highest waterfall in the world is somewhere in South America, I think.

wave n. 1. undulation, ripple, breaker, whitecap, surf, sea: The waves in the Banzai pipeline are the best in the world for surfing. 2. surge, swell, flow, tide, stream: A wave of protest followed the prime minister's announcement about imports. vb. flutter, stream, flap: The flag waved in the slightest breeze.

waver vb. 1. flicker: The light wavered and we could hardly see. 2. hesitate, deliberate: Why do you waver over a decision as important as the one you must make?

way n. 1. manner, method, approach, style, technique, fashion, mode, means, system, procedure: Which way would you suggest as the best for getting the best work out of a student? 2. road, path, trail: A narrow way leads to the stable in the back. n. phr. by the way incidentally: By the way, did you remember to bring your snowshoes? by way of through, via: You can get to Aston by way of Clinton. make one's way proceed, succeed, progress: How can she make her own way in the world without an education? under way going, proceeding, moving, leaving, departing: We have to be under way before dark.

wayward adj. contrary, stubborn, obstinate, headstrong, disobedient, naughty: What can one do with wayward children except to put them in an institution?

weak adj. 1. feeble, frail, fragile, delicate: The legs of the table are too weak to support your dancing on the top. 2. diluted, watery: This drink is a little too weak for my taste.

3. undecided, irresolute, unsteady, wavering: That poor fellow is so weak that he lets his wife tell him when he's hungry and thirsty. ant. 1. strong, powerful.

weakling n. milquetoast, milksop, namby-pamby, sissy: Boltoff is such a weakling that he was afraid to tell his mother that he was going to be late for dinner.

weakness n. fondness, affection, liking: Pierre has a weakness for frogs' legs. ant. dislike.

wealth n. 1. riches, fortune, property, means, money: The Grindles' wealth comes from a factory they own that makes rings out of peach pits. 2. quantity, abundance, profusion: There's a wealth of mineral resources at the bottom of the sea if we could only find some economical way to get to it.

wealthy adj. rich, well-to-do, prosperous, affluent: Mr. Hawks is so wealthy that he could buy a dozen yachts like the one over there. ant. poor, destitute, impoverished, poverty-stricken.

weapon n. arm: In the old days out west, many people carried a weapon for personal protection.

weary adj. 1. tired, exhausted, fatigued: I'm so weary from that ten-mile hike that I could sleep for a week. 2. bored; tiresome, tedious: Mara was just doing the same old weary tasks. vb. tire, exhaust, fatigue: The same old routine, day after day, just wearies me.

weave vb. plait, braid, intertwine, interlace, lace, knit: Indians used to weave blankets of the most beautiful design.

web n. cobweb, netting, net, network: The spider's web glistened in the sunlight when the dew was on it in the mornings.

wed vb. marry, espouse: Do you think that Sally will wed Duke?

weep vb. cry, sob, lament; mourn, bemoan: Don't weep for that silly man—he got what he deserved for being so foolish as to leave you!

weigh vb. consider, deliberate, ponder, study: You really have to weigh the advantages of having the extra money against working for a company like that one.

weight n. importance, significance, influence: Your opinion will carry a lot of weight with the other members of the committee.

weighty adj. significant, important, crucial: Faced with such a weighty decision, Beazley chose the chocolate cake over the prune ice cream. ant. trivial.

weird adj. strange, peculiar, odd, unnatural, eerie: Some of the people who live in that old house on the hill look pretty weird to me.

welcome n. greeting, reception: We always give Dad a warm welcome when he comes home from work. vb. greet, receive: There is a very attractive young lady to welcome you at the door of the restaurant.

welfare n. well-being, good, prosperity: The police are there for your own welfare, not to be unpleasant or frightening.

well adv. 1. favorably, satisfactorily, adequately, competently: I think that Joe does his job very well. 2. fully, completely, thoroughly: You are well rid of that unpleasant wife of yours. 3. surely, certainly, undoubtedly: After that experience, they well know not to try doing such a thing again. 4. personally, intimately: Of course, I know that lady very well: she's my mother. adj. healthy, sound, fit, trim, robust: Are you sure you're feeling well enough to go out?

wet adj. soaked, drenched; moist, damp, dank: I am wet to the skin from walking in the rain. In this weather, the laundry stays wet for days. vb. soak, drench; moisten, dampen: Don't try to wet the stamp too much, or it won't stick. ant. adj. dry, arid, parched.

wharf n. dock, pier: The ship came up to the wharf and the cargo was soon unloaded.

wheedle vb. cajole, coax, persuade: With promises of popcorn and candy bars, we finally wheedled the information out of Pucelle.

whine vb. moan, cry, whimper, complain: Stop whining about losing the cap from the toothpaste, you silly girl!

whip vb. thrash, beat, scourge; flog: The cruel man whipped his dog just to be mean. n. scourge, cat o' nine tails, cat, lash: The cowboy carried a nine-foot whip on his saddle, and he could use it better than many men their guns.

whirl vb. spin, rotate, revolve, twirl, reel: We went whirling about the dance floor while the fiddler played his tune.

whole adj. 1. entire, complete, undivided, uncut, total: I can't believe that you ate that whole apple pie by yourself. 2. unbroken, undamaged, entire, intact: I wish I could make a wish and make that window I broke whole again! ant. 1. part, partial.

wholesome adj. healthy, healthful, nourishing, good, nutritious: Mother was waiting for us with a wholesome dinner—roast turkey with all the trimmings.

wicked adj. evil, bad, sinful, immoral, ungodly, profane, blasphemous: Throwing a rock through the church window was a very wicked thing to do.

wide adj. broad; extensive: The car is too wide to fit into the garage. The pioneers reached the wide Missouri in their trek westward. ant. narrow, thin.

width n. breadth, extensiveness, wideness: The width of this desk is about 36 inches. We saw a road of such width that we couldn't believe it was for cars.

wield vb. brandish, handle: You certainly wield that dueling sword like an expert!

wild adj. 1. uncontrolled, unrestrained, unruly: Some of those boys are very wild when they aren't being disciplined by their parents. 2. primitive, savage: There was a wild man at the zoo who they said came from Borneo. 3. silly, impetuous, crazy, foolish: Going over Niagara Falls in a barrel is the wildest stunt I've ever heard of. 4. untamed, ferocious, undomesticated: It's against the law to keep a wild animal as a pet in this town. ant. 1. restrained. 4. tame.

will vb. wish, desire: Do what you will with the sausages, but please don't ruin the eggs. n. 1. decision, resolution, resoluteness, determination: Terry has a strong will, and I doubt that you'll convince her to diet. 2. choice: I have come here of my own free will.

willing adj. consenting, agreeing, agreeable; energetic, eager, enthusiastic: We rounded up some willing workers and soon had the entire area cleaned up.

wilt vb. droop, sag; weaken: These flowers will wilt if you don't water them. After two days of 96° weather, everyone began to wilt.

wily adj. sly, cunning, crafty, foxy: Wayne is a wily beggar—he told me he was going out of town, but he took my girl friend with him.

win vb. 1. succeed, gain: Do you think we can win? If they win this game, we have no chance at the trophy. 2. obtain, gain, acquire, get, earn: If you knock over all the wooden milk bottles with this baseball, you'll win a doll. ant. lose, forfeit.

wind¹ n. 1. air, breeze, zephyr, breath, gust, draft, flurry, puff, blow, gale, hurricane, cyclone, typhoon, tornado: A man by the name of Beaufort devised a scale for winds from calm to hurricane force. 2. hint, suggestion, clue, rumor: We got wind of what they were planning to do, so we locked every door and window.

wind² vb. 1. crank; coil, screw: Wind up my clock, please.

Wind the tinsel round the Christmas tree. 2. wander, meander, weave, twist: The stream winds around and around before emptying out into the river.

winsome adj. charming, agreeable, winning: With a winsome smile, my boss today told me I was fired.

wise adj. 1. intelligent, sensible, reasonable, sage, judicious: You would be very wise to keep as far away as possible from that shark. 2. learned, knowledgeable, sage; smart: A wise old man once told me that I should never fail to be loyal to someone and to some idea. ant. 1. foolish, foolhardy.

wish vb. 1. desire, want, long for, crave: I wish to have you near me always. Betty said to tell you that she wishes for you the best of everything. 2. bid, express, tell: Gentlemen, I wish you a good evening. n. 1. desire, want, longing, craving, yearning: I hope that your wish to visit Tegucigalpa comes true. 2. order, command, request: In keeping with your wishes, I shall be home by 10 o'clock, but I'll miss half the party.

wit n. 1. intelligence, understanding, wisdom: Tom is pleased that you've had the wit to see things his way. 2. humor, wittiness, drollery: Della's wit in placing the tack on Vera's chair was what made everyone laugh. 3. humorist, comedian, wag: Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have pleasure in introducing one of our greatest wits—Cosmo!

witch n. sorcerer, sorceress, magician, enchanter, enchantress, warlock: By the time the people of Salem discovered that the girls they had burned were not witches, it was too late.

withdraw vb. 1. remove, retract, recall: I wish you would withdraw my nomination for the presidency. 2. retreat, retire, depart, go; secede: The butler asked for permission to withdraw. On the issue of slavery, several states threatened to withdraw from the Union. ant. 1. place, enter.

wither vb. fade, dry, shrivel, decay: These flowers are all withered from having been without water for a week.

withhold vb. check, repress, keep back, hold back: You should withhold your comments till the other speakers have finished.

withstand vb. resist, oppose: The soldiers at the fort withstood the Indians' attack for three days.

witness n. eyewitness, spectator, observer, onlooker: There were only two witnesses to the events that took place in that locked room. vb. see, observe, watch, perceive, notice: Did you witness the defendant remove a raw carrot from the holster?

wizard n. sorcerer, magician, miracle-worker, conjuror: The children finally came face to face with the wizard, who waved his hand and made lightning strike the floor before him.

woe n. grief, sadness, misery, distress, suffering, sorrow, anguish: The criminal life led by Jesse James was a cause of great woe to his mother.

wonder vb. 1. question, conjecture: I wonder if Tim will ever make the varsity hockey team. 2. marvel: All the people wondered at how the escape artist could get out of the trunk. n. amazement, astonishment, surprise: The children watched the elephant ballet in wide-eyed wonder.

wonderful adj. marvelous, extraordinary, amazing, astonishing, astounding, remarkable: Everyone thought that we'd had a wonderful time at the marine museum.

word n. term, expression, phrase, utterance: I just can't find the words to tell you how happy I am to have won the lottery. vb. term, express, phrase, articulate: The speech by the principal was very carefully worded to make sure that all the students understood.

word-for-word adj. literal, precise, verbatim: Here is a word-for-word translation of the documents you requested. ant. free.

wordy adj. verbose; talkative, garrulous: These wordy reports of yours, Peter, waste too much of my time.

work n. 1. effort, exertion, labor: It's too much work to write an essay for school three times a week. 2. employment, occupation, job: Some people have been looking for work for more than six months. 3. accomplishment, product, achievement: An enormous amount of work is turned out by this factory in the course of a week. vb. 1. labor, toil: I wish you didn't have to work so hard to make a living. 2. operate, run; function, perform: I don't know how to work this can opener. Does your old car still work as well as it did?

world n. earth, globe; universe: There will be too many people in the world in a few years for the amount of food available. This valley is our entire world.

worry vb. 1. fret, fidget, chafe, grieve, agonize: Don't worry about me; I'll be all right. 2. bother, annoy, pester, disturb: Not knowing where the children are is worrying me. n. anxiety, concern, uneasiness: Now that Martin is safe in bed I have one less worry.

worship vb. 1. revere, reverence, venerate, respect, glorify, honor: Each of us is entitled to worship God in his own way. 2. adore, idolize: All of the girls worship that new rock singer. n. reverence, respect, honor: The worship of a deity is a very personal thing with most people.

worth n. value, importance, merit: Can an expert estimate the worth of this diamond? adj. deserving, meriting: I must say that I don't think that movie is worth the trip downtown.

worthy adj. worthwhile, deserving, meriting, earning: Do you really believe that someone who could do such a thing is worthy of your affection and respect?

wound vb. injure, harm, hurt, damage: Abbie came home wounded from the war. n. injury, damage, hurt, harm: Isaac has a wound in his leg from where he was shot by the thief he was chasing.

wrath n. anger, fury, rage: You cannot imagine Father's wrath when he learned that the car was gone.

wreck vb. ruin, damage, destroy: The car was wrecked in the accident. The discovery that there was money missing wrecked the banker's career. n. destruction, ruin, devastation: The ship had struck a rock, and the wreck could now be seen, stranded on the reef.

wrench n., vb. twist, jerk, tug: I gave it a strong wrench, and the handle came off. With a sharp movement, Charlie wrenched the gun from the man's hand.

wrestle vb. grapple, tussle; fight: The attackers wrestled me to the ground, stole my wallet, and ran away.

wretch n. rogue, scoundrel, cad, knave: Some wretch has stolen my chewing gum from under my chair.

wring vb. extract, twist: Please see if you can wring more water out of this sponge.

writhe vb. squirm, twist: The man was writhing in agony on the floor.

wrong adj. 1. incorrect, inaccurate, false: If you had fewer wrong answers on your exam, you would have passed. 2. bad, naughty, improper: That was the wrong thing to do, and Morris knew that he'd be punished for it. 3. improper, inappropriate, unsuitable: You're wearing your shoes on the wrong feet, you silly boy! 4. awry, out of order, amiss: The thing that was wrong with my watch is that it was overwound. adv. improperly, incorrectly: You put your sweater on wrong. n. 1. evil, wickedness, sin: People often remember the wrong that a person has done rather than the right. 2. impropriety, incorrectness: That poor fellow isn't to blame: he just doesn't know right from wrong. vb. injure, harm, abuse, hurt: The officer was unjustly accused and he felt he had been wronged. ant. adj. 1. right, correct, accurate. 2. good, proper.

wry adj. dry, witty, droll, amusing: Kunkelheim is known for his wry sense of humor.

yacht n. boat, pleasure craft, sailboat, cruiser: The millionaires used to go down to Palm Beach in the winter on their yachts.

yarn n. 1. thread; fiber: You are using pink yarn to darn my blue socks! 2. tale, story, anecdote: The old man had many yarns he used to tell us when we sat around the stove in the general store.

yawn vb. 1. gape: If you had slept enough last night, you wouldn't be yawning so much today. 2. gape, open: A huge, bottomless chasm yawned before us, and Reba almost fell in.

yearn vb. desire, want, crave, long for: In the evenings, Nancy yearned for someone to talk with.

yell vb., n. shout, scream, holler, roar: Don't yell at me, I'm doing the best I can. Give Bruce a yell and ask him to join us in a game of volleyball.

yellow adj. cowardly, (informal) chicken, fearful, lily-livered: His fellow soldiers now knew that Sickel was yellow, and they wouldn't talk to him. ant. brave, bold.

yield vb. 1. produce, bear, supply: This year's crop will yield only three billion tons of grain. 2. give way, surrender, cede, submit, give up: The strikers would yield in their demands only after the police were withdrawn. n. harvest, return, fruits, produce, crop: The yield from our investment has been very poor this year. This plant has an annual yield of a huge number of avocados.

young adj. 1. youthful, immature: You are too young to see an X-rated movie. 2. undeveloped, underdeveloped: This crop is still too young to be harvested. ant. 1. old, mature, grown.

youngster n. lad, youth, stripling, child: The youngsters in the Police Athletic League program are learning the best of sportsmanship. ant. adult, grownup.

zeal n. eagerness, enthusiasm, fervor, passion: The zeal with which Ezra attacked every job he was given soon earned him a promotion in the company.

zealous adj. ardent, eager, enthusiastic: Doris is one of the most zealous tennis players at the school.

zenith n. top, acme, pinnacle: After reaching the zenith by becoming the world's greatest bootblack, Thridley simply lost his touch and sank into oblivion. ant. nadir.

zest n. spice, relish, tang, gusto: Fiona writes with such zest about her trip that I know she's having a good time.

zip n. energy, vigor, vitality, vim: All the zip has gone out of my tennis game now that I have this broken leg.

zone n. area, region, district, section, belt: The zone immediately around the plant is off limits to unauthorized personnel.

zoo n. menagerie: Let's go to the zoo and feed the sea lions.

Signet helps you speak with confidence

(0451)

- ☐ INSTANT WORD POWER by Norman Lewis. A fast, effective way to build a rich and dynamic vocabulary. Entertaining exercises and challenging self-tests enable the student to master hundreds of new words and polish spelling and grammar skills. (117913—$3.50)*
- ☐ THE CONCISE DICTIONARY OF 26 LANGUAGES IN SIMULTANEOUS TRANSLATION, by Peter M. Bergman. An "instant language course" offering translations of hundreds of everyday words into 26 different languages simultaneously. (129873—$3.95)*
- ☐ A DICTIONARY OF DIFFICULT WORDS, by Robert H. Hill. The essential companion to every abridged dictionary complete with 15,000 entries on business, technology, culture, medicine, science, acronyms, and foreign words. (118030—$3.95)
- ☐ 30 DAYS TO BETTER ENGLISH by Norman Lewis. Learn to speak and write more effectively in only fifteen minutes a day! This proven step-by-step program will help you build your vocabulary, avoid pronunciation errors, sharpen your spelling, improve your grammar and express your ideas clearly and correctly. (135385—$3.50)*

*Prices slightly higher in Canada

Buy them at your local bookstore or use this convenient coupon for ordering.

NEW AMERICAN LIBRARY,
P.O. Box 999, Bergenfield, New Jersey 07621

Please send me the books I have checked above. I am enclosing $_____ (please add $1.00 to this order to cover postage and handling). Send check or money order—no cash or C.O.D.'s. Prices and numbers are subject to change without notice.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

Allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.
This offer is subject to withdrawal without notice.

basicbookofsynon00laur

basicbookofsynon00laur

basicbookofsynon00laur

Signet helps you sp

- ☐ INSTANT WORD POWER by Norm a rich and dynamic vocabulary. self-tests enable the student to polish spelling and grammar ski
- ☐ THE CONCISE DICTIONARY OF TRANSLATION, by Peter M. Bei offering translations of hundred languages simultaneously.
- ☐ A DICTIONARY OF DIFFICULT W companion to every abridged dic business, technology, culture, m words.
- ☐ 30 DAYS TO BETTER ENGLISH I write more effectively in only fil by-step program will help you b tion errors, sharpen your spellir your ideas clearly and correctly.

*Prices slightly higher in Canada

Buy them at your local bookstore or u

NEW AMERICAN LIBRARY,
P.O. Box 999, Bergenfield, New Jersey

Please send me the books I have che (please add $1.00 to this order to c or money order—no cash or C.O.D.'s. I without notice.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____

Allow 4-6 we
This offer is subject to

THE MOST EXPRESSIVE WORDS IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

may be found among the thousands of entries specially selected for THE BASIC BOOK OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS. Here is the perfect tool for students, writers, businessmen, or anyone seeking to master the craft of writing. This complete guide to the most common words in the English language includes the following features:

- Alphabetical listing for quick reference
- Synonyms are classified by denotations and connotations
- Each selection includes a sample sentence to further clarify meaning
- Synonym entries are followed by a list of antonyms

THE BASIC BOOK OF SYNONYMS AND ANTONYMS

Expand your vocabulary while adding variety to your writing

ISBN 0-451-14064-8